PLANS FOR 29TH C. E. CONVENTION

Annual Gathering to Be Held in Third Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth.

OCTOBER 6, 7 AND 8

Attractive Program for the Affair is About Completed—Plainfield Societies Will Be Largely Represented.

Plans for the twenty-ninth annual State convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, to be held next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the Third Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, are nearing completion and a large attendance is being provided for. The Elizabeth Union Christian Endeavor and Epworth League will be the host to the State Endeavorers, the chairman of the Elizabeth committee having the matter in charge being Arthur E. Warner. The Rev. Elliot Field, of West Hoboken, is chairman of the program committee, and through his efforts a splendid program has been prepared.

Opening Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock with a devotional service presided over by J. T. Sproull, State president, and addressed by the Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., of the Second Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, the rest of the morning session will be taken up with an address of welcome by Mayor Victor Mravlag, of Elizabeth; a quiet hour, and open parliament and class sessions, ending with shop meetings at noon.

The afternoon session will provide for a conference of State workers and junior and intermediate workers. In the evening there will be a meeting of the State executive committee, after which the delegates will attend prayer meetings in the local churches.

A sunrise meeting will be held at 6:45 Thursday morning, conducted by President Sproull. At the regular morning session the Rev. J. J. Adams, of Westfield, representing colored work, will deliver an address. The Rev. Dr. F. W. Johnson, of Rahway, will speak on Christian citizenship and Sabbath observance.

An address, "A Working Program For a Young People's Society," will be delivered by the Rev. Worth H. Tippy, D. D., of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, New York, at the Thursday afternoon session. The annual report of the secretary, Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, and the treasurer, W. C. Acken, of Metuchen, will be presented Thursday evening.

Another sunrise meeting will be held Friday morning, followed at the regular session by a conference on missions; an address, "The World For Christ, Christ For the World," by the Rev. Dr. Walter B. Greenway, of Philadelphia.

An address by the Rev. Adelbert Chapman, of Hackensack, superintendent of the evangelistic department of the union, will be heard at the Friday afternoon session. The election of officers will come Friday evening. The devotional services at Friday evening's session will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of Plainfield.

BOROUGH HEALTH BOARD MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

No meeting of the Borough Board of Health was held last month, so any business that was to have come up at the September meeting will be considered at the October meeting, which will be held Monday night.

The proposed plumbing ordinance, which has been in course of preparation by a committee for several weeks, is said to be in shape to present to the Board, and this will probably be acted upon Monday night.

WHEEL RIDER STRUCK, N

A motorcycle bearing the license number, C.6811J, struck Michael Corcoran, while he was riding a bicycle along West Fifth street, near Liberty, last night, damaging the wheel slightly. Corcoran, who lives at 636 West Front street, is now looking for the owner of the motorcycle with a view to making him pay for the damage done.

NICHOLAS YARUSSI.

Nicholas Yarussi, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marino Yarussi, of Stansbury avenue, Scotch Plains, died last night. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass will be offered. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

ENGAGED TO MARRY AN ARMY OFFICER

Lance-Corporal Claude Morris Sheppard to Wed Miss Hawthhorne.

Announcement was made today by Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Hawthorne, of Sherman avenue, of the engagement, of their daughter, Miss Elisabeth DeLancy Byard, to Claude Morris Sheppard, of Bath, Eng., lance-corporal of Company C, Twenty-fourth Regiment of Victoria Riflemen. Mr. Sheppard is at present on the firing line and has been a participant in all of the notable battles in which the English troops have fought during the past week.

During the summer he was in the Sandling Training Camp, near Folkestone, England. Mr. Sheppard has visited Plainfield on a number of occasions as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne. The couple met three years ago when the local family was sumering in Montreal. Miss Hawthorne attended the Plainfield Seminary, and is socially prominent in the city.

EVERETT MARSH WEDS MISS ELLA M. ADAMS

Ceremony Performed by Rev. E. Ralston at Netherwood Reformed Church.

The marriage of Miss Ella Margaret Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Adams, of 249 Johnston avenue, and Everett Hilaire Marsh, of 215 Somerset street, took place last night at 8 o'clock in the Netherwood Reformed church. Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with shadow lace, and carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. Charles Collins, as matron of honor. The latter wore a creation of yellow crepe de chine, a yellow hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The Misses Ethel Adams and Edith Adams were bridesmaids. They wore pale green crepe de chine frocks, green net hats and carried arm bouquets of white chrysanthemums and green fern. Joseph Blatz was the best man.

As the wedding party entered the edifice the wedding march was played by Mrs. S. O. Rush, and Horace Martin sang "O Promise Me." Owing to the sudden death of the groom's father, the reception and wedding trip were postponed.

The couple were the recipients of numerous handsome and useful gifts, cut glass, silver, linen, china and several checks being included in the presents. Guests were present from Newark, Passaic, Atlantic City, Three Bridges, New York, Brooklyn and this city. Boxes of the wedding cake were given each attendant at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will reside at 270 Netherwood avenue. Mr. Marsh is a salesman.

25TH ANNUAL REUNION OF THIRTIETH REGIMENT

The thirtieth regiment of New Jersey Volunteers will hold their twenty-fifth annual reunion at Somerville on Wednesday, October 6. This regiment was made up largely of Plainfielders, with the late Captain J. F. Hubbard at the head.

The company was discharged from the service at Flemington, June 27, 1864. Efforts are being made to have the twenty-fifth anniversary the most interesting gathering ever conducted by the organization.

ANOTHER PLAYER HURT.

Raymond Samloch, who replaced Warren Mumford on the P. H. S. fotball team when the later dislocated his left shoulder tackling a dummy Tuesday, injured his left leg in scrimmage yesterday and may not be able to play tomorrow.

WHEEL STOLEN.

KENNEY PATENTS UPHELD BY COURT

Vacuum Cleaner Co. After Long Litigation Wins Notable Victory.

EXPERTS TESTIMONY

Justice Julius Mayer in His Decision Says Mr. Kenney Was Almost Story Book Inventor and Undoubtedly the Founder of the Art.

After two years of litigation during which the Vacuum Cleaner Company, of which David T. Kenney, of this city, the inventor, is the head, the company has just won a notable victory in its action against the American Rotary Valve Company, in which infringements of patents was claimed. The decision given yesterday by Justive Julius Mayor in the United States District Court, Southern District of New York, sustains the Kenney patents. The suit for infringements were on claims 1, 2, 3 and 4 of U. S. Letters Patent, 847,947, and 1, 3 and 4 were sustained.

Justice Mayer in his decision said among other things: "No doubt Kenney was the founder of the present vacuum cleaner commercial art and that, prior to his time similar efforts were of indifferent success or failure. The success of Kenney was not accidental, nor is this a case of where previous meritorious inventions have failed for want of capital. Kenney was almost the story book inventor.

"The testimony of experts, Profs. Reeve and Kinealy, and the demonstration in the court room was interesting and to the point, but the situation gets down to the proposition that Kenney taught the art that the essential element was a narrow elongated slot capable of contact or sealing with the surface to be cleaned."

The defense was based on anticipation, lack of novelty, prior use and non-infringements. The opinion covers fifteen type written pages. Charles Neave, as chief counsel for the complainant company, succeeded Thomas Ewing, when the latter became commissioner of patents, and he was assisted by Vernon M. Dorsey, Frank C. Cole and William Knight. The defendants were represented by W. Clyde Jones, of Chicago, and John Robert Taylor, of New York. The claims upon which the complainant company won its victory are as follows:

"1. In a suction- cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction-nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet-slot, a suction-creating device capable of maintaining sufficient vacuum, and impurities-collecting means between the nozzle and the suction-creating device and suitably connected therewith for removing the impurities from the air, substantially as described.

"3. In a suction-cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction-nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet-slot, a power operated suction-pump and impurity-collecting means between said nozzle and pump adapted to remove the impurities from the air and prevent fouling the pump while permitting the working vacuum to be maintained at the nozzle, substantially as described.

"3. A cleaner comprising a suction-chamber, provided with a narrow inlet-slot, the slot being bounded and defined by lips which lie in the contact-surface of the cleaner, with the outward mouth, of the slot lying in the plane of this contact-surface, substantially as described."

COUNCIL TO REJECT NOTT FIRE ENGINE

Repeated Failure of Motor Apparatus Leads to An Adverse Report.

At a meeting of the fire and building committee of the Common Council last night it was decided to recommend to the Common Council the rejection of the Nott engine, which has been on trial here sice midsummer. The decision of the committee is understood to have the approval of other members of Council, and also Mayor Calkins.

Mayor Calkins said that if he were acting for himself in his own affairs, he would purchase the engine at a price, because there is an end to all things, even defects in machinery, but as the Council is handling funds belonging to the city, he would not consider such action right.

Two facts forced him to take this position. The first is that the design of the apparatus is not to be duplicated by the Nott people, and the second is that the company would not be able to duplicate broken parts. He declared that matters pertaining to the trial and rejection of the engine have been handled well by the committee and Mr. Edgar, whose work ought to be appreciated.

Bids will be advertised for anew, and an engine purchased in the shortest possible time.

SEEK DIVORCE AFTER BOTH ARE WED AGAIN

"Mock" Ceremony Found to Be Binding After Eighteen Years.

Somerville, Oct. 1.—Although both have been married since and each is now living in a state of matrimony apart from the other, Alphonsus Murtaugh, of this city, and Mrs. Estelle Dorgelah have joined in an appeal to the Supreme Court of Brooklyn to have their marriage of 1897 annuled.

Murtaugh and his present wife are living on West Main street, Somerville. Mrs. Dorgelah has been married twice since the ceremony with Murtaugh. She is now the wife of H. F. Dorgelah, manager of the Hamburg Line steamship company. The purpose of the proceedings is to remove legal doubts as to the legitimacy of Beatrice Barker, a daughter of Mrs. Dorgelah by her second husband, who is now dead. If the child is held legitimate she is to inherit $100,000 from her paternal grandfather.

Mrs. Dorgelah said that her marriage with Murtaugh was but a mock ceremony gone through for the purpose of securing a wedding ring to be use in impressing managers when she went to secure work on the stage. She did not know that a minister officiated, it is said.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE BOY SCOUT CAMP

A Total of $264 Has Thus Far Been Given Toward Building Fund.

Additional contributions toward the Boy Scout Camp being erected by Alexander Milne on Terrill road came to hand this week and are reported by Dr. George T. Moore, secretary-treasurer of the Scout council, as follows:

Previously reported	$255
Troop 14, Boy Scouts, First Baptist church, E. T. Powlison, scoutmaster	5
John Otterson	1
Willis West	1
Howard G. Lapsley	1
Total	$264

The building will probably be finished by the latter part of this week, and it is the hope of the committee, consisting of First Deputy Commission A. V. Searing, Jr., Second Deputy Commissioner E. A. Sprowl, Third Deputy Commissioner F. E. Bach, Cedric Ostrom, Frederick A. Martin and Brockholst Miller, to have sufficient funds in hand to meet the bill when it is rendered. There is still about $86 to be raised, and an appeal is made for contributions to wipe out this indebtedness.

Contributions of varnish have been made by C. E. Bond, a Friend has given the Scouts of this city a suitable sign for the building, and Laggren & Greene have contributed a handsome bunting flag, 9 by 12 feet, to float from the top of the sixty-foot flagpole the boys have cut and trimmed. The dedication services will be postponed until the building is entirely free from debt.

THOUGHT HE HAD A PLOT TO KILL

Austrian Arrested After Police Received Mysterious Message Discharged.

RESULT OF WAR TALK

Man in Conversation with Rudolph Kahler Became Alarmed at Remarks and Called on Telephone to Have Him Apprehended.

Upon the request by telephone of a man representing himself as United States Commissioner M. C. Anderson yesterday afternoon, Lieut. Maurice Higgins, of the local police force, arrested an Austrian in the vicinity of the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company on West Front street. The 'phone message was delivered in an excited tone and requested Higgins, who was on desk duty, to send an officer to the West End immediately as the commissioner had information that an Austrian was plotting to blow up the Saurer factory. Higgins went to the designated spot and with the description furnished him by telephone, arrested a man who gave his name as Rudolph Kahler, and said that he had been living at 1350 West Front street, a boarding-house.

After being brought to police headquarters the suspicious individual was subjected to a severe grilling by both Higgins and Chief of Police Kiely, but suddenly became mum and would not answer the questions put to him. Because of his actions Chief Kiely deemed it best to hold him and he was put in a cell for further examination. Higgins searched the man and among other things found on his person thumb-nail pencil sketchings and numerous addresses. The name of the Bosch-Magneto Company, of this city, and the Simplex Company, of New Brunswick, were written in the book in pencil. Addresses of persons living in Newark and OOrange were also found.

Failing to get the desired information from the prisoner, Chief Kiely instructed Higgins to locate the man who had telephoned. The police officer learned that the message had come from a 'phone station in Galloway's drug store and from the proprietor secured a good description of the man. Galloway said that he had rushed into the store and also left it in a hurry after telephoning.

Last night Michael Purcell, a machinist, was arrested and admitted that he had called police headquarters and ordered the arrest of Kahler. He explained that he had been talking with the Austrian and became alarmed over his actions and his talk of blowing up the factory.

In the city police court this morning, Judge DeMeza dismissed Kahler and as no complaint had been lodged against Purcell, he was also let go, despite the fact that he admitted misrepresenting himself to Higgins on the telephone. The police are of the opinion that Kahler had been drinking and that while under the influence of liquor did make statements to Purcell which alarmed the latter.

MRS. ELIZABETH RITTER DIES AT INDUSTRIAL HOME

Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter, who had been an inmate of the Plainfield Industrial Home for the past three months, died at that institution this morning. She had lived in this city for many years, and with the exception of two brothers, of whom she used to speak, but whose addresses she did not know, leaves no one to mourn her death.

Mrs. Ritter was of German descent and had been a widow for a long time. Until she was admitted to the Home she had a room with the family of Michael White, on Mabel street. Lack of money and her advanced age made her circumstances such that she was in a very bad way when the authorities made arrangements for her to enter the Home. She grew better at the Home, but soon began failing again and death came this morning. She was about 70 years old.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet. Mrs. Ritter attended the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church before she grew too ill and feeble to go out, and it is likely that the pastor, the Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, will have charge of the services.

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN DEDOOD PROCEEDINGS

Wife of Local Man Institutes Suit for Divorce on Strength of Arrest.

Charles M. Dolliver, acting as referee, yesterday afternoon took testimony in the divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Francisco DeDood, of Terrill road, Scotch Plains, against her husband, Ysbrand DeDood, former proprietor of the Keller cleaning establishment on Park avenue.

William Newcorn represents Mrs. DeDood, but the defendant's counsel, Martin Stutsman, did not appear at yesterday's hearing. The witnesses were Constable George York, Sergeant Andrew Saffron and Patrolman George Muir.

It is understood that the major portion of the petitioner's evidence deals with a raid made by Constable York, Sergeant Saffron and Patrolman Muir on an apartment over the Keller establishment at 125 Park avenue several months ago. It was alleged at that time that a woman giving the name of Grace Gables was found with DeDood and the two are now out on bail pending Grand Jury action.

ADVERTISING AS AID TO BUSINESS

Plainfield Trust Company Announces Novel Prize Contest.

At the opening exercises of the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools this morning there was presented a plan which will give the pupils an opportunity of showing what they can do in the line of advertising. The Plainfield Trust Company, believing that advertising is becoming an increasingly important factor in modern business and that a knowledge of it should be part of the equipment of the High School graduate, has offered $40 in cash prizes for the best advertisement on any department of trust company service prepared by pupils in both schools. The reward will be distributed as follows: First prize, $10; two second prizes, one for each school, $7; two third prizes, one for each school, $3; ten additional prizes of $1 each.

While each contestant may submit three advertisements, only one will be eligible for a prize. At the close of the contest, October 22, the advertisements will be turned over to the judges who will pass upon their merits and announce the names of the successful contestants at a later date. The advs. will go into the hands of the judges with no distinguishing marks other than a number. The Plainfield Trust Company has secured R. F. R. Huntsman, an advertising expert of wide experience, to act as chairman of the judges committee, the other members of which are Charles H. Frost, manager of the Courier-News, and Leslie R. Fort, managing editor of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Huntsman is advertising manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union and has for many years been treasurer of the Sphinx Club, an advertising organization which is known the world over.

After the prizes have been awarded the names of the winners will be announced and their advertisements published. The students are already very enthusiastic about the plan and many of them have begun to work on their advs. There is reason to believe that some excellent results will be obtained from this contest.

FUNERAL OF EVERETT MARSH WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

The funeral of Everett Marsh, aged 39 years, will be held at his late residence, 217 Somerset street, the borough, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Edward Ralston will officiate, and the burial will be in the family plot in the Plainfield avenue cemetery. Mr. Marsh died at Muhlenberg Hospital, following a short illness with pneumonia. He was a painter by trade and was employed by Woolston & Buckle for thirty-eight years. He was a member of the Painter' Union. There survives two sons, F. B. and Everett H. Marsh; two sisters, Mrs. B. Frank Coriell and Mrs. Louis Randall, and two brothers, Willet and Aaron Marsh.

DONATIONS WANTED.

Those planning to furnish fruits, vegetables and autumnal flowers for decorating the Park Avenue Baptist church for the harvest home services Sunday are requested to bring their donations to the edifice this afternoon or tomorrow so that they may be put in place.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS

Progress Made by Allies When Hand Grenades Are Used.

TURKS CLAIM SUCCESS

Report Hostile Batteries Near Sed Ul Bahr Silenced by Artillery Fire—U. S. Demands Explanation of Slaughter of Armenians by Turks.

Paris, Oct. 1.—French war statement:

"In the Artois district we made progress with grenades in the trenches and field work to east and southeast of Neuville. Two German counter attacks were launched during the night, one against the small fort which we had captured yesterday and in Givenchey Wood; the other upon the trenches where we had established ourselves to south of hill No. 119. Both completely repulsed. To north of the Aisne, near Soupier, enemy delivered violent attack against our trenches, but his cannonade and rifle fire were not followed by any infantry attack. In Champagne we stopped with our fire a counter attack. In region of Maisons De Champagne the number of prisoners taken last night in the course of our advance to north of Massiges was 224, of whom six were officers.

Berlin, via wireless, Oct. 1.—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western theatre—The English tried no more attacks yesterday, while German counter attacks north of Loos resulted in further progress for us despite violent resistance and the strength of the enemy's defenses. All French attacks east of Souchez failed as well as north of Neuville St. Vaast and in the Champagne. North of Massiges in the Champagne troops from seven different French divisions took part in the attacks against the Germans. At Loos we took a few more prisoners and two machine guns. In the Champagne our prisoners have been increased to 104 officers and 7,019 men of the rank and file. The French positions near Vauquois have been damaged by our mines. French aviators have bombarded Henin Le Tard, east of Lens, in France, killing 8 French citizens."

Turks Report Victories.

Constantinople, Oct. 1.—The war office today issued the following report on operations:

"At the Dardanelles we have successfully shelled the coast positions of the enemy at Sed Ul Bahr. On Monday and Tuesday we routed sections of the enemy's forces and captured rifles and munitions. On Tuesday our artillery silenced hostile batteries near Sed Ul Bahr."

Turk Slaughter Must End.

Washington, Oct. 1.—It was learned on the highest authority at the State Department today that this government has made a formal representation to Turkey concerning the barbarous slaughter of Armenians.

Italy Changes Ministers.

Rome, Oct. 1.—Rear Admiral Corsi, commander of the first division of the Italian fleet, has been appointed minister of marine in succession to Vice Admiral Viale, resigned. He arrived here from Brindisi today and conferred with Premier Salandra, later taking up his duties.

Germans Transfer Troops.

Amsterdam, Oct. 1.—The transfer of German troops to the fighting front in northern France is proceeding on a large scale. Thirty-two trains full of troops passed through Belgium moving southward in the last twenty-four hours.

Schooner Sunk By Submarine.

London, Oct. 1.—The British schooner Helen Benyon has been sunk by a submarine. The crew was rescued.

SINKS FOLLOWING EXPLOSION.

Havre, Oct. 1.—The Norwegian steamer Elizabeth, 578 tons, has been sunk at the mouth of the Seine River following an explosion which set her on fire. The crew escaped. The vessel was bound from Leith to Rouen with coal. The authorities declare that the explosion was accidental.

FREIGHT STEAMER SUNK.

Archangel, Oct. 1.—The Norwegian freight steamer Pine Branch, 1,633 tons, was sunk in the harbor today by a collision with the Norwegian steamship Sane.

The Men's Association, of Warren chapel, will meet in the chapel this evening at 8:15 at the regular monthly business meeting. A full attendance is desired.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT IS NEARING CLOSE

Final Camp Fire of the Old Veterans to Be Held Tonight.

Washington, Oct. 1.—With the laying of the corner-stone of the memorial amphitheatre in Arlington cemetery this afternoon, and the final campfire of the old veterans this evening, the last of the big events of the semi-centennial encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held today. Many of the veterans will remain over Sunday, and a large number will journey tomorrow to Pender, Va., where markers to Generals Kearny and Stevens will be unveiled.

At the corner-stone-laying this afternoon, in Arlington cemetery, President Wilson will be the principal speaker. The President will wield the trowel, but will make no set speeech, delivering only a few words on this occasion. Commander-in Chief David J. Palmer, of the G. A. R., will make an address, and it is also expected that Secretaries Garrison and Daniels will be heard. Judge Ivory G. Kimball, the vice-chairman of the memorial committee, whose untiring efforts for twelve years are largely responsible for the building of the memorial, will also speak.

The markers to Major-General Phil Kearny and Major-General Isaac I. Stevens, the heroes of the Field of Chantilly, will be unveiled in the presence of their old comrades tomorrow. Colonel John McElroy, acting commander of the Department of the Potomac, and Corporal James Tanner, past commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will speak.

General Kearny came from New Jersey and was one of the ablest officers of the Union army. General Stevens, also a gallant commander, had been Governor of Washington territory. Both were shot down during the battle of Chantilly, fought in a violent rain and thunder storm on the evening of September 30, 1862. Kearny was caught by a Confederate squad while he was reconnoitering and while making a dash for his lines was shot down. General Stevens, while trying to rearrange his battle lines, was also killed, and their deaths caused widespread mourning. The markers are at Pender, Va., about a half mile from Ox Hill, where the two generals fell.

CHIEF MARSHAL WEISS IS NOT A GOLF PLAYER

For the benefit of interested parties, it is stated that because Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough police force, has kept a set of golf clubs beside his desk at headquarters for the past two months that he is not a devotee of the game.

The clubs were dropped on the grounds of the Park Golf Club several weeks ago by a couple of boys who were caught making the round of the links by the caretaker, and as they had no right on the grounds, were chased away. In their fright they dropped their clubs. The caretaker left them with Chief Weiss until a claimant should call for them, but so far no one has claimed them.

GENERAL HARDWARE AND HOUSEFURNISHINGS

A store prospers in "well doing"—through the service that it renders to YOU. There is no other rule that governs.

If values and prices ruled about alike in all stores at all times, there would not be any such thing as store competition. And, as finding desirable values would require no especial knowledge or insight, store advertising would be superfluous.

You can make your task of "buying for the home" either a very irksome one or a very interesting and pleasant one. A habit of ad-study will make it ALWAYS INTERESTING and always full of ECONOMY POSSIBILITIES.

The "buyer for the home" who does not read the ads is as unprogressive as the merchant who does not advertise.

LOCAL BIRDS WIN AT LANCASTER EXHIBIT

William E. Briggs Brings Home Ribbons With Chickens.

William E. Briggs, of Plainfield, has returned from the fair at Lancaster, and he brought back many ribbons and one valuable cup captured by his prize Buff Orpingtons in the bird exhibit there.

Mr. Briggs won a beautiful $25 cup for the best Buff Orpington in the show. There were 52 birds entered in this event and some of them had won prizes at the Syracuse fair. He also won first prize for the best pen, first prize for the best cockerel, first prize for the best pullet, third price for cockerel and third prize for hens.

LOCAL ENTRIES FOR BIG SHOW AT MORRISTOWN

With more than 400 horses, divided into sixty-six classes, the horse show at Morristown this year bids fair to excell the many successful shows of former years given under the auspices of the Morristown Field Club. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week the show will be held. Some particularly fine horses will be on view, among them a string from the stables of James C. Brady's Hamilton Farms, at Gladstone. The show is paticularly strong this year in saddle horses, hunters and jumper and ponies.

Among the many exhibitors are J. J. O'Donahue, of the Donnybrook Farms, and Miss Clara Blume, of this city. Charles W. McCutcheon is one of the vice-presidents of the show.

URGES ADDITIONAL SCHOOL FACILITIES

D. Fred Aungst Tells Parent-Teacher Ass'n More Room is Needed.

A large attendance at the opening meeting of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association in the Somerset School yesterday afternoon indicated a busy and a profitable year for the body. There were a large number of women present when Mrs. William O. Taylor, the president, called the meeting to order, and from 95 to 100 had taken seats in the room before the meeting was fairly started.

As most of the work of the association is done through its committees, and these committees have not gotten down to work yet, very little business was transacted yesterday. The question of holding a rummage sale, the proceeds of which will go to help swell the recreation hall fund, was discussed, and it was decided to hold such a sale the middle of this month.

Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst, of the North Plainfield schools, made an address in which he outlined at length the existing conditions in the borough public schools and told the pressing need for additional school accommodations. He said that despite the fact that a new school building is about to be opened in the borough, the need for more school room is urgent, and that another five-room building, or an addition to one of the present buildings, will be a need of the immediate future. The enrollment in the public schools is fast outstripping the building of schools, he said.

Principal Albert Earley, of the High School, also spoke. He dealt with the historical side of the public school question in the borough.

It is expected that between now and the next meeting the various committees will formulate plans for the winter's work and present them for discussion. It is not known what the committees have in mind for this year, as there have been no committee meetings as yet.

PERSONAL.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard M. English, of Danbury, Conn., who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Dundon, of Somerset street, for a few days, left for their home today. Dr. and Mrs. English came in their automobile and are making the return trip by automobile also.

Mrs. S. A. Summers and her daughter, Marguerite, of Craig place, are spending the week in Washington.

WHEN LETTERS WENT ASTRAY

A Near Tragedy That Was Happily Averted.

College student sits in his room smoking and writing letters.

First letter. Percy Walker to his uncle, Samuel Walker:

"My Dear Uncle—I write this my fortnightly letter to you to tell you that I am still doing very well in my classes—studying hard, devoting my whole time to my college duties. I haven't missed a lecture so far this term. You know I am very fond of athletics, but remembering your advice to be careful about letting sports interfere with my studies I have hung up the racket and the golf stick, contenting myself with poring over books. It is very hard now that the spring days are on to see the fellows going out in field costume for practice, but remembering your valued advice I resist the temptation.

"Then, too, I have taken advantage of your warnings about drinking and smoking. Cold water is good enough for me, and as for smoking, the smell of tobacco makes me sick.

"I hope you and my aunt continue in your usual good health and that your eyesight has improved. Tell Aunt Caroline that I am taking all the spring medicine she sent me. I am really quite fond of the herb tea, and the liver mixture is doing wonders for me. Tell her that I am heeding her advice not to throw off my overcoat too early in the spring and not to go out on damp ground without my rubbers. The muffler she so kindly sent me at Christmas time I have worn constantly all winter.

"Be assured, my dear uncle, of my affection for you and my aunt and believe me, your devoted nephew,

"PERCY."

Second letter. Percy Walker to his lawyer. Miss Ruth Stevens.

"Dear Ruth—I have just written uncle, and now comes the delight of writing to you. (Stop till I light a pipe.) I have to tell you the glorious news that I am first in winter practice in tennis and have won a place in the university crew. I've had more time for sports this term because I've chosen elective studies that don't interfere—or lectures, I mean—with the hours of practice. I am having a hard time in the spring examinations and for the last week have been 'boning' night and day. I hope to slip through if my conies don't go back on me—but regret that the confinement and lack of exercise may 'throw me' in my candidacy for a place in the football team.

"By the bye, I was forgetting to tell you that I gave a dinner in my room last week. The gang was too high hucky-muck for pipes, so I had to buy a box of cigars. This took my last dollar, and Uncle's next check isn't due for two weeks. I wish I dared ask the old rooster for an extra. He'd send it quick enough, but it would give me away. I'm telling him I have only term and basic bills to pay, and he knows my allowance is plenty for that.

"Mind, sweetheart, when you see uncle to tell him that I've taken a prize—'s for singles in tennis, but he'll think—'s for a thesis in Greek. And tell Aunt Caroline that I've been invited to take the superintendency of the Sunday school. They'll consider me too modest to write them these things and will think all the more of them coming from you. Goodby, lovey. With a million kisses, your loving 'PERCY.'"

Enter a gang of students to discuss the makeup of the baseball team for the coming season. When they leave the letter writer is about to leave, when, seeing his letters, he puts them in envelopes and hurriedly addresses them. Then he runs after the athletes.

Third letter. Miss Ruth Stevens to Percy Walker:

"Dearest Percy—You naughty boy! You have sent me by mistake a letter to your uncle. (Great Scott, I must have sent her letter to uncle!) Oh, how I laughed when I read it! (For heaven's sake, it's no laughing matter!) You ought to be ashamed of yourself—you devoting your whole time to your studies! 'Cold water good enough for you!' 'The smell of tobacco makes you sick!'

"I think you'd better go back to school and learn to write. It was all I could do to read your letter. You must be careful. Some day you'll be sending one of your letters to me to your uncle."

Soliloquy: That's just what I have done. Ruin stares me in the face. Uncle will stop the funds, and I'll have to leave college, and that when I've just got where I wanted to get on the teams! Well, goodby, alma mater. I'll go to some sweatshop or other where I'll have to come down to fingering other people's filthy lucre.

Fourth letter. Samuel Walker to his nephew:

"Dear Percy—Yours of the —th inst. received. Your handwriting is so bad that I can't read it. I suppose it is a request for money, so I inclose a check for $100. Your affectionate

"UNCLE.

"P. S.—Don't go out of your room if you can help it on these damp spring mornings. There is a great deal of pneumonia about."

Soliloquy: By thunder, what an escape!

Her Amendment.

He (seeing his wife making up before her dressing table)—Any one would think you were going to the party as "A Study In Scarlet."

She—Oh, no, dear! Only "Under False Colors."—Judge.

WILL WELCOME NEW S. S. SUPERINTENDENT

F. O. Dunning Succeeds Henry W. Herman at First Presbyterian Church.

In honor of the election of Frank O. Dunning as superintendent of the First Presbyterian Sunday school to succeed Henry W. Herrman, resigned, a special effort is being made by the officers and teachers of this organization to break last Sunday's attendance record which was the highest in the history of the school.

Mr. Dunning is widely known to the young men of this city because of his work in athletics at the Y. M. C. A. with which he has been associated for many years. He is himself one of the graduates of the school of which he is now superintendent and his sons have important classes. One of them, Frank Jr., is assistant secretary. Because of Mr. Dunning's personal popularity and his long association with the work of this part of the church a special effort is being made to make his first appearance in charge of the exercises a means of extending to him a personal tribute and evidence of the esteem in which he is held next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Considerable speculation exists among the members of Class 22, consisting of young men between the ages 15 and 19, as to who will be elected president. Two members of this class, Warren Townley, Jr., and Ernest T. Hand, have unbroken attendance records for seven and a half years. They are spoken of for president and vice president. Benjamin Kriney and Colin Millard are prominently mentioned for secretary and treasurer. Badges of membership will be given out to every member in attendance on "Dunning day" next Sunday.

WOMEN LEARN TO PLAY POLITICS

Suffrage School Opens With More Than Twenty Students Present.

Despite the chilling rain twenty-two kindergarten students were enrolled in the school which opened at suffrage headquarters on Depot avenue this morning. They were not ordinary kindergarten students, however, but a representative gathering of the leading society women of Plainfield, who sought practical information on matters political. The school is for workers and watchers at the polls, when a vote will be taken on the amendment giving women the ballot, Tuesday, October 19.

"Suffrage will win if we can get out the favorable vote," declared Mrs. Calvin, of Newark, when the first class was called to order. After hearing the address of Mrs. Calvin, and remaining through almost an hour of the first lesson, a Press reporter—the only one of the male species present—came to the conclusion that if the antis win they will have to do it by fair means.

The students listened attentively to the instructions of Mrs. Calvin, interrupting her frequently to ask enlightenment on points that were not fully understood, and from the interest manifested in the first class the women are determined to meet men on equal ground in the battle of ballots, Tuesday, October 19.

The bridge party to be given by members of the local suffrage league at the Park Club, Wednesday afternoon, promises to be the biggest event, socially, of the campaign. More than 400 tickets have already been disposed of. A cake sale will be given at headquarters tomorrow.

Mrs. George Bass, of Chicago, was the speaker at last night's street meeting, and she drew the largest crowd that has yet attended one of these meetings. Because of the inclement weather it is likely that tonight's meeting will be called off.

WENZEL GOTTLICK DIES AT STONY HILL, AGED 72

Wenzel Gottlick, of Stony Hill, died this morning at the age of 72. He was a wheelwright by trade, but had lived retired for fifteen years, and was very well known in the community.

Surviving are a widow, Mrs. Margaret Gottlick, and seven children. They are: Mrs. Mary Barringer, who resides at home; Mrs. Lewis Funk, of Plainfield; Mrs. Harry Templin, of Plainfield; Miss Rose Gottlick, who lives at home; Charles E., of Westfield; Elward B., of Stony Hill, and Cyril W., of Newark.

Mr. Gottlick was a communicant of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, and a member of the Holy Name Society. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Monday morning, when a solemn requiem mass will be said in St. Mary's church. Interment will be in the Stony Hill cemetery.

MONEY IN TRANSIT

How Millions Are Moved In Safety From City to City.

STRONG ROOMS IN BIG BANKS

The Modern Manganese Steel Vault, With Its Electric Skin, Can Defy the Most Daring and Clever Burglar Equipped With the Finest Tools.

Millions and billions in real cash, gold and bills, are vague things to most of us, and few people have any idea where this immensely wealthy nation keeps its real money or how it is guarded on its travels.

It is with the greatest reluctance that its owners or trustees ever move it; they prefer to exchange the checks, notes, drafts or securities that represent it. But there are times when the real money must go, and then its journey is a very interesting thing.

Every bank and trust company is required by the banking laws to keep a certain amount of money on hand, the amount being in proportion to the size of the institution, and in addition the current business of the house requires that so many millions more be available for use at the paying teller's window. To safeguard these large sums is the business of safe and vault building experts, and so far advanced is this science that it is practically impossible for the best equipped crooks to extract $1 from any big bank vault. Bank robbing these days is practiced on small country banks or is achieved by dishonest bankers.

The manganese steel vault, with its electric skin, is the last word in protection. The vault designer selects a spot in the institution, in any place from the cellar to the roof, where the vault can be isolated and cannot be reached easily by tunnelers, and there the big steel house is built. Its walls are so thick that they will resist fire, earthquake and heavy explosives, and the whole is protected by an electric skin. This is usually of a soft foil of alloy, and if even a pin is thrust through it at any point a short circuit is made and alarm bells set ringing in the building, in police headquarters, in the offices of private protective agencies and in the homes of certain officers of the bank. The burglar, with a torch that would burn a hole through the steel in a few minutes or tools that would cut out a door in an hour, has not a chance, even after he has tunneled to the vault and overcome the watchmen.

Messengers are never employed in carrying very large amounts of money. It is a familiar sight in the financial district in New York city to see two sturdy young men, each holding to the handle of a heavy leather bag, with one or more guards walking behind. But the chances are ninety-nine in a hundred that the bag contains not more than a few thousands at most, though there may be millions in bonds or other securities.

When millions in cash are taken from the vaults a picked corps of guarded clerks check it out in steel casks of the kind known as express strong boxes, and these are placed in wagons in which the carrying compartments are wholly of steel screens. Each wagon has its set of guards, usually two on the front seat, one driving, one locked in with the money and one riding on the rear.

For transit from city to city the big banks follow the system of the National City Bank of New York, which is the largest handler of real money in this country, not even excepting the United States mint. They utilize the express companies. Each big company has spent large amounts of money in picking its employees, and in elaborating systems for tracing stolen parcels. Every professional thief would rather steal from a police captain than steal from an express company, as all of them are allied together to form a perfect network through which thieves and plunder can scarcely hope to escape.

The money is checked out of the vaults into the hands of express company employees, who cart it to their express cars in the railroad yards, and it travels to its destination in as simple and unostentatious a manner as if it were so many crates of eggs. The express company employees never know what is in the strong boxes—they merely know that they have so many of them in given numbers to receive and to deliver, and that is all there is to it.

An additional safeguard is the very weight of any given quantity of gold and the serial numbering of large bills. These latter are kept in the same packets in which they leave the banks if possible, and the groups of numbers make them as individual and as easily identifiable as one man from another. If a thief extracted a million in $10,000 bills he could not cash a single one of them.—Washington Star.

Magnifying Powers.

"Father," said the small boy, "what is a demagogue?"

"A demagogue, my son, is a barker who can make a passing crowd believe that a side show is a great deal bigger than the main exhibition."—Washington Star.

HUMORS OF CASTE.

How Rules Governing Travel, Study and Dining Are Broken.

Though going to foreign countries by crossing the ocean is to break one's caste, hundreds of young Indians are now visiting Europe and America in pursuit of modern scientific and industrial education. Indeed, so numerous are the families affected that public opinion has compelled the Brahmans to ordain that no loss of caste shall result from going abroad for education. The step next contemplated, says the Century Magazine, is to have merchants and other business men exempted from the ban. It is certain that in time all classes of travelers will be exempted.

It is not so much the going abroad that is objected to as the eating of forbidden food, as beef, pork and chicken or any food cooked by foreigners. To obviate partly this difficulty the Hindus organized a steamship line, the Indian Peninsula company, between Bombay and London. On board the ships of this line Hindu caste rules are studiously observed. This company intends to open a hotel in London for the caste people of India, so that Hindu students, merchants and travelers may go to London, reside for any length of time and still return home without breaking their caste.

Caste rules prohibit people of different castes dining together. These rules, however, are broken by the rising generation in schools and colleges. The students, defying the cold and calculating conservatives, use the school and college building for dinner parties, where Hindus and Mohammedans, Christians and Jains, Buddhists and atheists, break bread together. In Benares, the stronghold of Brahmanical orthodoxy, intercaste dinners are of common occurrence. The Indian leaders in reform have gone a step further. On a public occasion they dined publicly with Europeans in the town hall of Calcutta. These dinners are helping break down obnoxious rules and thus are establishing dinner table democracy.

NOT THE WIG'S FAULT.

The Baring of a Bald Fact That Had Been Long Hidden.

One of the best known wigmakers of the city declared recently that he had won a wager with his barber by wearing a wig to the tonsor's shop and having it well trimmed before the man with the shears discovered his mistake. Whether this is an exaggeration or not the hair furnisher has a long list of additional stories to back up his claim that wigs can be made so natural that it is all but impossible to detect them as artificial head covering.

"Why," said the wig man as he pointed to a case in his Sixth avenue establishment, "there are wigs in there made of human hair that I would defy the closest scrutiny to detect as 'fakes.' Would you believe it, one of my customers, a well known man in this section of the city, wore one of these wigs from the night he was married for ten long years, and his wife never knew that he was bald? It is a fact, sir, a positive fact.

"In year and out for the entire ten he was so careful that his spouse never had the slightest suspicion. The way the discovery came about was—well, while it was painful to him it nevertheless had a gleam of humor in it. He bought a new wig, and I sent him the bill to his business address. He carried the bill home inadvertently, changed his suit, and his wife found the little telltale paper in his pocket. And he would not have been discovered then only his wife, sad to say, believed that he was paying for the wig of some lady, and there was a stormy time. He was forced to reveal himself as bald. But you will readily see it was not the fault of my workmanship. I wear one myself. Could you tell? Nobody could."—New York Sun.

TALKS 4,900 MILES BY WIRELESS 'PHONE

Trans-Atlantic Communication Made Probable by Wonderful Invention.

New York, Oct. 1.—By means of the special wireless telephone developments made by the engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, speech was transmitted last night by wireless telephone from Washington to a station near Honolulu. This triumph coming but a few hours after Mr. Vail had talked by wireless from Washington to San Francisco, is conclusive proof of the wonderful capacity of the new discoveries by the engineers of the Bell System.

The distance over which this wireless communication was held, 4,900 miles, is greater than that from New York to Berlin, so that it is obvious that trans-Atlantic telephone communication is possible once the disturbed conditions in Europe will permit.

For the purpose of this test, the messages were sent from the naval wireless station at Arlington, near Washington, and the receiving was done on a small wireless antonna especially erected for the purpose by the telephone company, with the permission of the naval authorities at the United States Naval Station at Pearl Harbor.

In the early spring of this year an experimental wireless tower was erected by the telephone company at Montauk Point, L. I., from which the engineers talked to a small private tower at Wilmington, Del., a distance of some 250 miles. Subsequently they talked from Montauk Point to an experimental tower at St. Simon's Island, off the coast of Georgia, a distance of more than 1,000 miles.

An interesting feature of the tests yesterday was the ability in a practical way to connect wireless telephone systems with wire telephone systems. Mr. Vail, in his talk from New York to San Francisco used the wire to Washington and there the wires were connected to a special wireless apparatus and to the navy's wireles tower, where the message went wirelessly to its destination. Wireles systems are subject to serious interference from atmospheric and other conditions and the fact that anyone suitably equipped can listen in on wireless telephone talks would also be a serious limitation to its use.

SOMERSET GRAND JURY RETURNS 66 INDICTMENTS

Somerville, Oct. 1.—The Somerset County Grand Jury completed its deliberations at 2 o'clock this afternoon and handed in 66 true bills.

Judge Daniel H. Beekman will hold a special session of court at 4 o'clock this afternoon at which time several prisoners will be discharged and others will be arraigned.

At the regular session of the court this morning Judge Beekman granted another hearing to Frank Dufano, Andrew Petrelick, John Baby and John Ross, the men who desired a wholesale liquor license at Raritan. The application was denied and the place abolished.

Frank Viteli, of North Plainfield, withdrew his application for a hotel license and was granted a wholesale license.

CITZENS ENDORSE VOTES FOR WOMEN

Paul H. Burns and Councilman R. A. Claybrook Express Their Views.

The letter which the Equal Suffrage League sent to prominent citizens of Plainfield continues to bring a host of replies, most of them highly favorable to woman suffrage. The following are fair samples of many thoughtful expressions of opinion on a question of immediate import to the citizens of New Jersey. Paul H. Burns, president of the Chamber of Commerce, writes:

"It at all times gives me great pleasure indeed to express my firm belief in the righteousness of the woman suffrage cause. It is my sincere hope that the State of New Jersey and this community, may have the honor of leading the Eastern States in the step which all of them will inevitably take in the near future, by the adoption of laws which will permit women to vote on an equal footing with men.

"It is my personal belief that the votes of women will lift politics to a higher plane and, combined with the at present increasing voting power of the men who desire better political conditions, it will purge both of the dominant political parties of evils which have gradually grown up, and on account of their long existence have come to be looked upon by many as irremovable. The men of this community will honor themselves by voting for 'Votes for Women' on October 19."

Councilman R. A. Claybrook explains his firm belief in Equal Suffrage:

"Because—I believe it is just and therefore right.

"Because—I believe woman is equally as capable and intelligent as man.

"Because—I believe 'taxation without representation' is unjust and un-American.

"Because—I believe in the good old American doctrine of 'equal rights for all and special privileges for none.'"

RECREATION NOTES

The Dunbar dance will be held in the auditorium at the Washington School tonight.

The Dramatic Club will hold a rehearsal of "Brown of Harvard" in the kindergarten room of Washington School.

For Women Who Want Very Pretty Blouses

An October treat in the Blouse Shop. A trio of lovely new blouses with all humdrumness left out.

For $5 a lace blouse with a charming slashed collar and the new fuller sleeves; here and there are appliqued satin medallions or petals that are as effective as dashes of paint, and they melt into the symphony of the lace better.

For $6.50, chiffon and lace combination blouses with velvet cuffs and collar; navy, green, brown, plum and flesh color.
For $7.50, almost irresistible blouses of the new radium lace, with pleated front of flesh color Georgette crepe, punctuated with amber colored buttons. Third floor, Old Building.

Saturday---Special Offering of Newly Created $7 Hats

In these hats fashion has summed up the richness of the coming winter season.

They are of velvet, silver or gold lace, fur and flowers, happily combined to form the most becoming millinery we have offered this Autumn.

Every woman is sure to find a hat that will delight her, for there are high crowned Amazone models, medium crowned roll sailors, flat Georgette sailors and other pretty shapes, suitable for street as well as evening wear.

Please note how good the fur is, the quality of the velvet, the charm of the tiny French flower clusters, and the Parisian use of new tinseled taffeta ribbon.

SEWER ORDINANCE TO BE INTRODUCED

Councilman Francis J. Blatz Will Present Matter to Council Monday.

When the Common Council convenes for its October session Monday night, Councilman Francis J. Blatz, chairman of the sewer committee, will introduce an ordinance providing for the laying of sewer lines in many streets of the West End not already provided with this improvement. For some time past the residents of Clinton avenue, Willever street and other thoroughfares in that section have been anxious to have the sewer main service extended to their properties, and at a meeting of the Councilmanic sewer committee Wednesday night a petition from that end of the city came in for considerable discussion.

The committeemen favored bringing the matter to the attention of the Council, and should it be passed on two readings Monday night, proposals for doing the work will be advertised for.

In view of the fact that the joint sewer system is now in the course of construction, the committee and others deem it wise to take in the extreme western section of the city, thus avoiding trouble in making connections with the main trunk line after it is completed.

But his faults are a portion of HIM;
I know that his record's vermillion,
He's far from a sweet seraphim;
But he's always been square with Yours Truly,
All ready to give or to lend,
And though he is wild and unruly
I like him because he's my Friend.

For I don't analyze—I just love him
Because — well, because he's my Friend.

MATRIMONY.

The primary impulse of all creatures is possession. It is this that causes a chicken to tear around the yard with a piece of meat in its mouth and all the other chickens after it. It hasn't time, but the instinct of possession makes him grab and keep it. The same is noticeable among beasts. They like to get a great piece of meat in their mouths and then growl. It is this instinct in man which provokes him to matrimony. He wants something to guard and growl over. So he seeks a hollow tree, a cave, or a house, and a wife.

THE SEVEN WONDERS.

I wonder if my wife will stand for that "night-work-at-the-office" gag again?

I wonder who I can touch for a loan?

I wonder if he'll come again to-night?

I wonder whether he's holding a good hand or bluffing?

I wonder how she keeps from showing her age?

I wonder if that's her last year's hat made over?

I wonder how they keep up appearances on his salary?

IMPROVEMENT.

STRONG CITY RECREATION CLUB QUINTET FILES APPLICATION TO PLAY BASKETBALL

Another formidable aggregation sought admittance to the City Basketball League at a committee meeting held in the editorial rooms of the Daily Press last night, Joe Carty, manager of the Plainfield Recreation Club quintet, filing his application with the league officials. Among the best known players on the new team are Jack Ricketts, Willard Marston, "Rube" Dallas and Bergen Naylor. It will use the Plainfield High School gymnasium one night a week.

At last night's session the question of securing courts occupied the lion's share of the meeting time, it being decided that everyone of the eight teams entered should have its home court. To make this end possible it will be necessary for some of the clubs to "double-up." The Y. M. H. A. has already made tentative arrangements to secure the Columbus Club courts on nights when it is not used by the team from that organization, and the Plainfield A. A. will likely "double" with the Tabs.

The possibility of securing both Hope Chapel and First Baptist as applications before the meeting next Tuesday night in the Daily Press office was also discussed, and it is probable that representatives from both of these clubs will be present on that occasion. While a sufficient number of teams have already been secured to organize an eight-team circuit, it is desired to secure at least ten applications, and the aggregations filing the strongest rosters will be picked for the definite circuit.

Next Tuesday night each club will file a tentative list of players in order that the league officials, who will be chosen on that date in permanent capacities, may get a line on what material each club has to offer. A committee will be named to single out the most formidable competitors for the league race, and a schedule drawn up accordingly.

Each team wall play at least one game a week, and the schedule will probably be sent underway the latter part of October. It is proposed not to have more than two games on the same night, and to possibly divide the four weekly encounters into two playing night programs.

A tentative set of by-laws were drawn up by the committee last night, and these will be offered for adoption at Tuesday's session. A number of prominent men of the city and borough have offered their assistance in organizing the circuit, and several have been suggested as likely aspirants to the presidential office of the league.

The by-laws call for two referees and several substitute officials, it being proposed not to have umpires. It is desired to keep the expenses down to a minimum, and in view of the fact that not more than two games will be staged on any one night, it is believed that two men can handle the refereeing end satisfactorily. At Tuesday night's meeting a definite list of league teams will be selected, and if Hope Chapel or First Baptist are to enter it will be necessary for these organizations to have a delegate present, otherwise no other opportunity will be offered them for getting into the organization. Any other club desiring to file an application is also invited to have delegates present Tuesday night.

SEATING PLANS FOR WORLD SERIES FETE

Philadelphia Club Erecting Grandstand to Seat 20,000 Fans.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Plans for the fifth world's series of baseball games in Philadelphia in six years were put in operation yesterday.

With the winning of the National League championship, at Boston, Wednesday, by the Philadelphia Club, a large number of carpenters began the work of building extra boxes and bleacher seats in National League Park. The plans call for the erection of about 2,300 seats, which will increase the capacity of the grounds to a few more than 20,000 seats.

Applications for tickets for the series, which began to flow into the club's offices some time ago, continue to pour in by every mail, but nothing will be done with them until after the National Commission meets in New York on Saturday and fixes the date for the beginning of the games. Unless the commission shall rule otherwise, the prices of tickets will be $1 to $5. The bleacher seats will be $1, grandstand seats $2 and $3, and box seats $5 each. Purchasers will be compelled to buy tickets for three games, as was the custom in the world's series of 1913 and 1914. It is said the applications for seats already exceed the capacity of the park.

Arrangements are also under way for the first of the inevitable banquets that follow the winning of a pennant. Philadelphia supporters of the Phillies have arranged to tender the team a dinner on October 16. In addition, the players will receive a warm welcome when they arrive home from Boston.

WILL DE PALMA DRIVE.

The momentous question as to whether Ralph De Palma will drive his Mercedes car in the Astor Cup race tomorrow at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway is still a matter of conjecture. Around the racing camps at the track there is a strong impression that De Palma will not start. He has had considerable engine trouble during the past few days.

ST. MARY'S SOCIAL CLUB TO START BASKETBALL

St. Mary's Social Club has issued the first call for basketball practice to be held in the T. A. B. Hall, Tuesday night, October 5. All members wishing to try for the team are urged to come out for the tryout and learn the game.

The coach will be on hand to answer all questions concerning the indoor pastime, and those who have never played will be taught the rudiments of the game. A captain and manager will be appointed within a week or two, and the latter will immediately start a schedule for her aggregation.

SOME VETERANS REPORT FOR P. H. S. GIRLS' TEAM

The first practice of the P. H. S. girls' basketball squad was held in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon, a large turnout of aspirants for positions being in attendance. Miss Ruth I. Wean, who will coach the Red and Blue girls this year, expressed herself as being highly pleased with the outlook for the coming season.

Altohugh the large maority of last year's quintet are out of school, there still is a wealth of material from which she can form a star team. The following members of last year's squad reported yeserday: Misses Irma Good, Elsa Palmer, Florence Ryder, Jennie and Clementine Bremble.

PARVIN AND EGGIE WILL MEET IN TENNIS FINAL

On the Plainfield Country Club courts yesterday, Rodman Parvin, P. H. S., defeated Phil Mills, P. H. S., 6-2 and 6-2. By virtue of this victory Parvin will have to settle the final dispute with Eustace Eggie, P. H. S., probably tomorrow morning.

Rodman Parvin is picked by the critics to win.

ASTOR CUP CLASSIC WILL SET PRECEDENT IN AUTOMOBILE RACING FOR THE WORLD

With th elimination trials for the Astor Cup race in full swing and the race for the $50,000 purse itself carded for tomorrow, New York's "Speedway Week," so far as sporting enthusiasm goes, has started off with a big hoorah. The concentrated interest in the great 350-mile struggle and the speed trials that are leading up to it rivals that which is bestowed upon a world's series, when there is such a thing in the metropolis, the National Automobile Show at Grand Central Palace, or the Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in its heydey. New Yorkers really have begun to wake up to the speed wonders that the Astor Cup race has in store for them. A week ago when Dario Resta whirled for 10 miles around the steep curved banks and board stretches of the new Sheepshead Bay Speedway at a rate of better than 108 miles an hour for that distance, they sat up and took notice. Nor did they realize what a magnificent automobile racing course and sports arena had been built right within the city's gates until 15,000 of them visited the track on the occasion of the automobile parade which threaded down to the Bay to celebrate the christening of the new Speedway.

Since that time public interest has been still more intensified by the phenomenal performances resulting from the practice and elimination tryouts. Now the race is the talk of the town, and speculation as to its outcome is furnishing no end of argument, and wagering among partizans of the pilots who are to participate next Saturday in the struggle for a fortune is decidedly brisk.

As a matter of fact New Yorkers until now have had small acquaintance with the new generation of drivers that the Indianapolis Speedway and the big Middle Western and Pacific Coast races have brought into being as successors to Heath, Hemery, Wagner, Nazzaro and Grant, all of Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize fame. Of course the metropolitan fans have seen Ralph De Palma, Barney Oldfield, Bob Burman, Ralph Mulford and others put up miles to the tune of 50 seconds or so down on the old Brighton Beach horse track, but Resta, Cooper, Rickenbacker, Pullen, Anderson, Aitken and other motor racing heroes of modern times are known in the East only by newspaper report and hearsay.

The prize list, in addition to the $50,000 purse and the handsome Astor Cup, has been considerably augmented by other prizes. Indeed, one of the features of the elimination trials was the battle for the prize offered by the Vacuum Oil Co., $75 in cash going to the driver who makes the fastest lap. For the race on October 2, the Vacuum Oil Company offers a large, beautiful cup filled with one hundred silver dollars to the driver who is in the lead at the 300-mile mark. The Bosch Magneto Company is offering $500 in gold to the winner of the big race, $300 for second place and $200 for third place. In addition to these prizes there will be additional bonuses of $100 for first, second and third places, provided the winners of these places average a higher speed than the averages made respectively for first, second and third places in the 100-mile match race at Chicago. In order to receive any of these awards, however, the winning cars must employ Bosch magneto ignition during the entire race.

Physical examination of the drivers and mechanicians, including the heart and blood pressure tests, will take place, and each man who intends to participate either as driver, relief or mechanic, must first obtain the official physician's certificate.

The 350-mile race for the Astor Cup will be for cars having a piston displacement of less than 300 cubic inches. The conditions imposed in the deed of the gift call for five annual competitions on the Sheepshead Bay Speedway, the cup going to the entrant and not the driver. The possession of the trophy will be determined on a point basis, the idea being that this will inspire not only repeated annual entries, but also the nomination by aspirants for final ownership of the cup of two or more cars. The value in points of position at the finish of the race will be as follows: First, 20 points; second, 15; third, 12; fourth, 10; fifth, 8; sixth, 7; seventh, 6; eighth, 5; ninth, 4; tenth, 3. In case of a tie for permanent possession of the cup the tie shall be decided by three races of 100 miles each, best two out of three. Both foreign and American cars will be eligible.

In order to accommodate the thousands of people who expect to see the race, there will be a huge grandstand along the homestretch and facing the official stand and race pits. This monster steel stand is 1,700 feet in length, has 1,000 boxes holding six each, and 20 miles of seats. There are 24 rows on the upper and 16 on the lower tier, giving a total seating capacity of 50,000. The open stand on the back stretch will accommodate about 30,000 more. The center of the oval will furnish parking space for 20,000 cars, so that in all about 150,000 people can find accommodation.

P. H. S. READY FOR PIGSKIN ASSAULT

Local Warriors Start Their Season Off With Easton High Tomorrow.

SOME ROSY PROSPECTS

Veterans, Headed by Captain Dick Pennock, Have Been Augmented by Wealth of New Material—Good Coaching Corps.

When Plainfield H. S. encounters Easton High School on the Parker Field gridiron tomorrow, what promises to be one of the most successful football seasons in the athletic history of the local institution will be opened. For the past three weeks the eleven has been working diligently under the guidance of Coach Patch and Professor Woodman, who feel that the material on hand is unusually good, and that the boys have responded eagerly to instruction given.

Captain Dick Pennock, who will lead the attack tomorrow, is also of the opinion that the coming season will be a successful one.

The center position will probably be taken care of by Morris Kline, a recruit, who will be given a chance to make good. At quarterback "Pete" Alpaugh and "Herb" Peacock are due to shine. The rest of the eleven will consist of regulars in the main, although the injury to Mumford has necessitated shoving Raymond Samloch in the line. At that, the move should not prove in the least unfortunate. Hoffer is also a new man, who is to help Samloch out on the left flank. The work of the "green" duo will be closely watched.

"Buster" Miller, "Bill" Daniels, "Box" Apgar, "Joe" Mutnick and James Noonon all should show up well in the initial argument. Perhaps a county championship will anchor itself in this vicinity, and although tomorrow's game will have no bearing on this phase of the outlook, it will doubtless afford a good insight as to the individual merit of the Red and Blue warriors.

JIM EMERY SIGNED BY THE CHALLENGERS

Leaguer to Perform at Third Base for the Plainfield A. C. Tomorrow.

When the Plainfield A. C. and the Netherwood City Baseball League champions meet in the second game of their post-season series tomorrow afternoon Jim Emery will cover third base for the challengers, filling in the gap left vacant by Benny Rosenson's retirement. Emery recently returned after a successful season with a Southern league, and should add considerable strength to the Plainfield club.

Last Saturday the champions, with the aid of Lou Slocum, scored a no-hit, no-run victory over the Plainfield A. C. in the initial set-to of the series, and weather permitting, tomorrow's game will no doubt be a speedy one.

PLAINFIELD FIVE WILL OPEN WITH BORO GIRLS

The Plainfield Five girls' basketball team, which gained considerable prominence in this and other cities last season will probably open its court season with the North Plainfield High School maidens within the next month, the exact date to be announced later.

Other teams in this and other municipalities wishing to challenge the localites are requested to communicate with the manager, Miss Clara Barton Smith, 48 Grandview avenue, North Plainfield.

TWO GOOD GAMES.

Arrangements have been made for a double bill of baseball Sunday afternoon when the Plainfield A. C. and the T. A. B. S. City Baseball League teams line up against each other at Avon Park. Both aggregations will present their strongest fighting fronts and a good game should result.

PITCHER OF 68 STEPS TO MOUND, STOPPING RALLY.

The town of Cannonsburg, Pa., boasts of the oldest baseball pitcher in the world. He's sixty-eight, and his name is William C. Bedillion.

A week or so ago he was watching a game between a visiting club and the team representing the McConnell mills, with which he is connected. The opposition was hitting the McConnell pitcher all over the lot.

"Why don't you put in another pitcher?" asked Bedillion of his manager.

"Ain't got any," was the answer.

"Well, you've got one now," said Bedillion, peeling off his coat, vest and other outside rigging. "And this pitcher's name is Bedillion."

To the amazement of the crowd, Bedillion went to the box and took up the pitching chore. He pitched three full innings, struck out four men, passed one batter, hit another, but did not allow a hit.

Bedillion was a star player in his youth and played ball as often as once a week up to the time he was forty-five.

ONCE A BLACKSMITH, NOW CLEVER FIGHTER

Les Darcy, the Australian who landed a sleep punch upon the jaw of Eddie McGoorty, is only nineteen years old. He used to be a blacksmith, but quit the forge about a year ago, when friends convinced him that a great future was in store for him in the fighting game.

Darcy's first real ring encounter took place last January. His rise in the pugilistic game has been meteoric. He is regarded as a born fighter, and Australians predict that he will rank soon as the greatest middleweight battler of all time.

RUDOLPH MAY BE TRADED.

Boston's Star Pitcher May Wear Cub Uniform Next Season.

Dick Rudolph, the Boston Nationals' star twirler, may not be seen in the uniform of the Braves next season. It is said on good authority that Manager Stallings intends to trade "Relentless Dick" to the Chicago Cubs for Catcher Jimmy Archer.

RAN TEAM BY TELEPHONE.

Novel Managerial Stunt Introduced by Harry Wolverton.

Something new in baseball has been inaugurated by Harry Wolverton, manager of the San Francisco club of the Pacific coast league. The former leader of the New York Yankees has been conducting the field baseball campaign of the Seals from his bed by the aid of telephone and telegraph wires.

Wolverton, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident, decided that he could manage his team just as well from the hospital bed as the bench. Wires were installed from the Seals' dugout at the baseball park to Wolverton's bedside, and he was kept informed of every move of the opposing teams. When his club was out of town a telegraph wire was substituted for the phone, and the disabled manager made suggestions, followed the play and in general dictated the field policy of the Seals in the same manner he would have had he been on the players' bench.

Meredith May Try For Famous Record.

Over the same course on the Guttenberg race track where in 1900 Maxey Long ran his wonderful quarter in 47 seconds flat, Ted Meredith of the University of Pennsylvania may make another attempt to equal or beat the figures which have defied the world's best middle distance runners since they were established.

BATTING FEATS SELDOM EQUALED

Cutshaw's Recent Record of Six Hits Recalls Like Events.

DELEHANTY ONCE MADE NINE

Not In Single Game, but In a Double Header—He Belted the Pill In as Many Times at Bat—Williams and Beaumont Made Six Each.

When George Cutshaw, the Brooklyn National's second baseman, touched up the slants of Pitchers Pierce and Standridge of the Chicago Cubs recently for half a dozen bingles in as many times at bat he entered the hall of baseball fame.

He is the first man to accomplish the feat since Jimmy Williams peeled off the same number thirteen years ago.

Williams, who broke into fast company with the Pirates and who is now second sacking for the Minneapolis American Association team, was the last major leaguer to assemble six safe swats in one combat until Cutshaw performed the feat the other day.

So many years have elapsed since Williams slapped out six hits that fans thought the able pastimer capable of getting a sextet of raps in one game was, like the dodo, extinct. Managers had the same idea too. Miracle Man Stallings of the Braves doubted if the trick ever would be turned again. Stallings in saying that it would be hard for a man to make six hits in a game pointed out the fact that there are mighty few contests in which a man goes to bat six times and also alluded to the chances of a player getting passed or winged or even pulled out by his manager after his team had obtained a commanding lead.

In the game in Chicago recently the Cub pitchers had perfect command, seeming able to hit the Superbas' bats with every curve they threw.

Of Cutshaw's six hits three were made off the southpaw and three off the right hander. Not one was for more than one sack, and all except the last traveled to the outfield. Cutshaw started on his batting jamboree in the second inning, when he slapped a single to center. In the fourth spasm he deposited a one spot in right, and in the fifth bingle No. 3 went to left. Cutshaw's fourth wallop cropped up in the sixth and was aimed to the starboard field. In the eighth the Superba aimed his fifth smash to the port garden, and in the ninth he got his sixth drive—a slow bounder to Shortstop Fisher, who once played alongside of him. Cutshaw batted in only one run with his six hits, Daubert crossing the plate when the walloper from Wilmington rid his system of safety No. 4.

The reason "Ginger" Beaumont's feat of making six hits is spread so distinctly on the tablets of baseball dope is because at the same time he manufactured them, which was July 22, 1899, in a game against the Phillies, he also scored six runs.

Jimmy Williams, last major leaguer, prior to Cutshaw, to make six hits in a contest, turned the trick Aug. 25, 1902, when he was a member of the Baltimore Americans. The Orioles were playing the Chicago White Sox that day, and they trimmed them 21 to 6, Clark Griffith and a deaf mute named Leitner being the boxmen for the westerners. Jimmy's wallops embraced four singles, one double and one triple.

That same season, July 8, Danny Murphy, making his debut with Connie Mack's White Elephants, startled the baseball world by pestling George Prentiss (since dead), Cy Young I. and Merle Adkins of the Boston Red Sox for half a dozen safeties, one of which was a home run. The Athletics in this game got twenty-two runs and twenty-seven hits, Murphy going to bat six times. He did not reach the ball yard until the second chapter, else he might have batted seven times. Jud Castro, graduate of Manhattan college, was pulled out of the Athletic lineup when Murphy reported to the tall tactician. In 1901 two American leaguers—Mike Donlin of the Baltimore Orioles and Kid Nance of the Detroit Tigers—each made six hits in games.

A whole raft of major leaguers have gleaned six hits in contests, but most of these tricks were turned when the clubs had small rosters and when the fielding was not nearly so accurate as it now is. Larry Twitchell, a youngster who was signed by the Detroits as a pitcher and then proceeded to demonstrate that he could bat better than he could hurl, turned in one of the best six hit stunts when he was working for Cleveland in 1899. Then he slammed out one single, one double, three triples and one home run, a total of sixteen bases, in a game with Boston, going to bat seven times.

In the old American Association Guy Hecker of Louisville once got three singles and three homers in a game with Baltimore.

Chick Stahl when he was in the Virginia league with Roanoke once drove out three singles, two triples and two homers in one contest.

If Cutshaw wishes to equal another major league record he might make nine hits in nine times at bat in a double header, as did Ed Delehanty of the Phillies July 13, 1897, against the Louisville Colonels. One of Del's smashes that day was a triple.

RAILROAD MEN PULL FOR JUSTICE

Says Sunny Billy Smith, Runner Up of Billy Sunday.

Sunny Billy Smith, erstwhile South African evangelist and missionary and now a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, street corner preacher and ardent equal suffrage advocate, told Jersey City suffragists recently that the equal suffrage movement was making rapid headway among the railroad men.

"All classes of men on the railroads today," he says, "are beginning to realize that they have two problems to fight in order to keep up their wages—the problem of immigrant and woman labor. Without a union or vote to help them, they are both called to work on the railroads in larger and larger numbers. Now they are thorns in the side of their fellow workers.

"On some of the railroads the women are working twelve hours a day as ticket agents where once we had men. Now that there are such changes in industrial conditions and modern time have driven the woman out of the home to earn a living she has become exploited labor to the great disadvantage of her own men.

"Now I see it that the unions must help to bring the women into the electorate, where they can protect themselves and assist to uphold the hand of democracy against the hand of despotism.

"The railroad men of America have always had great affection for the womanhood of their country. They know how faithfully the lady auxiliaries have stood by their organizations and how they have helped and cheered in times of need. They have often seen how brave the women are when they have been told that husband or son has been killed by the railroad and how, with the breadwinner gone, they have courageously faced the problem of earning a living for themselves and their children under much harder conditions than men.

"The railroad men realize, too, what women like Mrs. Otto Wittpenn have done for our state and how women of this kind are ready to uphold justice in getting widows' pensions, eight hour days and other measures which aim to make the life of the workingman and working woman more worth living.

"I think on Oct. 19 you will find the railroad man pulling on the side of justice, and the men of the east will prove themselves as good as the men of the west because they want to set their mothers and their wives free."

The suffragist interviewers are not always able to find at home all of those women who believe that a "woman's place is in the home."—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

ANTIS DO NOT MEASURE UP

International Suffrage Leader Says Antis Evade Duty.

"There has been in every place and time a small fraction of the female population which has claimed woman's right to be free from all disagreeable duties, to be tricked out and fed, to be dressed and ornamented at the cost of others. The trail of these women lies over every prison in the land, marking the men who have cheated and lied and forged and embezzled to give them freedom from duty."

This is the opinion of Mrs. C. C. Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance and suffrage leader in New York, regarding the woman who wishes to be free from responsibility.

"Anti-suffragists are demanding the right of freedom from a duty," she continues. "They acknowledge that voting is not a privilege, but a duty; that if it is conferred they must accept it as such, but they wish to be saved from their duty. Their posters in huge letters proclaim all over New York city this desire to escape the inconvenience of duty. They say, 'Woman's right is the right to freedom from political duty.'

"Who gave her this right? Women are members of the community, the society, the family into which they were born. How can they claim immunity from duty in any one of these positions and not in the other two? As members of each they are responsible for the conditions of each. Otherwise they should give up their membership. Are these women who are loudly proclaiming their unwillingness to discharge some of their duties willing to accept the alternative?"

New Zealand Catholic Archbishop Commends Working of Equal Suffrage.

Most Rev. Thomas O'Shea, S. M., coadjutor archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Wellington New Zealand, and regarded as one of the noted figures of the church in Australasia, in an interview in Washington recently at the Catholic university praised woman suffrage in New Zealand.

In New Zealand woman suffrage has been in existence over twenty years and, the archbishop declared, "works out very satisfactorily."

It does not cause any of the evils that its opponents claim, he says.

"Politics in our country is very clean, and the women particularly are very careful about the moral character of a candidate for office. In fact, it is almost impossible for a man with a bad moral character to run for office. As for woman suffrage making a sweeping change in the politics of the country, I don't think so at all. Our politics has always been of a very high standard, and there is no such thing as graft."

As Our Friend the Enemy Sees It.

The Sunday Dispatch, a well known liquor paper of Philadelphia, is out in a fierce editorial against woman suffrage. A sample of the arguments advanced by the liquor interests reads:

"When one of these she bears invites you to 'vote for women' remind her that woman's place is at home, cooking the meals and sewing the shirts for her lord and master—that grandest of all heaven's creations—that cock of the walk, who rules by inheritance—woman's natural boss from the time of Adam down—strong willed, iron limbed man!"—American Issue.

VALUABLE HINTS TO AUTOMOBILISTS

E. A. Craig Gives Interesting Address on "Valve Action and Cooling."

"Valve Action and Cooling, Reasons for Loss of Power," was the subject of an interesting talk given by Edward A. Craig, of this city, at a meeting of automobilists at Newark, on Tuesday, in which he brought out many points of value to autoists. Mr. Craig said, in part:

"Not enough importance is attached to the matter of valve cooling by the average gas engine designer. Valves should not have to be ground so often, and would not have to be if they were so placed that a large and constantly flowing stream of water surrounded each exhaust and inlet valve, instead of passing around only half of each valve, as in nine out of ten motors today.

"If the inlet and exhaust are placed closely together there is no way of getting a good water circulation between. The result is a loss of power, speed and decreased mileage per gallon of gasoline, also time and expense of grinding in and often replacing valves.

"An exhaust valve should be entirely surrounded by the water circulating through the radiator system. The only way this can be accomplished is by the use of a T-head engine in which the exhaust valve is on one side and the inlet on the other, or by placing the inlet valve in the center of the cylinder at the top and the exhaust on one side. Either of these arangements, besides permitting better than ordinary water cooling for the valves, enables the manufacturer to use a larger valve than is possible when placing them side by side.

"Of the types of cylinders mentioned, the T-head is the most expensive to build, principally because of the fact that an extra camshaft is required. The timing gears are therefore more numerous and consequently get noisy. Then the T-head motor is heavier than any other type, as it requires larger cylinders, heavier crankcase and timing gear case.

"These features eliminate the T-head style from the moderate priced motor car. Even some high-priced cars—formrly using T-head motors—have changed to reduce weight and manufacturing expense.

"It has also been found in experimental work that the inlet of gas in a T-head cylinder has to turn too many corners before combustion and exhaust.

"The other type of motor has all of the advantages of the T-head with none of its disadvantages. It is lighter in weight, requiring only one camshaft and few cam gears, or timing gears, as they are called. The cylinder and crankcase castings are smaller and lighter and have less chance for oil leaking out. The only objection to the type using one valve in the head has been the necessity of opening this valve by a rocker arm.

"By placing the inlet valve in the head each inlet and exhaust valve has 100 per cent. water cooling, and there is plenty of room to use a large valve as in the T-head type. The large valve gives more power and quicker response to any motor of a given size.

"In this type of motor, the inlet being in the center, causes the gas from the carburetor to be drawn into the cylinders at dead center, and with the least possible turning of corners. It also affords an easy way to clean cylinders, as the cage holding the inlet valve is removable, exposing the entire cylinder head for examination and cleaning.

"The exhaust is placed the same as in a T-head—to one side, and as low as possible—as the heat of the cylinders ascend, and putting the exhaust high up would only increase its tendency to heat and warp.

"In boring cylinders at the factory the inlet valve hole enables the operator to get a perfect center for the bore, insuring uniform wall thickness to each cylinder. This is possible if the cylinder is closed at the top, and a cylinder wall thicker in one place than another will become hottest at its thickest point and cause a piston knock.

"This is another mistake common in many gas engines even at this late day. We all know that the hottest part of an engine is the exhaust valve and port, and yet some engines still take the cold water from the bottom of the radiator and inject it close to the exhaust valve, causing the valve to warp and lose compression and making the engine deliver only half of its rated horse power.

"In the more up-to-date design the cooled water enters the cylinder water jackets on the opposite side, and is therefore tempered by the time it reaches the exhaust side."

THE HEALTH OF CHILDREN.

The department of public instruction of the State of New Jersey has just issued a monogram on the teaching of hygiene and safety which marks another important forward step in the instruction of the young. Its purpose is to arouse proper interest in health and to point out to teachers the important facts not to be overlooked in the proper training and care of the growing body.

The monograph is practical in that it lays stress not so much upon information as conduct. It does not attempt to lay down rules which must be followed each day in the year, but vividly sets out matters of vital importance about health conditions, and urges health habits upon those, between the ages of five and eighteen, over which the educational system has control.

"The schools cannot ignore," says Commissioner Kendall, in the foreword, "indeed they do not ignore, the new spirit concerning health and sanitation. This spirit is reflected in so many ways that to enumerate them here is impossible. The improvement of housing conditions, the abolition of the common drinking cup, the transfer of the emphasis from the cure of disease to its prevention, summer playgrounds, the teaching of swimming, open air schools—are half a dozen of a score or more of such movements little known to the fathers and mothers of today when they themselves were in school. It has been a hygenic revolution, the proportions of which are in a degree reflected in the size of this pamphlet."

Mr. Kendall wisely points out that the teacher will be the factor of largest importance in spreading the new teachings of health and it is for the teacher principally that the pamphlet was published. However, it should be carefully read by each parent who hopes to see his or her child grow into a man or woman strong enough to cope with disease and age, for the teacher is helpless without the co-operation of the parent.

PICNICS.

We object to the indiscriminate use of the word "picnic." Within the past few days it has appeared several times in New York papers in relation to drunken parties or dances that have led to shooting affrays or other acts of violence.

In the first place a picnic is not an affair to be housed in by the walls of a dance hall, a bar-room, or any other kind of building. To everyone it should mean an outing—a few hours spent in the freedom of the hills or the shade of green trees that spread their branches over the murmuring stream of a spring branch. The word carries a thought of children, and we hope that no children attend those bloody New York carousals.

We learned the use of the word back in East Tennessee, where it meant a day of happiness in the free air of the mountain woods, or a dinner spread in the cooling seclusiveness of a sparkling spring, where all thoughts of greed and crime were left behind, and it hurts to see the word misused.

PREPAREDNESS IN CONGRESS.

America has been forced into the leadership of neutral countries, in making the diplomatic fight for fair treatment, free seas, the security of commerce and the safety of life at sea, says the New York Press, yet America has done nothing to show ability to make its leadership significant, while other countries, the minor nations which have looked to us as their spokesman, have strengthened their forces on land and sea, mobilized armaments, prepared everything for whatever demand might be pressed.

We see no hope of having that do-nothing policy reversed unless Congress takes up the work of crystallizing national sentiment. Meanwhile the country remains naked against any power that chooses to attack us.

THE TIME TO BUY.

The time to buy sites for parks, schools and other enterprises for the public convenience, welfare and health, is before the land has been improved and when the prices are low. Even should the future disclose that a location is unsuitable, it will be easy enough for the city to dispose of the lands and reap the benefit of the increase in value that the growth in population has given to them.—Trenton Times.

New York has secured the services of an army officer to instruct members of its police force how to shoot. Why not patronize home talent? There seem to be hundreds of gunmen out of work, and they usually average about 1,000 per cent. when they get into action.

Vernon Castle is to go to war. He says he will join the English aviation corps January 1. Better stay on the ground where that footwork may come in handy.

New York public health expert examines 4,098 persons and reports kisses harmless, that is from a standpoint of sanitation.

Man named Cashin struck by Philadelphia flyer near Dunellen. We hope for his recovery, but his name's against him.

Gasoline and coal oil have gone up again. John D. is evidently preparing for a hard winter.

It is to be hoped that the suffrage school will include a course in the art of good losing.

Bryan has gone to Tennessee to mix in politics. We thought he meant European war.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Why Is The Family Doctor?

AN OLD time specialist recently made some pertinent observations upon the "passing of the family doctor." He was deploring old-time practice which consisted of looking at the tongue, feeling the pulse and prescribing a shotgun mixture to fit the patient's own diagnosis. That sort of thing isn't passing; it passed some time ago.

A correspondent, a literary woman, asks what one is to do when one has no family and consequently no family physician.

Answer—Have a doctor and stick to him through the years.

The habit of running from one specialist or near-specialist to another for this and that trouble is unwise from an economical standpoint, if health is really wealth, as philosophers say. A specialist may be very good in his own field and still be fatally handicapped without the expert opinion of the patient's regular physician. The family doctor knows about your constitution, your idiosyncrasies, your heredity, your temperament, your personal medical history and especially the nature of past illnesses which may have a vital influence upon the present trouble.

We always hear when John Jones goes away to see the great specialist—of his own choosing. But if John comes home disappointed we rarely get the news—that is a matter which John prefers not to talk about. When a patient picks his own specialist he is very likely to pick the wrong man.

A good specialist is a man whose patients come from family doctors who know and respect the specialist's skill in his particular field. A near-specialist is one who gets the patients direct from the market, without regard to the family doctor's ideas. There is a lot of difference, though many unfortunates do not realize it until too late.

In this one respect, at least, the family doctor is still indispensable. He knows better than any one else which specialist to select for a given case. If he has your confidence and you have his good will, as you should in the circumstances, the doctor will see that you get what you need when you need it.

Just the other day a "wiseheimer" fellow with foot trouble consulted a so-called "foot specialist" who applied a pair of arch props and sold the poor fellow a pair of special shoes. The "expert" gave various "treatments" for several weeks. Finally the victim had to call in the family doctor, who found that the "foot trouble" was due to locomotor ataxia. The family doctor would have been cheaper in the first place. But the wise ones can't see it that way. "What's the use of going to an ordinary doctor?" they argue, like children. "Why not see a specialist right away?"

PONDEROUS PERSONAGES—CONSTANTINE

FLAVIUS VALERIUS AURELius Etcetericus Constantine was the son of Constantius Chlorus, who had a half interest in the Roman Empire in the third century and ran it in partnership with an exceedingly fatal ailment named Diocletian.

Finally Diocletian, who had an ambition to die in his bed, resigned his half of the throne and turned it over to Galerius, who sent out a posse after Constantine with the idea of shortening him about a foot and cutting down the list of candidates. Constantine fled to Britain, where his father was running the other half of the Empire and in A.D. 306 became Emperor on his father's decease.

Constantine immediately raised an army and set out after Galerius, Maxentius, Maximian, et al. There was a great deal of fighting up and down Italy, but finally Constantine saw a fiery cross in the heavens with the words In Hoc Signo Vinces on it. Up to that time the cross had been used by Roman emperors only as a means of nailing up superfluous Christians to die. But Constantine immediately adopted it as his insignia and beat Maxentius into a collection of unclassified remains. He then entered Rome, released all Christians, joined the Church and declared a closed season on all religious beliefs.

Owing to his early training Constantine did not make an ideal church member, but he did his best and established many reforms. In 329 he founded Constantinople in the western end of the empire, as far away from the Germans as possible, and in 337 he died.

In 325 Constantine refereed the greatest debate ever held in history.

He released all Christians and declared a closed season on all religious beliefs

It took place in Nicea between the two halves of the Church and produced hard feelings which did not heal up for a thousand years. The resolutions committee at this convention reported out the Nicene Creed, which was adopted and is still used by all Western Christians with the blood-thirsty parts omitted.

Views Of The Press

Winged Torpedoes

UNCERTAIN rumors have been heard regarding a marvelous German aerial torpedo. There is no doubt, however, about the possession by the Allies of such an instrument of war, according to Albert Bond, president of the Aero Club of St. Louis. He predicts that in about six months an aerial raid of unparalleled severity will be made upon German positions, though he does not know where the blow is going to be struck.

This new engine of destruction is a miniature aeroplane, which, by means of ingenious stabilizers, can be set to follow a certain course with accuracy. The little craft can travel a distance of twenty-five miles. Each will carry one huge torpedo or bomb, which is released by a time-clock arrangement. The machine is guided in the air by a mechanism resembling that by which submarine torpedoes are controlled. The little aeroplanes are cheap in comparison with the $5,000 to $8,000 which it costs to construct an ordinary torpedo.

The great efficiency of these aerial messengers of death lies in the fact that there is no way of making a defense against them. The huge charges of explosive dropping from a great height will demolish, it is said, anything that man can build. Firing at these craft would accomplish nothing, as, aside from the extreme difficulty in hitting them, there would be no aviator aboard, and shrapnel bullets would not serve to seriously damage the mechanism. The effectiveness of these air-torpedoes will be measured, it is said, only by the accuracy with which they can be guided to the target aimed at.

If these newcomers in aerial warfare materialize they will serve to draw attention to the extreme difficulty nations experience in keeping up-to-date in their fortifications and military equipment. The Germans taught the Allies that the modern fortress is obsolete and that the rifle must own itself completely outclassed by the machine gun. Scouting aeroplanes have driven cavalrymen off their horses and into the trenches. The mechanics of war are sure to undergo many other changes. When the Federal authorities assume the task of strengthening our national defenses they should bear in mind the lessons of the European war and should not let red tape or tradition stop them from considering new ideas.—Rochester, N. Y., Democrat.

After The Elections

Q. Where a state law requires a successful candidate for public office to file a sworn statement of his election expenses, is such a law valid?

A. A requirement of this character is sometimes held to be unconstitutional. For example, if the state constitution provides a form of oath to be taken by all public officers and provides that no other oath or test shall be required, a statute such as you have mentioned would be void.

The Importance Of Punctuation

Q. Please inform me whether the matter of punctuation has anything to do, in a legal sense, with the meaning of a written contract.

A. Punctuation is of some importance, but is by no means the only thing to be considered. In construing a contract, the courts will endeavor to ascertain the intent of the parties, however expressed.

When Law And Sense Agree

Q. If one should make a contract to do something which is physically impossible, will the contract be good?

A. It will not. This is a matter of common sense, as well as of law.

Lawyer As A Subscribing Witness

Q. If a lawyer becomes a subscribing witness to a deed, can he be compelled to give his evidence, like any other witness?

A. In states where witnesses to deeds are required by statute, it is generally held that a lawyer, by becoming a subscribing witness, acts to this extent in a non-professional capacity. Under such circumstances, he is regarded as adopting all the duties imposed upon other witnesses.

Contradicting A Will

Q. Where a will has been duly witnessed, and afterward, when the will is offered for probate, one of the witnesses testifies that the will was not executed legally, is it possible to introduce evidence to contradict such witness?

A. Yes. The courts generally so hold. The testimony in opposition to that of the attesting witness or witnesses, however, must be very clear.

Made His Will At Eighty-Five

Q. A certain man was eighty-five years old at the time he made his will. Since his death some of the relatives are talking about contesting the will. Will the fact that he was so old at the time destroy the effect of the will?

A. The fact of advanced age will not be sufficient in itself to show the invalidity of the will. Many other things are to be taken into consideration.

Creditors First Claim

Q. Isn't it true that a decedent's personal property is first liable for his debts before his real estate can be reached? A. Yes.

Sunshine

If you are undecided as to what business to go into—go into the Sunshine business. It pays big profits. You know how physical Sunshine affects you—how it makes your day pleasant and cheerful and puts health, zest and vigor into your system. Sunshine in your Soul—Sunshine in your Heart and Sunshine in your Face is of an infinitely higher order because you can take in into the darkest corners of your day and there will be light.

Distribute Sunshine.

The Sunshine spirit in you will not only transform your entire day, but it will go far to Transform the entire days of everyone that comes within the radius of your Sunshine. You are cheered and inspired every time you pass a man or woman on the street with Sunshine streaming out from their countenance and very attitude. To go into an office where there is Sunshine; to go into a home where there is Sunshine; to meet people and talk with them with Sunshine radiating from them—you cannot possibly come in contact with a finer inspiration.

Distribute Sunshine.

Sunshine is a thing made up within us. It cannot be bought and it cannot help but be in you in great quantities if you eliminate from your thinking and from your working the things that shut off Sunshine—Anger, Regret for things that can't be Helped, Wrong Viewpoints, Worry, Hatred, Envy, Jealousies. Get these things out of your system—give the Sunshine a chance and your value to yourself and other people will grow and grow.

Go into the Sunshine business.

America For Me

Oh, London is a man's town, there's power in the air!
And Paris is a woman's town, with flowers in her hair;
And it's sweet to dream in Venice,
and it's great to study Rome;
But when it comes to living, there is no place like home.

I know that Europe's wonderful,
yet something seems to lack;
The past is too much with her, and the people looking back.
But the glory of the present is to make the future free—
We love our land for what she is and what she is to be.

Oh, it's home again, and home again, America for me!
I want a ship that's westward bound to plough the rolling sea,
To the blessed Land of Room
Enough beyond the ocean bars,
Where the air is full of sunlight and the flag is full of stars.

—Henry van Dyke, in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

CLERGY AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Cardinal Farley, Archbishops Messmer and Moeller and Bishop Foley Voice Opposition.

That four of the most distinguished prelates of the Catholic church in the United States coincide with the views expressed by Cardinal Gibbons on the much mooted question of woman suffrage was made known in Newark when the Men's Anti-suffrage League of New Jersey made public the opinions of Cardinal Farley of New York, Bishop John S. Foley of Detroit, Archbishop Sebastian Gebhard Messmer of Milwaukee and of Archbishop Henry Moeller of Cincinnati on the subject of "Votes For Women."

Cardinal Farley's Views.

Cardinal Farley says:

"The indirect influence of women, which in a well ordered state makes for the moral order, would suffer severe injury by political equality. The opposition expressed by many women to the introduction of woman suffrage—as, for instance, the New York Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage—should be regarded by Catholics as at least the voice of common sense.

"I think it best for all women to leave to man politics and, as far as possible, the affairs of government. It is my belief that women will soon tire of the ballot in states in which they have secured it. A fad, I do not believe it will last."

Bishop Foley's Opinion.

Bishop Foley says:

"The political arena is not the place for the highest development of all that is best in woman. Nothing but degradation can come from placing gentle woman in the voting places to come in contact with all sorts and conditions of men. No good can be accomplished by merely placing the ballot in the hands of woman, and the evils which will certainly result will make every husband and father who has respect for the women of his family regret that woman suffrage was ever adopted."

Archbishop Messmer's Views.

Archbishop Messmer says:

"The theory that demands equal rights between the sexes must be denied absolutely. It is a mistake to say equal rights instead of similar rights, for women have certain rights that men have not and men have certain rights that women have not. In regard to politics, why should woman have equal rights?

"Politics means the ruling of nations, and no one who understands this would demand equal rights. Equal rights would interfere with woman's calling. It would destroy her influence on mankind. The modern woman's question is the outcome of the French revolution."

Archbishop Moeller's Opinion.

Archbishop Moeller says:

"It is a movement that does not appeal to us, because we feel that it will bring women into spheres of activity not in accord with their retiring modesty, maidenly dignity and refinement.

"Let the women devote themselves, as far as their duties permit, to works of charity for which nature has so well fitted them."

Cardinal Gibbons Opposed.

Cardinal Gibbons says:

"Equal rights do not imply that both sexes should engage promiscuously in the same pursuits, but that each should discharge those duties which are adapted to its physical constitution. The insistence on a right of participation in active political life is undoubtedly calculated to rob woman of all that is amiable and gentle, tender and attractive, to rob her of her grace of character and give her nothing in return but masculine boldness and effrontery. Its advocates are habitually preaching about woman's rights and prerogatives and have not a word to say about her duties and responsibilities. They withdraw her from these obligations which properly belong to her sex and fill her with ambition to usurp position for which neither God nor nature ever intended her.

Maintain Woman's Dignity.

"When I deprecate female suffrage I am pleading for the dignity of woman, I am contending for her honor, I am striving to perpetuate those peerless prerogatives inherent in her sex, those charms and graces which exalt womankind and make her the ornament and coveted companion of man. * * * If she is ambitious of the dual empire of public and private life, then, like the fabled dog beholding his image in the water, she will lose both; she will fall from the lofty pedestal where nature and Christianity have placed her and will fail to grasp the scepter of political authority from the strong hand of her male competitor.

Rob Woman of Charm.

"I still hold the same views on woman suffrage, already so often expressed, that the ballot would drag woman from her domestic duties into the arena of politics and rob her of much of her charm, goodness and true influence.

"She is indeed a princess, but her God given rule should lie in domestic and gentler fields and ways.

"We all believe that she has been so successful in her work there that we fear any change by the carrying of her government into the political field."

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Silly Man Went to Sea In a Bathtub.

The Old Porpoise Had No Mercy on Him.

"ONCE upon a time a silly man went to sea in a bathtub," daddy began. He had no oars except his arms, and he waved them around his head till choppy waves seized his silly boat and bore it to sea.

"The sea creatures had the greatest fun with him. When the clumsy bathtub almost tipped over seagulls came and perched on its tinny sides to balance it. They flapped their wings in the silly man's face and tickled his ears with their tail feathers. When they flew away and the silly tub almost pitched into the trough of huge waves a big, fat old porpoise came along and bumped his nose into one end and steered it almost a mile. This seemed very obliging of him. But really he kicked up so much spray that he almost drowned the silly man, and he pushed so hard that his speed almost tipped the tub over."

"Did the silly man wish he was home?" asked Jack.

"Rather. But the old porpoise had no mercy on him and ran the silly bathtub right on to a purple island, where red seaweeds anchored it for six days.

"He was afraid of the purple island, which looked very wild to him. The choppy waves beat against his silly boat, which he didn't dare get out of, he was so sick at his stomach. He waved his arms wildly, but they made poor paddles. So fast he stuck till a king wave dumped him out of the silly tub."

"What did the choppy waves do to his empty tub?" asked Jack.

"They chopped and they chopped till they got it off the purple sand and bore it away off to the deep sea. Then the silly man got up on to his feet."

"What did he see?" cried the kiddies.

"Oh, the wildest things—pink trees growing upside down on yellow hills and green people digging in purple ground and blue dogs barking at red cats—everything dizzy and queer. 'What are you digging for?' the silly man asked.

"The green people all gave a cackle and turned yellow somersaults. 'Ha, ha! We dig for black gold!' they giggled. At this the silly man woke up. He had a very greedy nature, and the idea of gold made him want to be king of the purple island. It was a brave move for a silly man. He stretched himself to his full height, waved his silly arms in the air and yelled: 'Get to work, all of you! I am king of this island! If I haven't a ton of gold by sunset not a man of all of you escapes alive!' The purple people all set to work, and black gold fairly rolled out of the rich purple earth. The silly man flagged a ship to come and take his black gold to market, and now he is king of millionaires all over the world, which shows," daddy finished, "that sometimes it pays to go to sea in a bathtub."

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

It takes new potatoes at least twenty-five minutes to boil soft. Just add a pinch of baking soda the size of a pea to hurry cooking.

Ice Saving—Make a woolen pad half-inch thick (using an old blanket) to completely cover top of ice chamber. Make a case of paraffin paper, insert pad in case, pin it at open edge. Place this pad on top of the fresh cake of ice, thereby keeping away from the ice the down draft of warm air, which is the principal cause of melting. Paraffin case keeps the pad from coming in contact with the ice. Same pad can be used for a long time, with fresh paraffin covers. This cuts ice bill in two.

To Clean White Felt Hat—Take half pint gasoline and add wheat flour until mixture appears dry. Brush hat well, rub on mixture with the hands, then shake hat well and brush thoroughly with a clean clothes brush. If not sufficiently clean and white, repeat. Hang hat in open air until smell of gasoline has evaporated. One will be pleased with the results.

For Gapes in Chickens—Always have a thin layer of coal oil on chickens' drinking water and see that they get no other water to drink.

Red Ants—Along the cracks and doorsills where ants are thought to come in, wash with turpentine. Does not take paint off and will banish pests instantly.

CANNING AND PRESERVING

To Can Corn—To eight pints of corn cut from cob, put one-half pint sugar, one-half pint salt, one pint water; boil fifteen minutes, then seal. Be sure to have both can and lid hot. Soak corn two hours before using.

Corn Sauce—Twelve ears sweet corn cut from cob, two heads cabbage, chopped fine, one teaspoon each of whole black pepper, yellow mustard and celery seed, one quart vinegar, one pint sugar, salt to taste. Cook, put in cans and seal.

To Can Green Beans—To one-half gallon green beans strung and broken, add one scant cup salt, one-fourth cup good cider vinegar; boil twenty minutes, then can. Soak over night before using.

BABY'S MILK

No bottle baby can thrive during hot weather on milk that is not kept on ice. If there is no refrigerator at hand, take two wooden boxes—one about three feet square, the other five or six inches smaller every way. Place the smaller box in the larger one and fill the space between them, bottom and sides, with sawdust.

In the center of the smaller box keep a four-quart tin or covered kettle in which two or three cents' worth of ice may be kept and placed daily. The milk bottle can be stood n this.

Painting the outer box improves the appearance. Hinge the lid to close perfectly and line it with a few layers of newspaper. The box can be used by small families as a refrigerator.

THE TABLE

Deviled Crabs—Put crabs into boiling water containing one tablespoon salt and a little vinegar. Boil ten to fifteen minutes, or until they turn red; then cool, and remove the spongy substance and the small piece at lower part of shell. Pick from shell the meat which remains, and to each cupful of crab meat allow two tablespoons melted butter, two tablespoons bread crumbs, yolks of one or two eggs, one teaspoon minced parsley, one-half teaspoon lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. If it seems dry, moisten with a little milk. Wash shells, trim into shape and heap with the mixture. Sprinkle with dry bread crumbs mixed with a little melted butter; brown in a moderate oven.

Topsy-Turvy Salad — Mix cold cooked potatoes, string beans, peas, beets, lima beans, cauliflower, asparagus and shredded raw cabbage—any or all—and serve very cold on lettuce with salad dressing. Salad Dressing: Mix three teaspoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon flour, one teaspoon mustard; add one egg and mix well, then one-half cup milk, and lastly one-half cup vinegar. When all is thoroughly mixed put over medium fire, stirring constantly to prevent lumping, or cook in a double boiler.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Busy Countess.

IT was all wrong, unnatural. Something must be the matter between old Rodney and his father, Ambrose Peale reasoned, and he believed he knew what it was. He would go up and see old Mr. Martin at once, tonight, before it was too late. No, not tonight, tomorrow morning, Saturday, when the soap magnate would be home and the coast clear. No, Saturday afternoon after lunch, when people were more apt to feel gay and good natured.

That was how, as a consequence of this mood and various meetings and reflections, Ambrose Peale came to give his name to Johnson at the soap king's house next day.

Meanwhile in far away Chicago something of importance to the little company had taken place. The soap had begun to sell. One demand after another had come in and finally made an impression. It was as if a stone had been dropped in the puddle and the circles had widened out and out. The last ripple reached New York and Mr. Martin when Johnson came one day to the library and announced:

"I beg pardon. A gentleman to see you, sir," handing his master a card on a silver tray.

"Mr. Charles Bronson," read Martin. "What's he want?"

"He says he's from Brown & James, Chicago," said Johnson.

"Oh, a kick, I suppose. Send him in."

He had to confess, however, that Mr. Bronson of Chicago did not look like a kick when he came in, though his first words were ominous. He seemed very full of business, and his business, it seemed, was about 13 Soap.

"Well, what about it?" Mr. Martin demanded, not too graciously.

Mr. Bronson took his cue and was off. While of course they understand that the 13 Soap was made by Mr. Martin's son, Mr. Rodney Martin, at the same time, as he wired he would be responsible for that order, Brown & James felt that some one should first see him in the matter. They realized, of course, that Mr. Martin was backing his son.

"Well, why shouldn't I back him?" interrupted Martin gruffly.

"Of course, of course," Bronson agreed. "That is why we'd like to place our order through you."

Mr. Martin paused with his cigar in midair.

"Place your what?" he repeated in amazement as he beheld Mr. Bronson snap back the elastic from his russet leather order pad and hold his pencil over it.

"Through some error we received only 5,000 cakes," explained Bronson, "instead of 50,000. But that's all gone."

"All gone? What happened to it?"

"We've sold it."

Mr. Martin could not believe his ears.

"Sold it!" he ejaculated.

"Yes, and we want the balance of the original order you were kind enough to throw our way and as much more soap as we can get," went on Mr. Bronson briskly.

Mr. Martin could not understand it.

"But only the other day I had a letter from Brown & James saying they hadn't sold a cake," he said, puzzled.

Mr. Bronson laughed.

"I know, I know," he said. "We felt at first that of course there could be no popular market for a dollar soap—we weren't as farsighted as you were."

Mr. Martin cleared his throat.

"But of course when those extraordinary advertisements appeared, so different from your usual conservative publicity, well, the sales began immediately; we sold the 5,000 cakes in two days."

"And the advertising did it?" Mr. Martin ventured to inquire.

"Of course. What else?" said Bronson. He proceeded with further explanations. "Now we want to handle your goods exclusively in the west, with extensive immediate deliveries. Can that be arranged?"

The soap king paused a moment to reflect.

"It ought to be. What do you offer?" he said.

"I dare say we could contract for a quarter of a million cakes of soap," began Bronson glibly.

"A quarter of a million!" repeated Martin in an astonishment which Mr. Bronson evidently misunderstoood, for he added:

"Of course we might do a little better if we could settle the matter at once."

"I should have to consult my son first," said Mr. Martin at last, quite truthfully.

"Oh, then, perhaps I ought to go see him," said Mr. Bronson, rising. Mr. Martin rose also.

"Not at all—not at all. I'll attend to it," he said.

"But we thought that you would have full power," began Bronson, puzzled.

"As a matter of courtesy," Mr. Martin explained, "I should like to talk things over with my own boy."

"But you control the product?"

"Mr. Bronson, you can trust me to handle this thing."

"Of course, of course! When can I see you again?"

"In half an hour," Mr. Martin answered.

"Very well," said Mr. Bronson. "I've some matters to attend to. I'll be back in half an hour. It's a wonderful soap, Mr. Martin," he vouchsafed as he went out.

"Oh, wonderful," agreed Mr. Martin dryly, watching Mr. Bronson go.

A wonderful soap, indeed; plain pink castile. But he would have to get in on this. He stepped hastily to the telephone.

"1313 Worth—Hello, is this the 13 Soap company?" he shouted in the receiver. "Just a minute. Is Mr. Rodney Martin in? No? Never mind who I am. Goodby. Johnson," he added as the butler appeared again, "call up my son's office every ten minutes and let me know the minute he comes in. Don't tell 'em who's calling."

"Yes, sir," said Johnson docilely.

"And when Mr. Bronson comes back be sure to have him wait for me."

"Yes, sir," said Johnson. "There's a lady to see you, sir. She speaks English now."

"She does, eh?" said Mr. Martin. "That's unusual, isn't it?"

"I mean, sir," said Johnson, "when she was here two months ago she could only talk French."

"Indeed. Well, I'm not interested in the languages she speaks. Who is she? What does she want?"

"She wishes to see you about the French rights of the 13 Soap," said Johnson.

"The what?" echoed Mr. Martin.

"The French right," repeated Johnson.

"Yes, sir."

He went out immediately and re-entered, followed by the countess gowned as usual in a charming frock and very fluent in her line of talk.

"The Countess de Bowreen," said Johnson.

Paris and Chicago met that afternoon in the library.

"How do you do?" began the clever countess, still at her games.

"How do you do?" said Mr. Martin politely.

"I am the Countess de Beaurien. Your son have told you of me?"

"No."

"I bet he have not. He is a cheat. He trick me."

"Well, well," thought Rodney's father, "this is serious."

"Now, my dear lady," he began.

"Attendez, you listen to me," the countess rattled on. "Two months ago I buy the French rights for the 13 Soap. I pay him $15,000, and now I cannot get any soap."

"You will have to see my son," said Martin, rather disgusted.

"But I have seen him," shrieked the countess, "and he give me no satisfaction. If I cannot get any soap I must have my money, one or the other, or I put him in the jail. He is a cheat. I have here ze contract. I sue him in the court."

"My dear lady, you mustn't feel that way," said Martin, trying to soothe her.

"Feel! Ah, mon dieu," she cried. "I trick no one, I play fair, I am an honest woman." And she went off into a long speech in French, at the end of which she took out an alleged contract and waved it at him frantically.

"But I don't understand French," said Mr. Martin.

"Pardon, monsieur," said the countess; "always when I am excited I speak the French. But if you love your son you pay me back or else he go to jail. What you say?"

"But $15,000 is a lot of money," remonstrated the soap king, too acute of course to give in at once.

"Yes. But it is more to me than it is to you," argued the lady. "You pay me or he go to prison. Now what you say?"

At this crucial moment Ambrose Peale made his entrance, and old Martin for once in his life was glad to read his name on the card in Johnson's tray.

"By George, just the man I want to see!" he said, in great relief, but fortunately not mentioning Peale's name aloud. "Show him right in. Hold on, hold on. Now, duchess, if you don't mind, just step into this room a minute," he added, showing the unwelcome lady of title out through a door on the left.

"If I do not get the $15,000 I go to my lawyer's."

"Very well," said the lady. "I go, I wait. But in fifteen minutes if I do not get the $15,000 I go to my lawyer's and your son—poof, he is done!"

Meanwhile Mr. Martin turned to Johnson.

"Did you get my son's office?" he asked.

"Yes, sir. He hasn't come in yet," said Johnson.

"If you reach him while Mr. Peale's here don't mention Rodney's name. Just call him 'that party.' I'll understand."

"Yes, sir."

Peale entered, and he and the soap king struck fire almost at once.

"Now, see here, young man," began Martin, quite indignant at the countess' story.

"Now, one moment, Mr. Martin," Peale began. "I just want to say that I am a man of a few words. This isn't advertising—it's personal. I know you don't like me."

"Why do you say that?" Martin asked curiously.

"Because I'm a pretty wise gink," said Peale.

"Well, you are a bit fresh," Mr. Martin agreed.

"Fresh? Well, I guess that's right too," Peale went on. "But that's me—I'm not your style. Here's the idea. Your son has been immense to me. Great kid, and it struck me the reason you wouldn't back him was because I was mixed up in his business. So I just came to say if that's the situation, why, I'm out, that's all—and you go ahead with him alone."

This was Ambrose's great moment, his big emotional scene. But when it came at last, after all his pondering and planning, it seemed very flat and unimportant. And for the life of him he could not have told how the old magnate was taking it.

"You're not a partner?" the soap king asked him at last.

"I should say not. I'm just a hired hand. He could can me any moment, but he's not the kind of guy who'd do that"—

"Then you haven't power to sign—to make a deal"—

"I should say not," said Peale. "Why, he and Miss Grayson do all the signing. If I could have signed contracts I'd have spent $1,000,000 in advertising. And, believe me, you ought to back him, because honest, Mr. Martin, it's a great scheme—the 13 Soap. On the level, if it's handled right and the publicity end is"—

"Now, don't get started on advertising," Martin interposed, holding up his hand.

"That's right, too," said Ambrose lamely. "Well, I guess that's all. I wanted to tell you how I stood about Rodney. That's off my chest, so good afternoon."

Mr. Martin gave a good look at this young man, who was willing to sacrifice himself for Rodney, but outwardly he did not relent.

"Wait, a minute," he said presently. "What did you boys mean by trimming that poor countess on the French rights?"

"Jumping Jupiter! Has she been here?" asked Peale, again alert.

Mr. Martin explained that she was here now, that she said she'd put Rodney in jail for fraud unless Mr. Martin made good that $15,000.

"I've got to pay her; can't see the boy disgraced," he concluded.

"Say, if you'd like to save that $15,000, I'll fix it for you," spoke up Peale.

"But she's got a contract," said Mr. Martin.

"I'll get it for you cheap," Peale answered him. "Pardon me, sir, but I know how to handle dames like her."

EMPIRE COATS SMART FOR FALL WEAR.

No. 9099.

Empire lines will be much in evidence among the fall and winter coats. Many of these will bear evidence of the popular Princess lines as shown in the above illustration of the attractive Ladies' Home Journal Pattern, No. 9099. The panel front is very smart, but no more so than the rest of the coat's harmonious lines. The full-length sleeves are set into enlarged armseyes and finished with turn-back pointed cuffs. Attractive is the turn-over collar, which may be of fur or velvet. Pattern cuts in sizes 34 to 48 inches bust measure, size 36 requiring 4⅞ yards 42-inch material, with ⅛ yard 19-inch material for collar.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Oh, Dick! Olive's mother came on the noon train. It was a surprise; Olive did not know she was coming. I wish my mother had been with her." Nell sat with her chin in her hands. "We are invited over to see her this evening," she continued after a moment's silence.

"Why did not her father come, too?" asked Dick. "Personally, I would rather have seen him."

"I guess it is no secret that Olive herself would, but he could not get away, Mrs. Dunn said."

Olive and her mother had dined alone, the doctor having been called away suddenly. When he returned Olive excused herself to pour his tea and left the three discussing Hal's growth and accomplishments. When the doctor entered the living room he took a box of cigars from the cabinet and was about to pass them when he stopped, and turning to Mrs. Dunn, said:

"I believe smoke is not objectionable to you, is it mother?"

She did not reply for some time, but sat looking at him in stony silence. Finally the doctor put the box away. Nell and Dick exchanged significant glances, and Olive, entering just then, took in the situation at a glance.

"Not going to smoke tonight, Gaylord?" she asked, looking at her mother.

"Olive, I'm surprised that you should encourage your husband in such a habit," exclaimed Mrs. Dunn with asperity. "I hoped I might escape tobacco smoke here, in a doctor's house of all places."

"Why in a doctor's house?" asked her son-in-law, a twinkle in his eye.

"Why, everybody agrees that it is injurious to smoke, so doctors ought to set a good example to others in a matter of health."

"My, this seems like old times," laughed Olive, "to have the regular daily lecture on smoking. Don't you think you could put it off and rest from your labors while away from home, mother?"

"You are just like your father, Olive," sighed Mrs. Dunn. "I had hoped, as I said, to find the doctor with his scientific education a non-smoker."

"Oh, mother, he smoked with father while in Detroit. Don't you remember?" Olive was trying to keep her temper. "You surely do not expect to come into anybody's house and try to regulate their affairs. The doctor has smoked for years, just as father has; they are both well."

"Certainly, I do not expect to interfere in any way with anybody's affairs," said Mrs. Dunn, bridling. "The doctor asked me if smoke was offensive, and I did not reply because I did not wish to interfere with his affairs. What else would you have me do? I surely cannot be expected to lie about a matter on which I feel so strongly." She looked severely at her daughter.

"There is no harm done. Morton and I can both wait till we get out doors for our smoke, can't we, old man?" grinned Dick.

"I'm sure you would both be better off if you not only waited till you got out doors but forgot it altogether." No one made any answer to her remark, and seeing that she had the floor, she continued: "The doctor does not seem to be a slave to tobacco like my poor husband—"

"Mother!" exclaimed Olive, holding up her hands, "the idea of calling daddy a slave."

"What else is he? I've tried ever since we were married to reform him, but without avail," she added hopelessly. "I am sure, however, that if you would take the right stand the doctor—"

"I didn't enter the mission field when I married, mother, and your most attractive role is not that of lecturer against narcotics. Let's talk of something else."

"As usual, you are not willing to listen to your mother. Marriage has not changed you in that respect." She tossed her head and preserved a stony silence for the rest of the evening.

Nell and Dick left early and on the way home, Dick said: "Thank the Lord Mrs. Dunn is the doctor's mother-in-law and not mine."

How to Keep Our City Moving

We must keep moving. A city booms only so long as its manufacturers and merchants keep moving. The wheels of every line of endeavor must be kept turning if the city is going to develop, and what is of deeper concern than the wheels of Plainfield kept turning?

Should every one who has the interest of Plainfield close at heart buy goods from our merchants, the benefits all around can easily be seen. Thousands of dollars that would otherwise go out of the city will be kept circulating here and contribute a big share towards making a bigger and busier Plainfield.

A dollar spent at home will keep that dollar at home and all will share in the profits.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Montreal—If the women of the Province of Quebec win the right to practice law in the courts they will owe their victory to Mrs. Annie Langstaff, who has been fighting for two years for admission to the bar. Denied the right to take the bar examinations, she took action in the courts. She lost her fight last year, and the case came up last week before the High Court. She prepared all the pleadings in her case and engaged a man lawyer to present them. She claimed the masculine gender includes both sexes, unless it appears by the context of the Queber Bar act that it is applicable to only one sex. It was also pointed out in her favor that Lord Haldane, Lord Chancellor in England, has given notice of his intention to introduce a bill in the House of Lords to make it eligible for women to be admitted to the Inns of Courts, that is, to become practicing barristers, the profession from whose ranks are drawn the judges who sit on the Bench, and which also handles all litigation before the High Courts. In defense of its action in refusing Mrs. Langstaff, the Bar Association pointed out that the woman had not secured her husband's permission to bring the suit.

New Orleans—Mrs. Genevieve Champ Clark Thomson, daughter of Speaker Clark, of the House of Representatives, is a busy woman even during her honeymoon days. She is chairman of the executive committee of the Woman's National Made in U. S. A. League, and has consented to serve as State chairman of the league in Louisiana. Among her co-workers are Mrs. Luther E. Hall, wife of the Governor, and Mrs. W. W. Walmsley, State regent of the D. A. R. Louisiana women will aid her in gathering a collection of things grown, made and produced in this State for the big national exposition to be held in Washington in January.

Worcester, Mass.—To handle the postal business of a city of 130,000 people requires extreme confidence and approval of the highest authorities at Washington. That honor has fallen to Miss Helen A. McCarthy, assistant postmistress, who has been acting postmaster during the past two weeks. Cards displayed in all the postal stations of the city announced that she had full authority over the many offices and their hundreds of employes.

Philadelphia—Among the women who have done great things for their sex, none have worked harder or more consistenly than Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, wife of the Mayor of Philadelphia. For over a half century she has been doing uplift work. Her mother was a pioneer woman physician in this city, who insisted on a splendid liberal education for her daughter. As far back as 1876 Mrs. Blankenburg was a distinct moral force for uplift of women. She joined a woman's club and led the movement to start night schools for poor working women. Other cities copied the idea. In season and out of season she has worked, heart and soul, for poor women. She has led campaigns, even to the floor of the State Senate. Modestly she has been aiding many movements. The special test of her popularity came when Mr. Blankenburg became a candidate for Mayor. It was the women of Philadelphia who demanded his election, on the platform of good government.

San Francisco—Count Rudolph Festetics de Tolna, a Hungarian nobleman, who is fighting in the Federal courts here to prove he is a citizen of the United States, is being assisted by his wife, formerly Miss Alice Wetherbee, daughter of Gardner Wetherbee, and formerly a social favorite of New York and Newport. The Countess was with her husband when their cruise round the world was cut short and their yacht Thistle was seized by a French cruiser. The Count, who claims American citizenship granted to him before the fire of 1906 in this city, when the records were destroyed, can get his yacht back if he can prove his claim. The yacht is worth $200,000, and to win this prize the Count is ready to renounce his title, his emperor and his country. When the yacht was captured it was flying the Austro-Hungarian flag. The Count declares this was because he could not then establish his American citizenship. Depositions of those who knew of the naturalization of the Count will be presented to the Federal Court in an effort to substantiate his claim.

Chicago—The first woman candidate for Vice-President of the United States is Mrs. Kathryn Rutherford, of Chicago. The platform on which she seeks the Republican nomination is this: that a little more humanitarianism and a little less politics is needed at Washington. Mrs. Rutherford is not a sensationalist. She has reached the conclusion that the young girls of America need a friend at the White House. She believes there is something the matter with the American home. It is this—that girls are not getting married. If elected, she says, she will use her influence to establish community hotels for young girls in every city in the country. Cozy parlors will be on every floor, furnishing opportunity for romance. Her aim is to bring young men and young women together under the most agreeable of circumstances. The "spooner talk" in the Rutherford platform has made a big hit with the women voters.

Buyers Are Found by Advertising—Because They Are Opportunity-Hunters!

If you have something to sell—real estate, personal property of any sort—there's a buyer for it. You don't know who he is, or where he is. You'd be helpless in trying to locate him—but for the fact that he is trying to locate you!

For buyers are opportunity-seekers. And they have learned that the Plainfield Daily Press classified columns are 'the Happy Hunting Grounds' for opportunities. Thus, when your "ad" starts upon its quest it meets the man for whom it was written—also upon his quest. And that's how "results" follow classified advertising.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., the repair (on Sumner avenue and Central avenue) and the construction (on East Second street) adjoining said property, of the sidewalk, to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11, 1910.

The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of nonpayment of the charge authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

WOMEN TAUGHT POLITICAL GAME

Promise to Report at Polls at 6 A. M. on October 19.

TO MEET EVERY VOTER

Suffragists Are Thoroughly Instructed as to Their Duties and How to Work to "Win the Vote"—Mrs. Calvin is the Teacher.

Several score women gathered at the local suffrage headquarters, at 21 Depot avenue, yesterday, to be instructed as to the duties, privileges and restrictions of watchers at the election polls. When Mrs. Mary K. Calvin, vice-president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, sternly warned them that watchers must be at the polling places before 6 a. m. on October 19, the date of the special election to decide whether woman is to have the vote, the class shivered as one woman.

Evidently the thought of alarm clocks clanging before dawn, of hasty breakfasts off kitchen tables, of hustling through lonely streets to polling places while the cold autumn mists chilled to the bone, dismayed the vote-seekers just a trifle. But they agreed they were ready to forego lazy slumber and luxurious breakfasts in bed, and Plainfield streets, like those of every community in the State on the morning of the day of the special election, will see probably hundreds of women, work girls, housewives and club members hurrying on foot or in their cars toward the polling places. They will be the authorized watchers, specially instructed in their duties, their alternates, and the workers who may consult with the watchers and who are to electioneer at the legally prescribed distance of 100 feet from the polling places.

"But one watcher for each organization having an interest in the election is allowed in the polling place at one time," said Mrs. Calvin to her class. "Get to the polling place before the time for opening the polls—before 6 o'clock. There you will find a judge of elections, an inspector and two clerks. They compose the Board of Election. Show your watcher's permit to the members of the Board. You will undoubtedly find them polite and agreeable, and probably they will set aside a seat for you. Just glance into the voting booth to see that no sample ballots have been left there by any chance, and see that the ballot box is empty before it is locked and the first ballot is slipped in through the slit in the top. There have been elections in which the ballot box was pretty full of ballots before the voting legally began.

"Workers may come to the door of the polling place to consult with watchers, and from time to time the watchers should notify the worker of proceedings in the polling place and receive advice or send messages to headquarters for legal advice."

Mrs. Calvin outlined the day in the polling place almost minute by minute. She described the furniture, the location of the tables on which lay the registry and poll books, the duties of each member of the Board of Election, the procedure of each voter, telling his name and otherwise identifying himself, receiving his ballot, proceeding into the voting booth, emerging and handing his ballot to the inspector.

"Watchers have the right to challenge any voter of whose right to vote the watcher is suspicious," continued Mrs. Calvin. "The judge of election may cause the challenged person to swear in his vote. The vote may be deposited, but the voter, if doing wrong, has incurred greater legal liability, and there is then no question of his intent to do wrong, a portentious fact in event of a criminal trial.

"After the long, wearisome day there comes that very important part of an election—the counting. The watcher, who during the day has no right within the railed enclosure where are the members of the Board, may during the counting be within the enclosure and see and hear the votes counted."

Mrs. Calvin also told her class how to keep tally, what distinguished "rejected ballots" and the legal disposition of ballots, tally papers, books and ballot boxes after the counting.

CITY BILLS DUE.

All bills against the Board of Education must be in the hands of the clerk not later than Monday, to insure payment at the October meeting of the Board.

BOROUGH COUNCIL CONSIDERS FINANCES

Sewer and Other Bills Are Passed at the October Session of the Body.

At the October meeting of the Borough Council last night current bills for the month of September, amounting to $3,549.90, were ordered paid by resolution introduced by Chairman Tingley, of the finance committee.

It was reprted that it would be necessary to borrow money to meet these bills, and a resolution authorizing the Mayor and clerk to pledge the city in the amount of $2,500 in anticipation of tax collections was unanimously passed.

Chairman Cowperthwaite, of the fire committee, reported that fall weather would make necessary some repairs to the police station. A new roof is needed, he said, and repairs to the chimney. A resolution authorizing the expenditure of $160 for this work was passed.

Expenditures of the fire and water committee for the month totaled $495.90; the police department, $715.59, and the street department, $844.75.

A resolution authorizing the Mayor and clerk to pay to the estate of the late George F. Brown the sum of $25 for articles of office furniture that are being used by the borough was passed. A sum of $20 was also appropriated to be paid to William S. Eddy for engrossing suitable resolutions on the death of Mr. Brown, late treasurer and collector of the borough.

A resolution appropriating $4,511.58, the borough's part in the monthly payment on sewer work being done, was passed. This sewer is being paid for by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. The application of the overseer of the poor for an advance of $250 on the poor fund was granted.

The Harrison Burton Company presented a letter assigning its last monthly payment on sewer work to the State Trust Company, and on request of the latter company the amount was ordered paid to it.

A communication from William Delaroche Anderson, auditor and accountant, asked that his name be considered should the city ever have use for an accountant. It was received and filed with the clerk.

A final payment of $208.14 to A. S. DeNise for sewer work was authorized by resolution. This closes the account of the borough with Mr. De Nise. Chairman Milne, of the street committee, reported that improvements done on Watchung avenue during the month of September totaled $844.75. This completes the work under way on that thoroughfare.

After the regular business, the Council went into executive session.

DAVID CONNORS PASSES AWAY AT BONNIE BURN

Following an illness of four weeks, David Connors, aged forty-six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Connors, of West Fifth street, died yesterday afternoon in Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, where he had been an inmate. Beside his parents, Mr. Connors leaves one sister, Mrs. William Sullivan, of West Fifth street, and three brothers, Joseph Connors, of Brooklyn, and Edward and Frank, of this city. One niece and a nephew also survive him. They are May and William Sullivan, of West Fifth street.

The funeral will be held from the mortuary parlors of P. Casey & Son, North avenue and Park avenue, Monday morning, at 8:30, and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a mass of requiem will be celebrated. Interment will take place in St. Mary's cemetery. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors because of the serious illness of the deceased's father, Edward Connors. Friends may view the body tomorrow.

RESIGNS POSITION.

Joseph Osmun Skinner has resigned his position as assistant district attorney of New York city in order to return to private practice. He was appointed an assistant district attorney by Governor Whitman when the latter was district attorney. He is the only Jerseyman who ever held the position of assistant district attorney in New York. Mr. Skinner is a native of Phillipsburg.

PREPARING FOR EVANGELIST.

Plans are being made for an evangelistic campaign at the Park Avenue Baptist church to begin October 17, with Charlie Taylor, the "boy evangelist," in charge. Sermon topics of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson for tomorrow are as follows: Morning, "The Church and the Community;" evening, "The Church and Young People."

WHITE RIBBONERS TO PROMOTE PEACE

Also Protests Against Depriving Women of Dower Rights.

The forty-sixth annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey came to a close yesterday at the First Methodist church, Montclair. Many of the delegates returned home Thursday night, consequently there was but a small attendance at the closing session.

The organization went on record as protesting against the passage by the last Legislature of a law depriving the women of the State of their dower rights.

The convention also agreed to promote the principles of peace as far as possible, especially the observance of Peace Sunday and similar activities.

A protest against the opening of department stores in this city after 6 o'clock Saturday night was made by Mrs. Nellie Husk Slayback, State factory inspector. She urged the women to use their influence against the proposition of several of the local stores to keep open Saturday evenings during the winter months.

Numerous reports were received. Mrs. Franklin Patterson, chairman of the sailors' and soldiers' department, recommended the sending of boxes at Christmas containing goods and sweetmeats to the life-saving stations along the coast, and on Memorial Day put bouquets in the buttonholes of Civil War veterans.

As yet the place where the next convention will be held has not been decided upon. Jersey City, Camden and New Brunswick are mentioned. There was Bible reading and hymn singing.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE DREW SUSPENSION IN SOMERSET

Somerville, Oct. 2.—Albert J. the Whitnall Agency of Newark, was arraigned before Judge Beekman, in Somerville, yesterday, charged with carrying concealed weapons. After hearing testimony in the case Judge Beekman suspended sentence, declaring that he could see no criminal intent on the part of the defendant.

The detective was one of those whose activity about five weeks ago resulted in the raiding of several "speak-easies" in Raritan.

COUPLE MAKE COUNTER CHARGES, CASE POSTPONED

Charged by his wife, May Winter, with non-support, Irving Winter asked for an adjournment of the case when it was called by Recorder Hand in the borough police court, this morning, in order that he might obtain counsel and summon witnesses. An adjournment was allowed until next Saturday morning.

The couple, who are young, make counter charges against each other. Mrs. Winter says that her husband put her out of the house, while the husband's story is that his wife refuses to live with him where he has provided a home for her. Mrs. Winter gave her residence as 266 Grove street. The complaint was made by Overseer of the Poor Becker.

STATE BAPTIST ASS'N ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The eighty-seventh anniversary meeting of the Central New Jersey Baptist association came to a close in the Baptist church, Flemington, Thursday. Rev. W. B. Kell, pastor of the Frenchtown Baptist church, was elected president and Rev. Wm. W. Hoagland, of Port Murray, secretary of the Baptist Ministers' Conference. Rev. Dr. J. Madison Hare of Scotch Plains had "The Judson Fund" as the subject of his remarks, and Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, this city, took as his topic, "The Social Service Message." A large number of delegates were present at the different sessions. The next annual meeting of the association will be held at Somerville.

DR. TINKER TO PREACH.

Rev. Dr. C. P. Tinker, superintendent of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, will preach at the 11 o'clock service in the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, tomorrow morning. Dr. Tinker is an eloquent preacher, and has had a wide experience in New York city mission work.

SONGSTERS ENGAGED FOR ELKS' BAZAAR

Noted Vocalists Will Appear on Program of October Festival.

When the general committee of the monster Elks' bazaar, to be held the week of October 18-23, met at the clubhouse last night, the entertainment committee made the important announcement that arrangements have been completed with several music publishing houses, including M. Whitmark's Sons, Morris Abraham's, Kalman & Puck, Watterson and Berlin, whereby the best singers representing these houses will be on hand each night of "Bazaar Week" to entertain. The committee has already been assured that "Billy" Redmond, Johnny Nester and "Ted" Snyder will be included among the singers sent here.

These three need no introduction to Plainfielders as they have appeared here on a number of different occasions. Many people will remember Redmond and Nester from their appearance in Plainfield at the time "Ben" La Vere gave out door band concerts a number of years ago. Johnny Nester has been singing the past week at the Trenton Inter-State Fair and his wonderful voice could be heard throughout the large grandstand and paddock.

Reports from various committees showed that the bazaar is sure to be a great success. Assurances were received from several of the out of town Elks' lodges who have been invited that large delegations would be on hand the evening set aside for them.

The women composing the various committees who are to secure articles to be sold at the bazaar are doing wonderful work and the booths will be loaded down with attractive goods.

MASONS WILL CUT WAGES, IS REPORT

Hodcarriers' Union Objects to a Decrease in the Scale.

It is said that trouble is in store for the master masons of this city if they persist in putting in force a decision they have arrived at in regard to laborers' pay. The Master Masons' Association has declared that hereafter its members will employ union hodcarriers on cement work, but that they will pay only two dollars a day instead of the three dollars a day, the present scale of union wages.

This matter of hodcarriers' pay was to have been taken up at a session of the joint agreement committee, composed of merbers of the Master Masons' Association and the Hodcarriers' Union. As the union will not meet until Thursday evening, October 14, the latter body has taken no official action on the matter. It is said that no union men will accept employment with the master masons at the wage stipulated.

At the meeting last night of the Building Trades Council the Day Nursery was declared "unfair" because non-union painters are being employed in painting the building.

ROUND TABLE CLUB TO CONDUCT DINNER

Get-together Affair Arranged for Local Business Men Tuesday Night.

Under the auspices of the Round Table Club, an organization composed of Plainfield's leading merchants, a "get-together" dinner will be held in Hotel Kensington, Tuesday night at 7:30, at which time a program befitting such an occasion will be furnished. Speakers acquainted with topics of interest to those connected with the organization and outside guests are being sought and the list will include among others Harry B. Salter, of Trenton.

The affair is being held expressly for Plainfield's merchants and business men and the invitation to attend is a general one. Those interested will be afforded an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the objects of the Round Table Club and also to hear discussions on subjects pertinent to their individual enterprises.

To date considerable enthusiasm has been displayed in the new club and its success has been a pronounced one in this community. It meets every Monday in Hotel Waldorf and has a steadily increasing active membership. It is the second organization of its kind in New Jersey.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Six High Class Acts to Be Presented at Playhouse Beginning Monday.

Announcement is made by Counihan & Shannon that, starting with Monday, a great vaudeville bill has been booked at the Plainfield Theatre, which means that an entire change of policy has been decided upon at this popular playhouse. Prices will be as follows: Matinees, children, five cents; adults, ten cents; evenings, ten, fifteen and twenty-five cents. There will be three performances each day—2:30, 7:30 and 9 o'clock—and a change of program each Monday and Thursday.

Six acts of real, high class vaudeville has been booked for next week through well known vaudeville agents, the William Fox Circuit, the B. S. Moss Circuit, the Prudential Exchange, Plimmer's Circuit and the Amalgamated Vaudeville Agency. This fact is sufficient to insure vaudeville entertainment of a high degree of excellence.

The management will offer a big added attraction Friday night, "A Charlie Chaplin Contest With Girls," exceedingly funny and entertaining. This contest will be open to the young women of this city, and any wishing to participate may leave their names and addresses at the box office.

The management also announce that they will offer during the current season Broadway successes, including Elsie Ferguson, William Gillette, Chauncey Olcott, Maud Adams, Billie Burke, Arthur Hammerstein's attractions, all of Cohan & Harris' attractions, viz., "The House of Glass, "Young America," "Raymond Hitchcock," "Hit the Trail Holliday," etc.

CHARGE HOTEL MAN WITH "FIXING" FOUR JURYMEN

Somerville, Oct. 2.—John Hoffman, a Bernardsville hotel proprietor, was indicted by the Somerset County Jury yesterday on a charge of tampering with four jurors who did duty about a year ago. It is alleged that Hoffman brought the jurymen from Bernardsville to Somerville in his automobile, and during the trip he discussed a certain criminal case with them.

The county authorities say that the particular case was dismissed by the jury, and on the strength of this the charges were brought against the hotel man.

In view of the fact that Hoffman is under indictment, Judge Beekman held up his application for a hotel license, which came before the court yesterday, and announced that no action would be taken on it until the case had been disposed of. Clarence E. Case represents Mr. Hoffman.

JUDGE SAYS RECORDER HAD NO JURISDICTION IN CASE

Somerville, Oct. 2.—Floyd Knox, who has been confined in the Somerset county jail for the past three weeks pending arraignment on a charge of bigamy, was released from custody today by Judge Beekman, the court determining that Recorder Ralph L. Reed, of Bound Brook, who signed the commitment, had no authority in a case of this nature.

Knox married his second wife, who was Mary E. Haws, at Red Bank, several months ago, and a woman who claimed she was his first wife, and that she had not seen him in seven years, made the complaint against him in Bound Brook.

"KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEERS" TO BE SERMON THEME

Mrs. Edward S. Ralston will speak on "The Kentucky Mountaineers" at the evening service at the Netherwood Reformed church tomorrow night. Mrs. Ralston has just returned from a visit of several weeks in the heart of the Kentucky mountains, and will have many interesting things to tell about the people and her experiences among them. The service commences at 7:45, and all persons are cordially invited to attend.

Communion and the reception of members will take place at the morning service at 11 o'clock.

MUSICAL SERVICE.

Stainer's "The Daughter of Jairus" will be given by the Organist and choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at the first musical service of the season tomorrow afternoon, beginning with a fifteen-minute organ recital at 4:45 by Dr. E. Mettler Davis. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will give a short address on "New Starts in Life."

BAIL "JUMPER" DID NOT GET VERY FAR

Somerset County Detective George Totten Put a Halt to the Flight.

Somerville, Oct. 2.—Under suspicion of being a bail "jumper," Stephen Dilly, of Bound Brook, was arrested at the Whitehouse Central Railroad depot last night by Somerset county Detective George Totten as he was preparing to board a train for West Pennsylvania. Dilly had been at liberty for several months on $500 bail furnished by Thomas Richards, a wealthy Somerville contractor, pending Grand Jury action on a charge of cruelty preferred against him by an eighteen-year-old girl, who at one time is said to have represented herself as his daughter.

He was arrested on the strength of the complaint some time ago and at the September session of the Grand Jury the girl witness failed to give evidence of a nature that would warrant the defendant's indictment. He was accordingly released on bonds to keep within the law and cautioned not to repeat the alleged offense.

According to the girl he administered another beating Thursday and, with her face and body covered with cuts and bruises, she appeared at the courthouse while the October jury was in session to make another charge. It is said that Dilly saw the girl enter the courthouse and immediately disposed of his household effects to a Hebrew second-hand dealer. The county authorities say he then hired an automobile and went to Lebanon, where he borrowed money from two friends. After bidding a brother in Whitehouse goodbye, it is said, he left for the depot where he was apprehended by Totten.

County Prosecutor Pope has been investigating the case for some time past and prosecutor's office is authority for the statement that the Dilly girl came here from Newark with the man about fourteen years ago, shortly afterwards becoming a mother. She is said at that time to have told Dr. Leahy, who attended her, that Dilly was the father of the child, but no action was taken against him inasmuch as the crime, if there was any, was committed in Essex county. This matter will now be traced down, however, and the assistance of the Essex county authorities will be enlisted.

PLAINFIELDERS LEAVE FOR THE PACIFIC COAST

T. J. Mason, of Watchung avenue, and William Connett, of Clinton avenue, leave tonight for a trip to the Pacific coast. They will be away from Plainfield for about three months. After spending a month in San Francisco visiting the Exposition and places of interest in that vicinity, they will go to San Diego and take in the Exposition there. Los Angeles will be visited, and a stay of three weeks will be made. The sights of the Yosemite Valley will be seen, and the trip home will be made by way of New Orleans. From that city they will take a boat for New York.

GIRL AFRAID TO GO HOME; COURT WILL AID HER

Elizabeth, Oct. 2.—Marie Monahan, a nineteen-year-old girl, whose parents live at Milltown, Middlesex county, was leniently dealt with yesterday afternoon by Judge Connolly, in Quarter Sessions Court, when she was arraigned for immorality in Plainfield. It appears that the girl was led astray by older persons, so the court said he would permit her to go home.

She said she was ashamed to go home, and then the court postponed action for a week. In the meantime an effort will be made to secure her employment.

HAD NO PART IN AFFAIR.

Jacob Fass, of West Front street, whose name appeared in a story in the Plainfield Daily Press on Thursday in connection with the sudden disappearance of a bicycle belonging to Morris L. Abrams, denies that he had any part in the episode, and knew nothing about the affair, as he was out of the city that day.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Johnson Polhemus, of Somerville, to Arthur Edward Jackson, of Rutherford. Miss Polhemus is a niece of Mrs. Peter B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, and is a frequent visitor in this city. No date for the wedding has been set.

DRIVE OF ALLIES NOT YET STOPPED

German Lines Pierced at Many Points After Fierce Fighting.

NEW CHEMICAL IS USED

French Say German Shells Almost Cause Blindness—600 Rounds of Ammunition Used Each Minute Friday by Small Part of Army.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The terrific drive of the Allies in the Artois and Champagne regions continues to pierce German lines, according to reports from the French general staff.

Southeast of Souchez the French have advanced, reports the war office this morning, and at La Folie heights some ground was captured. Another success north of Le Mesnil in the Champagne is claimed after terrific fighting.

The use of a new chemical composition in shells is reported by French soldiers under fire of German artillery on the western extremity of the allied attack. The soldiers say that the Kaiser's troops are bombarding them with a shell that irritates the eyes and almost produces blindness.

Desperate counter attacks restored to Germans slight portions of their original possessions yesterday. These were taken from British troops northwest of Hulluck, but the English general staff declares that the victories were of no consequence.

Germany is meeting the drive of the Allies with furious offensive movements wherever possible, and newly taken positions are subject to a fierce artillery fire. On Friday the French alone fired 600 shells a minute on their offensive front of but fifteen miles and other armies used equally as much ammunition.

Swiss Frontier Opened.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The frontier between France and Switzerland, closed for forty-eight hours by order of the military authorities, was reopened today.

Bernstorff Sees Lansing.

New York, Oct. 2.—Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador and Secretary of State Lansing held a conference at the Biltmore Hotel today. Neither would discuss what occurred at the conference.

COMMUNITY CENTRE TO PROMOTE PUBLIC SPEAKING

The West End Community Center at the Washington School is to be a very active place this winter. The building is to be used more and more for community purposes. Already plans are under way for the formation of varous clubs. A reading circle, which will take up the study of modern literature, is contemplated. As soon as a competent leader appears in the West End community chorus work will be added to the various forms of enjoyment the building offers. A sewing and dressmaking class is to be organized on Monday night, in the library room at Washington School. Anyone interested in learning to sew or desiring help in cutting and fitting of garments will be made welcome at any of the meetings.

DR. JOHNSTON TO PREACH.

Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnston, of New Brunswick, will preach at the Congregational church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Sunday school will meet at 11:50 and the Christian Endeavor Society at 7:30 o'clock, the topic being "What Will make our society a greate rsuccess?" Lewis Zeek will lead.

WILL BE MARRIED TODAY.

DUNELLEN MEN TO PREPARE FOR WAR

Organize Rifle Club Among Younger Element—State Will Assist.

For the purpose of becoming proficient in the use of firearms, so as to be prepared in case of war, thirty-five young men of Dunellen and vicinity have formed the New Market Rifle Club, and their application for a charter has been favorably received by the Secretary of State.

The government encourages the formation of such organizations and furnishes free of charge 120 rounds of ammunition per year. It also furnishes the regulation Krag-Jergenson rifles for each member at $5 each. The retail price of this rifle is $25.

Secretary William Piddington, Jr., of the New Market Rifle Club, has 35 applications on file and more than 25 young men have expressed a desire to join. As soon as the charter is received work on the rifle range will be started on the Frank O. Nelson farm. It is expected that the first shoot will be held on Columbus Day.

Mrs. Josephine Terry, of New Market road, has been ill since Wednesday evening, when she was taken with a fainting spell.

John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, has returned from a two days' business trip to Worcester, Mass.

Miss Mae Wahl, of Washington avenue, has returned from the Pacific coast, after a two months' absence. Miss Wahl spent a considerable portion of her time in visiting relatives in Oregon, and she, of course, attended the Panama Exposition.

Mrs. Lisbon Pierson, of New Market road, has returned from Brooklyn, where she spent two weeks visiting her cousin, Mrs. Lucy Armstrong.

The monthly meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held in the Borough Hall, this evening.

EDWARD HANNON GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise party was tendered Edward Hannon at his home on Front street, Thursday evening, in honor of his nineteenth birthday. Many guests were present from Bound Brook, Somerville, Plainfield and this place. The evening was spent in playing games. A luncheon was served at 12 o'clock, and the party broke up at 1 o'clock, when all thanked Miss Tessie Hannon and Miss Florence Gray, who arranged the surprise, for the rousing good time they had enjoyed. Those present were:

The Misses Frances Sullivan, May Kerwin, Katherine Rinehart, Katherine Kerwin, Tessie Hannon, Florence Gray, Matilda Block, Nellie Carrol, Lillian Shea, Annie Carrol, Helen Hannon, Florence Hannon, Florence Haver, Ella Casey, Katherine Fitzgerald, Lizzie Farmer, Beatrice Costello, Mary Costellt, Mrs. Edward Honing, Mrs. J Hannon, and the Messrs. Jules Margentino, Francis Teeling, Edward Gray, Thomas Wyckoff, Charles Wyckoff, Raymond Wyckoff, Frank Day, Neal Newman, William Gregory, George Block, Charles Haver, Earl Latham, Russell Haver, Frank Hannon, Joseph Smith, Charles Cullen, Joe Carrol, James Fitzgerald, Jack Rinehart, Sylvester Rinehart, Michael Carrol, Edward Honing, James Hannon, James Carty, John Hickey and James Carter.

Mrs. Grace Gangloff, of Greenbrook road, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. John W. Goodwin, of New York.

Mrs. Edward J. Herlich, of Dunellen avenue, entertained her aunt, Mrs. Anna Shaw, of New York, recently.

Mrs. John Fedderman, of Washington avenue, has returned from an extended outing to Buffalo, N. Y., and Detroit, Mich.

Former Mayor C. E. Richards has resumed his duties in New York following his annual vacation.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Lincoln School, Tuesday evening.

CHANGES POSITION.

Lisbon Pierson, Jr., of New Market road, who has been in the employ of George A. Schenck, the local iceman, for the past several years, has accepted a position with the Consumers Coal Company, of Plainfield. Mr. Pierson will assume his new duties Monday.

Miss Luella Stryker, one of the assistants in the local postoffice, has been spending the week at Allentown, Pa., visiting Miss Evelyn Kessler.

Miss Ruth Eder, of Columbia street, will entertain the Farther Lights Missionary Society connected with the First Baptist church, of New Market, at her home next Saturday.

The O. Z. T. Fraternity held its semi-monthly meeting at the home of George Martin, last evening.

Miss Ethel Mathews has returned to her home in New Rochelle, following a two weeks' visit in the borough as the guest of Mrs. Lisbon Pierson, Jr., of New Market road.

J. S. HAWKYARD IMPROVED.

Contractor J. S. Hawkyard, who was struck by a bicyclist and knocked down Sunday evening, while walking along West Front street, Plainfield, towards Clinton avenue, is able to be out and about after several days spent in bed. Mr. Hawkyard was pretty badly shaken up by the spill and he still has an ankle and elbow to remind him of the incident.

The uniform rank of Friendship Council will commence drilling Monday evening for the large parade to be held in Newark by the juniors from all over the State on the approaching date of the regular State Council session.

New Providence.

With the banquet of the New Providence A. A. today the baseball season for this place will close. The dinner will be served in the dining hall of Union Hotel.

—It's a safe guess that the first real estate transaction made in town today was influenced and brought about through "the classified."

Plains & Fanwood.

Funeral services for Edith Eckhardt, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Eckhardt, who died at her home on Midway avenue, Thursday, will be held this afternoon. Interment will be made in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

The Rev. Oscar Stuart Michael will conduct Holy Communion at the Episcopal church at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Sunday-school will be at 10 o'clock as usual and morning service at 11 o'clock.

One week of Rally Day services will start at the Baptist church tomorrow and continue until next Sunday. Rally Day will be observed on October 10 and a week of special services will be the fore-runner. Following the Bible school session tomorrow at 9:30, the Rev. J. Madison Hare will preach at the morning service and the Lord's Memorial will be observed. A stage will leave the Fanwood postoffice for the services. At the 7:45 Young People's service Assemblyman William N. Runyon will make an address. Tuesday night the Boy Scouts have arranged for a Campfire Rally, and on Wednesday night, the Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, will preach at services held in the church. On Thursday a Rally Day Social of all of the departments of the church will be held in the Memorial Parish House. The concluding services on October 10 will be at 10:30, with an address by Dr. Isaac B. Burgess, State Sunday-school superintendent, as a feature. There will also be a dedication of children. At 7:30 in the evening there will be a choral service by the Bible school.

District Superintendent Rev. F. J. Hubach was in charge of the weekly prayer meeting in the Methodist church last night, and following conducted the second and third quarterly conferences. The various officers submitted their regular reports and things were found to be in an excellent condition.

Services will be held at the regular hours at the Methodist church tomorrow with the Rev. Raymond E. Marshal in charge of the morning and evening services.

Wright Babcock, of North avenue, has purchased a new automobile.

The monthly meeting of the Borough Council will be held in the Fanwood firehouse next Wednesday night, at which time several important matters are due to come up.

The rainstorm of yesterday played havoc with the electric light service in the borough there being numerous short circuits that kept linesmen on the job. A grounded wire of 2,300 volts on North avenue made a miniature display of fireworks.

The Township Committee has used all of the means in its power to remedy drainage conditions at Park avenue and Westfield avenue, but with indifferent success. Now the Board of Freeholders has appointed a committee, the same as is looking after similar affairs in the borough, to examine the place and report on conditions, together with the approximate cost of repairing matters. Besides hindering traffic conditions in wet weather it forces pedestrians alighting from the trolley to walk through water several inches deep for sometimes considerable distances, depending on the severity of weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meeker and daughter, Florence, left yesterday for a four weeks' trip to various points in Canada.

Watchung.

Rev. Mebane Ramsay will exchange pulpits with Rev. George Bowers, of Coontown, tomorrow morning, in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church. The service will begin at 10:45. Mr. Ramsay will have charge of the evening service, which begins at 8 o'clock, preceded by the usual song service at 7:45. The Rally Day exercises will be held in the afternoon at 2:45. Rev. Mr. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, will make an address.

The monthly meeting of the Watchung Chemical Engine Company will be held Monday evening.

CONSIDERING STATE WATER CONSERVATION

Great Possibilities Are Said to Be Offered in the Wharton Tract.

Whether the Wharton 100,000 acre tract northeast of Hammonton, this State, will become State property and, as a water reservation, its acquisition become an important step toward the conservation of State resources, is a matter of great concern to the State at present. The question was again taken up this week at a meeting of the State Board of Conservation and Development, of which Henry C. White, of North Plainfield, is a member.

The State Board has made a request for an appropriation of $1,000 with which to conduct an investigation into the possibilities of this tract and as to whether the water can be piped to nearby towns and cities at a profit above cost. The State controller has refused to honor the requisition, but Governor Fielder has expressed a desire to have the investigation made and it is possible that the money may be available.

It is the opinion of the board that no one but an expert can determine the possibilities of the Wharton tract. Another matter considered at the meeting was the use of the water plant at Shark river. It was decided to take the plant over and operate it.

As to the Wharton tract there seems to be no doubt but that there are grea possibilities there. It is not so much the present demand as it is a question of looking twenty-five years ahead. While Camden and Atlantic City have an abundant water supply at present they may not always have one. New villages are likely to spring up and it is the opinion that the State should be in a position to protect such a valuable water supply.

On the other hand there is great timber possibilities in the tract. Yellow pine is rather inexpensive now but with the general increase in the prices of lumber it may be an advantage to conserve this tract. Still another advantage is to be found in the extensive Cranberry bogs on the tract, which are said to be very valuable.

The tract is now held at $10 an acre, but $5 is considered a fair price. If the State should take it over there would be the question of forest fire prevention. There is said to be no question but that the State could reap a large revenue from this tract. The annual cranberry yield is said to be about $20,000 and there is approximately 25,000 acres of land undeveloped as yet.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

A large banner has been received from Hyman Abrams in the school colors of red and white, with Dickinson Law School inscribed on it.

Arrangements are being made to run a tennis tournament off the latter part of this week. A meeting of all those who indulge in this line of sport will be held Tuesday noon, and a schedule drawn up. Y. W. C. A. NOTES

October 4 to 9 is registration week at the Y. W. C. A. and those wishing to join classes are expected to enroll by October 9.

It is often impossible to register all who wish to attend a class on the day the class opens, and by deferring registration one is in danger of losing the first lesson.

Examination of those wishing to enter the physical department will be conducted on Friday evening, October 8, and on Saturday afternoon, October 9.

Some new lines of Association work are offered this season, and all who are interested in any department are requested to call during the coming week.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will deliver his October sermon on the series, "Through the Year With Bards and Bible," tomorrow evening. Like previous discourses this one will contain several poetic selections, closing with one of Dr. Strong's own poems.

The first evening service of the fall will be held at the Church of the Heavenly Rest tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

RECREATION NOTES

The municipal dance will be held tonight as usual in the Washington School Auditorium.

A club is to be organized Monday evening at the Washington School, the aim of which will be to promote the art of public speaking. Exercises for the development of vocal purity and vocal energy and requirements for the different styles of expression will be given in a series of talks before the club.

HIS SANITY TEST.

It Cured Morgan Robertson of His Morbid Obsession.

In the course of his psychic studies Morgan Robertson, the well known writer of sea stories, had acquired a belief that he would some day go insane. This preyed on his mind so at intervals that he would figure out schemes to test himself and determine if he really had lost his mind.

We finally induced him to go to Bellevue hospital, mainly for a rest.

With a cunning that was as amusing as it was pathetic he took advantage of it in a way least expected. He insisted on going alone.

Arriving there, he told the physician in charge of his belief that he would some day go insane. He would give no particulars, and that explained why none of us heard from him for two weeks. They had placed him in the psychopathic ward!

It was a week before he knew that they thought him an insane patient and had him under observation. The experience thoroughly cured him of his morbid belief—fad, it really was.

One afternoon, soon after his discharge from the hospital, Robertson joined a party of us in a billiard room, where one of his friends had just won the tournament cup.

"How goes it, Morgan?" one of his friends inquired.

"Boys," he announced in that bellowing bass voice, "I'll never have to write another line. I'm no longer a slave to magazine editors. My books are selling, and I have here"—he reached into an inside pocket—"a certificate showing that I am not insane." He was deadly serious.

A few of the party, unfamiliar with the eccentricities of Robertson, began to edge away. To them it was uncanny.

"Still," one of them suggested in a side whisper, "he's got something on us at that. We've got no certificate."—Bozeman Bulger in Metropolitan.

MILITARY VIGILANCE.

How Our War Department Keeps Tab on All Army Officers.

It is doubtful whether any foreign war office follows with an accuracy greater than that displayed by the United States war department the movements of its officers. The following is an interesting case in point:

A young army officer who had seen service in this country and in the east was once with a small scouting party in Arizona. After two weeks in the desert his squad came to the railway near a small station. Within ten minutes a telegram from Washington was brought to him by the station agent. It asked if the officer wished to be transferred to one of the new artillery regiments then forming.

He answered by telegraph that he would be glad to enter either of them. Then, with his squad, he set off again across the desert.

It was six days later when they again struck the railway, this time eighty miles from the point at which they had previously crossed it, but the officer's reply from the war department was awaiting him. It had been telegraphed to every station within 200 miles.

A more striking instance of accuracy occurred after the same officer's transfer to the east. He was traveling home on leave and, as the regulations require, had notified the department of the day, hour and probable route of his journey. After he had been on the train for eight hours at a small station the conductor entered with a telegram, asking if any one of his name was on board. On opening the telegram the officer found that it ordered him to detached duty.

Exactness of detail could not be carried much further. The war department knew the whereabouts of a second lieutenant even when he was traveling on leave of absence.—Washington Star.

Hard on the Salesgirl.

A lady was shopping and incidentally got into conversation with one of the salesgirls, boasting particularly about the cleverness of her little daughter at home. "You ought to be proud of her," said the girl, at the same time picking up a picture book. "Don't you want to take this home as a present for her?" "Thank you, I will," said the woman, taking the book and dropping it into her shopping bag. "Tillie will be so proud when I tell her you sent it." To the girl's dismay the shopper marched away with the book, and the girl had to pay for it.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

His Hope.

On a hot afternoon a San Francisco attorney made a hurried effort to get a car. The day and the effort had made him uncomfortably warm, and he missed his object, but not a minister whom he knew.

"This is hotter than hades," said the lawyer thoughtlessly, mopping his brow.

The minister looked directly into his eyes and replied earnestly, "I hope so."—Argonaut.

TRY A PRESS WANT AD

AMERICAN SHRAPNEL.

Our Fifteen Pound Shells Are Packed With 252 Bullets.

Aside from poison gases and fire bombs, the most deadly engines of modern warfare are shrapnel shells. The most effective parts of the shrapnel are the lead bullets contained in the shell, which are thrown out in a conical shape when the timing fuse, which explodes the powder at the base, blows the nose off the shell, freeing the bullets packed within it. In an eighteen pound shell the range of these bullets is approximately 250 square yards.

The lead bullets, which are generally half an inch in diameter, are made from a number of different compositions, the most common being that of eighty-seven and one-half parts lead and twelve and one-half parts antimony. The actual number of lead bullets contained in a single shell varies with the different governments which manufacture them. In the American fifteen pound shell there are 252; in the British fifteen pound shell there are 235. The bullets in the American shell have six flattened sides. In the foreign made shells the bullets have spherical sides, an arrangement which does not allow of so close packing as the American plan.

There are two methods of manufacturing shrapnel shells which are commonly used at the present time. By one of these the bullets are cast in iron molds, which are split down the center to facilitate removal after casting. By the other slugs are cut from lead wire and struck between dies in a heading machine. One hydraulic wire press and fourteen heading machines, which have a producing capacity of 850 bullets a minute, are used for the manufacture of flattened bullets. One hydraulic press and eight heading machines, with a capacity of 950 bullets a minute, are used to produce the spherical bullets.

The lead bullets for years have been cast from lead wire by a process which is gradually going out of use, and a newer and more rapid process has taken it place. In the method used almost exclusively at present the molten lead is poured into a cylinder from which it is pushed out through a die by means of a plunger, the metal having time to settle before it is forced through the press.

The bullets are shaken together in a tumbling machine or barrel for an hour, the action of one against another removing all unevenness on the sides. A careful watch is kept over the tumbling operation, as it is necessary to see that the bullets conform to a certain standard of weight. A variation of one dram to a pound of bullets is allowed, forty-one bullets a pound being the accepted standard.—New York Times.

Cannon and Thunder Compared.

The comparison between the sound of cannon and "heaven's artillery" is hackneyed enough. But the human invention can at least claim great superiority as regards the area over which it is heard. There is no doubt about cannon fire being heard well over 100 miles away. The guns of Waterloo were heard at Creil, fifty leagues distant from the battlefield. But it is doubtful whether thunder can be heard at a greater distance than twenty miles. When the church steeple of Lostwithiel was destroyed by lightning, to the accompaniment of such a roar of thunder that the oldest inhabitant could not remember, Smeaton, the engineer, who was about thirty miles distant, heard not the slightest noise.—London Standard.

The Aurora Borealis.

Many people believe that the aurora borealis is a phenomenon peculiar to modern times. But this is not true. The ancients used to call it chasmata, bolides and trabes, names which expressed the different colors of the lights. The scarlet aurora was looked upon by the superstitious barbarians as an omen of direful slaughter; so it is not unusual for descriptions of bloody battles to contain allusions to northern lights.—Atlanta Constitution.

Children's First Shoes.

Let the first shoe be on the order of an Indian moccasin, and as the foot grows it should be fitted from tracings.

Have the child stand upon a piece of paper and trace the outline of the foot with a pencil.

Use this as a guide when buying his shoes, and you will never make the mistake of getting them too small or ill fitting.—Chicago Tribune.

Quite Satisfied.

In old age Boswell said to Johnson, apropos the dictionary; "You did not know what you were undertaking." "Yes, sir," was the answer, "I knew very well what I was undertaking and very well how to do it and have done it very well."—London Standard.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. William E. Gardner, 322 East Second street, Plainfield, says: "I suffered a great deal from rheumatic pains across my back. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action, and I was in a miserable condition for months. Nothing I tried seemed to give me any relief until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's drug store. They seemed to take hold at once, removing the rheumatic pains and regulating the action of my kidneys. They improved my condition so much that I soon felt like a different person."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gardner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

MISSIONARY GUILD GIVES RECEPTION TO DR. HARRISON

The Missionary Guild, of Trinity Reformed church, held its first fall meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon. Miss Elizabeth Brokaw opened the devotional exercises, after which the president, Mrs A. B. Cole, took the chair. An all-day sewing meeting was set for Friday, October 15, to be held at the home of the president, on Fairview avenue. After further routine business, Dr. Paul Harrison, of Arabia, the church missionary, gave an interesting address on the women and children of that country. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Combined Bed and Hammock For Open Air Room.

The comforts of a bed and the conveniences of a hammock are combined in the design of "hammock-cot" which has been recently patented by a Cincinnati man. The feature of this design is the arrangement of the mattress. Provision is made for raising and supporting one end of the mattress above the bottom of the bed frame, thus forming a very comfortable head rest when it is desired to make use of the article in the capacity of a cot. At other times the mattress reposes flat on the bottom of the device, and it then fills the bill as a swinging hammock. The sides are built up on three sides to form a wind shield.

Deviled Tomatoes.

Use two or three large, firm tomatoes not overripe, cut them into slices half an inch thick and lay on a sieve Make a dressing of one tablespoonful of butter and one of vinegar rubbed smooth with the yolk of one hard boiled egg. Add a teaspoonful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of mustard and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Beat until smooth and heat to a boil. Take from the fire and pour upon a well beaten egg, whipping to a smooth cream. Put the vessel containing the dressing in hot water while the tomatoes are being thoroughly broiled over a clear fire. Put the tomatoes on a hot dish and pour the dressing over them. Cooked in this way they are nice to serve with chicken.

Mustard Pickles.

One quart chopped onions, one quart chopped cucumbers, two quarts chopped green tomatoes, one head chopped cabbage or cauliflower, six chopped green peppers. Salt and let stand overnight, then boil until tender. Make a dressing of three quarts good vinegar, six cupfuls sugar, one-fourth ounce turmeric, four teaspoonfuls celery seed, one-half pound ground mustard, one cupful flour. Rub dry ingredients together, stir till smooth in vinegar and boil till it thickens (two or three minutes). When cold pour over the cold vegetables and seal in warm jars. The mixture will thicken somewhat after standing a few days.

Baked Apple Pudding.

Butter an enamel baking dish. Slice into this tart apples enough to fill the dish, sprinkle with salt and pour in two or three tablespoonfuls of water. Sift together a cup and a half of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth of salt. Into this work with the tips of the fingers three tablespoonfuls of butter. Beat an egg, add three-fourths of a cup of milk (scant measure) and stir into the dry ingredients. When thoroughly mixed spread over the apples. Bake in a quick oven about twenty-five minutes. Invert the dish so as to have the apples on the top. Serve hot with butter and sugar or sirup.

Farmer's Fried Chicken.

When chicken is dressed put in salt water for an hour or more to draw out blood. Salt, use some flour and cover each piece of chicken with it and place in smoking hot lard and fry till brown. Cook until tender and when done lift lid a little, pour in a little boiling water to soften chicken and you will have a good dish. From the remaining fat make a gravy by putting a big spoonful of flour and let brown; salt and pour boiling water in and cook a little while.

Apple Chutney.

Twelve sour apples, one mild onion three peppers (one red); one cupful of seeded and chopped raisins, one pint of pure cider vinegar, one-half a cupful of currant jelly, two cupfuls of sugar, the juice of four lemons, one tablespoonful of ground ginger, one-fourth teaspoonful cayenne, one tablespoonful salt. Chop the apples, onion and peppers very fine; add the vinegar and jelly and let simmer one hour, stirring constantly. Store as canned fruit.

Beef Loaf With Tomato.

One pound of rare beef chopped fine, three large crackers rolled and sifted; add one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper with one well beaten egg. Work all until thoroughly mixed. Press into a bowl and turn out into a buttered tin. Rub a little butter over it and pour on a large cupful of fresh stewed or canned tomatoes. Bake three-quarters of an hour, basting frequently with the tomato.

How to Keep Our City Moving

We must keep moving. A city booms only so long as its manufacturers and merchants keep moving. The wheels of every line of endeavor must be kept turning if the city is going to develop, and what is of deeper concern than the wheels of Plainfield kept turning?

Should every one who has the interest of Plainfield close at heart buy goods from our merchants, the benefits all around can easily be seen. Thousands of dollars that would otherwise go out of the city will be kept circulating here and contribute a big share towards making a bigger and busier Plainfield.

A dollar spent at home will keep that dollar at home and all will share in the profits.

If you are a student of the "ads" you KNOW WHAT IT OUGHT TO COST.

The spot-light of full publicity, turned on a store, reveals and places in that full light a store's defects—if it have defects. For example: If high prices prevail, or lines of goods are not kept up to date, the reader of the store advertisements knows it. It follows that advertising "pays" the store that renders real service—and would not pay the other kind of a store.

Sometimes a store will decide to perform a real "stunt" in value-giving on some special line. You may be sure that in all such instances the ad-readers will have earliest knowledge of the details.

SCARCITY OF NEW BOWLING LIFE IN ELKS' CLUB EVIDENCED BY TOURNAMENT ENTRIES

Troubles brewing in the Elks' bowling camp came to a head last night, during a four-hour meeting of the committee in charge of the one-man tournament, entries for which were scheduled to close yesterday. Examination of the list of prospective competitors revealed the fact that only one of the senior team's players had entered, whereas the conditions of the tourney called for the selection of a league quintet from the results of the matches.

Agitation was launched immediately for the introduction of several veterans' names into the list of "those entered" and a recess was accordingly declared to campaign for results. P. S. Kiely, one of the first team's reliables, happened to be the only individual within reach and after a confab he gave his consent to having his name placed on the list for the one-man event, but added "that he would consider the first team probability again" and gave no assurances that he would lineup with the State leaguers.

Captain V. W. Nash, Sr., will also probably enter the tourney, but is very reticent on the first team idea. Johnny Campbell says he will positively not perform and former Captain Francis J. Blatz has not been approached as yet.

As matters stood last night, however, strong indications were given that the veterans would not be included in the first team lineup this year and that new material would have to be secured. There is a feeling among the players that certain club members have considered the first-team in the clique class and that the players have been monopolizing the right to perform as a representative delegation. In order to allay the suspicions that have been directed in their shadows the first-team men have apparently reached a mutual understanding whereby they would not be candidates for the team this year, but would leave it up to the bowling committee to select new life.

Threats of withdrawing the franchise from the State League have also come from certain quarters, but the possibility of not being able to enter again if matters straightened out has deferred this action.

BILL KILLIFER OUT OF WORLD'S SERIES

Forced to Retire With Injured Shoulder—Phillies Will Miss Him.

Boston, Oct. 2.—It is said that there is little probability now of Bill Killifer, the Phillies' great catcher, taking part in the World's Series. Before Thursday's game with the Braves, Killifer was trying out his injured arm by catching during batting practice. Although the pain in his shoulder has disappeared of late, it returned today and became so severe that Killifer was forced to retire.

"It is certainly tough to lose Killifer," said Pat Moran, after the league's premier backstop had apprised him of the condition of his arm, "but we'll go in fighting just the same, or perhaps a little harder because of it. I have no fault to find with the way Eddie Burns has been working since Killifer was hurt, but I'd feel a lot better if I had both of them in condition, instead of only one."

The Phillies' catcher had his arm treated recently by "Bonesetter" Reese, and said last Tuesday that he would surely get back into the game for the struggle with the Red Sox.

RED SOX PRESIDENT TOSSES A SKY-ROCKET

Says World's Series Will Not Be Played Unless Fans Get 400 Seats.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—President Joseph J. Lannin, of the Boston Americans, who left last night for New York, to attend the meeting today of the National Commission, which will make arrangements for the World's Series, asserted that the series would not be played unless Boston "rooters" were allowed a block of 400 seats at $3 for the games to be played at Philadelphia. William F. Baker, president of the Philadelphia Nationals, last night refused such a request, stating that only $5 seats were available.

"Fandom is bigger than the owner of the Philadelphia National League Club and is bigger than the National Commission," said President Lannin. "Either I will secure for Boston rooters the necessary space allotment through the National Commission or there will be no World Series."

Alexander Gets a $1,000 Bonus.

Grover Cleveland Alexander has gathered unto himself a $1,000 bonus. His 1915 contract stipulated that he was to get $1,000 above his fixed salary if he won twenty-five games or more. He annexed his twenty-fifth victory recently by blanking the Giants.

EXPECT NEW RECORDS.

New attendance and gate receipt records are not unlikely in the coming world's series between the Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans. Much will depend, of course, upon the length of the series and the amount of interest displayed by the fans of the two pennant-winning cities. If the struggle for the championship is close and continues for six or seven games there is no question that new figures will be established in these departments, thus adding greatly to the satisfaction of players and magnates.

JACK MARTIN WILL DISCUSS WORLD SERIES GAMES FOR PRESS READERS.

Jack Martin, the Plainfield ball player, who has signed to play for the Philadelphia National League champions again next season, will once more be on hand to furnish Daily Press readers with first hand information concerning the World's Series, which will start next Friday. Martin's stories will be doubly interesting during the series between the Phillies and the Red Sox, inasmuch as the Plainfielder is personally acquainted with every member of the Quakertown club and also many of the Boston players. He will criticize each game in detail exclusively for the Daily Press sporting column, and single out the weak spots and the plays worthy of commendation which each contest will produce.

Martin intends to be present at several of the games, and will write a story from the field on each occasion. On other days he will be in the Daily Press office and will personally supervise the baseball extra which will be issued each afternoon from three to five minutes after the games are in. His accounts of World Series games during the past three years have been unusually interesting, inasmuch as he is thoroughly competent to discuss the national pastime, and well knows the merits of each individual wearing a baseball uniform in the World Series.

JOHNSTON FITS IN NICELY.

Pittsburgh's First Sacker Playing Steady Game For Fred Clarke.

After many years looking around for a good first baseman the Pittsburgh Pirates finally landed a good man in the person of Johnston. The latter has filled the big weak spot in the Buccaneers in great shape. Not alone does he cover a lot of ground, but his batting of late has been very heavy.

SPRINTER DREW TO QUIT.

Negro Speed Merchant Announces He Will Run No More.

Howard P. Drew of Springfield, Mass., the track athlete, has announced his intention to retire from racing in a signed statement published from the Panama-Pacific exposition field, where he was beaten recently in the 100 yard dash event of the senior A. A. U. track and field meet. Drew said:

"I was bothered with my legs a great deal in the race, so that I pulled up lame at the finish. I have been in poor physical condition, for I now weigh only 150 pounds, and that is much below my normal. I want to say right here I am through with open competition after this year."

GIBBONS PASSES UP A FORTUNE

Failure to Knock Out McFarland Costs Him Many Big Purses.

LOSES BOUT WITH DARCY.

St. Paul Boy Could Have Had Battle For Middleweight Title In Addition to a Lot of Money Had He Put Out Packey—He Will Meet Ahearn In New Orleans.

One more fistic idol was shattered when Mike Gibbons failed to display anything out of the ordinary in his ten round bout with Packey McFarland at Brighton Beach, N. Y., recently. Gibbons missed the chance of his life by not stopping the Chicago wizard. Had he done so the honors and money that would have been showered upon him would have made the $15,000 he received look like a paltry sum.

Instead of having his praises sung as the greatest of boxers and his life history printed on every sporting page in the land Gibbons is now merely one of many. In the future he will be forced to accept ordinary sums for his services instead of the princely amounts he could have commanded. And it is going to be a lot harder for him to win now that his rivals are convinced that he has been overrated.

If Gibbons had fulfilled expectations he would then have been in line for a match with Les Darcy, with the middleweight title at stake. That would have meant an even larger crowd than the recent affair drew, as a decisive result could have been expected in that case. Instead of meeting Darcy, Gibbons will tackle Young Ahearn in New Orleans.

Gibbons will receive but a small fraction of $15,000 for meeting Ahearn, and the chances are that when the match is over the St. Paul man's prestige will have been further diminished. Although Ahearn has not been given much credit for what he has accomplished, he really is a great deal cleverer than Gibbons. Put big training gloves on the pair and it is 2 to 1 that Ahearn would win off by himself. With fighting gloves, of course, it might be different, for Ahearn is too frail to withstand much punishment.

Now that the much discussed bout is past history, ring followers will turn to the heavyweights again, and the search for a man to tackle Jess Willard will proceed. Within the next few weeks the big fellows will be very active.

M'GRAW TO RIP UP TEAM.

Scrappy Leader Intends to Make Many Changes Next Winter.

According to those on the inside, Manager Johnny McGraw of the New York Giants intends to rip his team to pieces next winter. "Scrappy John," they say, will get rid of at least half his team by trades or by the release method. McGraw is dissatisfied with the showing of a number of his men and believes the team will be greatly benefited by their absence.

LARRY DOYLE, GIANTS' SECOND SACKER.

It is said about the only one of the infield that will be on the job next season is Larry Doyle, the Giants' second sacker. McGraw believes Larry has many more seasons' good playing in him, so will hold on to him.

UMPIRE CHILL A BOXER.

Has Met Several Good Men and Also Aided as a Trainer.

Ollie Chill, American league umpire, was a boxer. He boxed Eddie Santry and other good boys of several years ago, and in the winter, after he became an umpire, helped Ray Bronson, the Indianapolis scrapper, in his training.

Chill started as an umpire in the Central league, went to the American association and then to the majors.

There have been players who have figured in the golden harvest of as many as four world's series, but Jack Barry, formerly with the Athletics but now with the Red Sox, is the only artisan known to baseball to ever figure in five such princely divisions. His first four netted him exactly $10,985.38, and possibly he'll have something like $14,000 to his credit when the approaching debates are determined.

BOARDING-HOUSE CONVERSATION.

"I came across an odd word in the dictionary last night, 'uxurious,' meaning one very fond of his wife," remarked the Ribbon Clerk.

"It's obsolete," commented the Gruff Old Bachelor.

"If a married man leading a luxurious life will cut out the 'I,' he will get about the same thing; and there will be no reason why he shouldn't become infatuated with his wife," said the Ready Wit.

"That's an abominable pun, and I for one shall seek another home if we are going to have profanity at this table," declared Miss Prim.

"I never have served no profanity," said the Landlady, looking up alarmed. "Don't believe in them fancy dishes. Why, one of them rich docks fired his chef because he couldn't cook ham and eggs."

"That cook must've got a job here," muttered the Graduate Office-Boy, with an insinuating wink.

"Speaking of words," suggested the Ready Wit, to head off the brewing storm, "if 'matricide' is the murder of a mother, is 'matrimony' the murder of love?"

"You ought to be killed for that," said the Ribbon Clerk.

"That was a perfectly beautiful murder in the morning papers, wasn't it?" asked the Blonde Lady, "I read every word."

"Poor dear, you must be tired," said the sympathetic Miss Keyes.

"On the contrary," suggested the Ready Wit, satirically, "I always find the account of a murder very soothing to the nerves."

And even the Landlady laughed.

How the Telephone Fights The Battles of the Great War

PRINCE EITEL FRIEDRICH, SECOND SON OF KAISER WILHELM, WAITING FOR WAR NEWS BY TELEPHONE.

A remarkable series of photographs taken on the various battle-fronts of Europe, is published in The Telephone Review, New York, to illustrate the uses of the telephone in war.

No section of the modern army is without telephone communication with headquarters. The first thing for the advance guard to do on pushing into new territory is to construct a telephone line; the first requisite when following at the heels of a retreating enemy is to appropriate and repair the telephone lines which they have sought to destroy. Long poles with hooks at the end are carried by the wire sections for this purpose, and although the men of this corps present somewhat the appearance of a body of lancers they are in truth experts with their curious weapons, used so adroitly to hide the wires in the foliage of the trees or along the side of the road.

An enemy aeroplane hovers overhead, taking observations of the numbers and position of the troops below. Can the commander on that side act upon that knowledge? Not successfully, if the telephone corps below is at work. For they have watched the aeroplane as it circled above them, and in an instant have informed headquarters of what the enemy aeroplane has seen, so that the general can change positions accordingly, send reinforcements, or adopt whatever tactics seem best, to set at naught the enemy's observations.

These and other phases of war telephone service pictured in The Telephone Review, show to some extent why the deadlock has been so characteristic of the present conflict. Whether in the hands of the Kaiser's son, or a Turkish outpost, or the bicycled and motor-cycled Italian, whether at headquarters or in the most daring spy service within the enemy's lines, the telephone is constantly busy checkmating every move of the opposing force.

LACE CURTAINS

Their Formal Presentation

Twenty-one cases of lace curtains from Europe have been received here this Autumn. Our Paris organization has kept in daily touch with the French and Swiss makers. Whatever was good, whatever was new, has come as usual to Wanamaker customers.

In addition to the Salons of Lace Curtains, it will take most of the Broadway front of the Upholstery Gallery for the adequate exhibition of these new draperies.

Each special kind will be shown in separate groups or salons, as far as possible. All the French hand-made lace curtains in one section. All the Marie Antoinette lace curtains in another. All the net curtains with hand-made cluny in a third. All the Irish point curtains in a fourth, and so on.

French Hand-Made Lace Curtains

Twenty-six patterns in beautiful needle work curtains with French laces and embroideries. Long curtains $16.50 to $125. Short curtains, $10 to $17.50. Others in twenty-one patterns, often three sizes to match, 10 to $135 each. Bed sets, $27.50 to $75.

Marie Antoinette Lace Curtains

Largely made by hand. White or Arabian. Long curtains, $3.25 to $18.50 pair. Sash curtains, $3.75 to $10.

Curtains With Hand-Made Cluny

Simple curtains such as one often finds in even wealthy homes. Good nets edged with hand-made linen cluny lace, $2.50 to $15 pair. Sash curtains, $2 to $8.75 pair.

And These Other Curtains

Lacet Arabian curtains, $5 to $32.50 pair.

Scrim curtains with hand-made antique lace, $4.23 to $21.50 pair.

Brussels lace curtains, $10 to $65 pair. Sash curtains, $6.75 to $10 pair.

Irish point curtains, 43 in. patterns, $3 to $17.50 pair. Sash curtains, $2.50 to $7.50 pair.

Swiss laces, Florentine Point Bruges, $4.75 to $30 pair.

Curtains in Several Lengths

However long the window, there are curtains here ready to drape it—2½, 3, 3½ and 4 yards long.

All the Best American Curtains

American curtains can by no means be forgotten these days. They are better than ever. Dainty striped and figured nets, scrims, marquisette and other kinds—some as low as 85c pair.

Curtains Made to Order

Upon request lace curtains of any design, length, width or kind will be made in our own workrooms. Charges moderate.

"To secure so many fine rugs in such good qualities, and to offer them at these prices," said a man who has seen the new collection, "is, under existing conditions, somewhat of a business miracle."

During the Summer, by personal visit to London and Paris and careful scrutiny of the home market we have added to our selected stocks embracing the finest of Persian and Asia Minor weaves in both carpet and small sizes. The entire collection, thus richly endowed, and bearing remarkably moderate prices, will be placed on Sale beginning Monday.

2,866 Rugs

Included Are—

Kermanshahs, Sarouks and the finest Persian Keshans.

Many of the old style Kazaks, with their heavy silky pile and unique designs;

Many unusually large antique and modern Cabistans;

Serapi rugs about 5 feet square;

Hundreds of Persian and Asia Minor mats;

Hundreds of Mossouls in various sizes;

Some very fine Persian Afsharies;

Bales of beautiful Daghestans and Shirvans;

Several bales of large size Gheundjis in their natural colorings, many of them 5 to 6 ft. wide and 8 to 9 ft. long;

Bokharas in the Royal, Princess and Khiva weaves;

Antique rugs with the exquisite time-mellowed colorings characteristic of the products of the earlier generations of rug-weavers; rugs which are becoming more scarce every year.

In the Carpet Size Rugs are the various weaves of India, Persia, Asia Minor and China; Kermanshahs rarely purchasable at such moderate prices; wonderfully rich Persian Sarouks, Mahals and Serapis; and finest Shah Abbas rugs from Asia Minor.

Small and Medium Sizes

At no time have we shown so many fine rugs from mat size up to about 5 x 9 feet; including an unusual assortment of almost square rugs from 4 to 6 feet in size.

There are hundreds of mats, from a little table mat at $3 to a 4⅞ x 1⅛ feet mat at $8.50.

And a quantity of hall strips and runners of the famous Ghuendjis weave; $65, for example, for one 19 x 4 feet, with quaint and fascinating irregularities of coloring.

The Moderate Prices

Kermanshahs, $50
About 4 x 6 feet.

Mahals, $100 to $465
Sizes from 10 ft. 2 in. x 7 ft. 1 in. to 21 ft. 9 in. x 13 ft. 11 in.

Serapis, $135 to $475
Sizes from 11 ft. 1 in. x 7 ft. 9 in. to 21 ft. 4 in. x 13 feet

Kazaks and Ghuendjis
Sizes from 5 to 6 ft. wide and 7 to 9½ ft. long; including many fine antiques; $32.50 to $65.

Oriental Mats
Bokharas, Shirvans, Pergamas, Anatolians in great variety of color, $3 to $8.50. Mossouls, Shirvans, Bokharas, Kazakjas—several hundreds—$8.50 to $15.

Sarouks, $125 to $365
Sizes from 9 ft. 10 in. x 6 ft. 8 in. to 14 ft. 3 in. x 10 ft. 7 in.

Shah Abbas, $67.50
About 3⅝ x 6 feet.

Kermanshahs, $165 to $1,175
Sizes from 9 ft. 8 in. x 7 ft. 5 in. to 28 ft. 9 in. x 19 ft.

Cabistans
Sizes from 6 x 3½ ft. to 11⅝ x 6 ft.; including many fine Antique pieces; $25 to $125.

Mossouls, $17.50
About 3⅝ x 6 ft.

Chinese Rugs, $62.50 to $250
Sizes 6 x 4 ft. to 12 ft. x 9 ft. 10 in.

Hall Strips
Persian and Asia Minor weaves; many in pairs; 9½ ft. to 24 ft. long; $25 to $90.

Wanamaker Neverbreak Wardrobe Trunk, $15

A bettered, more-for-your-money trunk—stronger, more artistic, with added improvements and conveniences—specially made for the Wanamaker Stores—first factory shipment ready for inspection Monday, October 4.

Specifications of the Wanamaker Trunk

Corrugated fibre covering over 3-ply hard-wood veneer, fibre bound and securely riveted by hand. Fixtures of cold rolled steel, heavily brass plated. Two tension bolts, two dowels, and self-locking Excelsior lock. High grade linings—boudoir patterns for women, plain patterns for men. One roomy top drawer with hat tapes and all partitions, removable; two additional deep drawers, equipped with the new patent removable swing garment rack with 5-ply veneer hangings.

Big enough (40 x 14 x 22½ inches) to hold everything the average traveler wishes; small enough to be compact and cozy and not in the way even in small rooms.

No excess baggage to pay; no extra transfer charges—you just can't pack this trunk to exceed the free baggage limit, and it can be carried on any cab or taxi.

Guaranteed for Five Years

This trunk has been on the market for some months. It has passed the experimental stage. We were unwilling to put it into our stocks before it had proved itself out and until certain improvements should be made. These improvements are now incorporated in the special Wanamaker Neverbreak trunk, and we offer it to the public with full confidence that it will give continued satisfaction.

THE PUBLIC ATHLETIC FIELD.

Is it a good investment? Each year this question comes into the minds of many taxpayers, and unless careful consideration is given, it is very likely answered in the negative. The answer to any question of this kind, when it concerns an institution for the young people of the community, depends upon its educational value. The test of the educational value of anything lies in two factors—its effect upon the character of the individual, and the future usefulness of the individual to the community expressed in added ability. It is, of course, impossible to express such value in dollars and cents. If the value is there, the community owes it adequate support.

First of all comes the use of such a field as Parker Field by the schools. The High School teams use it each fall and spring for athletic contests and all practice for these contests. This is directly in line with the much advertised "Gary Plan," one of the main features of which is the provision of extensive gymnasium and playground facilities for each school. In addition to its use by High School teams, hundreds of boys and girls make use of the tennis courts outside of school hours. Pupils in schools in other cities in this vicinity, visiting Plainfield as members of teams, carry home with them a respect for Plainfield and its institutions, when they find such a perfectly appointed public field provided for the young people of this city.

More important, however, than this use of Parker Field during the school term, is its function as a public playground during the summer months. Here are centered its true educational possibilities. The well-remembered tin-can lot, with its stolen ball, its neighborhood clans for opponents, its wild games, and its still wilder fights, has functioned in the past in the development of ability and character, along certain lines. Many men trace certain of their qualities of leadership back to such experiences. We believe, however, that a supervised public playground has preserved all that was good in the old type playground, and at the same time has added many desirable features which take the place of undesirable features which have been eliminated.

Team spirit, with duty as its basis, has taken the place of the neighborhood gang spirit, with "might makes right" for its doctrine. Team spirit requires that the boy subordinate his own wishes to the good of the team, the biggest and strongest may have to give way to the rights of the smallest boy. How different from the old style domination of the neighborhood bully! Self-imposed discipline of this kind, with its recognition of authority vested even in a diminutive umpire, is in direct line with the true spirit of American government as opposed to the monarchical type.

Clean, healthful surroundings take the place of the unsanitary conditions of the average vacant lot. Boys and girls under supervision on a modern playground are taught the value of clean, tidy grounds and are required to help in keeping them in this condition.

Not only clean surroundings are required. Insistence upon clean language and action takes precedence of all else upon a public playground. Parents may be well assured that there is far less likelihood of their children becoming contaminated by evil companions if they are on a supervised playground than when playing even near home without supervision. At the same time, those who have bad habits of profanity and evil language are required by steady correction to develop self control. It is amazing to see the improvement in this regard after about a month of supervised play.

Finally, deep foundations are laid for the physical well-being of the citizens of the future. Boys who have formed the habit of enjoying wholesome sport in the open will always remain boys in spirit, and in most cases will continue their out-of-door pastimes long after others consider themselves too old to take part in them. Habits of exercise in the open air, formed on a public playground, may extend the life and usefulness of many of our future citizens, and who can measure the value in dollars to the community of ten years added to the life of a single useful citizen?

GEORGE W. WRISTON.

THE FORUM

William Delaroche Anderson, of Watchung, who opposed Ogden H. Hammond in the Republican primaries, has sent to him the following letter of congratulation:

"Please accept my congratulations on your nomination and the vindication of your position, as representative of Somerset county, in regard to the local option measure last winter. We, who are local optionists, believe in bowing to the will of the majority, and the majority has spoken in your favor, therefore to be consistent we must be with you. This is especially so in that we have no hope of advancement of our cause through the Democratic party, whose leaders all publicly avow that local option is a moral question not to be touched politically, and who only accept it where it will help to party success, without a chance in the world to carry. You must not understand from the above that any of us give up our belief in our principle, for we do not, and this fact will be very clear to you when next primary day rolls around and after a year of organization and education we throw down the gauntlet and have at you again. In the meantime you represent to us Republicans the great majority of our principles, and we wish you all success in the coming election."

Suffering In Silence

She bore it all in silence—was
There any who could doubt it?
We know 'twas borne in silence, for
She told us all about it.

• • • •

The day some company was there,
She had a headache—awful!
But yet she smiled nor seemed to care—
Such martyrdom's unlawful!
But 'twixt the smiles at stranger folk
She let us home-souls know it—
Her sorrow was no idle joke;
She simply had to show it.

When she had smiled the last ones out,
She just collapsed entirely.
We well ones gathered 'round about
And labored o'er her, direly.
Yet I believe that if a guest
Had come back unexpectedly,
She would have smiled again with zest
And chortled undejectedly.

• • • •

When folks "bear things in silence,"
It doesn't make a hit, at all,
With fellow-household members
Who ultimately get it all!

Health Talks

The Stigma Of Disease

THE ancients had queer, superstitious notions about insanity. Even to-day ignorant people harbor a sneaking suspicion that this disease, or rather the diseases grouped under the term insanity, is a kind of evil spell cast upon the victim.

Of course the causes of insanity are pretty well known. Bad heredity—the misdeeds of our ancestors—and bad habits about cover the question. Alcoholism, syphilis, certain other infections, abuse of drugs, and bad heredity are the factors of insanity, epilepsy and idiocy.

But there is a certain stigma attached to the insane. We still look a trifle askance at the family that has one or more cases of insanity, and perhaps with good reason, but with absolutely no better reason than we have for looking askance at the family that has typhoid fever or consumption or neurasthenia or liver complaint, for these troubles, too, come from the sins of our fathers and our own sins.

People feel no particular shame in having neuritis or flat feet, yet these popular maladies are just as surely due to individual and familial weakness, as is insanity. A doctor can suggest hospital care for goitre or appendicitis with perfect assurance, but when it comes to the treatment of a case of insanity he has to beat about the bush, because of the common antipathy to hospitals for the insane. We have been ushered unceremoniously out of more than one home when we insisted that an insane patient should be taken to a hospital properly equipped to render the best treatment.

Perhaps it is not generally realized that a very large number of patients admitted to hospitals for the insane recover completely in a few months or years, return to their homes, and, if conditions there are good, remain well the rest of their lives. Sometimes, it is true, such persons seem a little queer—any of us seem that way when watched expectantly. After all, every one of us is a wee bit peculiar or eccentric in one way or another. That is what makes individuality. If we were all quite sane this would be a weary old world and nothing remarkable would ever happen.

In the dark ages, the insane were cruelly treated by their ignorant attendants. The "mad house," the "crazy place," the "lunatic asylum" is a thing of the past. To-day we have psychopathic hospitals where intelligent, scientific, helpful treatment is given these patients. At the present time he who regards an insane person with any other than kindly, sympathetic feelings simply exhibits a sorry want of education.

AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES—IOWA

THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA is a set of Siamese twins engaged in a violent endeavor to devour each other.

Part of the University is located at Iowa City and the rest of it at Ames. Iowa City, is a fine old school founded in 1847 with 3,000 students, great medical and law departments and a fine set of buildings, including the beautiful old State Capitol. Ames has 4,000 students, one of the greatest agricultural schools in the world and a vast campus equipped with a technical school, cafateria, campanile and all the comforts of modern state university life.

Neither school, however, is contented. It is the constant desire of Ames to get all of Iowa City's appropriations away from it and Iowa City graduates will not let a legislator be nominated if they can help it until he is analyzed for traces of enmity to the older school.

So Iowa maintains duplicate colleges, libraries, campuses and atmospheres which keeps her so poor that she hadn't any money to spend on good roads. It costs her upwards of $2,000,000 to keep both schools going.

If Iowa's two colleges were united they would have 7,000 students and would look down with scorn on Michigan and Illinois. Iowa City has produced many famous politicians and one football team which stood the rest of the middle west teams on their heads and wore all the chalk off the goal lines of Michigan and Chicago. Ames has produced Professor Holden, who taught Iowa farmers how to test their seed corn and made that state the greatest corn state in the union.

Ames has produced Professor Holden, who taught Iowa farmers how to test their seed corn

Neither college has turned out very many gilded scions of the uncontrollably rich.

Iowa educates its students liberally at these schools, but it does not stop there. It educates its pigs, cows, soil, newspaper editors, highway commissioners and cornfields. It costs Iowa a great deal of money to run her universities, but she gets it all back with 500 per cent. profit each fall and does not murmur or repine.

Making Your Own Evidence

Q. Where a business man makes entries from time to time in his books, as to his transactions, will such entries be received as evidence by the courts?

A. They will be admitted in evidence provided they were made in the ordinary course of business, and if made at the time of the transaction which is noted. It is necessary, however, to show that the person making such entries had personal knowledge of the transactions and, if he is living at the time of any litigation in the courts, his personal testimony ordinarily is required in substantiation. If he is not living, or if he is insane, then, as a rule, proof of his hand-writing may be made.

The Doctor's Claim

Q. Kindly inform me whether a physician has a preferred claim against a decedent's estate?

A. The statutes in some states allow a preferred claim for medical attendance, and for medicines furnished, during the decedent's last illness.

A Mixed Proposition

Q. If a man makes an offer to perform some work for another man, at a certain time and in a certain manner, for a stipulated price, and the second man accepts the offer, but provides for a different time or different method of doing the work, may the contract be enforced? A. No.

S. P. C. A.

Q. Where one drives a horse in a cruel manner, or mistreats it, can he be punished?

A. There are laws in many of the states forbidding cruelty to animals and providing punishment for such offenses.

A Protracted Loan

Q. If one should loan some things to another person for the latters' accommodation, and such second person should neglect or refuse to return them after having been repeatedly requested to do so, could a suit be brought? A. Yes.

Pay "On Demand"

Q. If a contract or an agreement is made payable "on demand," is a demand necessary? A. Yes.

By Grace Of Numbers

Q. May the majority of the stockholders of a corporation decide upon important changes and have they the power to make such changes?

A. Sometimes this is permissible. Much depends upon the statutes of the state. Where such power exists, it is ordinarily expressly conferred by the statutes. Further, more than a bare majority, usually, is required.

A Right To Compensation

Q. I am the owner of some inclosed land. A certain person, without my knowledge or consent, entered upon this land and damaged it. I have called the matter to his attention and asked him to pay me for the damage done. He says the damage, if any, is very slight and contends that I could not make him pay. Is this correct?

A. You could maintain a suit against him and recover at least nominal damages. If the injury to the land is slight, the amount of your recovery would necessarily be small. Such fact, however, would not affect your right to institute the suit.

The Life Line

The Man Who Laughs at Women's Fashions

We wouldn't mind if he'd pick out this or that to object to. But it's everything. Everything—from the little velvet toque to the tinted pump—is "Absurd! Immodest! Vulgar!" And it's every year, too. This year it's the basque and the long tunic; last year it was the blouse and the draped skirt; the year before that—well, whatever was in fashion then, didn't suit him, we may be sure. He hasn't been suited in the last ten years. And he won't be, in the next ten. He's got the sneering habit. Just because women's clothes aren't the kind that mother used to make, they're not decent. He doesn't stop to think that mother herself wore basques when she was a girl—and basques with a bustle attachment, too! How he would have sneered if he'd been alive then! How he would have got off his "Absurd! Immodest! Vulgar!" It's lucky for mother that she brought him into the world in just the right period to gain his respect. He's crowned himself.

Current Poetry

Little Bo-Peep

Little Bo-Peep
Has gone to sleep,
And left the world behind her;
Left mother alone,
With a heart of stone,
And a three-legged sheep to remind her—
That little Bo-Peep
Has gone to sleep,
And left the world behind her.

To little Bo-Peep,
Who has gone to sleep;
The world was play and laughter;
For little she knew,
As some of us do,
Of the pain and the tears that come after.

So why should we weep
For little Bo-Peep?
And mother's own grief should remind her,
That curly-haired tot
Is spared quite a lot;
And Some Day or Other she'll find her—
That little Bo-Peep,
Who went to sleep,
And left the world behind her.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Marco Polo Went Traveling All Over China.

"TELL us a travel story, daddy," begged the kiddies.

"I will tell you about the most wonderful boy traveler.

"He was born in Venice almost 150 years before Columbus discovered America, and Venice, you know, is the beautiful Italian city built on the sea that has canals instead of streets. His father and uncle were rich merchants who used to get all their beautiful things to sell from China. Sometimes they would be gone from home three or four years on these trips, and when Marco was seventeen, for that was the name of our traveling boy, they took him."

"What was his other name?" asked the kiddies.

"Polo—Marco Polo. When they got to their first long stop at Bokhara, which is the city of 'Arabian Nights' tales and the beautiful rugs we like best for our homes, they curiously enough met the agents of the great eastern emperor Kublai Khan. Now, this meeting was most important."

"Why was it?" asked Evelyn, who always wanted to know reasons.

"We shall see!" cried daddy. "Now, the three Polos were very attractive. They were rich, and they had beautiful Italian manners and wore very handsome clothes. They quite delighted the emperor's agents, who invited them to visit Kublai Khan. So on camel back, for there were no railroads 600 years ago, they journeyed through Persia, across the great Gobi desert, across Himalaya mountain chains, across the wide Yangtze river to the emperor's palace.

"What did he do for them?" the kiddies wanted to know.

"He invited them to make him a long visit and treated them so kindly they stayed. He had wonderful gardens full of interesting animals and rich rooms full of all sorts of strange beauty to show them. Then the emperor offered to pay Marco a great deal of money if he would stay and be a royal agent."

"Was he homesick?" asked Jack.

"No; he was a born traveler. So the two Polos went back to Venice and left Marco with the emperor, and for the next ten years he traveled north, south, east and west over the huge empire of China, with a big company of trained men to help him.

"At the end of ten years he returned to Venice to find his city at war with her neighbor, Genoa. His beautiful home was gone and most of his family, and the Genoese seized him and cast him into prison. Now, this cruel fate turned out to be the best thing for him and the world. It was the first time in ten years that Marco had time or quiet to write about his travels. Alone in prison, he wrote us the first story of a white man to explore China."

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

To Keep Color of Catsup—Put whole cloves and allspice into a new soap shaker; use as a spoon in stirring the catsup. In this way the flavor of the spices is gained without sacrificing the color of the catsup.

Cucumber Pickles—Take 250 pickles, size finger's length. Put in a big crock, add a large handful of salt and alum as large as a pea, then pour boiling water over them and cover. Get your jars good and hot. Put in lukewarm water and let them come to a boil, then take a damp cloth and wrap around them, and as soon as the water on the pickles is cool enough for the hand, pack them into the cans. While it is cooling, boil one-half gallon good cider vinegar, one cup cup sugar (scant), tablespoon black pepper and one tablespoon salt and pour it over your pickles and seal. Heat lids and rubbers and pack pickles as tight as possible. These stay nice and solid.

CANDIES.

Cherry Foam—Boil two cups granulated sugar and half cup water together without stirring, until the sirup threads from spoon. Add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla and pour slowly upon the whites of two eggs beaten until stiff enough to drop from a teaspoon on buttered paper. Before the candy cools, press half of a candied cherry into top of each. Roll in little balls and place on buttered paper.

USE UP YOUR GREASE.

Make Soap: Eight pounds grease, one can lye, twelve quarts water; boil three hours.

As it boils down, add water from time to time.

Add five ounces salt and let boil ten minutes, so as to separate the soap from water.

Let cool. When hard, cut.

DILL PICKLES.

For summer use: Take medium-sized cucumbers, wash and lay in layers. First a layer of grape leaves, then cucumbers, then dill; repeat until crock is full or as much as you have. Have grape leaves on top. Then pour over a very warm (not hot) brine of half boiled water and vinegar, with enough salt to float an egg. Weight pickles with a plate and stone. Keep in warm place for three or four days and they are ready for use.

For winter use: Pack fruit jars with small, clean cucumbers, scatter dill among them, then add a tablespoon of salt to every quart jar, fill with warm water, put on cap and set in sun; keep turning until all are yellow, then tighten cap and put away for winter.

THE TABLE

Cabbage and Noodles—Cut cabbage fine (not as fine as for slaw). Have a little lard in pan; when hot, add cabbage, salt and pepper and just a little water to keep from burning; cover and let steam. Make noodles, cut in little squares, boil in salt water, drain, add to cabbage when cabbage is cooked. Mix together. There should be no water on it when done.

Sweet Potato Puff—Place two cups finely mashed sweet potato in a sauce pan, add beaten yolks of two eggs, half cup sweet cream and one level teaspoon salt. Stir well and place over fire. Continue the stirring until mixture is thoroughly heated, then remove from fire and add stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Beat until light. Then heap in a conical loaf on a buttered baking dish, brush with white of egg or melted butter, brown in hot oven.

Huckleberries With Crackers and Cream—Pick over carefully one quart of berries and keep on ice until wanted. Put in each bowl, for each guest, two soda crackers, broken in not too small pieces; add a few tablespoons berries, teaspoon of powdered sugar and fill bowl with the richest of cold sweet cream. This is an old-fashioned New England breakfast dish. It also answers for a dessert.

Quick and Easy Chocolate Frosting—Melt one and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Cream one tablespoon butter; work in half cup powdered sugar; add two tablespoons cream or milk; beat in enough more powdered sugar to make a smooth paste. Beat this mixture into melted chocolate; flavor with vanilla.

CHAPTER XVIII.
A Wedding.

MR. MARTIN looked at Peale again. Ambrose's mission had succeeded in a way he did not suspect.

"Mr. Peale, I like you," said old Martin.

"Huh!" said Peale.

"Have a cigar?" asked Martin.

Ambrose took it, feeling better than he had felt for many days.

He wondered idly what that butler guy meant presently when he stuck his head in and announced to his master that he had telephoned that party, who was at his office now. He heard Martin mutter:

"Good, good. Peale, I've got to go out on an important soap deal. Oh, by George, I nearly forgot," he added. "There's another matter I must attend to first. Peale, you'll find the countess in there. Do the best you can. We'll settle the details when I get back. Make yourself at home."

"Sure. This cigar's great company," said Peale. He strutted up and down cockily on the thick rug. He must attend to the countess, he remembered and no fooling. So he went over to the door behind which she was hiding and threw it open with a flourish of fake French.

"Countess de Bull Run," he rattled on. "De jule—de joie—politern noblesse oblige."

"You ought to take up French, Ambrose," she said sweetly. "Your accent's immense. Well, little sweetheart"—

"Say, what are you doing in these parts?" Peale interrupted her.

"Oh, I came to see Mr. Martin," she said lightly.

"What for?"

"What do you think?"

"See here now, if you're aiming to trim the old man I won't stand for it," protested Ambrose.

"Ambrose, do me another favor," the countess begged.

"What is it?"

"Don't tell old Martin what I tried to do to you boys. He's the kind that would put me in jail. I'll be on the level. I did come here to try to trim him, but I'll cut it out. Honest I will. Oh, Ambrose, I don't like being a grafter."

"Nix, nix," said Peale. "He left me here to settle it. Where is the contract? Come on. Gimme—gimme"—

"You mean you've been on all the time?" cried the countess.

"Sure."

"And you let me sit there a-moultin' all over the place again?"

"Gimme—gimme"—

"Oh, I suppose I've got to. Oh, I'm sick of soap anyhow. Thirteen may be lucky for you boys, but it has been a hoodoo for me."

She handed over the contract to him gracefully enough.

"And now, my little hearts of lettuce," Peale chanted, "this concludes your portion of the evening's entertainment."

"You are an 18 carat kid," said the countess. "Ta, ta," she added. "Ring me up some day."

"So long," said Ambrose. "Be good."

And so he assisted at the dismissal of one of Mr. Martin's callers that afternoon. Of the first, of Mr. Bronson of Chicago and his 50,000 cakes, he had not yet heard. Perhaps this was just as well. The mood of Ambrose this Saturday afternoon had grown far too genial anyway.

Into the middle of this mood, just as he was showing the countess to the door, with no intervention by the faithful Johnson, burst Mary, followed by Rodney in a tearing hurry. They stopped abruptly when they saw Ambrose.

"Oh, have you seen father?" Rodney asked. "Is he here?"

"I'm waiting for him now," Peale answered.

"It's most important," said Mary breathlessly.

"You remember the countess," Peale put in cautiously.

They all bowed, embarrassed, and there was an awkward pause, which the countess broke.

"Well, I guess I'm not wanted," she said perspicaciously, looking shrewdly at the trio, "so I'll trot, I'll trot. So long, you 13 soapsuds."

Alas for the inequalities of this world! If for Ambrose Peale these last days had been blue, for Rodney and Mary they had been all the color of roses.

Much history had passed over their heads as well as the company's in the hours leading up to their visit to Mr. Martin's library, and their foregathering there with Ambrose and the countess. The order from Brown & James had begun it, and that was really the soap king's fault, since he had waved his monopolistic wand and caused the false order to spring up out of the ground, and Mary's $5,000 contribution to the soap company's capital had developed it, which may also be said to have been the fault of the old m g-nate.

The Brown & James order was especially to blame, however, because it had made the future look assured and rosy and encouraging, so that together they had taken the plunge. In the illuminated moments which followed the 50,000 flash Mary's reluctance had disappeared, Rodney's ardor had redoubled, and in the reaction of a lovers' quarrel and a "grand makeup," as Mary said, they had gone off to the Little Church Around the Corner and been married. That was the whole story. Really and truly it was all old Mr. Martin's fault and prearranged by him from the beginning, as Mary told herself again and again, defending herself against Rodney's father's possible wrath when the news of his son's marriage to a typewriter should be broken gently to him.

The quarrel came, as quarrels and April showers are apt to do, out of a clear and serene sky. In the general jubilation over Brown & James Rodney had remarked, escorting Mary uptown at night, that now the first thing he was going to do with his share of the profits was to pay her back that $5,000.

"And then," he added sententiously, "there won't be anything between us any more."

Something in the tone of his voice, quite unintentional on the boy's part, no doubt, had piqued Mary.

"You've always fussed about that," she said.

Something in the way she said the word fussed piqued Rodney.

"And don't you think it's been something to fuss about?" he demanded. "When a fellow's best girl, his fiancee, takes money from a rich old man, and then the fellow lets her lose it all in his business—well, I don't see why you can't see that the situation's pretty raw."

"Why do you say lost? I hope you don't think it's really lost," retorted Mary. "Don't be such a gloomy Gus."

"Well, you know what I mean," persisted Rodney. "It was darned near lost. And that shows you do care about it anyway."

"Why shouldn't I care about it?" said Mary. "Indeed I think $5,000 is a good deal of money."

"I think it's a whole lot of money," said Rodney, "and you must excuse me if I can't help wondering how a girl in your position was able to get hold of it."

"A girl in my position," echoed Mary scornfully. "That's right. Rub it in. I'm really ashamed of you, Rodney Martin. And you know perfectly well I wasn't born a typewriter."

There Was a "Grand Makeup."

"Mary," he said, trying to be perfectly calm and persuasive, "tell me now. You know we shall be happier."

"I don't know it at all," said Mary obstinately.

"Mary, please," he said, trying to take her hand.

"No," said Mary. "I don't believe you'd like me if you knew."

"Please," persisted Rodney.

The long, uniform rows of New York house fronts stretched away on either side of them in the obscurity. A red light twinkled in one bay window, and beneath the shade could be seen the rows of books in a library. Near the curb opposite an extraordinarily silent limousine had just drawn up, with a little swish of its rubber tires as it came to rest, and presently a man and a woman in joyous evening raiment came out of the house and got into it.

The woman wore a perfectly gorgeous opera cloak, and combs flashed in her beautifully arranged hair. The man's linen was very white and his silk hat very shiny. The chauffeur had switched on the light inside the car, and the occupants showed a moment brilliantly in the jewel box of its interior before the light went out and the car moved off again, west and south, to the haunts of pleasure, as Ambrose Peale would have said. A throb and a sob came into Mary's voice as she saw it all, and she answered again:

"You might hate me. And I'm taking you away from all that, which was yours by right."

"Come in a moment," said Rodney gently and kindly.

They climbed the stairs together, and a West Indian "butler" let them in. Rodney drew Mary into a hideous little reception room on the ground floor, took both the girl's hands in his and looked earnestly into her lovely eyes.

"You're the finest girl in the world, Mary," he said, "and nothing could ever turn me against you."

In the ill lighted, ill ventilated little parlor, illuminated for them with love's thousand eyes, the truth came out. Mary told the whole story from the beginning, not without some humor and not without some satisfaction at certain portions of it, it must be confessed; told of old Mr. Martin's fretting about Ellery Clark, of the bet with Ellery's father, of her share in the deception and of her reward in money.

"What do I care if you really love me," protested Rodney. "Mary, now you must marry me."

That was a Thursday, and by Friday night they were married, so that they could have two days of honeymoon, anyway, before Monday, Rodney said. It was all very quietly arranged in the little church.

So much for those who talk about telepathy. Late Saturday forenoon, when they sneaked down to the office, just to be sure that everything was all right, certainly no one guessed what momentous change had come into their lives; no one divined the ecstasy that thrilled unseen beneath their everyday demeanor.

Of course old Mr. Martin's obduracy had been a blow, but Rodney was game throughout and gloriously happy. He felt every inch a man now and dared to cope with every difficulty.

"Shall we tell the old gentleman?" he asked Mary, meaning of course the fact of their being married.

"No, indeed, not yet," said Mary, blushing ever so little. "Just let me wait for the psychological moment."

SMART DRESS FOR WINTER WEAR.

No. 9080.

The styles for this winter have now become settled, and the woman who makes her own clothes would do well to select winter frocks now. A charming one-piece winter dress, easy to make and attractive in its Puritanic simplicity of line, is Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9080, shown above. This consists of a dart-fitted bodice with an attractive inset chemisette, standing collar, with square jabot, and smart-looking are the full-length, bell-shaped sleeves. The two-piece gathered skirt is perforated for a deep hem facing. Pattern cuts in sizes 32 to 42 bust measure, size 36 requiring 3¾ yards 36-inch material, with 2⅞ yards 36-inch contrasting material for cuffs and upper part of skirt.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Co.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

A big variety bill is scheduled to open at Proctor's Theatre on Monday, and will continue for three days, when vaudeville and feature photo-plays will continue in force. The bookings contain a number of interesting acts, and an enjoyable two and one-half hours are promised to those attending the shows at Plainfield's popular house.

The Kawa troupe of wonderful Japanese acrobats are listed among the acts to start Monday, and not a few startling stunts "put across" alone by Japs are promised. This clever act is bound to please the most critical. Not the least among the interesting events of the vaudeville week is the appearance of the Parshleys, America's foremost instrumentalists, who give a most credible entertainment, and are pleasing in every respect.

Bobby Heath and Ruby Raymond, comedians de lux, are also scheduled to appear in "Nifty Nonsense," at which time something new and original is promised.

"He's Just Gone Out," the farce comedy with thrills, is to be presented by David S. Hall and Company. Something new, something startling. Cook and Sylvia, singers and dancers, and Joe Lanigan, the "Adonis of Vaudeville," will complete the vaudeville program.

Feature photo-plays will continue to have their part in the programs at the Proctor house. The pictures are changed daily. Pathe's current events in picture form are shown daily here, and prove to be of more than passing interest.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Dear Mother: Shut up the edible fowls, so you can catch one for Sunday dinner. By the time you get back from church the doctor's auto will be in the driveway. Mrs. Dunn is visiting Olive and they have sort of run out of ways to entertain her. Olive of course wants her to have a good time, and she seems bent on being doleful. I suggested their taking us out to see you, unselfishly just to help out you see, and they snapped up the bait at once.

"We must come home Sunday night but as it is moonlight we can start late. Good-bye.

"YOUR DICK."

Sunday was warm and delightful and the roads were fine, but they got a rather late start, the doctor being detained on a case. Scarcely had they left the village when a tire blew out. A rug was spread on the grass for Mrs. Dunn but she refused to sit down as she was sure the grass was full of insects. As she paced up and down the road several teams passed and the faint sound of church bells was wafted on the still autumn air.

"This is a poor way to spend the Sabbath. If we had gone to church we could have ridden far enough in the afternoon. I do not believe in Sunday visiting anyway," Mrs. Dunn remarked at last.

"Not in visiting your relatives?" asked Nell.

"Oh, there is no harm in it if it does not interfere with worship," she replied.

"You went to church last Sunday, mother. We thought you would enjoy going to this lovely farm," Olive sighed as she looked at her.

"Co[illegible] is not a thing you can do once and have done with it for a month or a year," said Mrs. Dunn solemnly. "It should become a habit in youth."

"I agree with you perfectly, mother, but Mrs. Morton is expecting us today for dinner, and that made church out of the question for this time. If you had said you preferred not to go on Sunday, of course we could have made other arrangements."

"Oh, I don't want my being here to make any difference in your plans, Olive. Anything suits me." Her face wore a funereal gloom.

Finally they got under way and the glorious sunlight and autumn coloring seemed to revive her drooping spirits. It was nearly two o'clock when they spied old Mr. Morton standing at the end of the lane peering up the road. He waved his hat in joyous welcome and little Hal stretched out his arms and called out, "Gampa," and sprang into the old man's arms when they slowed up.

"I hope the dinner isn't all spoiled; it's been waiting for an hour." Mrs. Morton bustled about the kitchen and Nell ran out to help get it on the table.

"I wish something would elevate that woman's spirits," whispered Nell in the old lady's ear.

"Humph!" snorted the old lady; "perhaps the smell of food will revive her."

It did seem to for a time, but the drooping corners of her mouth showed that all cheer was to be short lived.

"Have you buried them all?" asked Mrs. Morton as they walked together under the apple trees sampling the fruit.

"Buried who?" asked Mrs. Dunn.

"Your friends. You look as mournful as if you had just returned from the funeral," replied the old lady.

"You surely don't believe in levity on the Sabbath day. I confess my conscience hurts me for spending the day in vain pleasure."

"I don't believe you've had enough to hurt you. Some folks seem to think the Lord delights in a sour visage. I'm a church-goer myself and I don't allow pleasuring to keep me at home but I sometimes think I've laid too much stress on church. I'm coming to think just being glad is a kind of worship."

Mrs. Dunn looked unutterably shocked. She felt that Mrs. Morton's words were a visitation on her for breaking the Sabbath.

An Appeal to Americans

BY

The Commission for Relief In Belgium

Sole Clearing House for all Belguim Relief

We, as Americans, are enlisted for the war to save seven million men, women and children. It is the greatest commissary undertaking in the history of the world, and in the lexicon of America there is no such word as fail.

We Need Food Supplies as Well as Cash

Railroads, express companies, postoffices, governors and state committees are aiding. Our Flotilla of Mercy, comprising thirty-five chartered ships, is constantly carrying food. But—Our Supplies Are Far too Short!

Are You Helping? If Not, Send in Your Name Now!

THE ALLIES.

The allied forces of this agency are STABILITY, FAIR and PROMPT dealings and nothing has ever yet stood in the way of their giving satisfactory results.

On the other hand, none of those allies, separately or in pairs, can give the results which are obtainable from the coalition of all three.

What is more to the point, they cannot be approached separately in this company—none will act without the others.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

REPORT SHORTAGE OF FREIGHT CARS

New Factor in Handling Building Materials is Felt by Manufacturers.

PRICES ARE ADVANCED

Steel Mills Begin to Feel the Tenseness Following Another Slight Upward Movement in Quotations—Big Demand for Supplies.

New York, Oct. 2.—Following the high pressure at building material mills there came a new factor into the market this week in the form of increasing shortage of cars in which to haul freight to this part of the country. Steel mills began to feel this tenseness this week, and immediately another slight upward movement in prices was announced. This was immediately reflected in the purchase by the Reading of twenty locomotives, an order by the Baltimore & Ohio for more freight cars, and the Pennsylvania Railroad was reported to be in the market for extra rolling stock.

Steel mills are beginning to ask $1.40 Pittsburgh for the last quarter, but some tonnage is being placed at $1.35. Portland cement is holding more rigidly than ever to the 90c. mill level, especially since it is becoming increasingly difficult to get cars suitable for hauling this material out of the Lehigh Valley. Crushed stone is reported stiff at 85 and 95 cents. Common brick is gradually getting up to the $6 level after a slight weakness early this week. Window glass discounts have tightened in some lines, although plate glass continues to hold in a rather easy market, with little new business in sight as far as New York is concerned.

Copper, which has been one of the stiffest factors in the building material market, has dropped down to 23 cents base from 29 and 30 cents, and brass tubing has reached the 31 cent level. There was a sharp improvement in the call for heavy shoring timber this week, probably due to adjustments in the subway. Suburban call for reinforcement material was exceptionally heavy. Fireproofing material is firmer and lime is having its best market for the year, owing to heavy calls from the suburbs. This, however, is more generally attributed to agrcultural requirements than to building needs.

Reports covering the movement of Portland cement from the Lehigh Valley district during September have not yet been made up, but judging from the movement of freight cars in and out of the district, and those unloading in Communipaw and other parts of Jersey City, the shipments will compare very favorably with those for August with a slightly decreased reserve. If this report is later substantiated by full returns from all the mills, it will mean a still closer adherence to the 90 cent mill level, and possibly a five cent advance. Asked about a possible price war this winter, a prominent official said:

"Any dealer who is holding off his fall purchases with the idea of benefitting from price-cutting possibilities, is sadly misguided. Nobody can stand another session of price slashing. We've sold too much cement at low prices already. Our aim is to try to recover what we've lost. Winter is coming on with its inevitable shut downs, and we cannot seem to get ahead very far with reserve supply. If this building movement continues, and the call for European cement keeps up, and the railroads and Boards of Works keep calling for material for road work, we will not be able to close up even for the customary repairs. Money is freer now, and there is every reason in the world why there should be a big demand for cement. Did you ever hear of price cutting when there is a big demand? Isn't it less likely that there will be price cutting then, when mill supplies are low and demand improving?"

Disturbances in the Northwest flaxseed market resulted this week in a sharp advance in the price of linseed oil from 56 to 58 and 59 cents a gallon. There was little buying at this level, however, consumers preferring evidently to await future developments.

Hardwood interests here are considerably concerned over the outlook for supply this winter in case the building movement should develop greater demand. Mantel manufacturers have been aggressively in the market to get enough material to insure keeping up with demand, especially since the fall building movement will probably be exceptionally heavy in the West and South. Sharp advances are expected to occur after the first of the year and advisory letters sent out to the trade this week recommended early purchases.

Estimates made for national construction based upon 77 prominent cities for September show a gain of 6.3 per cent. over August, which showed a gain of 13.7 per cent. for 132 cities over the best previous month since August, 1912. New York showed approximately 1,129 new building plans filed in September over 1,004 in August, with values about even, namely $11,854,578 for September and $11,877,743 for August. These early returns are sufficient to indicate the trend of construction work throughout this section of the country, and gives some intimation of what the probable trend of prices will be in the near future. Architects and contractors figuring on future construction work should leave ample allowances for increased prices.

WILL ADD EXTRA ROOMS TO SCHOOL

Improvements Are Planned by New Providence and Summit School Boards.

Alwyn Pierson, of the firm of John N. Pierson & Son, of Perth Amboy, architects for the new Harrison School in North Plainfield, submitted plans to the Board of Education of New Providence this week for the addition of four rooms to the Lincoln School there. The Board has also received plans from Benjamin V. White, of Summit, these two being the only architects who were invited to submit drawings.

No action has been taken regarding either of the sets of plans. The Pierson addition, the architect estimates, would cost $16,500. Mr. White submitted no figures, although at a previous meeting it was thought that it would require $18,000 to carry out his plans.

The Board has available only $18,000 for the addition, the heating plant, remodeling of the Lincoln School, architects' fees and the purchase of furniture and equipment.

Mr. White's plans call for an addition of four rooms directly in front of the present building, while Mr. Pierson would put two rooms on each side of the present building, lengthening the present corridor at either end and providing for the future addition of four more rooms, two each to the front of the proposed new wings.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN BUYS IN SOUTH RIVER

Michael Jelin, a New Brunswick realty operator, is about to develop a South River tract. He has bought the Mrs. Annie M. Clark farm at Tanner's Corners, in South River. The farm contains 160 acres.

The new owner will at once begin developing the tract, dividing it into building lots for quick sales. Mr. Jelin has achieved considerable prominence in New Brunswick as a real estate operator, several sections of that city having been developed by him with a consequent rise in property values. He says he is convinced that South River has a big future before it, which led him to invest in property there.

HARRISON SCHOOL WILL BE READY NEXT WEEK

While work on the Harrison School has progressed at a rapid rate this week, the idea of opening the building for the reception of pupils on Monday has been abandoned. The building is not in any shape to be used for school purposes, and will not be for at least another week. Even after the mechanics are through there will be the desks to set and other furniture to put in position, which will require time.

As for the Somerset School, there is no need for hurry there, as the work on the improvements underway does not interfere at all with the classes. It is likely that it will be a month before these improvements are all completed.

SOLD AT SHERIFF SALE.

Twenty-five lots at Rockview Height, in Piscataway township, involved in the case of Alexander Lusardi against Alwilda De Hart et al., were sold at sheriff sale this week to Lusardi, the complainant, for $100. The decree and costs amounted to $584.39.

Other property in Main street, Piscataway, involved in the action of the Security Trust Company against the Peerless Match Company et al, was sold to Thomas L. Hughes, of 121 Broadway, New York city, for $15,000. The amount of the decree and costs was $267,300.23. The property included a match factory, machinery, warehouses, etc.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR COLONIAL DWELLING

George B. Yerkes to Build Handsome Home on Central Avenue.

Work will be started early next week on a handsome new house which George B. Yerkes is about to erect on Central avenue, near Elizabeth street, from plans prepared by Architect Charles H. Smith.

The house will stand on a plot 175 feet by 365 feet in depth, and the architect has planned an imposing dwelling of the Colonial type of architecture, which will show up to good advantage on the large plot. The dimensions of the house will be about 68 feet by 40.

A feature of the structure will be the living room at the south end of the house. This will be a room 23x30 feet in size, with windows on all three sides. There will be a huge open fireplace in one end, and beamed ceilings.

The entrance hall, in the middle will be of ample proportions, measuring 15 feet in width. The north end of the house will be taken up by the dining room. Back of this will be the butler's pantry, kitchen, refrigerator room, etc.

The room directly over the living room will be the master's chamber. This will be 21x23 feet in dimensions, and will have a private bath and a dressing room opening out of it. An open fireplace will be a feature. There will be three more chambers on that floor and two more baths, one a public bath, having an entrance from the second story hall, the other being private.

The third floor will contain two sleeping rooms, a bath, a trunk room, a cedar room and a large attic.

The house will be of frame construction and will cost about $15,000. Howard Huff is the contracting mason and Fred Schuck the contracting carpenter. It is expected that the house will be finished by spring.

NEW STORAGE BINS AT SO. PLAINFIELD

Extensive Improvements Are Planned by the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co.

The huge storage coal bins of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at Perth Amboy have been torn down to be replaced by new storage bins at South Plainfield.

Used by the railroad and individual shippers for more than thirty years, these large bins at Perth Amboy were a familiar sight. Coal was stored in them upon its arrival in Perth Amboy, so that the cars could be returned to the mines at once, to be refilled.

Work was given to about 180 men, loading and unloading the cars. A few years ago this plan of work was abandoned becase it was found cheaper to store coal in large piles than to maintain the bins and operate them. A force of more than twenty carpenters was continually busy repairing the bins as long as they were used.

The demolition of the bins will furnish the railroad with planks and timbers for repair work for years to come. The timbers are chestnut, spruce and oak, averaging twelve inches in diameter. The planks, of yellow pine, are four inches thick. A sawmill in operation on the grounds has trimmed and cut the lumber ready for use in repair work.

The work of tearing down the bins has taken about six months. The original cost of the bins was $325,000.

ADVERTISING NEW MARKET.

A full page announcement entitled, "Developing New Market, N. J.," appears in the new edition of the general time table folder issued by the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It is a description of the new plant of the Baryta Manufacturing Company, which manufactures barium products. The plant was located at New Market after consultation with the industrial department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

TWO BOROUGH PERMITS.

Harry Saddler, of 57 Washington avenue, was granted a permit at the meeting of the Borough Council last night for the erection of a garage at the rear of his residence.

A permit was also granted former Mayor William L. Saunders to make alterations to his Rockview avenue residence. The alterations will include the addition of two bathrooms on the second floor and a den.

FIVE PERMITS ARE ISSUED THIS WEEK

Comprising Two Dwellings, a Garage and Two Alteration Jobs.

Five permits, aggregating an estimated cost of $8,220, were filed with the Department of Buildings this week. The applications include two dwellings, one garage and two alteration jobs. The permits by wards follow:

First Ward.

Mrs. Isabelle Fritz, of 32 Bemont avenue, Belleville, will erect a single dwelling on Emerson avenue, 300 feet north of George street. The building will be of frame construction, two and one-half stories high, 24x32 feet in dimensions, and will cost $4,000. Herman Fritz is named as the architect; Antony Cripe, the mason, and A. H. Fritz, the carpenter.

Second Ward.

A hollow tile and stucco garage to house the automobiles owned by tenants of the Crescent Court Apartment House will be erected in the rear of that building by the Crescent Realty Company. The building will be 20 feet wide and 65 feet, 6 inches long, and will contain separate rooms for six cars. It will be one story high and will face on East Sixth street. It will be heated from the main building through pipes running underground. The estimated cost is $1,000. W. H. Dennick is the mason contractor and W. D. Lewis Company the carpenters.

Alterations to cost about $1,000 are to be made to the garage belonging to M. S. Ackerman, 131 Crescent avenue. The building will be enlarged by an addition 15x21 feet in dimensions. Living quarters will be provided above. Marsh & Gette are the architects; B. F. Tallamy & Brother are the masons, and Wyman & Haberle are the carpenters.

Mrs. Lewis J. Geary, of 1226 Denmark road, will add a rear extension to her home at that address to cost $400. The extension will be 6x13 feet in dimensions. E. S. Child is the architect; W. H. Dennick, the mason, and Charles L. MacDonald, the carpenter.

Third Ward.

At an estimated cost of $1,820 Mrs. Emily Twining will erect a one and one-half story dwelling on West Third street, near Clinton avenue. The structure will measure 26x14x23 feet. F. L. Lancaster is the architect; W. J. Clawson is the mason contractor, and the Apgar Construction Company, of Dunellen, the carpenter contracting firm.

ADDITIONAL RENTALS REPUTED BY AGENCIES

A few more of the recent rentals of Plainfield properties are as follows:

P. Frank Stone has rented his house on Park place, in the Netherwood section, to Maurice Houghton, of the New York Tribune editorial staff.

The F. A. Martin house, on Spooner avenue, has been taken by George W. Fraker, president of the Carolina Cotton and Woolen Mills, of Spray, North Carolina, who will make Plainfield his home.

John Tenney, Jr., president of the Howe Rubber Company in New Brunswick, has rented the Clifford D. Manning property at 951 Park avenue.

A. W. Kleinecke's house at 1406 Watchung avenue has been leased by Edward Sherer, treasurer of the Third Avenue Savings Bank in Manhattan. Another house in that section of the city, which has just been rented, is that of Miss Grace E. Mitchell, 1345 Watchung avenue, which has been leased by Harry E. White, a member of the New York Produce Exchange.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS.

Union County.

The following property transfers have been filed in the office of the county clerk at Elizabeth:

Alexander Kenneth et ux. to George J. Klupfel et ux., northwesterly side East Second street, 86 feet northeasterly J. D. Loizeaux, Plainfield, $1.

Central Park Realty Co. to Nathan E. Lewis, lots 125, 126, 127, map of Central Park, Plainfield, $1,000.

Middlesex County.

Equator Building and Development Co., to Mary Klasko, 2 lots at Lincoln.

Kline Realty and Improvement Co. to Cornelius G. Bach, lot at Rahway Estates.

Theodore F. Clark and wife, to Donate Checchia, 3.7 acre tract in Piscataway township.

Merchants and Traders Realty Co., to George Parks, property in Piscataway township.

RAILROAD MAN BUYS HOME.

William T. Grier, an official of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, has purchased the residential property of Mrs. Philip B. MacIntyre, 816 West Seventh street, near Grant avenue, and will make Plainfield his future home. This property was formerly a part of the L. L. Manning estate.

STOKES TO LIVE HERE.

Howard K. Stokes, of New York, former Governor Edward C. Stokes brother, has leased the property at 945 Central avenue and will make Plainfield his future home. Mr. Stokes formerly resided in Metuchen.

POLITICAL NOTES

October 2—County committees meet for reorganization.

October 4—City committees meet for reorganization.

October 5—Republican and Democratic State conventions held in Trenton.

October 19—State referendum election, and third registration day in municipalities of more than 5,000 people.

October 26—Third and final registration day in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

November 2—General Election Day.

Republican leaders, who have taken the time to analyze the county primary vote, are satisfied that the Assembly ticket will not have hard sledding on Election Day. While the vote was regarded by many as being exceedingly light, a comparison with the vote of 1913 showed that this was not the case. Tuesday's vote in Union county was considerably heavier than two years ago, when a more important primary election was held. The figures for the county also prove that the Republican party is stronger and more united than it has been at any time since the Wilson sweep of 1910, and that the Bull Moose vote has reached the negligible state. Less than 200 ballots were cast for the Progressive Assembly ticket on Tuesday.

Although the organization candidates won in the Republican primaries in Newark Tuesday, Mayor Raymond's loyalty to his party is unshaken. When the result showed the triumph of the Dalrymple faction the Mayor, while disappointed, pointed out that the combined vote of the "Anti-Dal" Republicans and the "No Boss League" exceeded that of the victors. "I have no comment to make," said the Mayor. "I am and always have been an organization Republican, and I propose to remain such. This means that I am going to support the ticket nominated by the Republicans in the primary." County Counsel Alfred N. Dalrymple commenting on his success, said: "This is a victory for party organization. As such it is a notable victory for the Republican party."

Anti-Wittpennites in Hudson county have started to get on the band wagon, most all the leaders issuing statements promising to support the Wittpenn ticket selected at Tuesday's primaries. Among those who so accept the result are Sheriff Eugene F. Kinkead, Surrogate John P. Egan, County Register John J. McMahon and City Commissioners Henry Byrne and Frank Hague.

With Sheriff Kinkead setting the example, the Democratic officeholders are resorting to fisticuffs in the settlement of their daily problems. Mayor Patrick Griffin, of Hoboken, twice engaged in a punching match with William O'Neill, tax assessor of the city. The first fight occurred in Duke's House, several blows being struck before the officials were parted. Subsequently, Griffin asked for the resignation of the tax commissioner and also that of the latter's uncle, Robert Sauer, a park-keeper. An hour later the pair met in the street and began fighting again. They were separated by people in the crowd that was attracted. Political differences are ascribed as the cause of the disagreement, Griffin being a Wittpenn man and O'Neill a follower of Kinkead.

United States Senator James E. Martine failed to vote at the primaries on Tuesday, remaining in Washington to play host to the G. A. R. The Senator went to the Capital on Monday and ever since has been busy entertaining the veterans from New Jersey. A despatch from Washington says he apologized for missing the primaries, as follows: "Yes, sir, it's the first time in forty-five years that I have missed an election—f-o-r-t-y-fi-v-e-y-e-a-r-s. But, however much I regret it, I could not miss this opportunity of assisting to entertain all my old friends of the Grand Army of the Republic. It's an inspiring occasion, and I hope we will all profit by it."

As the result of the primaries Tuesday, County Counsel Alfred N. Dalrymple will retain control of the Essex County Republican Committee, which will reorganize today. The re-election of County Chairman Herbert W. Taylor is assured. Indications are that the regulars will number about 260 out of the authorized membership of 319. The anti-Dalrymple element will probably total about fifty, of which thirty-three are from Newark.

As a result of the primaries Tuesday the present control by James R. Nugent in Essex will be continued, and it is likely that James D. Moriarty, the present county chairman, will be chosen again today to preside at the meetings of the committee.

LEON JAFFRESS CASE LOST TO THIS STATE

New York Adjudication in Matter of Bankrupt Leaves Attorneys in Lurch.

Leon Jaffress, of New York, a large manufacturer of made-over automobile tires, with a plant on North avenue, this city, and a store in Harrison, against whom two petitions in bankruptcy were filed last week, consented to an adjudication in bankruptcy in the Southern District of New York yesterday and thereby hangs a tale of disappointment for some New Jersey attorneys.

Louis G. Beekman, of Jersey City, was appointed receiver for Jaffress by Judge Thomas G. Haight on the petition filed by New York interests, and Jacob L. Newman, of Newark, was appointed receiver a few hours later by Judge Rellstab, on a petition filed at Trenton.

Those looking for the receivership and the receivership's attorneyship had a preliminary squabble before Judge Haight last Monday in the Newark branch of the United States District Court over the duplicate appointments. David H. Bilder was interested in the retention of Mr. Newman and David Bobker, who appeared as New Jersey representatives for Benjamin Greller, of New York, attorney for petitioning creditors, urged the retention of Mr. Beekman. Judge Haight decided to leave Mr. Beekman as receiver and select Mr. Newman as his attorney.

Under the new federal rules a receiver has no right to employ an attorney except upon application to a referee or judge, where he can show that the case in point requires litigation.

At any rate the result of Monday's hearing before Judge Haight was not satisfactory to Mr. Greller, who was the original attorney for creditors in the Jaffress case. Yesterday a meeting of creditors was held in his office, and Mr. Newman, Mr. Bilder and Mr. Bobker were there. Mr. Beekman is in Detroit or Cleveland, hunting some alleged assets of the bankrupt in those cities.

Mr. Greller announced that he had obtained from Jaffress a consent to an adjudication in bankruptcy in the New York district, and the matter was referred to a New York referee. The New York attorney took Mr. Bilder to task for his activities in the case, and before the meeting was over the creditors adopted a resolution favoring an administration of the Jaffress estate in the New York district.

As no adjudication has been entered as yet on the petition filed in this district the proceedings in New York will take precedence. A trustee will be elected within ten days to succeed Mr. Beekman as receiver.

Jaffress and others were served with subpoenas at the meeting to appear in Jersey City next Friday at a special examination to be conducted by Mr. Newman as the receiver's attorney. Mr. Greller, however, told those served that the subpoenas could not be legally served in New York called for their appearance in New Jersey and advised them not to attend the examination.

Jaffress has debts amounting to upward $30,000 and unliquidated assets worth nearly that amount.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Mr. Anderson's letter to Mr. Hammond upon his success in Tuesday's primaries has the right ring. Writing as one who stood for local option he expresses the belief that Republicans should stand by the candidate nominated by a majority of their party, which is the only party from which the local optionists can eventually expect to get any permanent results in the State. The history of the past shows that this is true, and Mr. Anderson, in thus submitting gracefully to the vote of his party in the primary, while not yielding his convictions for the principle for which he stood, is taking a stand which will strengthen him and his cause.—Unionist-Gazette.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the executive Board of the Newark Conference, Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be held Monday morning at 10:30, in the Central M. E. church, Newark. There are many matters to be discussed and plans to be made for the season's work.

RALLY DAY SERVICES.

Rally day for the entire church is planned for tomorrow at the Park Avenue Baptist church. New members will be received and the choir will furnish special music morning and evening. The church will be beautifully decorated with fruits and vegetables.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR FIRST VESPER SERVICE

The first vesper service of the season at the Young Women's Christian Association will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. All girls and women are cordially invited to attend this meeting, which promises to be most interesting. Miss Mary C. Murdock, Dr. Agnes Murdock and Miss Margaret Murdock, three sisters, who have returned from the foreign field, will speak briefly on woman's work in Hyai Yuan, Central China.

Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead, president of the association, will preside, and the soloist will be Miss Leontine de Ahna, of the First Baptist church choir.

CHRISTIAN FIELD

Services at Trinity Reformed church tomorrow will be as follows: 9:45, Bible school in all departments; 11 o'clock, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered and new members received. In the evening at 7:45, Dr. Paul W. Harrison, the church missionary, will make the address.

Services in St. Joseph's church tomorrow morning will be at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.

The subject of Rev. Mr. Baltzly's sermon at All Souls' church tomorrow morning will be "On Being Called Christians."

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal church invites all young people who would be interested to hear a talk by its missionary chairman, Miss Elizabeth M. Webber, in Vincent chapel, at 7 o'clock, tomorrow night. Her subject will be "A Life of Service."

DEATH SUMMONS J. W. JOHNSON

Pioneer Silverware Merchant Passes Away at His Home Here.

WAS ILL SHORT TIME

Commuted to New York for Over Fifty Years—Formerly President of First National Bank and Owned Many Fine Trotting Horses.

J. Wesley Johnson, aged 71 years, one of the best known citizens of Plainfield, and a pioneer in the silverware business, died at his home, 720 Watchung avenue, yesterday after a three months' illness with arterio-sclerosis. Prior to that time he enjoyed excellent health and followed his usual custom of commuting to New York every day.

Mr. Johnson was born in Middlesex county, near Plainfield, his parents being Mr. and Mrs. John Stoutenboro Johnson, who were among the early settlers in that section. After spending his boyhood days here, where he received a common school education, he engaged in the silverware business in John street, New York, later removing to Maiden Lane. For over fifty years he was engaged in this business which is still in existence. He was considered one of the oldest silverware merchants in New York and was widely known in the trade.

Mr. Johnson was also a lover of fine horses and for a number of years owned an extensive stock farm located where the Woodbrook Farm is at present. At that time he bred a number of trotters which afterward became famous on various tracks and at county fairs. Among the best known horses owned by Mr. Johnson were Sciola, a trotter; Young Stamboul, a stock horse whose father broke the world's record on the track, and Woven Wind. At one time he owned a large and choice herd of Jersey cattle, well-known throughout this section.

The property known as the Driving Park, where the old Middlesex county fairs used to be held, and which has since been cut up into building lots, was owned by Mr. Johnson for several years. This property was located on Park avenue, where Thomas Brantingham's hotel is now situated.

In the early days Mr. Johnson was one of the originators of the Riding Club, which used to meet at the old rink building on Watchung avenue. He was one of Plainfield's oldest commuters and one of the originators of the popular club cars which are now operated on the commuter trains. For several years he was president of the First National Bank and was also identified with the Park Avenue Baptist church, where he served as a trustee. He possessed a genial disposition and had a faculty for making friends.

There survives a wife, who was Miss Sarah Corlell, whose family was one of the earliest in this section of the State; two sons, Harry F. Johnson and Herbert Gardner Johnson; also two brothers, Peter C. Johnson, of Plainfield avenue, and Alfred Johnson, of Staten Island. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

CLAIMED WOMAN OWED HIM MONEY AND KEPT CHANGE

On a complaint lodged against him by Mrs. May Staats, of 205 West Fourth street, Chris Collis, a clerk at a West Front street fruit stand, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and after hearing the evidence on both sides of the case the magistrate dismissed the charge.

Mrs. Staats claimed that Collis had refused to give her the change remaining from a dollar bill after she had purchased a bunch of soup-greens for a few cents and consequently had him arrested. Collis showed bills in court to prove that Mrs. Staats owed him $1.15 and the court accordingly dismissed the complaint. The defendant claimed that the woman had owed him the money since last May.

NUTLEY DRIVER ARRESTED.

Charged with driving his machine recklessly yesterday, George Bidwell, of 83 Rutan street, Nutley, was arrested here yesterday and furnished $10 bail for his appearance before Judge DeMeza in the city court tomorrow morning.

FIGHTERS IN TROUBLE.

John Canary, of 346 Manson place, and Goldson Young, of 414 West Third street, were arrested Saturday night charged with fighting and acting disorderly. Their case has been set down for next Monday morning.

PREFERS RIDING AUTO TO IT RIDING HIM

Even Hot Radiator Does Not Detract From Pleasure of Short Trip.

Somerville, Oct. 4.—Ollie Crowman, of this city, is not foolish about riding in an auto, but he was very, very glad to be a passenger on one of the jitneys Sunday morning, for a few minutes at least. While crossing Division street at the intersection of West Main, Crowman suddenly turned to find an auto within a few feet of him and coming at a rapid rate. He did not have time to jump, so he grabbed the radiator and hung on until the car could be stopped. The radiator was rather warm, he said after the incident, but he preferred even that to having the machine run over him. He was not injured.

MISSES DOG FIVE TIMES, IS ARRESTED

Dunellen Marshall Gets in Bad by His Poor Shooting.

Bad marksmanship on the part of Marshall Shugars, of Dunellen, caused him to be arrested and tried before Recorder Campbell this morning. Shugars was charged with cruelty to animals. The evidence against him was that he shot at a dog five times and failed to kill it, and the dog was tied, too. After putting two or three bullets into the animal, none of them in a fatal spot, the marshal took it to the city jail, where chloroform ended its pain. An agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had him arrested when neighbors who were attracted by the shooting told their stories of the sufferings of the dog. The case against him was dismissed.

Activities of te S. P. C. A. resulted in two more cases for cruelty to animals in court this morning. Daniel H. Kielderling, of Plainfield, was fined $7 and costs for driving a horse that had a lame leg and a sore on its shoulder, and William Cramer, of Dunellen, was fined $3 and costs for using a horse with a collar sore to one of his wagons.

MISS CARSON BRIDE OF JOHN HERBERT SMITH

John Herbert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of East Front street, and Miss Rose Carson, daughter of Joseph Carson, were quietly married on Saturday evening by Rev. E. C. Conover, of Temple Baptist church, at the home of the bride's uncle, William Carson, of 240 Jackson avenue. The families of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends were present. They were accompanied by Miss Helen Smith, a sister of the groom, and David Allen, of North Plainfield. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to their newly furnished home on Webster place. Mr. Smith is employed as machinist at the Bosch Magneto Works.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF EVERETT MARSH IS HELD

The funeral of Everett Marsh, who died last Wednesday, in Muhlenberg Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from his late home, 215 Somerset street. Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, conducted the service which was attended by large delegations of friends from the Painters' Union as well as the Netherwood church. A duet, "Lead Kindly Light," was sung by the Messrs. Horace Martin and Arthur Keinzle and the Martin Bible class sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The floral offerings were especially beautiful, handsome set pieces coming from the many friends and acquaintances of the deceased.

The interment took place in the Plainfield avenue cemetery, members of the Painters' Union acting as pall bearers.

FINED FOR SHOOTING CRAPS.

Somerville, Oct. 4.—Nine men, both white and colored, were arrested at midnight Saturday in the pool room of Peter Durso, on East Main street, charged with gaming. It is charged that they were shooting craps. The proprietor was fined $12.75 and the others paid fines of $7.75.

NEWCORN AGAIN NAMED BY G. O. P.

Plainfielder is Re-elected to Chairmanship of Union County Committee.

HARMONY PREVAILS

Democratic Committee Names Lucius T. Russell—No Contested Offices in Either Body—Ovation for Leaders.

Harmony was the keynote in the reorganization meetings of the Democratic and Republican county committees in Elizabeth, Saturday night, both sessions proving to be the tamest held in years. Without exception everyone who last year served in an official capacity was Saturday night returned to his respective office and at neither meeting was any attempt made to run an opposition, despite rumors that there would b some warm fights, especially for the chairmanships.

L. T. Russell was re-elected chairman of the Democratic committee by a unanimous vote. A. P. Morris, of Hillside, was again selected for the vice chairmanship, and other officers are: Fred Zior, secretary; Anthony Sattler, treasurer, and Joseph Meehan, sergeant-at-arms.

William Newcorn, of this city, was re-elected chairman of the Republican committee, and other officers named are: Peter Olde, vice chairman; Charles A. Otto, Jr., secretary; Donald McLean, Elizabeth, assistant secretary; Robert Plum, Cranford, treasurer, and Thomas F. Haviland,

MRS. ANN E. HEDGES DIES AT CHESTER

Mother of Drs. E. W. and B. Van D. Hedges Succumbs to Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Ann E. Hedges, aged 85 years, wife of the late Dr. S. E. Hedges, and mother of Dr. Ellis W. Hedges and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, of this city, died on Saturday at her home in Chester, Morris county, following a short illness with heart trouble.

Mrs. Hedges was born at New Germantown, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin VanDoren, and she was widely known throughout that section. After her marriage she and her husband removed to Chester, where the latter practiced medicine up to the time of his death, which was in 1892. Mrs. Hedges was actively identified with the Presbyterian church of Chester, and was an attendant at the services until her illness prevented. She was a devout Christian and possessed many rare womanly qualities which won for her many friends and acquaintances.

There survives the two sons, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Sauerbraun, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Chester, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery, Chester.

JOHN M. WURTH WEDS MISS ANNA M. HERBST

The wedding of Miss Anna Marie Herbst, daughter of Peter Herbst, of Terrill road, and John Martin Wurth, of this city, took place Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the Netherwood Reformed church. Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the couple.

Miss Elizabeth Herst, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and George Herbst, a brother of the bride, was the best man. No reception was held. Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at 502 East Second street.

SEVERE SENTENCES.

Charged by Patrolman Joseph Dunlop with using indecent language and being otherwise disorderly at West Front and Somerset streets during the rush hour Saturday night, William Oliver, Alfred Sanderson and John W. Hall, all colored, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning. Sanderson and Oliver were given sentences of $20 or ninety days in the county jail and Hall one of $5 or twenty days. Oliver and Sanderson are old offenders.

SALTER BACK TO BOOST CAMPAIGN

Reorganization of Plainfield Business Men is Already Well Underway.

WHAT TRENTON DID

Capital City Merchants Did Big Things at Interstate Fair—Forty-five Members Added to Local Body in One Day.

The campaign of reorganization among the business men of Plainfield was resumed this morning with the appearance here of Harry B. Salter, of Trenton. During the past week Mr. Salter was unable to be here because of the Interstate Fair in his home city. The Retail Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which organization he is secretary, had the handsomest booth in this big annual fair and as a result of the foresight on the part of these live residents of Trenton over 75,000 people were made acquainted with the new factors in Trenton's merchandising life.

The booth was 60x40 and was utilized as a rest room for fair patrons. Many of the members of this Division sent advertisng souvenirs to be distributed and over 200,000 were given away. A 100-piece dinner set was awarded to Mrs. Harry M. Alexander, of Trenton, as another advertising method.

Mr. Salter said today that the Plainfield Association reorganization had thus far come up to expectations. With but one day's active work forty-five memberships had been secured and less than one-half of the present membership had been seen. Practically no new members had yet been solicited. The advantage of an organization here such as that which obtains in Trenton can not be told. They are too many. Trenton has never had such an effective business organization and its success has been mainly due to the adoption of the emblem which, through the educational campaign carried on during the past nine months, has brought before the buying public the merchandising methods of Trenton's best stores.

The Plainfield Business Men's Association have adopted an emblem and through its use by the merchants who hold membership therein shoppers may know that its appearance on the window or in advertisements is a guarantee of reliability, Quality, Value and Service.

THE MISSES HOLPAINEN GIVE FAREWELL PARTY

The Misses Erika and Julia Holpainen, of Central avenue, gave a farewell party at their home, Saturday night, in honor of the Misses Marie Kiisken and Anna Smith, of Prospect avenue, who are leaving the city shortly. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, ferns and pink and white roses being used in large numbers throughout the rooms. Singing and card playing were the features of the evening.

Miss Florence Ward rendered several piano selections, accompanied by Miss Signa Sikanen on the violin. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Guests were present from New York, Perth Amboy and this city. Both young women were the recipients of numerous handsome and useful gifts.

FIRST SUBSCRIPTION DANCE ON NOVEMBER 19

The first subscription dance for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held in the High School Auditorium, Friday, November 19, from 9 until 1 o'clock. Sherry's orchestra has been engaged, and the refreshments will be served by the Ritz candy store, under the direction of the following committee: Mrs. W. B. Tyler, Mrs. W. G. Cooke, Mrs. Rufus Story Rowland. The tickets will be sold at the door.

The dance committee is composed of Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, chairman; Mrs. James N. Charles, Mrs. Harold S. Brown, Miss Helen Joy, Miss Louise Booth and Miss Margaret Mead.

AUTO COLLISION.

Somerville, Oct. 4.—Although no damage was done to the surrey of Clarence Lare when an automobile ran into it near Bedminster, Friday evening, the auto frightened Mr. Lare's horse and Mrs. Lare and her two children were badly bruised and slightly injured by being throw from the vehicle. Mr. Lare was not injured. The auto was not badly damaged.

REVIVAL PLANS ABOUT COMPLETE

Dr. W. E. Beiderwolf, Well Known Evangelist, Invited to Come Here.

REPORT IS FAVORABLE

Local Committee Hears Preacher at Lockport, N. Y., and Recommends His Engagement—Services to Be Held Next April.

Rev. Dr. W. E. Beiderwolf, a widely-known evangelist, has been given an invitation to conduct a series of revival meetings in Plainfield next April under the auspices of the churches of the city and the borough, and it is expected that he will accept. A. C. Estes, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and J. H. Manning, former secretary, were delegated to go to Lockport, N. Y., and hear Dr. Beiderwolf, who is now conducting services there. They heard him yesterday after which they approached him on the subject of coming to this city next April. He seemed to be favorably impressed with the invitation and the committee believe that he can be secured.

On the strength of this belief the committee telegraphed the general committee while it was in session at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, asking for instructions. The committee wired back to engage Dr. Beiderwolf if possible. It is expected that Mr. Estes and Mr. Manning will return home some time today bringing with them the evangelist's consent to visit Plainfield.

If Dr. Beiderwolf decides to come

JAMES B. FURBER TALKS ON SUFFRAGE

Ex-Mayor of Rahway Addresses Large Open-air Meeting Here.

ExMayor Furber, of Rahway, was the principal speaker at Saturday night's suffrage meeting held at the postoffice corner. Mr. Furber spoke to a large crowd and was heard with much interest.

"They are doing it in twelve states and there is no question of its working," said Mr. Furber. "Only Mr. Malling doubts that it is working and his statements have been proven false. Mr. Malling laid the Colorado mining troubles to suffrage. It surely was not fair to do that. There are 86,000 more men in Colorado than women and why blame the minority? The one bright spot in the Colorado trouble was when 1,000 women went to the Governor and secured Federal troops to stop the slaughter."

Mr. Furber was called upon to answer many questions, which he did to the satisfaction of his audience. He declared in closing that suffrage was the most important question since the civil war.

LESLIE LINES WEDS AN ELIZABETH GIRL

Miss Grace Elizabeth Deter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deter, of Tiverton, R. I., became the bride of Leslie Lines, of this city, at a home wedding at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Harry A. Hickey, of 241 Third avenue, Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon. Rev. Clarence S. Wood, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, was the officiating clergymen.

The bride was attired in a traveling gown of blue Aeolian silk and wore a black velvet picture hat. Miss Ruth Deter, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and wore a gown of blue crepe de chine and a black velvet hat. Thomas Mullin, of this city, was the bridegroom's attendant.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. Hickey. The bride received many presents, including fruniture, cut glass and china. After a short wedding trip spent at Tiverton, R. I., visiting the parents of Mr. Lines, the couple will make their home in Elizabeth.

FUNERAL OF DAVID CONNORS.

Funeral services over the body of David Connors were held from the residence of his father, on West Fifth street, at 9 o'clock this morning. Requiem high mass was said by Father Sciola at St. Mary's church later. The pall bearers were Joseph Deady, Albert Sneadker, James P. Kiely and J. Patrick Casey. Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

ICE BOX LEADS TO A HOT ARGUMENT

William Goff Jailed as a Result of His Warm Words.

An argument over the location of an ice box Saturday, caused the arrest of William Goff, aged 40, and his appearance in the North Plainfield borough police court yesterday morning. Goff was charged with disorderly conduct in using profanity toward John Dickson, a former partner. The two engaged in a controversy over the moving of an ice box that belonged to Dickson and that is in a building belonging to Goff and the former says that Goff cursed him. Sentence was suspended.

The only other case tried by Recorder Hand was that of Joe Augustino, aged 22. Joe imbibed too freely Saturday evening and failed to make it home. He was found by Chief Weiss asleep on the street and was charged with being drunk. Judgment in his case was also suspended.

1,600 MACHINISTS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

General Electric Workers Demand a Shorter Working Day.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Sixteen hundred machinists struck at the General Electric plant this morning. The men refused to accept the offer of arbitration of 9½ hours offered by the company.

Silver Workers Strike.

Canal to Open November 1.

New York, Oct. 4.—The following cablegram has just been received from the governor of the Panama Canal zone dated October 3:

"Another slide movement Saturday night. Considerable material to be removed from channel and behavior of slides during past week offer no definite prospects of opening canal before November 1st.

No Hope For Steamer.

Quebec, Oct. 4.—Hope for the Dominion Coal Company's steamer Kronprinz-Olav, which is believed to have been caught in Thursday's gale was given up today. The vessel was bound from Sydney to Montreal and was due at the latter port Thursday night.

HOWARD R. HAYDEN WILL ADDRESS BUSINESS MEN

Howard R. Hayden, assistant secretary of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, has been secured as one of the speakers for the business men's dinner to be held in the Kensington Hotel tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Mr. Hayden, who hails from Jersey City, is well known throughout New Jersey as a man well acquainted with business topics and is admirably qualified to entertain the class of business men who will attend the dinner.

Plans have been made for a large gathering and the program will be both instructive and entertaining. A large representation of the city's merchants will be the guests of the Business Men's Association.

Arthur B. Jones, of this city, and Sallo M. Kahn, of New York, will also be speakers. Mr. Kahn graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1908 and has recently returned from Europe, where he personally witnessed many of the horrors of the battlefields. His talk will consist of a description of France in war times.

BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING.

The Business Men's Association will hold a meeting tonight in Coward's Hall, 109 Park avenue, at 8 o'clock. An aggressive movement is now being made by the association to develop and centralize business in Plainfield, and active measures are under way to increase the industrial conditions of the city. Morris Abrams is chairman of the latter committee.

HEALTH BOARD TO MEET.

The North Plainfield Board of Health will meet tonight in the Council rooms over the fire hall. Only routine business will be considered. The meeting will be called to order at 8 p. m.

WAR WAGED OVER HEADS OF ARMIES

Spectacular Aerial Battles Feature Last Two Days of Campaign.

FIGHTING IS CLOSE

Gain of few Feet of Trenches is Considered Adequate Reward for Bloody Day of Hand-to-hand Fighting.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Spectacular air battles and disastrous raids by airships featured the past two days' fighting in the war zone. The drive of the French and English on German positions is progressing and fighting is now being waged with grenades, bayonets and gun butts, armies being locked in a hand-to-hand struggle over miles of territory. The gain of a few feet of trenches at the end of a day's fierce and bloody battling is reported with great acclaim by either side.

The German naval base at Zeebrugge has been bombarded again, according to a report from Amsterdam, received here this morning, and one of the most spectacular aerial battles of the war was fought. Five allied aeroplanes attacked Zeebrugge on Sunday and dropped many bombs on the base, but they were engaged by German and Austrian aviators and only three of them returned. One was shot to earth by a German high angle gun, and another was so badly disabled that it was forced to land on Dutch soil. The three that returned were badly crippled.

French aviators are unusually active in raids on German positions and railways controlled by the armies of the Kaiser near Metz. A full squadron formed an attacking party on the Sablon railway station Sunday and more than forty shells of large calibre were dropped, with damaging effect. Other aviators have continued to bombard railway junction points and stations behind the German fronts.

French war statement:

"North of Arras our progress continues in the Givenchy wood and at hill No. 119, where we have occupied a place at the junction of Five Roads. Almost continuous trench to trench fighting, accompanied by cannonades on both sides, has been going on in the region of Quennevieres and Navren. In the Champagne an artillery duel occurred last night on the outskirts of the Navren farm. Two German counter attacks to the north of Le Mesnil were repulsed. On the remainder of the front there was calm.

U. S. Boat to Guatemala.

Washington, Oct. 4.—In view of an incipient uprising in Guatemala the Navy Department today ordered the gunboat Machias from Tampico, Mexico, to Puerta Barries. It is thought the warning presence of an American warship in the harbor may prevent a rebellion.

Loan Is Subscribed.

New York, OcOt. 4.—The following announcement has been issued by J. P. Morgan & Co.:

"In behalf of the managers of the Underwriting Syndicate of the Anglo-French-external loan, J. P. Morgan & Co. announce that subscriptions to the underwriting will be closed at 10 o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) morning."

Russian Fleet Moves.

London, Oct. 4.—A despatch from Petrograd says that the Russian Black Sea fleet has left Odessa under sealed orders.

MISS WHITNEY RESUMES THE STUDY OF MUSIC

Miss Helen Whitney, daughter of S. H. Whitney, left Plainfield last week for Philadelphia, where she will resume her study of piano and voice at Combs Conservatory of Music. In her studies this year Miss Whitney will have the advantage of the personal supervision of Gilbert Raymnolds Combs, founder and director of the conservatory, and will probably make several concert appearances during the course of the season. Friends who have watched her work predict a successful student career in the Quaker City.

DONATIONS ARE SOUGHT.

The Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild will hold their monthly meeting Friday night, October 8, at 7:45, in the Friends' Meeting House, Watchung avenue and Third street. The Young People's Society, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will conduct a thirty-minute devotional service. This service will be followed by an address by Rev. Dr. John Sheriden Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The music will be furnished by the Guild orchestra, led by Mrs. John C. Evans.

SENTENCED TO NINETY DAYS FOR ASSAULT ON WOMAN

Charged with having assaulted his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lutz, Frank Lutz, of Middlesex borough, was arrested by Marshal Sisty and is at present doing a ninety days' sentence in the county jail at New Brunswick. Lutz has been making his home with his brother in a house which they own jointly. At the time the assault was committed Mrs. Lutz said her husband was away. The relatives of Lutz are at present trying to decide whether it is best to have his sanity tested or to let his commitment stand.

Lutz is the man who a few weeks ago threatened to shoot Mr. Feldman, the head of the Dunellen Estates, who sold Lutz and his brother the property on which the present home is located, for not having given as he claimed all the property that the transaction called for. Mr. Feldman, in swearing out a warrant for the arrest of Lutz, said that Lutz had pulled a gun on him. When searched at his home a short time after making his threat by Marshal Sisty he was found, however, to have only a nickel monkey wrench in the pocket from which he was said to have pulled the gun and the case was dropped by Mr. Feldman upon the advice of friends.

ENTERTAIN MANY GUESTS.

D. T. Heaume, of 1156 Myrtle avenue, Plainfield, entertained a number of relatives and friends yesterday. His guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heaume, of Yonkers; Mr. and Mrs. George Heaume, of this borough; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Le Seur, of New York, and others.

VISITING HIS NEPHEW.

Andrew Hawkyard, of Decatur, Ill., is in the east visiting his nephew, Contractor J. S. Hawkyard. Mr. Hawkyard is 82 years of age and spry and active for one of his years. He was accompanied east by a niece. Mr. Hawkyard has been a resident of Decatur for 58 years, having gone there from this part of the country. He is a retired farmer and stock breeder.

John Vroom, of North avenue, has been confined to his home on North avenue by a heavy cold.

Charles Dineen, of Washington avenue, visited his sister, Mrs. Hugh Tierney, of Brooklyn, over the week-end.

VISITING THE BOROUGH.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Brandon, of Roselle, are making their home in this vicinity for the fall and winter, stopping with Mrs. Brandon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Craig, of Myrtle avenue. Mr. Brandon has resigned his position with Gimbel Brothers to accept a position on the road for another New York establishment.

J. M. Barto, of Front street, spent the week-end on Long Island.

Walter Vroom, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vroom, of North avenue, is ill with a heavy cold.

TENNIS TOURNEY.

The week-end tennis matches in the elimination tournaments which are being played by the Crescent Tennis Club and O. Z. T. Fraternity resulted as follows: Crescent Tennis Club—Westcot defeated A. Eckert, 6-2, 6-3, 2-6, 2-6, 6-3. O. Z. T. Fraternity—Fedderman defeated Starker, 7-5 and 6-2.

MABEL MARGENTINO MEETS WITH PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Mabel Margentino, the crippled daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Margentino, of North avenue, met with a painful accident Saturday night, when a collapsible carriage in which she spends most of her time, was given a push by Pearl Hebard, who was assisting the girl, and collided with a man standing on the sidewalk. As her crippled legs came in contact with the obstruction bystanders heard something snap.

The child, greatly frightened over the thought that her leg was broken, began to cry. She was taken to her home at once and Dr. De Marco, of Somerville, was summoned. After an examination he discovered that there was no break, but that a ligament had been strained. The child has been crippled since she was eight years old, when she had an attack of infantile paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Craig, of Myrtle avenue, entertained John Delano, of New York City, over the week-end.

Assessor and Mrs. J. H. L. Peters spent yesterday at Newark visiting relatives.

MR. AND MRS. VOEHL ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voehl, of Washington avenue, entertained many friends yesterday. Among their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Voehl, of Bayonne; Mrs. Arthur Austin, of Monticello, N. Y.; John Kulp and daughter, Miss Frances, of Bayonne; Mrs. J. Carney, Miss Edna Sebring, Elliott Taylor and H. M. Gnatz, all of Plainfield.

John Logan, of Washington avenue, who is employed in the office of the Levgar Structural Company, commenced his annual vacation today. He will spend it in taking short trips.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Runyon, of Lincoln avenue, are the parents of a son who arrived last evening.

Elwood Gary, of Dunellen avenue, has returned from Trenton, where he spent several days.

W. Fowler Vail, of Front street, has resumed his duties in the local freight house after an illness of several days.

W. S. Haselton, of Prospect avenue; Fred R. Haynes, of Washington avenue, and Clarence Mundy, of Plainfield, who were to have left tomorrow for the Adirondacks, have postponed their trip for a week.

J. S. Thompson and family, of Jamaica, B. W. I., who have been in this country since the 10th of August visiting Mr. Thompson's mother, Mrs. H. D. Thompson, of Prospect avenue, have left for Jamestown, N. Y., where they will spend a month. They will return to the borough after their visit at Jamestown and after stopping here for a few days will leave for Jamaica.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Piddington, Jr., of Whittier avenue, are the parents of an 8-pound boy.

Joel Giddes has moved from the M. A. Gallagher house on Washington avenue to Lincoln.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the borough hall this evening.

H. D. Thompson and family, of Jamaica, B. W. I., who have been visiting in this country since last March, making their headquarters in the borough with Mr. Thompson's mother, have returned from Brooklyn, Conn., where they spent a month on a farm.

TO ORGANIZE A CLUB.

A meeting of the committee considering a plan for the organization of a Country Club in Dunellen will be held Wednesday evening in the borough hall.

William and Philip Thompson, sons of Mrs. H. D. Thompson, who are taking courses in finance and commerce at the University of Pennsylvania, spent the week-end at their home.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will be held in the Baraca class room Wednesday afternoon.

William A. Craig, of Second street, spent the week-end at Glen Gardner. He was accompanied home by his wife and daughter, who spent the past week there.

E. R. Smalley and son, Warren, of New Market road, made the trip into the city Saturday to see the Astor Cup race, which, unknown to them, had been postponed.

Contractors Kitchener and Vogt have been awarded the contract of painting the house which Contractor Charles Wrage is building in back of Lincoln.

'Plains & Fanwood.

A quiet wedding took place at the Netherwood Reformed church at 5:30 Saturday afternoon, when Miss Anna Marie Herbst, daughter of Peter Herbst, of Terrill road, Fanwood, was united in marriage to John Wurth, of Plainfield. The Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, was the officiating minister. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Herbst, and the best man was George Herbst, a brother. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a short trip to Atlantic City and on their return will reside on East Second street, Plainfield. The groom is a patrolman on the Plainfield police force.

John Ford lost control of his car yesterday afternoon, while driving along Tillitson road and resulted in a badly bent axle. He was going slowly at the time and before he could apply the brakes one of the front wheels buckled under the other from the weight. Ford only received a slight shaking up, there being no one else in the machine at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Wardel, who have been spending the past four months at the "Homestead," returned to their home in Brooklyn today for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Storr, of Depot Circle, entertained Mrs. Storr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koehler, of Bound Brook, yesterday.

Assemblyman William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, made an interesting address at the Baptist Young People's meeting last night. The services at the Baptist church yesterday were very well attended, it being the first day of a week of pro-rally services that will be concluded next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sherwood and son, Raymond, of Martine avenue, have returned home after spending the summer at Winston, Conn.

The Sunshine Weavers, of the Baptist church, have started the winter activities by joining the World Wide Guild, an organization composed of the young women's societies in the Baptist church throughout the world.

Borough Marshal John Logan arrested a colored fellow from Plainfield on Martine avenue, Saturday afternoon, and arraigned him before Recorder Sheelen on a charge of disorderly conduct. He gave his name as Bill Livingston and had come to the 'Plains by trolley, but before proceeding to the borough in quest of a colored friend he indulged too freely at one of the saloons. By the time he reached Fanwood he didn't know which house his friend was in and so started to go in each one on Martine avenue in turn. The recorder fined him $1 and told him to leave town.

Upon the request of the Plainfield police, Marshal O'Sullivan, of the 'Plains, went on a still hunt early Saturday morning in an effort to find a horse and rig that had been stolen from Solomon Mann, of that place. He came upon them abandoned on Park avenue, near the fur mill, and turned them over to the police. It is said that the Plainfield authorities are on the trail of the culprit and his arrest may follow.

NEWCORN AGAIN NAMED

of Elizabeth, sergeant-at-arms.

The only unusual feature of the Democratic meeting occurred when Walter C. Tenney, counsel for James P. Salmon, of the Fourth district of the First ward, Elizabeth, served a notice on Acting Chairman Zior restraining them from filling the vacancy in the district named. This procedure, however, was only a matter of form, for Salmon and William McCaffery received the same number of votes for county committeeman, and Justice Bergen has granted a recount, so Tenney's action was nothing more than a protection to his client.

There are 108 districts in the jurisdiction of the Democratic county committee and every one of them was represented at the meeting which was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held by the organization. Following its custom the committee disbanded immediately after the members arrived, and LeRoy A. Gibby, of Summit, was elected temporary chairman, with Fred Zior acting secretary. Gibby made a short address in which he explained the purpose of the session and thanked the committeemen for selecting him.

Former Assemblyman William A. Leonard, who is a candidate for that position again, and Edward Meek, who also aspires to be an Assemblyman, made addresses. Both candidates expressed themselves as satisfied that Democracy will make a clean sweep this year, and Leonard urged every member of the committee to "put his shoulder to the wheel" and do more than his share in order that the success of the campaign might be insured. Meek spoke along the same lines.

A short address also was made by L. T. Russell, who is beginning his second term as county chairman. He thanked the members for their support in the past year and promised that he will always do what he can to further the interests of democracy in Union county, and asked the same co-operation during the coming year that he was tendered in the twelve months just passed. Mr. Russell was given an ovation lasting two minutes after he finished speaking.

On a motion made by President of City Council Edward Nugent the same rules which governed the organization last year were adopted for another term. James P. Kelly, president of the Elizabeth Democratic Club, invited all the committeemen to attend the next meeting of the club, to be held Friday night, when the nomination of all the Democratic candidates will be ratified and the first gun of the campaign will be fired.

The meeting of the Republicans was unusually quiet. After the old organization disbanded Peter Olde was elected temporary chairman and Charles Otto, Jr., acting secretary. After the roll call organization was effected and officers were elected. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm.

Assemblyman Charles Morgan, of Elizabeth, and Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, who are candidates for re-election, made brief addresses, and they told of the necessity of "sticking together" this year so the G. O. P. cadidates for every office will win. Judge Newcorn also made a speech, in which he thanked his fellow committeemen for re-electing him.

REVIVAL PLANS COMPLETE

here then the general committee will go ahead with its plans and arrange for securing a desirable site upon which a tabernacle will be erected for the revival services. Preceding these special services there will be cottage prayer meetings, a house-to-house canvass and other details will be arranged with a view to conducting the revival on an extensive scale.

Dr. Beiderwolf is a graduate of Princeton University and for a number of years previous to engaging in evangelistic work, held several pastorates in the Presbyterian denomination. Mr. Estes is personally acquainted with the evangelist and has considerable knowledge concerning his work. It is probably through this acquaintance that Dr. Beiderwolf was led to consider the invitation to come to Plainfield. His manner and methods are said to be wholly different from those of "Billy" Sunday, not resorting to sensational methods in his work. Most all of his engagements for the coming year are in the east and for that reason it is said the invitation from Plainfield appealed to him strongly.

INTEREST INCREASING.

Without any special effort on the part of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the audiences at the First Baptist church are steadily increasing in size, while the interest in all the services is keeping pace with the attendance. The congregations yesterday morning and evening were very large indeed and the attention close and constant. Dr. Strong endeavors to make all the services of the church exceedingly interesting and especially helpful to young and to old and he is heartily supported by the choir, while an earnest spirit of co-operation pervades the entire membership.

30TH C. E. ANNIVERSARY.

The thirteith anniversary of the organization of the Trinity Reformed church Christian Endeavor Society will be celebrated tomorrow night. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will be the principal speaker. He will take as his topic, "Conquerors." An invitation has been extended to all the societies of the city and a large delegation is expected to be present. After the meeting refreshments will be served by the social committee.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

The special services in Temple Baptist church will continue every night except Saturday during this week. "Al" J. Saunders, a layman and business man, and a "Billy" Sunday "trail hitter" from Scranton, Pa., who will assist the pastor, is expected to be present tonight, and take charge of the service. Mr. Saunders has a message especially for men. The public is most cordially invited to these services.

MISSIONARY TO TALK.

Rev. S. Hall Young, pioneer missionary to Alaska, will give one of his popular map talks with thrilling illustrations of the "White Man's Alaska," in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of the church and a large attendance is expected at this fall rally.

ALL DAY MEETINGS.

The all day sewing meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held in the church parlors Thursday, beginning at 10 o'clock. At noon a hot luncheon will be served and the sewing will continue all the afternoon. Each member of the society is requested to bring a ball of rags which will be woven into a rug for the annual missionary barrel.

The monthly sewing meeting of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church will be held in the parish house tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Superintendent F. O. Dunning Sr., Assumed His Duties at "Rally Day" Yesterday.

Class 22, of the First Presbyterian Sunday-school, was formally organized yesterday, when Warren Townley, Jr., was elected president; William C. Smith, vice president; William Sowden, secretary, and Benjamin Kriney, treasurer.

Five new members were reported by Secretary Frederick L. Palmer at the "Dunning Day" rally yesterday, toward the five hundred mark the school is aiming for. There were within twenty-one scholars of a record attendance at yesterday morning's services.

F. O. Dunning assumed his duties as superintendent. He was introduced by the acting superintendent, Robert H. Radford, and his popularity was attested by a rising vote of welcome.

Elston Hoagland's class was announced as the one having the highest number of 100 per cent. attendances during the last quarter and the banner was awarded to him. Mr. Dunning's class was a close second. LeRoy H. Gates has taken the leadership of the Korulimo class.

COMPLETES SEVENTH YEAR IN PASTORATE

"Home-coming" Social of Seventh-Day Baptist Church Held Saturday.

The annual "home-coming social" of the Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh Day Baptist church was held, Saturday evening. As this was the first event of the season, and as it was made a recognition of the completion of the Rev. Edwin Shaw's seventh year of his pastorate, Mr. Shaw having come to Plainfield in July, 1908, there was a large attendance. Rev. Shaw and his wife were assisted in receiving the guests by Joseph A. Hubbard, president of the board of trustees; J. Denison Spicer, senior deacon; Mrs. William C. Hubbard and Mrs. F. Adelbert Dunham, president and treasurer respectively, of the Women's Society.

The following program was given: "Vacation Echoes, the Year 'Round!" soprano solo, with violin obligato, Mrs. John B. Cottrell; violin, Mrs. N. G. Evans; piano, Mrs. W. C. Hubbard; "Swarthmore College—November," Miss Miriam E. West; "Atlantic City, in the Holidays—December," Mrs. Henry M. Maxson; "Daytona, in January," William M. Stillman, Orra S. Rogers and William C. Hubbard having given illustrated lectures of their trips to Bermuda, and California, in February, this month was omitted from the program; "Washington, the Capitol City," was to have been described by Mrs. George E. Stillman, who was detained at home, owing to the recent accident to Mr. Stillman; for March, violin solo, Mrs. Noel G. Evans; piano, Miss Mabel A. Maxson; poem, "Automobile Touring," April, read by W. C. Hubbard; "Niagara, in May," Theodore G. Davis; "June in Salt Lake City," Mrs. A. G. Negley; "Cobbossee Colony, Maine—July," John B. Cottrell; "A Visit to Ernest Thompson Seton's Camp—August," Mrs. J. E. Kimball; "That Weekapaug Week-end Party—September," Orra S. Rogers; baritone solo, Roy E. Titsworth; piano, Miss M. A. Maxson; "An October Jingle," written at Norfolk, Va., by Mrs. S. L. Wardner, read by Mrs. O. S. Rogers.

Inasmuch as Pastor and Mrs. Shaw had celebrated a wedding anniversary, as well as completed their seventh year in this pastorate in July, the program was interrupted long enough at that point for a substantial gift of gold to be presented to them, as a token of the very high regard and affection in which they are held by their congregation. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. C. Hubbard, and happily responded to by both the pastor and his wife.

Refreshments brought the affair to an end, these being in charge of Mrs. C. H. Dunham and her committee, while Mrs. O. S. Rogers and Mrs. M. L. Clawson were in charge of the program.

The annual meeting of the society to hear reports and elect officers for the ensuing year will occur next Wednesday at 3 o'clock.

Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, will on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said city, expose for sale and sell the several tracts or parcels of land hereinafter specified, or any part or parts thereof severally sufficient for the purpose, on which taxes for the year nineteen hundred and fourteen remain in arrears, to such person or persons as will purchase the same for the shortest term and pay the tax lien thereon, including interest and costs of sale, or in fee where no one will bid for a shorter term.

Wednesday, November 3rd, 1915,

This sale is made under the provisions of the act of the Legislature of this State, entitled: "An Act for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved April 4, 1902, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold, as shown on the City records, may be obtained at the office of the subscriber any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following is a list of the several tracts and parcels of land to be sold, which shows the names of the delinquents, the supposed owners thereof as the names of the delinquent owners appear on the books of the taxing district, together with a statement of the wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the street in which each lot is situated, the block and lot number of each lot as they appear on the Official Assessment Maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, and the amount due from each of the said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot and parcel as hereafter designated, there will be added interest from the twentieth day of December, nineteen hundred and fourteen, to the day of sale, and the fees provided by said act of the Legislature, viz.: for preparing and publishing notices of sale twenty-five cents for each parcel of land advertised; and for selling twenty-five cents for each parcel sold; and for each certificate of sale, fifty cents, besides necessary disbursements for printing, postage, affidavits and acknowledgements, which are hereby estimated at three dollars for each item of arrearage, and the City Clerk's fee for recording report, ten cents for each parcel of land sold, and all said fees and expenses shall form part of the tax lien and be paid by the purchaser at the tax sale.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Both Warren Mumford and Raymond Somloch, who were injured in football practice, are both at school and are rapidly recovering from the effects of the mishaps. However, Mumford is obliged to keep his shoulder in a plaster cast and will have to view the gridiron games, at least for this season, from the side-lines.

Minstrel talk floods the corridors of the school these days, especially in the vicinity of the Oracle room, wherein Gerald Linke, business manager of the "blackface" company, has his office. It is not known whether Sewell Ulrich can be had to coach the show this year or not, but it is known that Harold F. Biddle, who most successfully coached the senior and junior plays of the past two years, will try his hand at the art. Professors Wriston and Tyree have volunteered to assist him.

Dr. Van Horn will resume the examination of candidates for any of the girls' athletic teams Monday.

At 2:30 Friday the Oracle subscription contest closed. At 10 o'clock in the morning it was announced that unless fifty more subscriptions materialized before night, there would be no Oracle this year. The matter is still in doubt.

Jack Fritts, the local Pastime A. C. crack, is endeavoring to stir up a little enthusiasm among the track athletes. Fritts wants to organize a cross country team and has his eye on several P. H. S. distance men, among whom are Bill Daniels, Pete McDonough, Clarence Eder, Monroe O'Donnell, John Causbrook, and others. If the Pastime athlete's plans work out this city will have a truly representative cross-country team, composed of independent and scholastic stars, all of whom are A. A. U. men.

As a result of an election held last Friday the following B. A. A. directors have been chosen: Chester Alpaugh, Herbert Peacock, LeRoy Apgar, William Wheelan and Carlton Dunham.

The sophomore class will conduct a second ballot tomorrow in order to complete the election of officers.

Basketball practice for the girls will be continued under the direction of Miss Ruth I. Wean. It is not unlikely that a noticeably new team will be put on the court this fall, most notable among the artists being the Misses Natalie Goetter, Gertrude Head, Lydia Haight and Florence Ryder.

REVIVAL SPIRIT SHOWN AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson is preaching every Sunday evening at the First M. E. church to increasing congregations drawn by his interesting presentation of Christian doctrine and his personal appeal to the unconverted. The excellent music by the quartet, which includes Miss Ethel Kinnaman, who was contralto soloist with Bryor's band at Asbury Park last summer, is also interesting.

A corps of personal workers have been able to increase the attendance at the services by going out and inviting passersby to the church. After the preaching the pastor invites the officers of the church about the altar and gives the invitation to the unconverted. Some of the laymen lead in prayer in the time-honored Methodist way. Last night one young woman was received into the church on probation.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

"Show Thyself a Man" was the text chosen by Rev. Charles S. Gillespie, pastor of the church, for his sermon last night. At the close of the service every man in the congregation was urged to take a stand for better manhood and to pledge himself with God's help to do so by going forward and taking the pastor's hand. A great many responded.

"The New Chivalry" will be the topic for the sermon next Sunday night, being the second in the series to be given by the pastor.

Many of the members of the church are expected to attend meetings of the Forward Movement Conference to be held in Newark tomorrow at the St. Paul's church.

The subject for the Wednesday night service will be "A Live Consecration." Miss Myra Stebbins and Irving Stebbins will sing.

NEGRO LOVE AFFAIR.

Somerville, Oct. 4.—Jealousy because his negress sweetheart had permitted negro men to make love to her, Frank Peinatchi, an Italian, met her Saturday night and demonstrated that he knew how to settle a colored affair of the heart by slashing her with a razor. She was severely cut across the abdomen. The Italian was arrested and is being held for assault and battery.

ALBERT LATZKO INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Leaving New Brunswick early yesterday morning and bound for Tarrytown, N. Y., on a motorcycle, Albert Latzko, aged twenty-six years, sustained several crushed fingers in an accident at the latter place. Just how the affair occurred could not be ascertained but inquiries at Muhlenberg Hospital, where the young man was removed last night, told that his condition was comfortable. Mr. Latzko is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Latzko, of Rahway road.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN HONOR OF THE HOLY ROSARY

At St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon and evening a celebration in honor of the Holy Rosary, the feast day of which is to be observed later in the week, was held. The young women and small children of all the sodalities marched in solemn procession to the church in the afternoon, when there was a benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the singing of hymns and an appropriate address by Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, and the blessing of the roses, which will be kept by many as remembrances of the festival. The evening devotions consisted of the recitation of the rosary, sermon and benediction.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY PLANS FOR A PARADE

The Holy Name Society, of St. Mary's church, met yesterday afternoon, the main topic for discussion being the annual demonstration to be held in Elizabeth in which the local members will take part. The Plainfield division will be led by a fife and drum corps and will carry canes and small blue banners marked with the letters, "H. N. S."

The trip to Elizabeth will be made by train. The parade this year is being held in connection with the golden jubilee celebration in honor of Dean O'Neil, who has been a priest fifty years and who now is pastor of St. Mary's church, Elizabeth, where the celebration is to be held.

RALLY DAY AT SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH

Rally Day exercises at the Seventh Day Baptist Sabbath school Saturday featured the following program: Solo, Mrs. Roland M. Davis; singing-Sabbath school; prayer, Rev. Edwin Shaw; marimaphone solo, William A. Stewart; singing, "Holy, Holy, Holy," school; offering, General Benevolent Fund; Rally Day Service, "Its Meaning," Superintendent William C. Hubbard; "The Value of the Sabbath School to the Adult Members of the Church," Rev. Edwin Shaw; "The Promary Department; What It Means to Your Child." Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, superintendent of Primary department; exercise, "Rally Day Acrostic," primary members; song, "The Sunbeam Song," primary department; reports and notices. The singing was led by a male quartette composed of Roy E. Titsworth, Dr. Otis B. Whitford, Charles P. Titsworth and Ernest C. Whitford.

AVERAGE TEMPERATURE FOR SEPTEMBER WAS 68.1

Weather Prophet John Neagle in his report for the month of September shows the temperature to have been as follows:

Average for the month, 68.1; normal for the month, 65.2; excess for the month, 2.9; highest, 91 on the 9th, 14th and 17th; lowest, 38 on the 23d; greatest daily range, 34 on the 3d; least daily range, 9 on the 19th; highest recorded for this month for 29 years, 102 in 1895; lowest recorded for this month for 29 years, 31 in 1904.

Precipitation—Total for this month, 2.06 inches; normal for this month, 4.45 inches; deficiency for this month, 2.39 inches; total amount since January 1, 44.49 inches; accumulated excess since January 1, 4.83 inches; greatest amount in 24 hours, 1.11 inches on the 18th and 19th; greatest number of hours with precipitation, 11; greatest amount recorded for this month for 29 years was 13.13 inches in 1889; least amount recorded this month for 29 years, 0.79 inches in 1895.

Weather—Number of clear days, 10; partly cloudy, 16; cloudy, 4; number of days with 0.01 inch or more of precipitation, 7; prevailing wind was southwest, thunder storm on the 17th, fog on the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 13th, 14t, 15th and 20th; moderate gale from the northwest on the 26th.

Mrs. S. Ayers and daughter, Miss May Ayers, of East Second street, are spending their vacation in Massachusetts.

Miss Eva Terry, formerly the history teacher in the North Plainfield High School, spent the week-end with friends in the borough.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The freshman class has chosen maroon and white for its class colors.

Miss Jubilee Rowley, who is attending Syracuse University, has successfully passed the required freshman subjects and is now registered as a sophomore.

If the number of inquiries regarding the advertising contest can be taken as a criterion, a large number of pupils will be entered from this school.

The Mu Eta Society held its first meeting of the school year at the home of Dorothy Lee, Saturday evening. During the evening important business was transacted, the officers for the ensuing year being elected. The following were chosen: President, Marion Avery; vice-president, Elsie Debele; secretary and treasurer, Gladys Sullivan.

The members of the club present were: Marion Avery, Bertha Keller, Marielle Dunham, Madeline Blair, Marguerite Barkalew, Dorothy Lee, Theresa McCullough, Edith Dalley, Gladys Sullivan and Elsie Debele.

Sherman Chandler, chairman of the play committee, has received the following catalogues from which the play to be given will be selected: "The Gold Mine," "A Light Corner," "Bill, the Coachman," "American Bride," and "The Country Kid." "Bill, the Coachman," will probably be selected, although this question will be decided this noon.

John Dawe, manager of the basketball team, has scheduled a contest with Princeton High School at the latter place. This is the first time that these two schools have ever met and an interesting encounter is looked forward to.

Although nothing definite has been decided, the annual play presented by the Boys' Athletic Association will probably be held in the auditorium of the Harrison Avenue School. This will eliminate a large expense item as the hiring of The Park Club always totaled about fifty dollars. The Board of Education built an auditorium primarily for purposes of this sort and it would be especially adapted for the style of play given by the athletic association.

The different classes will hold meetings to appropriate money for the class doubles.

J. T. SATTELS HONORED.

The Cornell publications appearing during the last few days contain several New Jersey students in prominent honors on their editorial staffs. Joseph T. Sattels, of East Sixth street, is on the Sibley Journal of Engineering, which will appear later in the month. Mr. Sattels was graduated from the Plainfield High School with the class of 1913.

TRAINING CITIZEN RIFLEMEN.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The National Rifle Association of America, organized back in 1871 to teach the citizens how to handle the army rifle efficiently, is taking an active part in the National Defense Congress which opens here today. A great impetus was given to the work of the association last year, when Congress authorized the free distribution of Krag rifles and ammunition to rifle clubs, and the work of organizing the clubs was put by Secretary Garrison into the hands of the association. Since then over 200 clubs have been organized, and to them have been issued 806 Krag rifles and 550,000 rounds of ammunition. There are enrolled as members of the National Rifle Association, shooting under its rules and regulations, 500 government rifle clubs, 110 school and 50 college clubs.

SPORTING NOTES

Boston is again baseball mad. Even the new Braves Field will hardly hold the World Series bugs.

Coach Wray, of the Harvard navy, although superceded by the new crew management, is still under contract for four or five years more.

The Red Sox are relying on their wing of steady pitchers to land the world title. The dopesters say that Moran must get the jump to win the series. Alexander will be undoubtedly groomed to capture the first game, if possible.

NETHERWOOD DEFEATED.

The Plainfield A. A. defeated Netherwood Saturday in a game featured by free hitting by a score of 11 to 10. The Netherwoods got 18 hits to 11 of their opponents, but the Plainfield players made each one of theirs count for a run.

HOLY CROSS TO HAVE FOOTBALL TEAM

Players Report for Practice Tonight—Stallings Will Be Coach.

Holy Cross is to have a football team again this season and the first practice of the year will be held tonight. The players will get in snape for the season schedule at Marshall Field, opposite the rink.

Eddie Stallings, former coach of the Vikings, at Bayonne, will handle the Holy Cross players. He will have practically all of last year's team out, and much new material. Any prospective players who desire to play with the team are requested to report for practice at 7:30 tonight.

The first game will be played Columbus Day, when the Holy Cross nis matches at the Plainfield Coun- and it will require hard work for the men to get in shape by that time.

T. A. B. S. WIN AND TIE IN TWO GAMES

Plainfield A. A. Gets Lead in Second, But Fail to Hold It.

The T. A. B. S. lined up against the Plainfield A. A. Sunday afternoon in two games on Avon Oval, winning the first game by a 7 to 3 score and tying the second, 4-4. Darkness put an end to playing in the second contest at the end of the ninth inning.

In the first game the T. A. B. S. players batted well, while Gibson, a recruit, held the opposing hitters to six scattered hits. He was a trifle wild in the first two innings, but after that he located the plate and they ate out of his hand.

In the second game the A. A. team gained a lead of four runs in the first four innings, but two in the seventh and two more in the ninth enabled the T. A. B. S. to tie, and the teams quit without a decision.

The score:

First game—		R.	H.	E.

RODMAN PARVIN FINALLY SNATCHES TENNIS TITLE

By defeating Eustice Eggie, at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday afternoon, on a rain-soaked court, Rodman Parvin won the interscholastic tennis singles championship and Princeton Club trophy. Both players represent the Plainfield High School and the match was won by the following scores: 6-8, 612, 6-0, 0-6 and 6-3.

These two men reached the finals out of a field of thirty-six competitors, the elimination rounds beginning two weeks ago. Both displayed an excellent article of tennis and the Parvin victory was well earned.

M'GRAW HAS GREAT RECORD.

Up to This Year His Team Has Always Been In the Running.

Don't blame John McGraw because of the New York Giants' poor showing to date. It's the fault of his men—the breaking down of the old machine. McGraw's record shows what wonderful things he has done with the material that has come to him during his thirteen years as pilot of the Giant squad. Here is the record of the Giants since McGraw took command in 1903:

Year.	W.	L.	P. C.	Finished
1903	84	55	.604	Second
1904	106	47	.693	First
1905	105	48	.686	First
1906	96	56	.632	Second
1907	82	71	.536	Fourth
1908	98	56	.636	*Second
1909	92	61	.601	Third
1910	91	63	.591	Second
1911	99	54	.647	First
1912	103	48	.682	First

VALUES HIS TROTTER HIGHLY

Cleveland Horseman Turns Down Offer of $30,000 For Harness Horse.

"Thirty-five thousand won't buy him, nor will $50,000," was the emphatic reply of Captain David Shaw of Cleveland when Trainer W. J. Andrews made that offer for the young trotter Peter Mac.

Andrews is said to have offered $30,000, and his patrons told him to boost it, but Captain Shaw has bred many horses, none of which compared with this stallion, and he does not need the money.

BATTING PRACTICE SYSTEM WRONG

Players Drive Out Balls That Are Easy to Catch.

SHOULD HIT ON LINE.

Hard Grounder Is Much More Effective For Tuning Up Players—Sacrifice Fly Is Very Valuable—Up to the Managers to Make Change.

In most ball clubs more time is spent at batting practice than in perfecting any other department, and yet such time is, to a very large extent, wasted. Ball players love to bat, and they will spend any amount of time stepping up to the plate in rotation and taking a wallop at the ball. Yet, in spite of this constant practice, batting is weak on most ball clubs.

One of the big reasons is the lack of intelligent oversight of the practice. When the team goes out for its batting practice, as a rule, an inferior pitcher is sent to the box, and he seldom tries very hard to fool the hitters. In most cases he is satisfied to lob the ball up to the plate and the batter is satisfied to make a swing at it without trying any particular direction. It's just a case of wallop and that's all. As soon as he has hit a fair ball, no matter where it goes, he retires and the next hitter takes his place. Of real practice, with a firm purpose to drive the ball to safe territory and a sane study of the pitching, there is almost none.

Few batters go up there with the strong intent of meeting the ball right on the nose and, above all, of avoiding sending up a fly ball. With a single exception the hitting of fly balls is the worst thing a batter can do, except perhaps to strike out. A fly ball that a fielder can reach is caught almost invariably.

A good fielder does not muff one in 200 that he reaches in time to get both hands on. The exception of course is the case of a long outfield fly with a runner on third, which operates as a sacrifice and scores a run. This is a valuable play, but it is the only case in which a fly ball operates to the advantage of the hitting side. A hard grounder is much more effective.

When a fly ball is sent out only one man handles it, and it is the easiest kind of a ball to handle. When a sharp grounder is batted three distinct plays are necessary to get the batter. The fielder must make a clean pickup of the ball, then an accurate throw, and the man on the receiving end must catch the ball.

If batters would mark themselves as incompetent every time they send out a fly ball in batting practice and try with all their might to keep their hits low there would be a steady hitting and therefore more run getting and more games won.

CREDIT HANDED TO WHITTED.

Phillies' Fighting Outfielder Has Done Much to Keep Them Up In Race.

Pat Moran, leader of the "cracking under the strain" Phillies, has been accused of perpetrating a "one man team" on the poor, defenseless National league, the same being Grover Cleveland Alexander. While we agree that the marvelous Alexander is more or less a team in himself, still he is not the whole show. Several other members of Moran's squad are responsible in a way for the standing of the Phillies, notably Cravath, Luderus, Bancroft and last, but not least, George B. Whitted.

George was given to Moran at the expiration of last season, along with a youngster, Dugey by name, and a bundle of coin by George Stallings, and all George got was Sherwood Magee. Sherwood was supposed to strengthen the Braves' outfield, which he did, but he did not add as much batting strength to the Braves' attack as it was expected he would. Whitted, on the contrary, has improved wonderfully both in the field and at the bat, and he now looks so good that Stallings would gladly give four players for his return.

FIRST OF SERIES AT PHILLY PARK

All Arrangements for Big Baseball Event Completed by Moguls.

STAGES BEING SET

Players Are Announced—Umpires and Distribution of Receipts Also Settled—Games Will Begin Friday.

As announced in The Daily Press, Saturday afternoon, the opening game of the coming World's Series will be staged on Friday. The place will be Philadelphia, the home of the National League champions. This was decided upon at the meeting of the National Baseball Commission and the owners of the two contending teams at the Waldorf, Saturday morning.

Shortly after the meeting was called to order Ban Johnson, Czar of the American League, made a motion that Friday, October 8, be selected as the opening date. As none of the other parties interested in the series cared to disagree with Ban, Friday was unanimously adopted as the official date for the opening of the annual baseball classic.

Braves Field, the home of the National League team in Boston and the biggest ball-park in the country, will not have the honor of staging its first World's Series until the following Monday, for Saturday's game also has been allotted to Philadelphia.

Following is the official list of dates for the series: Friday, Oct. 8, and Saturday, Oct. 9, in Philadelphia; Monday, Oct. 11, and Tuesday, Oct. 12, in Boston; Wednesday, Oct. 13, in Philadelphia, and Thursday, Oct. 14, in Boston. If a seventh game is necessary to decide the winner of the series, a flip of a coin will decide where the game shall be played.

Before the magnates went into session there were reports that a long argument would ensue over the allotments of tickets for the "loyal rooters" of Boston for the games to be played in Philadelphia. Before leaving Boston for the meeting President Lannin declared that he would call off the series if he were not allowed 400 reserve seats for his rooters.

This matter was taken up at the meeting and amicably adjusted in the following manner: President Baker, of the Phillies, gave up 100 of his allotment of tickets; President Lannin did likewise, while the National Baseball Commission sacrificed 200 of their seats.

After this was settled Neagle Rawlin, a Philadelphia baseball writer, presented a bright new half dollar from Garry Hermann, chairman of the National Commission. Rawlin flipped the coin in the air and when it came down Lannin cried tail. The owner of the Red Sox had guessed wrong, and President Baker just smiled. Garry Hermann then pocketed the half dollar to store away with the other 50-cent pieces which have decided the fate of the first game in other years.

Bill Klem, one of the best umpires in the country, and Charles Rigler were then selected by President Tener to officiate in the series on behalf of the National League. Johnson selected as his arbitrators for the big show, Bill Evans and Silk O'Loughlin. Taylor Spink, of St. Louis, was named by the National Commission as the official scorer. Spink will have as his assistants during the series a member of the baseball writers of Boston and another from Philadelphia. Their names will be announced today.

The Commission also gave out a list of the prices which will prevail in both cities. They are as follows:

Boston—Boxes, $5; grand stand, reserved, $3; first and third base stands, reserved, $2; bleachers, $1.

Philadelphia—Boxes, $5; lower and upper grand stand, reserved, $3; right field pavilion, $2; bleachers, $1.

Twenty-three players on each of the two rival teams will split the spoils. The names of the players announced Saturday by the Commission are: Philadelphia—Alexander, Adams, Bancroft, Burns, Baumgartner, Becker, Byrne, Cravath, Chalmers, Demaree, Dugey, Killifer, Luderus, Moran, Mayers, McQuillan, Niehoff, Paskert, Rixey, Stock, Tincup, Whitted, Weiser.

Boston—Barry, Carrigan, Cady, Collins, Foster, Gregg, Gainer, Gardner, Hoblitzell, Cooper, Hendricksen, Janvrin, Leonard, Lewis, Mays, McNally, Ruth, Shore, Scott, Speaker, Thomas, Wood, Wagner.

Robert B. McRoy has been appointed as the National Commission's representative at the series.

The arrangements for the interclub series at Chicago were also completed. The opening day was set for Wednesday Oct. 6, at the White Sox Park, with games to alternate thereafter between the Cubs' and the White Sox's grounds, except that all Sunday games will be played at the American League Field.

E. C. Barrows, president of the International League, was selected to take charge of this series, with Capt. Adrian C. Anson as the National Commission's representative. The National League named Umpires Quigley and Orth and the American League, Dineen and Connolly for the games.

KRAMER IS AGAIN NATIONAL "CHAMP"

Won His Fifteenth Title Yesterday Afternoon After a Hard Struggle.

Frank L. Kramer for the fifteenth year in succession has won the national cycling championship. He turned the trick by decisively defeating Alfred Goullet, of Australia, in a five-mile race at the Newark Velodrome yesterday afternoon. The manner in which the East Orange rider defeated Goullet left no doubt in the minds of the fans that Kramer is entitled to the nation honors which he has fought so hard to acquire.

The crowd went wild as Kramer came sprinting down the home-stretch in the lead, and when he crossed the finish line a winner by a length the enthusiasm of the fans knew no bounds. Women shrieked and men threw their hats in the air. The band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the crowd stood up and continued to cheer. Kramer was draped with an American flag and rode around the track carrying a large bouquet. He had ridden the last eighth-mile of the race in 11 4-5 seconds and his face was flushed from his severe exertions as he circled the track, acknowledging the plaudits of the fans.

After a number of championship meets this season Kramer and Goullet were tied with the same number of points. The management then decided to put on three match races to decide the championship. The first, ridden at a quarter of a mile, was held two weeks ago yesterday and Kramer won. By winning yesterday he made the third race, which would have been contested at a mile, unnecessary.

JOE TINKER'S TEAM WON FED TITLE BY ONE POINT

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 4.—Joe Tinker's Whales won the Federal League pennant Saturday, by defeating Pittsburgh in the second game of a double-header by a score of 3 to 0. Chicago lost the first game 5 to 4, after an exciting eleven-inning engagement.

By winning from Kansas City, St. Louis, Fielder Jones' team, jumped up within a point of Chicago, while Pittsburgh went down to third place. Only four points separate the three teams, the Whales leading St. Louis by a single point.

QUALIFYING ROUND FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Nine Teams Listed for First Round Play in Four-Ball Tournament.

The qualifying round for the four-ball championship of the Plainfield Country Club was the chief attraction on Saturday and it attracted a large field of players. Eight teams were to qualify for the first round match play, but owing to tie scores nine teams got in. There will be a drawing to pick the team which is to continue. The teams to qualify are as follows:

J. Whitney Baker and R. S. Rowland, 78; H. R. Stockton and S. H. Patterson, 81; Leighton Calkins and Charles A. Reed, 81; Morris J. Dumont and H. E. Butler, 81; A. J. Watson and W. M. Alling, 82; L. G. Carman and Arthur Murphy, 83; H. D. Hibbard and J. E. Erickson, 84; W. T. Kaufman and E. B. Shoemaker, 84; O. H. Fleming and H. H. Craig, 84.

The drawings for the first round match play are as follows:

J. Whitney Baker and R. S. Rowland vs. O. H. Fleming and H. H. Craig; M. J. Dumont and H. E. Butler vs. Leighton Calkins and C. A. Reed; H. R. Stockton and S. H. Patterson vs. J. E. Erickson and H. D. Hibbard; L. G. Carman and Arthur Murphy vs. W. M. Alling and A. J. Watson.

The leading scores for the Golf Committee cup were as follows:

S. T. Perrin, 91, 17-74; L. G. Carman, 88, 10-78; W. M. Alling, 91, 13-78; H. H. Craig, 93, 12-81; Morris J. Dumont, 93, 12-81.

These scores were returned in the weekly sweepstakes event:

W. W. Coriell, 95, 25-70; H. A. Robinson, 102, 27-75; W. M. Alling, 91, 13-78; O. H. Fleming, 90, 10-80.

There was the usual weekly dinner-dance at the clubhouse in the evening, more than fifty covers being laid for the dinner, while as many more came in for the dance afterward.

TO ORGANIZE A TEAM.

A meeting of St. Mary's Social Club will be held tomorrow night in the T. A. B. Hall for the purpose of forming a basketball squad. All members who are interested in this sport are urged to be present at 8 o'clock.

NASH IS SECRETARY OF JUNIOR BOWLERS

Plainfield Again to Be Represented in Elks' Minor Organization.

Delegates representing lodges which comprise the Elks' Junior Bowling League met yesterday afternoon at the Elks' home in Newark and organized for the season of 1915-1916. There were representatives present or proxies from Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Paterson and Jersey City, these six forming the circuit last season. It was said at yesterday's meeting that efforts would be made to have the Summit, Bayonne, Hackensack and Kearny lodges enter teams, the purpose being to increase the circuit to ten teams. A committee was appointed to confer with representatives of these lodges.

The junior Elks passed a resolution yesterday to the effect that no team would be admitted unless the lodge it represented had alleys in its own clubhouse. Such action was considered, unofficially, at the recent meeting of the senior Elks, but the matter did not come up for discussion at the meeting.

The junior Elks propose to open their league season about the middle of November. The entrance fee has been set at $15. It was voted yesterday that, in case of a roll-off being necessary for any prize, that no bowler shall be eligible unless he shall have rolled in at least two-thirds of the scheduled games.

At the election of officers yesterday Alexander Hinton, of Newark, was chisen president, J. Walter King, of Elizabeth, vice-president; Walter Burton, of New Brunswick, treasurer, and V. W. Nash, Jr., of Plainfield, secretary. Members of the executive committee next season will be Harry Lawrence, of Paterson; William Russell, of Jersey City, and George Taylor, of New Brunswick. An entertainment committee will consist of William Knowles, chairman, of Newark; Norman Davis, of Elizabeth, and Charles S. Woolston, of Plainfield.

HOLDERS RETAIN OFFICERS' TROPHY

H. E. Blazier and R. C. Blancke, Jr., Defeat Whitehead and Nischwitz.

Harold E. Blazier and R. C. Blancke, Jr., holders, defeated Walter Whitehead and W. H. Nischwitz, challengers, 3 and 1, for the Officers' Challenge Medal, at the Park Golf Club on Saturday.

In the weekly competition for the President's cup the leading scores were as follows:

W. P. Taylor, 86, 7-79; H. H. Woodland, 95, 14-81; A. Cannon, 97, 16-81; Dr. Guy H. Hillman, 121, 38-83; J. J. Lee, 138, 38-100.

P. H. S. BATTLED EASTON TO A TIE

Red and Blue Warriors Show Class in Their Initial Gridiron Argument.

OFFICIALS "OFF COLOR"

Both Combines Held Their Territory Safe Most of the Time—Straight Football Featured the Play—Locals Good on Offensive.

Battling Easton High to a scoreless tie, the P. H. S. gridiron warriors very auspiciously pried the lid off the 1915 football pot, a large and enthusiastic body of students and followers of both teams witnessing the opening go at Parker Field Saturday afternoon.

While it appeared that the Easton team was lighter than the locals, investigation showed that the weight difference amounted to very little. During the first quarter both elevens rushed the ball up and down the field, making alternate gains and fumbles. Things began to hum during the second period, when repeated gains by Noonan and Daniels gave the locals a good footing, which, however, was in every instance offset by the brilliant running of Schuck and "Red" Hauselman, of the visitors. The passing of Wolslayer, of Easton, caused much favorable comment but the snappy manner in which Daniels intercepted the well-intended arm-drives made it impossible for the visitors to get dangerously near the goal post. In this quarter, the only attempted kick for a goal was made by Noonan and did not materialize.

From the moment the second half began, P. H. S. forged to the front and several star plays by Fitch and Davidson earned decided setbacks for the visitors while the plunging of Noonan, Herb, Peacock and Bill Daniels drove the Easton front to the rear. Time and again the locals pushed for gains although the advance made did not always come up to expectations. Apgar, who executed most of the end runs, had plenty of spirit, but seemed to tire easily. The whistle, only, saved Easton's hopes as the Red and Blue boys were within 25 yards of the coveted goal when the referee's shrill blast sounded.

Never after did the P. H. S. lads show to advantage, playing the last quarter in defensive manner, undertaking many, but executing few, advantageous runs. The quarter ended with the two elevens contesting on even terms.

Throughout the whole encounter the work of Bill Daniels, Jim Noonan, Sam Davidson, Ches Alpaugh, Herb Peacock, Dick Pennock and Dave Fitch, for the locals, and Schuck, Heuselman and Wolslayer, of the visitors, were the features of the game.

The line-up:

P. H. S.	E. H. S.
Wheelan	Goldman
Centre.
Zamloch	Taylor
Right Tackle.
Miller	Kauffman
Left Tackle.
Hopper	Chidsey
Right Guard.
Pennock	Hall

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORT

WHY NOT WOODMAN?

Just why those in charge of Plainfield High School football did not select Professor Woodman for the referee job in that Easton combat Saturday afternoon is a problem that is today troubling the minds of those interested in the schoolboys' competition. As an official the man in charge was a valuable asset to the visitors and showed all too plainly that he was performing to the "gallery" rather than for the best interests of the sport. If the P. H. S. coach is going to pass up an opportunity to secure such an efficient and fair referee as Mr. Woodman has proven himself to be it will not be long before there'll be a general kick registered, but it may then be too late to secure the services of Mr. Woodman for it is a well-known fact that he is not one of those individuals who will play a "second fiddle" role.

WELL GROOMED ELEVEN.

Football as played by the Plainfield High School eleven Saturday afternoon came as a pleasant surprise to the red and blue cohorts. The team this year is well balanced, and in holding its own against Easton it accomplished a feat that won for it a warm place in the heart of gridirondom. As an opener the Easton match was a corker and the High School boys deserved better support than they were accorded by the student body.

"MORE MONEY" THE SLOGAN.

Now that the Netherwood City League champions and the Plainfield A. A. challengers have evened up their series with one win each the supporters of both aggregations are demanding that Lou Slocum be given another chance to show his mettle in the deciding combat. Despite the fact that Slocum's feat in shutting out the Plainfielders without a hit or run in the first game was far from a fluke, the fans would like to see him try the trick once more and Manager Coughlin will probably attempt to secure his services. Slocum says he doesn't intend to pitch for the love of the thing, however, and unless Coughlin "comes across" there'll be no Slocum in the lineup.

As baseball weather Saturday afternoon the atmosphere was better suited to football.

Every time we think of Holy Cross beginning its season next Saturday with the world's series in full blast a chilly shiver sneaks up and down our spines.

Aside from the tips they received from the schoolboy elevens on Parker Field Saturday afternoon the Holy Cross warriors have had no practice as yet.

Don't forget that City Basketball League meeting tomorrow night.

Those Elk bowlers are not far behind the Holy Cross club in this eleventh hour stuff. Despite the fact that October 25 is creeping upon us the senior league prospects are still unsettled among the antlered pinners.

Watch for Jack Martin's criticism of the world's series in this paper. He's got some red-hot stuff stored up for our readers and his tips should come pretty near panning out.

WHAT! WILLARD TO BOX.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 4.—Jess Willard last night announced that his first fight to defend the title of world's champion heavyweight pugilist which he won from Jack Johnson probably will take place in New Orleans in March, the challenger to be the "logical contender" for the title, selected by the sporting writers of the country. He said he would accept the offer of New Orleans promoters for a twenty-round match there during Madri Gras.

$85,000 STAKE RACE.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 4.—The Grand Circuit trotting meeting opens here today, with $85,000 purses set aside for the harness horses. The feature of the opening day is the Castleton Cup, a free for all trotting event for a $3,000 purse, and a gold cup donated by David M. Look.

FIRE DAY—OCTOBER 9TH.
The "safety first" slogan is needed nowhere more than in the field of fire prevention. If a part of the money expended in keeping up fire departments and apparatus was used in the prevention of fires, the results would be more rewarding. Every citizen should consider it his duty to observe Saturday, October 9th, as a day to thoroughly inspect his premises and remove any cause for fire.

RADIO TELEPHONY.

It has been a scientific assumption, based on successful experimentation, that wireless or "radio" telephony would in time run, not with equal steps perhaps, but along parallel lines, with the developments of wireless telegraphy, says the New York Herald. Even the most sanguine students must, however, have been unprepared for the news that distinct and continued radio telephonic communication had been established at first between the Arlington and Mare Island naval radio stations (separated by 2,500 miles) and later in the day between Arlington and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, distant 4,600 miles.

The astonishing progress thus made in less than ten years in the art of transmission is attributable to the patient and intelligent investigations and discoveries made by the experts of the Bell system. Many difficult and at times disheartening problems had to be attacked, not the least among them being the possibility of connecting the wireless telegraph, so that the employment of either separately or in combination could easily be secured. This solution has been reached.

The usefulness of the new system is undoubted and its value is certain to increase, though it must not be expected to replace telephony by wire, radio telegraphy or direct communication by ocean cables or land lines. To these others it stands in the relation of an important adjunct not a probable substitute, and even as such its fields of employment are sure to be extended and fruitful.

ONE MAYOR WITH COURAGE.

A Southern statesman about to become a candidate for re-election in a State where women were demanding their rights was asked by a fair worker for the suffrage cause to describe his position on the subject.

"Uncomfortable, Madam. Very uncomfortable!" he replied.

It is true that most of those who are actively before the people are backward about expressing their opinion on this important reform, and the courage of a man who will firmly declare either for or against it is refreshing. Mayor Riddle, of Atlantic City, is one official with nerve enough to publicly fight for his convictions. He even advertises them. On a big white board, just off the boardwalk on a lot owned by him, he has had the following painted in black lettering:

"The owner of this lot believes in Woman's suffrage and so does any man who remembers a good mother. Vote for Suffrage October 19."

It is possible that if Mayor Riddle's mother were alive today she might not ask a vote for herself or might even believe that the modern wave of feminism was unbecoming to the fair sex, but we know that she would be proud of the manly courage of her son.

The common enemy is now engaged in making a change in his battle front. Future attacks on the trenches defended by the working man are to be led by Gen. Coal, while the army corps of Gen. Ice rests in preparation of a drive into our country next spring.

Both Henry Ford and a man named Parker are claiming credit for inventing the new "baby" submarine. Why don't they wait until it has been tried? After that each may be willing to modestly surrender in favor of the other.

Baldhead Club of America in session at Winsted, Conn., offers prize for best looking baldhead. It is now in order for old maids to form The Society of Watchful, Waiting Spinisters, and hold a beauty contest.

Germany need not hurry to express regret for American lives lost on the Lusitania. Huerta has yet to salute the flag and Georgia to make amends to justice, and both are ahead of the Kaiser.

New York saloonists have raised the price of a pint of beer from ten to fifteen cents. Everything is going up there but the streets.

Lifer at Sing Sing starts fight and gets fatally stabbed. He was cut in the sentence, we presume.

Old Doc Dumba says he is leaving America without regret. He means he doesn't regret it either.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Impure virus, used in the vaccination of school children at Burlington, this State, has caused the deaths of two of them. Their deaths were directly due to tetanus, which developed. Forty other families are in a panic of anxiety. The children of these families were also vaccinated and from the same consignment of virus. The mother of the dead children is a trained nurse and used every precaution. She is absolved from blame by attending physicians. This incident, no doubt, will revive antagonism against compulsory vaccination in New Jersey, as the deaths of some vaccinated children caused a vigorous fight against the law in New York. Dr. John S. Conroy, who performed the operation at Burlington, to which the deaths of the two children are attributed, is reported to have said: "I think vaccination is a protection against smallpox, but I would rather run the chance. I have a little son, and I can say now that he will never be vaccinated as long as I have anything to say about it."—Elizabeth Journal.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Possibly the most varied bill to be presented at Proctor's Theatre thus far this season opens today at the popular house of refined amusement. The program consists of six up-to-the-minute vaudeville, at least one feature photo-play, current events shown each day in picture form, and music by a complete orchestra.

Up to this point, the Proctor vandeville has been good and bespeaks the continued patronage of the theatre-going public of this city. The various acts have been varied, and more than of passing interest. The acts have all been clean.

The pictures have been feature productions, and are always subjected to censor before being presented to a Plainfield audience. The Kawa Japs, numbered among the most wonderful of the world's acrobats, are making their first appearance in this city at Proctor's house today. Those interested in the development of the human body should by all means see this unique act. Then, too, the Parshleys, America's foremost instrumentalists, are appearing for the first three days of the present week. Certainly, lovers of excellent music, both vocal and instrumental, are being cared for at this theatre.

The program for today, tomorrow and Wednesday is completed with the following: Bobby Heath and Ruby Raymond, in some "nifty nonsense;" David S. Hall and Company, in the comedy with thrills, "He's Just Gone Out;" Cook and Sylvia, singers and dancers, and Joe Lanigan, the Adonis of vaudeville. A new and different feature photoplay each day. Pathe News at every performance.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

The monthly business meeting of the Young People's Association, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will be held this evening, at which time officers will be elected for the coming term.

Approaching Glories

White bloom on the hillside,
The honey-bees at play—
Buckwheat-cakes and sassidge
Can't be far away!

Hogs loose in the woodland
Where the "mast" is thick—
Eating till they surfeit,
Drinking from the "crick."
Later we shall tole them
In to corn and swill—
Don't forget that buckwheat
Bloomin' on the hill!

Soon be time to butcher—
Soon be time to thrash!
"Pure-food law"—forget it!
This ain't any trash.
"Tender-loin" and rib-meat
Ground in greasy mill,
Then the buckwheat batter—
Life's worth living, still!

Letter From The Czar

Dear Offaginsky—I have noticed in a good many of the papers in your country that my army is criticised for ineffectiveness. But if you or any of your people have ever heard of any army giving any ruler more of a run for his money, I wish you'd report it. My noble troops are bent on bringing the Germans into Petrograd alive. This great retreat is our way of "Seeing Russia First."

Our army is doing this retreat stuff because we know the world hasn't forgotten the Russo-Jap war, and we want a reputation for consistency.

Excuse bad writing. I am writing this on the kitchen tableovitch, as my writing desk is packed and at the storage barns, with my other household goods.

Very nervously yours,

Arithmetically Speaking

Woodrow Wilson is the subtrahend of the Democratic party, Bryan is the minuend, and nearly all of the party is the remainder.

In our national affairs Theodore R., with his anti-race-suicide talk might be called the multiplier, as well as what the Republican party is divided by, and there can be no doubt whatever that Thomas A. Edison is the greatest common deviser.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Very Refined "Cold" Microbes

ANOTHER new cause of "colds"! Yes, really and truly refined coryza germs or rhinitis microbes or "cold" bugs, you can take your pick of terms. An investigator—we almost said a mariner—by the name of Kruse has discovered that the virus of many cases of coryza (head "cold") is filterable, like that of infantile paralysis and certain other infectious diseases.

Kruse diluted the secretion in acute "cold" with fifteen times its volume of salt solution and passed the mixture through an unglazed porcelain filter. The filtered material was instilled into the noses of twelve fearless volunteers, and in from one to three days afterward four of the martyrs came down with the snuffle-sneeze.

Not satisfied with this list of casualties, the savant diluted the secretion with twenty times its volume of salt solution, filtered it as before, instilled a wee sample into the nostrils of thirty-six victims and had the satisfaction of seeing fifteen of them languishing with acute rhinitis within the next few days.

All of which is of very little or no significance to us, except in so far as it serves to call attention to the many, many kinds of "colds" on the market, and perhaps to accent any little emphasis we may have already placed upon the contagiousness of all "colds."

If any of our readers still harbor the great delusion we do hope they will never again doubt that at least some "colds" can be passed from person to person by the mere transference of a fleck of the nasal secretion—as, for instance, in an open-face sneeze.

Those who still live in close confinement during bad weather and in the colder part of the year, for fear of "taking cold," are perhaps too wilful to change their minds now, but if there be any still capable of fitting their theories with our facts, we would unhesitatingly recommend an absolutely reckless disregard of weather conditions as a real and proved factor of good health.

House-broken air—nice, comfortably heated, mollycoddle air—is the one supreme predisposing cause of infection with the various "cold" microbes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Case In Point

I am a public school teacher, writes Mary, and last year I established 65 to 68 degrees F. as the maximum temperature permissible in the schoolroom. The children soon came to prefer it cool—they would complain of the bad air as soon as it rose above that point, and I always gave them fresh air when they wanted it. But other teachers criticised me, declaring that the temperature should be from 70 to 72 degrees and never less. Even my own sister Anne declared I was making a mistake to follow such a fad—yet our room remained practically free from "colds" all winter.

Answer—How old is Anne? Nothing new escapes criticism. Be sure you're right—and you are sure—then go ahead.

A Harmless Laxative

Is phenolphthalein a harmless laxative for repeated use? What size dose should one take for moderate effect?

Answer—It is as harmless as any artificial aid, in tablets or wafers containing a grain.

Consumption Without Cough

Is there such a thing as dry consumption—that is, without cough or expectoration?

Answer — Incipient consumption sometimes produces no cough or expectoration, and advanced cases may have neither for long periods.

Common To Animals And Man

Is there a disease a sixteen-year old boy could contract from cattle, known as big jaw? What is the scientific name? Is it caused by a fungus?

Answer — Yes, actinomycosis (lumpy jaw, so-called) is contracted from cattle. It is due to the ray fungus. If treated promptly by a surgeon it is usually curable. Many cases are painless, and for that reason too long delayed.

COLLARS

A COLLAR is a small white linen irritant which has caused 50,000,000 women to make the same remark while watching their husbands dressing.

The remark is: "Well, I'm glad I'm not a man," and it always comes just after a husband has torn a collar off and has addressed it in remarks that sear and burn.

Collars are compelled by the demands of style to be white and stiff, but not waterproof. These are three of the most heartless demands ever made upon the masculine sex.

It costs the men of this nation $100,000,000 a year in laundry bills to keep their collars white. Enough time is spent each day in struggling with clean collars a little less yielding than a stove pipe, to read a medium-sized library. And every time the sun gets a good hold on a summer day, it causes 40,000,000 collars to wilt like an overripe lettuce leaf.

A linen collar is so stiff in the morning that it has to be put on with jackscrews. But in the afternoon, when its owner is seven miles from his base of supplies, it melts away and lies on his shoulders, causing the world to give him the brutal ha! ha!

Once upon a time, waterproof collars were invented. They could also be cleaned at home by an amateur. But the laundrymen bought up the funny papers and wrote so many jokes about celluloid collars that they passed away with the dibble cane head and the toothpick shoe.

In one hour, Edison could invent an enameled steel collar with a patent catch which could be put on by a one-armed man in the dark, would stand up even when worn by a fat man to a July baseball game and could be cleaned with a hose. He could invent it in an hour, but

Fifty million women make the same remark while watching their husbands dressing

Henry Ford couldn't sell fifty of them in a year.

This is because the men who make the styles would decline to allow us to wear them.

The United States needs a larger standing army. We should enlist seven million men, arm them well and declare a war of independence against the men who make the styles. Then maybe we could get to church now and then without burning out a bearing while dressing for the occasion.

Views Of The Press

Children Overtrained

JOSEPHINE DODGE DASKAM Bacon has undertaken to give her readers something a little more substantial than mere fiction. Moved by the necessity for protest against what she calls "pathetic rot" in child culture, Mrs. Bacon who is a mother as well as a writer tells the public frankly that children are fussed with and fussed over entirely too much. "Many modern theorists," says she, in the New York Times, "believe that a child's mind is an empty space which they must constantly try to fill. What dangerous nonsense that is!" Then she continues:

This constant prying into a child's mind is a ruinous thing. A child has his rights, he should be allowed his own individuality. The modern American woman has a fatal fondness for analogy—that is why she is so fond of Maeterlinck. Some one tells her that a child's mind is like a garden in which she must plant beautiful flowers, and she seizes the idea with tremendous enthusiasm. If one of my children had a mind like a garden I wouldn't let it come any nearer me than the laundry! I haven't the remotest idea what my children do with a great deal of their time. They go away somewhere and yell. They have a perfect right to do so, just as grown-up people have a perfect right to play bridge or read Robert Chambers' novels.

If we will stop our "prying" long enough to think about it, we shall very likely see a good deal of truth in what Mrs. Bacon says. Children nowadays, it must be confessed, are hedged about with "Do's" and "Don'ts" to an extent that leaves them little latitude for initiative of their own. As a result, Mrs. Bacon says, "the modern American child is appallingly lacking in initiative." It is overtrained, overdieted, she charges, and finally over Montessoried. It ought to be let alone more. There is too much supervision, too much restriction. The consequence is seen in the fact that its capacity for independent thought is much less than it used to be. And as for self-reliance children lack it as much as they lack initiative.

Of course, Mrs. Bacon is probably indulging in the feminine fondness for hyperbole. Things are not so bad as she thinks, or says, they are. But the grain of truth is in the utterance nevertheless. Children, as she says, are entitled to more independence—to all, indeed, that they can use to their advantage. And they are, as she charges, "too much of a laboratory product"—too much studied and supervised and directed. Lengthening the apron string is not a bad things to try now and then.—Boise Idaho, Evening Capital News.

A Claim On The Railway

Q. I am a farmer and the owner of considerable livestock. Not long ago a railroad train ran over and killed some of my stock. The railroad company offered to make a settlement, but not until after I had threatened suit. We agreed on the price to be paid. Since then the company has refused to make any payment. Couldn't I bring suit against the company?

A. If the circumstances were such as to show that you had a valid claim against the company, and the company, by way of compromise or in settlement, agreed to pay you a certain sum of money, you have the right to maintain a suit.

Bond Agreement Must Hold

Q. If a man gives a bond by which he obligates himself to sell a certain piece of real estate, couldn't he be sued if he should fail to do as the bond provides? A. Yes.

He Didn't Like Work

Q. If a tenant agrees, in his written lease, to keep the premises in a state of repair and in good condition, and then fails to do so, could the landlord bring a suit against him? A. Yes.

Wanted—An Interpreter

Q. Where there are certain figures in a written instrument, such as matters of date and the like, and it is difficult to determine what these figures are, would a hand-writing expert's testimony be received in court?

A. It has been held, in a number of cases, that the testimony of an expert would be admissible under such circumstances.

"Distress" Is Right!

Q. In some of the states there is such a thing as "distress for rent." Is this recognized in all the states?

A. No.

Professional Advice

Q. Where one wishes to employ a lawyer, is it ever necessary to put the agreement into writing?

A. Ordinarily, no formal method of appointment is essential, although it is sometimes reduced to writing. In some few instances, the statutes or a rule of court may require a formal appointment.

A Very Junior Partner

Q. Where a boy of sixteen agrees to become a partner in a concern, may he be compelled to do so if he should, later on, decide not to go into the partnership? A. No.

Credit Insurance

Q. What is the purpose of "credit insurance"?

A. Its purpose is to afford a guaranty to a seller so that he may not sustain a financial loss in the event of the debtor's insolvency.

Lease Agreement Is Binding

Q. I am renting an apartment, under a written lease. It is now about time for the lease to expire, but I want to remain. Could I compel the landlord to renew the lease?

A. Not unless he expressly agreed, by the terms of the original lease, to do so, or unless there has been a new agreement, founded upon a proper consideration, by which he promises to renew.

The Life Line

BY LAURA KIRKMAN

The Girl With The "My Friends Tell Me" Habit

This is the girl who has never done a stroke of work in her life. "My friends tell me I ought to study painting," she informs us as she shows us an ash tray or a picture frame which she has amused herself by decorating. And instantly we know what class to put her in—in that class of folk who go right through life content to get nowhere. Did you ever know of a real worker who went into something because "his friends told him" he ought to? A real worker would be ashamed to admit that he hadn't ambition enough to persuade himself to take the plunge into work—that he had to be propped up on all sides by imploring friends who possessed the ambition which he himself lacked. What a ridiculous picture? Yet the girl with the "my friends tell me" habit thinks she is impressing us—thinks she is convincing us that she possesses unusual latent powers, and that she might be a celebrity if she chose.

She's a child parading in grown-ups' clothes.

Current Poetry

"The Boys Of La Bassee"

You'll see from the La Bassee
Road, on any summer day,
The children herding nanny goats,
the women making hay.
You'll see the soldiers, khaki clad,
in column and platoon,
Come swinging up La Bassee Road, from billets in Bethune.
There's hay to cave and corn to cut,
but harder work by far
Awaits the soldier boys who reap the harvest fields of war.
You'll see them swinging up the road, where women work at hay,
The straight, long road, La Bassee
Road, on any summer day.

The night breeze sweeps La Bassee Road, the night dews wet the hay.
The boys are coming back again, a straggling crowd are they.
The column's lines are broken up,
and gaps in the platoon,
They'll not need many billets now for soldiers in Bethune.
For many boys, good lusty boys,
who marched so very fine,
Have now got little homes of clay beside the firing line.
Good luck to them, God-speed to them, the boys who march away,
A-singing up La Bassee Road each sunny summer day.

The Rest of That Afternoon the Kiddies Had Great Fun.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bibbley Wah And Bobbie Take Care of Ducks.

"HOW about a duck story?" asked daddy when the kiddies climbed on his knee.

"If it's Bibbley Wah's duck!" cried Jack and Evelyn.

"One of the pleasant things the little Frenchie's mother did besides make Marie Antoinette's cake was to raise ducks. One spring she had a great brood of fluffy yellow balls, and two were so much smaller than all the rest that she gave them to Bibbley Wah and Bobbie for pets."

"Are ducks nice playthings?" asked Evelyn.

"The kiddies thought so. They ran up the hill perfectly delighted and took two of the cook's bread tins to keep them in. When Bobbie's mother found this out she gave the kiddies two nice paper boxes much bigger than bread tins, and all the rest of that afternoon the kiddies had the greatest fun punching holes for the ducks to breathe through."

"Did Bibbley Wah name her duck?" asked Evelyn.

"The kiddies named their pets Emile, after the French baby, and Marta, after the baby's mother.

"The kiddies picked young grass for the ducklings and got the cook to make them some cornmeal mush. Then when the little yellow things cheeped and cheeped to go to bed under their mother duck's warm wing it was a big question what to do with the poor little homesick balls.

"So the kiddies' mother was called in for advice. She thought the best place was by the kitchen stove, where the ducklings would surely be warm. But the kiddies cried that they wanted their pets near them. So she gave them some wool and said they might wrap their ducklings in it and keep them. So the kiddies went to bed with two boxed, wrapped ducks on a chair between them. Bibbley Wah tumbled off to sleep, but Bobbie's tender little heart would not let him sleep. He lay awake to hear if his pet was happy, and every little stir troubled him. When he was sure Bibbley Wah was asleep he reached out and took his duck in bed. Then he fell asleep.

"Alas for his tender heart! The next morning Bibbley Wah's pet woke him, peeping, peeping for food, while his own lay crushed in bed with him. While he slept he had rolled on it, you see."

"So the kiddies had a duck funeral and buried Emile in a shoe box with a perky aster for a headstone. Carlo and Jim and the kiddies' mother were invited to come, and they dug a little grave under the snowball bush and laid the duckling to sleep."

Household Hints

HOW MANY TAPIOCA DISHES DO YOU KNOW?

While tapioca is probably used to some extent in every household, it is surprising in how few ways it is used. Most housewives use it for, possibly, soups and simple puddings. There are many ways in which this food can be used in combination with fruits and other foods.

The pearl tapioca that is generally used requires soaking over night before using, but there are flake forms on the market which can be used without any preliminary soaking. The following recipes all call for the use of the flake tapioca.

Soups—Two tablespoons of flake tapioca added to a quart of any kind of soup about fifteen minutes before removing from the stove adds greatly to its flavor as well as its nourishing qualities.

Tomato Tapioca Soup—To one pint of strained red tomatoes add one ounce of butter, two tablespoons tapioca, one and a half pints hot water, a little salt and pepper, and boil fifteen minutes. Serve with bread croutons.

Bananas and Tapioca—One-fourth cup tapioca, one pint boiling water, two-thirds cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, juice of two lemons, the whites of two eggs, four or five bananas, one cup of whipped cream. Mix the sugar and tapioca and stir into the boiling water, and salt; let cook, stirring occasionally, about fifteen minutes, then add the lemon juice and fold in the whites of the eggs. When the eggs are evenly distributed throughout the mixture fold in the pulp of the bananas cut in thin slices. This should be cooked in the chafing dish over boiling water to avoid burning. Serve with whipped cream.

Tapioca a la Pistachio—Break six macaroons into small pieces, put into a deep dish and soak in half a gill of sherry. Scald one-half pint of milk, add two tablespoons of tapioca, cook fifteen minutes. Add one heaping tablespoon of sugar and half a teaspoon of almond extract. Cool; then mix in half a pint of whipped cream. Pour into the glass dish and garnish with chopped pistachio nuts and crushed macaroons. Chill, and serve. Pecans, almonds, English walnuts can be used instead of pistachio nuts, if desired.

Tapioca en Surprise—Scald one pint milk in double boiler, add one tablespoon tapioca, and cook fifteen minutes. Beat one egg slightly, add one cup of sugar, and one-fourth teaspoon salt, mix well, pour over the hot tapioca and milk, return to double boiler and cook five minutes more. Pour into a large bowl and when cool add one and one-half cups heavy cream and two and one-half cups of milk that have been beaten together. Pour into freezer. When partly frozen add one-half dozen macaroons that have been in the oven and rolled fine.

Tapioca Prune Delight—Cook in a double boiler for fifteen minutes one pint of milk, four tablespoons of tapioca, and a pinch of salt. Remove from fire and add one tablespoon of butter, two tablespoons of sugar and the yolks of two eggs. Pour into a buttered pan and bake for a half hour in a moderate oven. Steam a cup of prunes until tender, rub through a sieve, and spread this puree over the tapioca. Pile on top the whites of two eggs well beaten, and sweetened with two tablespoons of sugar. Brown the meringue in the oven. This may be served hot or cold.

USEFUL INVENTION

An ingenious person has invented a tool to assist in hanging a skirt. Screw one side of a cheap thin yard stick to a small but heavy block of wood. Then clamp to the yard stick a small ten-cent monkey wrench. In hanging a child's dress place this block on the floor and adjust the wrench for the desired length of skirt. Turn up the skirt where it rests on the wrench handle, and as the child turns slowly around pin or mark with chalk the edge of the hem. For an adult's skirt place a waist form on a small round table, adjust the garment over this and hang in the same manner.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

Which of the stores can serve you most usefully today—that is one thing you may learn from reading today's advertisements.

CHAPTER XIX.

A Wedding Present.

RODNEY and Mary waited, and love was rewarded once more by nothing less ethereal than a second order for soap that very morning. It was from Dockery's, and this time they simply must fill it. They both agreed, wherefore they had flown at once to Mr. Martin's house in the midst of their honeymoon.

They arrived while Mr. Bronson of Chicago was putting in his half hour wait by feeding peanuts to the chipmunks in Central park. They found only Ambrose there, though very much at home; and Ambrose, of course, once the countess was disposed of, wanted to know what the excitement was all about. Mary told him. It seemed that just after they got to the office that morning a letter from Dockery's had come in.

"Ordering 10,000 cakes of 13 Soap," interrupted Rodney.

"Now what do you think of that?" said Mary.

"Pinch me—I'm dreaming," Peale told her.

"They say our advertising's wonderful," went on Rodney, "and has created such a demand they want to handle the soap in town."

Rodney went on:

"You see, when I show father this letter from Dockery he's got to admit we've won out—and supply us with soap."

"Suppose he's still stubborn and won't help us, what shall we do?" asked Mary.

"Oh, we'll just have to plod along," said Rodney.

"Don't plod—gallop, son—gallop—gallop," amended Peale, full of his high spirits.

"If we ever come out of this you're going to be my partner, fifty to fifty," declared Rodney.

"Mr. Charles Bronson," Johnson announced.

"Oh, I beg pardon! I expected to find Mr. Martin," said Mr. Bronson, entering.

"I am Mr. Martin," spoke up Rodney.

"Mr. Rodney Martin?" pursued Bronson.

"Yes," said Rodney.

"Just the man I wanted to see—on private business," said Bronson.

"Oh, these are my partners," said Rodney. "You can talk before them. This is Mr. Peale and Miss Grayson."

"May I present—Mr"—

"Charles Bronson of Brown & James."

The man from Chicago went straight on with his errand.

"Now about your soap?"

"Now see here," protested Rodney.

"O Lord," thought Peale, then added aloud politely, "We're very sorry"—

Mr. Bronson looked at the three in a kind of busy wonder.

"Sorry?" he said. "Why, your 13 Soap the last few days has had a most remarkable sale at our store in Chicago."

Rodney gasped:

"You mean it is really selling?"

"Why, you seem surprised," said Bronson, studying their faces.

Mary pulled herself together briskly, the first of them all.

"Oh, not—not a bit," she repudiated.

Peale longed to know the whole truth.

"You mean people are actually coming into the store and buying it?" he went on.

"At a dollar a cake," said Bronson.

"It was those page advertisements in Chicago that did it," conceded Mary.

"Absolutely," said Peale.

Mr. Bronson wanted to know if they would keep up their campaign. That would have some bearing, of course, on the subject in hand.

"Triple it," said Peale from the bottom of his heart.

"Good, good!" said Mr. Bronson. "We foresee a tremendous sale for your goods. It's an amazing soap. Do you control the company yourself?"

"Oh, entirely," said Rodney.

"Then I can deal with you," Bronson began again.

"With us—all of us," Rodney asserted, and Bronson went on:

"We should be glad to contract now for 250,000 cakes, with deliveries to begin next week."

Mary, whose brain had been going like lightning, now took a hand.

"Our capacity just at present is limited," she said cautiously.

"Yes, we have so many orders on hand," agreed Rodney. "Here's an idea," he said. "In view of our press of orders, would you entertain the idea of paying us merely for the use of our trademark, without any soap at all?"

"Yes, I think we would," Bronson said. "Your trademark is, of course, your biggest asset. You would give us your formula?"

"Yes, if we still have that cook book," blurted Peale.

"I beg pardon," said Bronson.

"Nothing, nothing. Have a cigar," said Peale.

"I've got the cook book," said Mary.

"You can have the formula," Rodney agreed.

Mr. Bronson cleared his throat and went on:

"With a license from you to use the title, I daresay we could arrange to have the soap manufactured by Cyrus Martin of the soap trust."

"How much would you pay for the trademark?" put in Mary.

"I should have to call up our Chicago office," said Bronson. "But I think I can safely say we should be prepared to offer you at least $250,000."

Peale gasped, but controlled himself in time to say "Indeed!" in a very genteel tone of voice.

"Can I have an option at that figure?" pursued Bronson.

"No," said Mary.

"Yes," said Peale.

"No," said Mary again, loudly and resolutely.

"No," said Rodney, following her lead.

"Hadn't we better discuss the matter a little more fully first among ourselves?" she said sweetly.

"Yes," said Mr. Bronson tactfully. "Perhaps I could wait somewhere for a few minutes."

"Yes, do please—in the next room," suggested Mary.

Mr. Bronson stepped to the door.

The door had no sooner closed on Mr. Bronson than the board of directors of the 13 Soap company went into immediate special session.

"Why not give him an option at a quarter of a million?" asked Rodney.

"Because maybe we can get more money than that out of your father," Mary said quietly.

Rodney kissed her. Peale coughed.

Mary said nothing more, for at that moment she spied Johnson coming up, and the sight of him helped give her an idea.

"Johnson, oh, Johnson, you know I've always liked you," she began, attracting his attention vehemently "Will you do me a favor?"

"Why, yes, Miss"—

"When Mr. Martin comes back don't tell him that Rodney and Mr. Peale are here or Bronson either. Say I'm alone."

"Yes, miss, but Mr. Martin has just driven up in his car. He'll be here directly."

"Hurry up, then. Tell him I'm here, waiting for him," said Mary.

Johnson went out obediently.

"I've got a great idea," said Mary. "You two boys go into that room and stay there. Now listen. Keep Bronson there. When I ring this buzzer twice you call me on this phone—there's a switch in there—and never mind what I say. Now hurry. I'm going to try to make a deal with your father."

They went out reluctantly. Mr. Martin came in.

"Hello, Miss Grayson," he said, seeing her; "this is another pleasant surprise. Where is Rodney?"

"That doesn't matter. I'm here," said Mary demurely.

"Where's that—that Mr."— he began.

"Mr. Peale?" said Mary. "Oh, Mr. Peale's gone back to the office, but he told me to tell you that he'd got that contract"—

"Oh, he did, did he?" said Martin. "Great, great! He's a smart boy."

"We are all smart," said Mary. "It's a smart firm. We've just got a letter from Dockery's for 10,000 cakes of 13 Soap, and this time you didn't send the telegram."

"Dockery's, eh? Well, well! Now I'll be frank," he said. "I want Rodney to come in with me—and you've got to help. You started this scheme. Now finish it up."

"What's changed you all of a sudden?" asked Mary.

"Well, Dockery's, for one thing," said the old gentleman. "That shows sensational advertising does pay. Those boys are right. I've been too conservative, but anyhow I've got the whip hand. Rodney can't get his soap for Dockery's except from me, and if I'm going to furnish 3 cent soap that he sells wholesale for 60 cents, I'm going to be in on the profits. Any young man who can do that is just bound to have me for a partner, whether he wants me or not. What do you say, Miss Grayson?"

"I'll do all I can for Rodney," said Mary, looking down.

"Good. Now, what's your proposition?" he inquired, sitting down.

"Five hundred thousand dollars cash," said Mary quietly.

"What!" yelled Mr. Martin.

"That isn't all. We are to get 51 per cent of the stock, you put up a factory and give Rodney $50,000 a year, Peale $30,000 and me $20,000."

Mr. Martin whistled.

"As my son once observed, what lovely weather we're having," he said.

"Hurrah, Mary! It's all right now!"

Mary pushed the buzzer twice. Almost instantly the telephone rang.

"Shall I answer it?" said Mary politely.

"Go ahead—say I'm out," Martin grunted.

"Oh, hello," said Mary in the telephone, adding in an aside to Mr. Martin, "it's for me. Hello, Rodney—you've seen Bronson?"

"Bronson?" repeated Mr. Martin.

"He did?" said Mary in the telephone; "why, that's a splendid offer. I hardly dared think Brown & James would be so generous."

"I'll accept your proposition, Miss Grayson," interrupted Mr. Martin hastily.

"Wait," said Mary. "Have you closed with Bronson yet?" she went on. "Oh, you haven't?"

"Good," grunted Mr. Martin.

"No," Mary went on, "I think you'd better come right up from the office and see me before you sign anything."

"Here, let me talk to him," Mr. Martin said, and reached for the phone.

"Oh, hello, hello," called Mary quickly and jiggled the bell. "Oh, dear, we've been cut off."

"I'm grateful to you," said Mr. Martin.

"Shall we sign a memorandum now?" asked Mary a little nervously.

"Sure—sure—just the rough details," he agreed.

"Sure, never put off till tomorrow what you can sign today," said Mary.

Mr. Martin began to write:

"Fifty-one per cent—Rodney—fifty thousand— And what's that young man's name again—Spiel?"

"Peale," said Mary.

"That certainly is one dickens of a name—$30,000—Grayson $20,000—there. You sign here."

"No, you sign first," said Mary. He obeyed.

"Now I'll sign for Rodney," said Mary, and did so gleefully.

"That's great," said Mr. Martin.

"You don't know how great it is," assented Mary, and started for the door. "Now I've a big surprise for you. Rodney's not at the office; he's in there."

"What do you mean?"

"Only that I thought I'd handle you less sentimentally than he would. You see, once before I spoiled Rodney's plan. This time I thought I ought to fix it up for him. Rodney, Ambrose," she called, throwing the door open.

Rodney and Peale came in.

"Rodney, it's all settled," Mary began. "Your father has come in with us. I've the contract for all the soap you want."

"Then I don't care what the arrangement is," cried Rodney, "now that we can make good. Twenty per cent of profits and any salary."

"Twenty per cent! Why, she bunkoed me out of 51 per cent and half a million down!" growled his father.

"Half a million!" gasped Peale.

"You did?" asked Rodney. "Mary, you are a wonder."

Mary turned to Mr. Martin.

"And by the terms of my contract with you you now owe me 10 per cent of what Rodney has made—$50,000."

"What contract?" asked Rodney of Mary.

Mr. Martin growled and snorted.

"So that's why you held me up, eh?" he sputtered. "Just to get your 10 per cent. Say, young lady, I've got a lot of other money that you are overlooking."

"Father, what do you mean?" Rodney queried.

"I'll tell you what I mean," said his father. "She got engaged to you to make you go to work. She only left me to keep you on the job because I promised her 10 per cent of what you earned. All the time that she's been pretending she would marry you she's been making use of you."

"You owe me $50,000. Can I have the check, please?" said Mary quietly.

"Yes," said the soap king, "if you'll quit now—get out of here for good. I'm disappointed."

"What's the difference?" asked Mary. "If I'd really loved him you'd have objected to his marrying only a typewriter."

"Objected! If you'd been on the level I'd have been proud to have you for my daughter," said the father, handing his check to Rodney.

"Hurrah, Mary! It's all right now!" cried Rodney.

"What is this—a joke?" said Martin.

"Certainly it is. You put up a joke on Mary and me, and I thought we'd put up one for you. Mary has told me about that contract already."

"You mean you're going to marry her?" asked his father.

"Certainly not," said Rodney.

"Why aren't you going to marry her?" demanded Martin.

"Because we are married already—married yesterday," said Rodney proudly. "And we thought before we told you of our marriage we'd get her percentage for a wedding present."

Mr. Martin whistled.

"By George, you boys were right! I am an old fool. Anyhow I'll win that bet from old John Clark."

"Now for Mr. Bronson," said Mary.

"You boys know Bronson?" asked Mr. Martin.

"Oh, yes!" said Mary. "We had a long talk with him right in this room about a proposition from Brown & James."

Mr. Bronson, who had come in, turned to Rodney.

"But I thought I was dealing with you"—

"No, sir; with me. Now, what's your proposition?" demanded the soap king.

"A quarter of a million cash just for the trademark," said Bronson.

"A quarter of a million?" said Martin scornfully to the quailing Bronson. "Why, you ought to be ashamed of yourself to try to trim these poor boys like that."

The excitement of putting through an important deal, the winning of the bet from John Clark, the reclamation of his boy Rodney and finally Rodney's marriage with Mary Grayson, something he had always wanted, exhilarated him. He squared away like Ambrose Peale, for all the world, and let Bronson have a full blast.

"You know that 13 Soap is worth half a million in Chicago alone!" he shouted. "And you try to take advantage of these kids' ignorance. Why, it's outrageous, but you can't trim me. No, sir—we wouldn't take a million. Do you know that the Bingo cracker trademark is valued at six million, the Honey Bee soap at ten million and our trademark is better than theirs? We're going to advertise all over the world— That's what advertising means—the power of suggestion—the psychology of print. All you have to do is to say a thing often enough and hard enough and 97 per cent of the public'll fall."

"Well, father," laughed Mary, hearing this torrent of advertising talk from these erstwhile conservative lips. "You've got religion."

Mr. Martin took out a large silk handkerchief and blew his nose quite loudly.

"I'll settle $100,000 on the first grandchild," he said, "just for luck."

"Well, well," said Ambrose Peale, with a suspicious twinkle in his eye. "Believe me, it pays to advertise."

THE END.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. IDA LEONARD.

"Oh, I've the best joke on your mother, Olive," said Dr. Ellson.

"A joke? Well, we might as well get the most fun possible out of it for you may be sure we shall enjoy it alone," replied his wife.

"You're right there. When I lifted the case of malt I was surprised to find it so light. I set it down and took the lid off the box. It had been opened and the cover was only set on. There were the dozen bottles but they were all empty." The doctor put back his head and laughed till the tears came.

"Empty! I fail to see the joke," said Olive, anxious to get into the fun.

"You do? Why, that poor troubled woman found that case of beer as she probably called it, and supposed I had ordered it for my private consumption. She thought I was on the broad road to destruction and before she left she did what she could to save me, she emptied all the stuff out. I suppose she could not get her courage up to say anything about it." Again the doctor shook with mirth.

"Oh, she must know of her mistake. It will relieve her to know you did not order it for yourself. Perhaps she will see that joke," said Olive. "I will tell daddy and he will have lots of fun over it."

"I have it!" exclaimed the doctor in great excitement. "I'll write to him explaining the situation, and telling him that I think she must have drunk it, for she was the only person in the house besides ourselves. That will give him a rare chance to tease her."

"He will improve his chance all right," laughed Olive. "I can just see how he will look at her over his glasses in grave displeasure and if she tells what she actually did, matters will be mended. Poor mother, she will never hear the last of it." Olive had laughed till the tears stood in her eyes.

"Your mother is so literal that she will actually think we suspect her of drinking it and she will continue to explain till her dying day that she did not touch the dreadful stuff, and we will continue to laugh and tease her. Well, we owe her something for giving us an evening at home. I must say it looks good to me," he sighed contentedly.

"Who called up?" asked Olive. "I hope you do not have to go out again tonight."

"Sorry, but old Mrs. Foster seems to think she will not get through the night if I do not bring over the malt that I ordered for her. Running a dispensary has its disadvantages." The doctor made a grimace.

"Don't go," pleaded Olive. "You are so tired after that long ride this afternoon." Olive sat down on the arm of his chair to make her entreaties more effective.

"I am afraid the old lady would think I was rather heartless if I left her in an unmalted state till tomorrow. A doctor is a servant of the people." He grinned as he pinched her cheek. "You come with me. That will make the ride a delight."

"O course I will go with you, but you are too tired to go, that's all," she objected.

"Get on your duds then." He rose to get the malt from the cellar. After what seemed a long time she heard him coming up the cellar steps. He sank into a chair shaking with laughter, while Olive patiently waited for him to share his fun.

BOLEROS AND BODICE EFFECTS SMART.

No. 9089.

The new fall styles are showing smart and becoming features that without question are a credit to those who originated them. Every woman wants to dress with refinement and style; and to keep up-to-date inexpensively in these days of rapid changes it is almost necessary to do all one's own dressmaking. This is not difficult, when a good pattern is used. The above illustration, for instance, Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9089, is a fine example of up-to-dateness and smartness, with its bolero and girdle in bodice effect. This dress will be particularly welcome because of the ease and accuracy with which it can be made. It makes up charmingly in the new plaids in prunelle shades combined with voile or broadcloth. The pattern consists of a foundation waist opening in front, with full-length or shorter sleeves with circular cuffs. The scalloped sleeveless bolero falls over a deep girdle in bodice effect, while the three-piece skirt is completed by a tunic gathered at the waistline and may be finished with or without the scalloped hem. The pattern cuts in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure, requiring in size 36, 5⅛ yards 36-inch plaid with 4⅝ yards 36-inch voile.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force and Company.

BISHOPS WILL CONDUCT IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

The four district superintendents of the Newark M. E. Conference, the Revs. Jacob A. Cole, G. G. Vogel, F. J. Hubach and J. R. Wright, have sent to all churches in the conference a request for large attendance at a forward movement conference which will take place in St. Paul's church, Newark, tomorrow. Bishops Wilson and Henderson; Dr. F. W. Lace, of Cleveland, and Dr. R. T. Flewelling, of Leominster, Mass., will be the principal speakers. The bishops are anxious to meet the presidents of all organizations in the churches of the conference, the Sunday-school superintendents and Bible class teachers, and members of the quarterly conference.

Bishop Henderson will address members of the Epworth Leagues at night, and a large attendance of Epworthians is desired.

Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and evening.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Charming Louise Glaum will appear for the first time in Plainfield this afternoon in "The Toast of Death," a stirring photodrama produced by the Mutual Company and containing five reels of gripping action. Miss Glaum is one of the leading stars of the screen realm and has a host of admirers in Plainfield. It is safe to predict that all will see her on the Astor screen today and tomorrow. "The Toast of Death" will be shown again tomorrow afternoon and evening.

John Mason, the noted dramatic actor, now appearing in "Common Clay," in New York, will be seen in "Jim, the Penman," the famous drama by Sir George Young, Wednesday. Harold Lockwood will be chief of his support.

Other fine dramatic features are announced for early presentation at the Astor, including all the latest releases of the Paramount company.

PRESBYTERY TO MEET.

The Presbytery of Elizabeth will hold its stated meeting tomorrow, assembling in the Third Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, at 10 a. m. It is probable that a stated clerk, to succeed the late Rev. Samuel Parry, will be selected.

ANNUAL C. E. MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Trinity Reformed Christian Endeavor Society will be held in the church parlors tonight at 7:30. Election of officers will take place and yearly reports will be submitted.

POLITICAL NOTES.

October 4—City committees meet for reorganization.

October 5—Republican and Democratic State conventions held in Trenton.

October 19—State referendum election, and third registration day in municipalities of more than 5,000 people.

October 26—Third and final registration day in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

November 2—General Election Day.

General Dennis F. Collins, who is speeding across the continent from San Francisco, will arrive in Elizabeth tomorrow just after the small council proceedings have been disposed of by Justice Bergen. While it is generally believed that Collins has been fully acquainted with the facts in the small council fight and that he knows about the applications for writs, there is considerable speculation as to the method of procedure when he appears in camp to take personal charge.

In Hudson county the fight goes merrily on. Secretary of State Thomas F. Martin, a strong anti-Wittpenn man, says that Wittpenn can never be Governor and Wittpenn is seeking to enlist the aid of Governor Fielder in "squelching" the Kinkead forces. Both sides claim control of the county committee and both sides claim victory for their candidates for chairman. Kinkead claims a majority of ten, while Wittpenn claims a "big majority," although he does not give any figures.

The Hudson Democratic situation has been a little more complicated by the announcement of former Assemblyman George J. Brackner that he would be a candidate for surrogate against the present surrogate, John P. Egan, next year. Brackner is a Wittpenn man and it had been supposed that Charles M. Egan, State Senator from Hudson, would be the Wittpenn candidate for surrogate. Wittpenn needs a strong man to defeat his arch enemy, John P. Egan, and it is realized that Brackner could not win. His casting his hat in the ring, however, will mean that some other office may have to be tendered him to get him out of the race.

Sheriff Kinkead, of Hudson county, received another setback last week in the Bayonne police court. His case against Jerry Baly, for inciting to riot, failed miserably, and Recorder Cain told him that unless he could get stronger evidence he would release the prisoner. The case was postponed for two weeks. At the same time the sheriff, appearing as defendant in an assault case, was held under $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. The assault case was the result of several weeks of so-called Kinkeadism during which time the sheriff assaulted several persons and threatened countless others. Jerry Baly, who was "kidnapped" from Elizabeth by the sheriff before the primaries, was the first to start a "come back" at the sheriff by means of a suit for damages in the civil courts.

JERSEY'S POPULATION NEARING HOPED-FOR 3,000,000 MARK

Trenton, Oct. 4.—Upon the official figures for the recent census taking in the counties of Hudson, Morris and Salem, yet to be announced, seems to depend whether New Jersey will show a population of 3,000,000 or more, which is scarcely likely, as the result of the decennial count of the men, women and children within the confines of the State, which began June 1 of the present year and continued for two weeks, or until every section had been covered and every person enumerated.

Eighteen of the twenty-one counties of the State have had their figures officially published, and their combined populations total approximately 2,160,000. Add to this the results of the 1910 census taken in Hudson, Morris and Salem counties, which showed 638,934 people for these three units of the State, and the result is 2,798,934.

It would appear, therefore, that the three counties yet to be heard from will have to show among them a total increase in population in the neighborhood of 200,000 in order to give the State the 3,000,000 population which has been looked for as the goal in this census taking.

Unless Hudson county shows a great increase in its population, therefore, it can hardly be expected that the figures will reach the desired mark, as the other two counties, Morris and Salem, by any stretch of the imagination, cannot be expected very materially to aid in making up the required 200,000 needed.

Granting an increase of 100,000 in Hudson, which is not to be expected, Morris and Salem would have to make up between them the other 100,000 in increased number of people. The largest increase thus far has been reported from Essex, the figures being 53,438.

DYNAMITERS UP FOR TRIAL.

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—The trial of Matthew A. Schmidt and David Caplan, on charges of murder resulting from their alleged complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, is set for today in the Superior Court. Although attorneys for the accused men charge that Judge Willis, who will preside, is "surrounded by influences inimical to the interests of the defendants," Judge Willis has declared it his duty to preside. Over eighty witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear for the government, and the trial is expected to be long drawn out. Among those who will testify are federal officials who helped prosecute labor leaders in the dynamite conspiracy trials at Indianapolis.

MORE SEWERS FOR WEST END

Blatz Introduces New Ordinance Providing for Many Connections.

DATE SET FOR HEARING

Much Routine Before Common Council at October Session—Permits Granted—Nine New Street Lights to be Installed.

In response to the general demand of West End property owners to have the streets in that section connected with the main sewer trunk line, Councilman Francis J. Blatz, of the Councilmanic sewer committee, at the October meeting of the Common Council, last night, introduced an ordinance providing for such an improvement. It was adopted on one reading and a public hearing will be granted on the measure Monday, November 1, in the Council chambers prior to the November business meeting. Nearly all of the side streets accepted by the city in the West End, and a number in the East End, are included in the ordinance and it will be general in effect. It is believed by the sewer committee that inasmuch as the city is now engaged in the construction of a trunk line sewer that the time is opportune for meeting the demands of the West End people.

Councilman Blatz also introduced a resolution, which was adopted, granting the New York Telephone Company the right to open conduits at West Front street and Girard avenue, West Fourth street and Arlington avenue, and East Seventh street and Watchung avenue, and to install a pole at Randolph road and Park avenue.

Clifford Manning and other property owners on Sherman avenue petitioned the Council to have that thoroughfare macamadized, but this matter will be taken care of in the ordinance introduced at the September meeting. George H. Burgess, of 1059 Central avenue, asked permission to install sewers to connect with his house, and the matter will be taken up by the sewer committee. The Keller Cleaning Company, with offices at 125 Park avenue, was granted a permit to remove two 200-gallon and two 250-gallon gasoline tanks from its Park avenue shop to the old City Market building, on East Second street, on which it has taken a lease. The petition of Manson place property owners to have that street connected with the main sewer will be taken care of by the new ordinance.

City Judge William G. DeMeza presented his report to the Council for the quarter ending September 30, stating that $503.75 had been collected in fines. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that seventeen building permits had been granted.

Councilman Theodore Martin introduced a resolution, which was adopted, providing for nine 350-candle power lights to be installed by the Public Service Electric Company in various parts of the city.

JACK M'QUEEN WINNER OF SPECIAL PONY CONTEST

Jack MacQueen was the winner of the special September prize in the McKeon Pony Contest, totaling 1,541,640 votes, or 433,710 votes over his nearest competitor. The young man will be presented with a $25.00 Victrola as a reward of his work. The following boys and girls polled the following votes during the month. While the figures are practically correct, they are subject to verification: Jack MacQueen, 1,541,640; Lillian Pashin, 1,107,930; Kenneth Vail, 590,290; Charles Meyer, 471,760; Louis Gray, 369,000; Myrtle F. Ketternring, 321,250; Viola Mullin, 243,460; Mary R. Pender, 208,560; Joseph Miles, 195,750, and John C. Chapman, 187,600 votes.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE NAMES OFFICERS

Speakers Outline Necessities of Campaign and Importance of Its Relation.

Complete organization was effected last night by the City Republican Committee, when John J. Carroll was again named as chairman; Francis J. Blatz, vice chairman; W. R. Townsend, secretary-treasurer; V. W. Nash, Jr., assistant secretary.

Informal talks were given by County Chairman William Newcorn and others. He emphasized the necessity of thoroughly canvassing the voters before October 19, the last day for registration. Unless a voter, who has not previously registered, gets his name on the lists that day he cannot vote at the general election.

Chairman Carroll spoke of the necessity for the committee getting busy and making known to the public the fact that more is involved in this election than the placing of a few men in office. He said that the election this year was really a forerunner of the Presidential campaign of 1916. He said that the result of the election this year meant much to President Wilson's prospects for renomination in 1916, and that the eyes of the nation were on New Jersey as the home State of the President. He said that Democratic victory would strengthen Mr. Wilson with his party, while Democratic defeat would weaken him and cause disaffection in the ranks of the enemy.

It was decided to establish Republican headquarters in the Vanderbeek building, which will be open continuously after next Monday. The committee will hold regular meetings every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. These meetings will be open to the public.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FALL AT SAURER'S

Peter Mohan Removed to New York Hospital in Critical Condition.

Peter Mohan, the 17-year-old son of Marshal and Mrs. Owen Mohan, of Dunellen, is lying in a critical condition in Flower Hospital, New York, following a ten foot fall at the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company, in this city, yesterday afternoon.

The young man, who was employed in the receiving department of the plant, lost his balance while placing stock on the shelves. He landed on his right side and after asking a fellow-workman to telephone for a physician, became unconscious. Dr. Roger Cooley, of Dunellen, was summoned and he removed the young man to the latter's home.

During the night Mohan was conscious only for brief periods and later his condition became quite serious. After a consultation the young man, at the request of the family, was taken to the New York hospital on an early train this morning. An X-ray examination will be made today to learn the extent of Mohan's injuries.

PLAY AT BEATING UP FRIEND, GETS $5 FINE

James Murphy and John Cashin were let off with a suspended fine and a warning when tried yesterday in police court in North Plainfield on charges of being drunk and disorderly. The two men were arrested while making slow progress down Somerset street. The policeman said that they were beating, in a playful, but rough manner, a third member of the party, who appeared to be sober.

Mayor Clark, who acted as judge in the absence of Recorder Hand, fined them $5 each and costs, but suspended the fine with a warning that if they appeared on the same charge again they would pay this and a new one.

BALKANS PREPARE FOR WAR.

Athens, Oct. 5.—War preparations in Greece are going forward night and day. Merchant ships are being recalled, first line troops are being moved to the Bulgarian border, reserves are drilling everywhere and Red Cross units are being formed.

Three fifths of the forces which are being mobilized by Bulgaria are being transported as rapidly as their equipment is completed to the Serbian border, the remaining two-fifths of the army is being sent to the Macedonia border.

L. C. Whitall and family, of Park avenue, have returned home following an extended vacation spent at Bradley Beach.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE PLAN ABANDONED

Mrs. C. W. MacQuaide, of State Federation, Addreses Monday Afternoon Club.

TO CONSIDER POLICY

Special Committee Will Make an Educational Survey of State—Delegates to State Meeting Make Reports—Tea is Served.

The Monday Afternoon Club held the initial meeting of the season at the Parish House of the Congregational church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the meeting being in the character of a reception, with a suspension of the regular business.

Mrs. Allen Cowperthwait, president, and Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, chairman of the literature department, who were delegates to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, held at Atlantic City last May, gave a very delightful and detailed report of the sessions held at that time.

Mrs. Charles W. MacQuaid, of Roselle, vice-president Fifth District New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an interesting account of the work in progress by the Federation, dwelling particularly on the subject of the Woman's College in New Jersey. She said the tentative plans for an affiliated college at New Brunswick had been abandoned for the present, as the large committee of women and the advisory council of men had made slow progress. In place of this committee, an investigating policy had been adopted with an expert, Dr. Sampson, of New York, at its head, to work with a committee of five women, Mrs. Charles W. Stockton, of Ridgewood; Mrs. A. B. Proal, of Nutley; Mrs. W. L. Ropes, Montclair; Mrs. Charles W. MacQuaid, Roselle, and another member from Jersey City.

It is the plan of this investigating body to make an educational survey of the State, ascertaining the need of a woman's college, the possibility of co-operation throughout the State, the practicability of affiliation and the choice of location for such an institution. She made a plea for the co-operation of the Women's Clubs of this city when the subject should be brought before them at a future time.

At the close of Mrs. MacQuaid's address tea was served, in charge of Mrs. George Megrew, chairman of the entertainment committee, Mesdames John Whiton, Henry D. Hibbard, William H. Murray and Frank O. Herring presiding at the tables.

MAKING LATHES FOR BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Walter Scott Printing Machine Works is now Operated Day and Night.

Orders from the British government for two hundred lathes has resulted in the employment of a large day and night gang at the plant of the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works on South avenue. With this extra work in addition to the making of printing presses the plant will be kept running on full time for many months to come. These lathes weigh about six tons each and as soon as they are completed a shipment is made. There are about 300 men employed at the works, about twenty-five moulders being included.

It is understood that the British government wants to place an additional order with the local concern for seventy-five more lathes, but it is not known whether it will be accepted or not. The Hall Printing Press Works at Dunellen is also said to be engaged in the manufacture of lathes for the English and that plant is working full time.

G. O. P. AND DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS IN SESSION

Trenton, Oct. 5.—Democratic and Republican State conventions met here at noon today and proceeded to name committees and draft platforms for each party for the fall elections. The Progressives also held an unofficial convention to draw up a State platform, although they are not entitled to State recognition, the vote having fallen so low last year as to effectively bar them from the primaries. Under the Geran law State conventions must be held on this day.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's church will hold its monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. Adams, 909 West Front street, on Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

VOTE UNANIMOUSLY TO REJECT ENGINE

Common Council Instructs Nott Firm to Remove Apparatus at Once.

Councilman John H. Cose, of the fire and buildings committee, at last night's meeting of the Common Council, introduced a resolution providing for the rejection of the Nott pumping engine which has been on trial in the Netherwood fire house for nearly a year past. The resolution directs the Nott Fire Engine Company, of Minneapolis, to remove the engine from Plainfield "as soon as possible."

The original contract was entered into with the Nott firm July 22, 1914, and despite the fact that three tests have been given the apparatus none of the trials met the conditions in the specifications. It is claimed that so many repairs have been made to the vehicle that it is now behind the times and that there is no telling how much more trouble would be in store for the city if the engine was accepted.

MME. RAPPOLD TO SING IN THIS CITY

Prima Donna Soprano With Assisting Artists to Give a Concert November 1.

The very superior concert arranged by the Ladies' Musical Club of Plainfield for Monday evening, November 1, in which Mme. Rappold, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House, who has been selected to take the place of Emmy Destinn this season, will sing. Signor Toscanini, who is considered to be the greatest conductor in the world, made the statement that it would not be possible to find a lyric soprano superior to Mme. Rappold. The club found it necessary to change the date from November 8 to November 1.

Appearing on the same program with this eminent artist is Clarence Bird, an American pianist, who has passed the last twelve years in Europe and who will sail from Italy for America sometime this week. Mr. Bird is considered in Italy, Germany and Russia to be one of the very best pianists that America has produced. The Plainfield engagement for Mr. Bird will be one of his first appearances in this country.

Lucile Orrell, young American violoncellist, who appeared at the leading musical clubs last season, including the Biltmore Friday Morning Musicales, the Mozart Society, the Harlem Philharmonic, the Tuesday Morning Musicales, all of New York City, will also be heard on the same program.

Hugh Allan, probably the best of young American baritones, whose success has been instantaneous whenever he appeared, not only on account of his singing, but also for his remarkable and charming personality, if such can be said of a man, appears on the same program with the artists mentioned above, thus giving the people of Plainfield an evening of music that will equal if not excel any ever given. A program worthy of the artists, the Ladies' Musical Club and Plainfield will be selected and rendered.

HAVE BEEN MARRIED TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Van Arsdale Observe Anniversary With Friends and Feast.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Van Arsdale last night pleasantly observed the twenty-seventh anniversary of their marriage by entertaining about twenty-five of their friends at a wedding supper. The evening was pleasantly passed with vocal and instrumental music.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Arsdale were married in Plainfield, October 4, 1888, by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, then pastor of the Trinity Reformed church. They have since made Plainfield their home. The couple are attendants at Trinity Reformed church, and Mr. Van Arsdale has been engaged in business here for many years.

VICTIM'S BODY IDENTIFIED.

The body of George Frazee, who was burned to death in the Von Rhein fire, in Elizabeth, Saturday morning, was identified yesterday morning in Leonard's morgue by Whitney Frazee, a brother, of South avenue, this city. The funeral was held this morning and interment took place in Rosehill cemetery.

AUTHORIZE SALE OF SEWER BONDS

Common Council Will Receive Bids for $145,000 Worth at Next Meeting.

WILL MEET EXPENSES

Proposals Must be Accompanied by Certified Check for Two Per Cent. of Par Value—Date of Maturing Stated in Resolution.

For the purpose of meeting current expenses for the joint sewer work the Common Council at its October meeting last night authorized the sale of $145,000 joint sewerage system bonds, bids to be received at the Council chambers Monday night, November 1, at 8 o'clock. The bonds will be for $1,000 each and will mature $5,000 annually on the first day of April of the years 1940 and 1942; $14,000 on the first day of April, 1943; $15,000 annually on April 1 in each of the years 1944 to 1950, both inclusive, and $11,000 on April 1, 1951.

The bonds will be of the coupon specie and the holder will have the privilege of registering them either as principal alone or as to both principal and interest, and will bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from October 1, 1915, payable semi-annually.

A certified check for two per cent. of the par value of the bonds bid for must accompany each proposal. No bid for less than par and interest accrued from October 1, 1915, will be accepted.

The bonds are number 106 to 250 inclusive, and bear the date of March 16, 1915. The Council authorized the sale to be advertised in both local newspapers in accordance with the law.

BOARD OF TRADE'S FIRST FALL MEETING

To Consider Consolidation and Other Matters of Importance to Plainfield.

A program of considerable interest has been mapped for the first fall meeting of the Board of Trade to be held tomorrow evening in the Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward Building. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock and among the matters to be discussed will be the following:

Action to be taken to have the Common Council submit the question of consolidatiton of the Borough of North Plainfield and Plainfield to the voters of the City of Plainfield.

The inauguration of a campaign to properly advertise the City of Plainfield, with its beauties and advantages, for the purpose of obtaining new residents in the city.

Action to be taken toward securing the location in Plainfield of high-class manufacturing industries. Several other matters of importance will be discussed.

As this is the first meeting of the season, the officers are desirous of securing a large attendance of members so that a program for an active winter work may be outlined.

WILL PURCHASE AUTOMOBILE FOR THE STREET DEPARTMENT

The purchase of a new automobile for use by the street department was authorized by the Common Council at its October meetings last night. The cost of the machine will not exceed $455.39.

For the past seven years the department has been using a machine but this vehicle is now past its stage of usefulness and will be traded in for part payment of the new purchase.

Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett uses his own machine for his inspection work and the new car will be for the use of his men, as has been the case with the other machine.

POSTPONE EUCHRE DATE.

The committee composed of the wives and friends of Knights of Columbus held another meeting in the Columbus clubhouse last night to complete arrangements for the euchre which they will give the latter part of the month. Owing to the fact that the Elks' bazaar has been scheduled for the week of October 21st, the original date for the euchre and dance, the women have postponed the affair until Thursday, October 28, so as to prevent a conflict of the two affairs, inasmuch as a number of members belong to both organizations.

CAPACITY AUDIENCES ENJOY VAUDEVILLE

New Policy at the Plainfield Theatre Meets With Popular Approval.

Positive evidence that the new policy at the Plainfield Theatre has met with popular approval was fully demonstrated last night, when two capacity audiences witnessed the initial vaudeville performances. The bill was one of the best ever given in the city for the prices and the thousands of patrons came away with satisfactory comments. At the matinee performance in the afternoon, the house was comfortably filled, and the favorable expressions of the evening were duplicated at the close of the bill.

Manager Shannon has made it an iron-clad rule that only the best acts available are to be presented at the Plainfield Theatre and to that effect dismissed two numbers that did not come up to expectations in the afternoon. Two others were sent out for the night shows, both of them meeting with great success. The booking offices have been notified that the Plainfield Theatre is to have only "the cream" of the variety acts, and anything of an inferior grade will be "canned" after the initial appearance.

For today and tomorrow the bill will remain the same as last night, the only change being in the photoplays. For this afternoon and tonight 1,000 feet of film of the Elks big parade during the State convention held at Atlantic City last month will be shown. It was in this parade that Plainfield Lodge captured several prizes, and the local delegation can be plainly seen several times. Practically the entire membership of Plainfield Lodge will be numbered among the specators tonight.

POSTPONE LAYING OF CORNER-STONE

Further Changes in Plans for Federal Building Causes Indefinite Delay.

A telegram received yesterday from Washington has led to the indefinite postponement of the laying of the cornerstone of the new post office building on Watchung avenue. The message stated that owing to changes in the original plans that much necessary delay would be caused and it would be impossible to name any definite date at this time for laying the cornerstone.

It was planned to have the cornerstone laid on Saturday afternoon, with appropriate ceremony by officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Jersey and all arrangements had been practically completed for the ceremonies when the telegram was received.

Mr. Neally, superintendent of government construction, says that there is nothing unusual about the delay, although only a few changes on the first floor and basement are involved. He says that any changes, however slight, necessitate careful consideration by the supervising architect at Washington, the submission of new figures by the contractors and subcontractors, as well as an endless amount of detail, all of which requires time.

He says that he expects to receive word at any time to proceed with the work, but it may be a fortnight before such information is received.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMERCIAL TEACHERS TO ORGANIZE

Arrangements for the organization of the New Jersey High School Commercial Teachers' Association were completed at a preliminary meeting held Saturday in the Dickinson High School, Jersey City. The organization of the new association will take place in the Central High School, Newark, October 23. The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of D. A. McMillan, of Newark; J. C. Evans, Director of Commercial Education at the Plainfield High School, and Howard Van Deusen, of Bayonne.

AUCTION SALE.

Attention is called to the auction sale to be held by Robert Murray in the Lufburrow building at West Front street and Central avenue, beginning at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. See advertisement in another column of the Plainfield Daily Press.

"AL" SAUNDERS TO SPEAK.

"Al" Saunders, who is conducting special services at the Temple Baptist church, will speak at the men's noon-day meeting in the Rescue Mission on Madison avenue, tomorrow. There will be a song service at 12:15 o'clock.

RUSSIA BREAKS WITH BULGARIA

Minister at Sofia Has Been Ordered to Leave Country at Once.

A PART OF HER THREAT

French Report Heavy Fighting Along Entire Front — German Train is Destroyed by Shell—British Submarine Sinks Ship.

Petrograd, Oct. 5.—Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria today. M. Sazanoff, the foreign minister, announced that Mr. Savinsky, the Russian minister to Sofia, has been recalled. The announcement of the recall of the Russian minister to Bulgaria came at the end of a long statement by the Foreign Minister explaining why the step has been taken.

German Train Hit.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The French war statement says:

"In Artois there has been rather a violent bombardment on both sides along the whole front, north of La Scarpe and a conflict with bombs and torpedoes in the sectors of Quennevieres, Vic Sur Asine and on the plateau of Nouvron. In Champagne a continuous reciprocal cannonade has been going on, particularly in the region of Lespine De Vedecgranges, near the Navarin farm, and the height of Souain. In the Argonne there have been trench to trench fights with grenades and petards at Courtes Chausses and La Fille Monte to the north of Verdun. In the vicinity of Ornes our artillery fire struck a German train and caused a very violent explosion. On the rest of front there has been nothing reported. One of our aeroplane squadrons dropped fifty shells on the railway station at Biaches, near Peronne."

Close Austrian Frontier.

A despatch to the Temps states that disembarkment at Saloniki is expected at any moment. Despatches from Bucharest state that Austria is to close fresh points on the frontier to Roumanian goods.

Big War Order.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 5.—A contract to manufacture 1,000,000 blankets for the allied armies has been taken by the Alexander Smith Son's Carpet Company, which will begin turning them out immediately.

German Positions Shelled.

Amsterdam, Oct. 5.—British warships again bombarded the German poistions at Westende and Middlekerke on the North Sea coast today. Allied aviators operating with their ships shelled the railway line behind the German front in Belgium.

Wilson and Lansing Talk.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Secretary of State Lansing conferred with President Wilson at 12:30 o'clock, following the Von Bernstorff interview. Mr. Lansing refused to divulge the result of the conference with Ambassador Von Bernstorff, but it is believed an announcement will be made after his conference with the President.

Prepare Protest to Britain.

In consequence of the forthcoming conference with Mr. Skinner, the note of protest to Great Britain against the detention of American food stuffs and commodities will be held up, Secretary Lansing said, however, that the general trend of the note would not be altered and a vigorous demand for a relaxation of the British embargo policy undoubtedly is to be made.

British Warship Damaged.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The German War Office reports that one of the British warships that shelled Zeebrugge on Monday was damaged by German artillery.

Germans Gain Ground.

Strong German counter attacks have gained further ground for the Teutonic forces on the west front. The German War Office in an official statement today reported that a trench had been captured from the French at Givenchy, north of Arras, together with four machine guns. French aviators have shelled Biach St. Vaast.

Kitchener Wants Men.

London, Oct. 5.—The Manchester Guardian says that Councilor Tom Fox, in a speech at Manchester last night, made an interesting reference to the conference of labor leaders last Tuesday, which was addressed by Premier Asquith and War Secretary Kitchener.

There were many things, Lord Kitchener told them, said Mr. Fox, which he could not repeat, but he told them some things which could be repeated. Among them were the following:

"There is no room," Lord Kitchener said, "for any pessimist. Give me the men and war munitions I want and I will guarantee my personal

WILL LAY CORNER STONE OCTOBER 24

Bishop McFaul to Officiate at Impresive Services at St. John's Church.

A meeting of the parishioners of St. John's Catholic church was held Sunday evening in the rooms of the Holy Name Society for the purpose of making arrangements for the laying of the corner-stone of the new church which will take place on Sunday, October 24. The meeting was well attended. Richard M. Ryan was elected chairman, and C. L. Wahl, Jr., secretary.

The committee decided to invite the various societies from Raritan to Elizabeth and from Perth Amboy to New Brunswick to assist them in making the ceremonies a success.

The Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, will officiate at the ceremony, and the sermon will be delivered by Monsignor O'Grady, of New Brunswick. Vincent Manahan was elected grand marshal for the parade and he will be assisted by a number of aides to be selected by him later.

A committee was appointed to secure a band of music to lead St. John's parish in the procession.

Mrs. John Fedderman, of Washington avenue, has returned from a month's vacation spent in visiting her sons, George C., at Detroit, Mich., and Osroe D., at Buffalo.

Ambrose Ryno, of Centre street, returned yesterday from Asbury Park, where he has been visiting his sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Snell and son, of Lincoln avenue, have returned from Lake Hopatcong.

MARION SCHENCK IMPROVED.

Marion Schenck, the seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Schenck, of Front street, who broke her left wrist when she stumbled and fell while playing tag on the Lincoln School grounds during the recess hour a week ago yesterday, has returned to school.

T. J. Ronayne, of Front street, is able to be out after a brief illness.

MOTORCYCLISTS INJURED WHEN MACHINE SKIDS

Benjamin and Louis L. Block, Jr., brothers, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday afternoon, when an Indian motorcycle upon which they were going to Bound Brook to witness aeroplane flights, skidded from under them as they were taking the curve near Mannion's Hotel. Louis Block, who was sitting on the rear seat of the machine, jumped and merely received a scratch or two. Benjamin, who was driving, was not so fortunate. When the machine went from under him he landed on his right foot and then pitched head foremost into the gutter at the side of the road. The ground had been rendered soft by the recent rain and this fact alone saved him from serious injury. He was partially stunned for a minute or so, but quickly rallied and continued the trip to Bound Brook with his brother. Yesterday morning, however, his right limb, which bore the brunt of the fall, was so stiff he could hardly walk.

PRESIDENT WALTER NAMES COMMITTEE FOR BANQUET

A committee selected by President Joseph G. Walton, of the Board of Trade, to arrange for the annual banquet of the organization to be held on Thursday evening, December 2, is as follows: E. B. Latham, Lewis Schneider, Arthur Cockburn, E. M. Jones, H. S. Garretson, A. N. Randolph, Frank H. Fuller, Walter Muller, W. P. Deering, I. V. Smalley, S. M. Titus, W. K. Hartpence, J. Alfred Wilson, C. H. English, C. A. Coriell, Jr., George W. Day, H. D. Williams, A. F. Conant, A. F. Todd, G. Sumner Smith, W. A. Houghtaling, S. M. Kookogey, Owen Mohan, E. J. Dusel and John P. Fenner. The committee will meet in the Borough Hall on Monday evening to organize.

APPROVE DECISION.

General favorable comment was passed about town last evening over Recorder David S. Campbell having dismissed the case of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against Marshal Harry Shugars, of the local police, yesterday morning. The society in its complaint against the marshal alleged that he acted in an inhumane manner on September 7 in conducting an execution of an aged dog owned by John Logan.

W. A. Houghtaling, of Prospect avenue, returned home last night from a month's business trip to the Pacific coast. He took advantage of this opporunity and visited the Panama Exposition.

RETURN FROM WASHINGTON.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. G. Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gise and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fisher have returned from Washington, where they spent last week, at the reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic. Messrs. Fisher and Gise are both veterans of the Civil War and they marched witn their comrades of the Grand Army in review before President Wilson, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Todd, who accompanied the above on their trip to Washington, are not expected home before tomorrow. They are stopping with their nephew, Daniel Richardson.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will meet with Mrs. Joel Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hamley and family motored to Phillipsburg, Saturday, and spent the week-end visiting relatives of Mr. Hamley's.

Mrs. C. B. Lake and son, of Jersey City, are spending two weeks in the borough. They are stopping at present with Mrs. Lake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dodwell, of Jackson avenue.

The monthly meeting of the Epworth League, of the Methodist Episcopal church, was held at the home of Mrs. H. S. Townley, on Madison avenue, last evening. After the transaction of routine business a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Matthias Giddes, of Front street, spent the week-end at Martinsville, visiting her sister, Miss Dora Mundy.

DUNELLEN GARAGE MOVES.

The Dunellen Garage, of which Gustav Barfus is proprietor, is vacating its present quarters in the Gallagher building and moving back to its old stand on Bound Brook road, near Conover's corner.

Mrs. Martin Bowman, of Front street, is able to be out and about following a minor operation.

The Board of Education meets this evening in the Lincoln School in monthly session.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Funeral services for Wenzel Gottlick, who died at his home at Stony Hill, Friday, were held from the Stony Hill Catholic church yesterday afternoon, with Father McGrath officating. He was in his seventy-second year and although a native of Germany, had lived here since early life, where he was well known. Besides a wife, seven children, three sons and four daughters, survive him. Interment was made in the Stony Hill cemetery.

The 'Plains Boy Scouts will hold a campfire rally tonight in the field on Park avenue, opposite School No. 1. It will be in the nature of a corn and marshmallow roast, with story-telling and a probable short talk by some local man completing the program.

All of the borough councilmen have returned from vacations and tomorrow night will see them all at the Fanwood firehouse for the September meeting, when several important matters are due to come up for discussion.

NO ONE ATTENDED PUBLIC HEARINGS ON STREET WORK

Two public hearings were called by the Common Council prior to the October business session last night but no one appeared at either session and consequently the two ordinances were passed on third and final reading. One provided for the establishment of curbs and grade lines along certain city streets and the other one for the permanent improvement of certain streets.

Both ordinances were introduced by Councilman Francis J. Blatz, chairman of the street committee. The improvements include work on a number of city thoroughfares in various sections of the city.

CLAIMS SAME PROPERTY HAS BEEN SOLD TWICE AT SALE

Claiming that a property located at 19-21 Raymond avenue, which he purchased at a tax sale in 1900, had since been sold at another tax sale to Frank Huntington, Walter L. Hetfield petitioned the Common Council last night to investigate the conditions under which the tract of land was resold.

Mr. Hetfield, in his statement, says that he has been paying taxes on the property in question since the deed was transferred to him. It is believed that there has been a mixup in lot numbers and that Mr. Huntington in reality purchased another piece of ground.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE ADOPTED BY THE COUNCIL

An ordinance, the purpose of which is to regulate street parades and other public demonstrations conducted on local thoroughfares, was passed on the final reading by the Common Council at its meeting last night. The new measure gives the mayor power to grant or reject applications for privileges to conduct such gatherings and was introduced primarily for the purpose of regulating traffic.

Frequently the city officials have been troubled by persons or organizations who conduct these street demonstrations and interfere with traffic regulations. Inasmuch as there was no ordinance in force the authorities could not properly regulate the affairs insofar as granting permits to the holders was concerned. It will now be necessary for any person or body of persons desiring to conduct affairs in the streets to first seek a permit from the mayor.

HEALTH BOARD SEEKS SMALLPOX EXPENSE

Claim That Piscataway Township Authorities Are Liable for $316.22.

That trouble is brewing between the Plainfield Board of Health and the Piscataway Township Board was evidenced at last night's meeting of the Common Council, when a communication sent by the local authorities to the Piscataway officials was read. In the communication the Plainfield officials allege that improper diagnosis of a case sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by Dr. Herman Gross, president of the Metuchen Health Board, caused the local Board an expense of $316.22 and a demand was made that this sum be paid.

The case in question was that of a "road knight" who was picked up in a field near Oak Tree. Dr. Gross, believing that the man was suffering from exposure, ordered him sent to the local hospital, it is charged.

After the patient was received in Plainfield it was found that he was suffering from small-pox, an ailment that soon afterward caused his death. When it was found that members of the police department, nurses and hospital attendants, and various other individuals, had been exposed to the disease Health Officer Randolph Chandler took every possible precaution to prevent an epidemic.

It is now claimed that the Piscataway township authorities are liable for the expense incurred inasmuch as the case had its origin in that township and that Dr. Gross ordered the patient transferred to the local hospital under what is alleged to be an improper diagnosis.

SAYS SHE HAS BEEN TAXED FOR BARN LOCATED IN BORO

Claiming that she has been paying taxes on a barn supposed to be located in the rear of her home at 339 East Sixth street, but which in reality has not been there since 1909, Mrs. Martha A. C. Davey petitioned the Common Council at its October session last night to make a refund of $42.16, the total paid in taxes during the past six years for the structure.

The petitioner claims that the barn originally stood on her Plainfield estate, but that it was moved to North Plainfield in 1909. The barn was valued at $400 on the city tax book.

RE-ORGANIZATION PLANS PROGRESSING

Business Men's Ass'n Holds Interesting Meeting and Elects New Members.

That the reorganization of the Plainfield Business Men's Association was progressing in a satisfactory manner, fully up to expectations, was shown by the report of the membership committee at the meeting of the association last night. Nearly a half hundred of the present membership had signed to continue as members in the reorganized body, and while no concentrated effort has been made to secure new members several have volunteered their applications, two being added to the roll last night.

It is now planned to amend the by-laws so as to permit citizens not actively engaged in business to join the association. The proposed amendment has passed its first reading with unanimous approval and it is expected that it will be the means of adding many names to the membership roll who otherwise could not become affiliated, but who will now join and bring effective aid and influence to the organization. The citizen members will be required to pay dues to the amount of $10 a year instead of $15, as paid by those actively engaged in business.

Assemblyman William N. Runyon was awarded the prize of $5 for devising an emblem for the association. Mr. Runyon's creation was designed in three colors, blue, black and gilt, with the words "Reliability, Quality, Service and Value," and met with the unanimous approval of the members. Five hundred of the emblems have been ordered, two of which will be presented to each member engaged in business, while the remainder will be sold at cost to the members requiring more.

Informal discussion consumed the greater part of the time and ranged from more systematic cleaning of sidewalks Saturday nights to offering a prize for the best criticism of merchandising methods. It was also suggested that the association rent a vacant lot—when the treasury would permit—and fit it up for parking for automobiles and other vehicles of non-resident shoppers who come to Plainfield, but who now have no place where they can leave their cars or horses except on the streets. As none of these propositions called for immediate solution no formal action was taken, although they all received favorable consideration.

The association was asked by Frank R. Weaver to give its endorsement to a proposed movement to establish a single uniform price at which the merchant could purchase his goods in either large or small quantities and to eliminate price cutting. The scheme was an elaborate one, with many features which the merchants approved, but President Herman Schwed declared that time should be given to its consideration before any action was taken by the association, and Mr. Weaver was invited to meet with the association next month and in the meantime discuss his plans with the merchants individually so that all could act more intelligently when the question is again submitted.

It was expected that Harry M. Salter, of Trenton, who is conducting the campaign for reorganizing the association, would be present, but he was called to Trenton. He returned to Plainfield this morning.

STONY HILL FUNERAL ATTENDED BY MANY

Wenzel Gottlick Laid to Rest Yesterday Afternoon After Impressive Service.

The funeral of Wenzel Gottlick was held at his late home, Mountain avenue, Stony Hill, yesterday morning and at 11 o'clock in St. Mary's church, that place. A solemn requiem mass was said by the Rev. Father McGrath, with Father Schwartz as deacon and Father Baldwin as sub-deacon.

The services were largely attended and Father McGrath eulogized the life of Mr. Gootlick in an eloquent manner, telling of his devoted Christian life and exemplary traits. The floral tributes were large and numerous, two of the most attractive being a cross with the inscription "husband" and a pillow with the inscription "Father." Father Sciolla, of this city, was one of those present.

The following acted as pall bearers: Edward Oechsner, Thomas Oechsner, Michael Riordan, Frank Keal, Charles Eller and George Wahl. George Fucks and S. P. Debbie were honorary pall bearers. The bearers were members of the Holy Name Society, to which the deceased belonged.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. When we have backache and dull pains in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who have in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only a trouble.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

Temperance

NEWS AND VIEWS
Conducted by
THE W. C. T. U.

The State of Washington has been chosen for the annual National W. C. T. U. Convention, which meets October 9-14. In addition to the usual State, district and county conventions, the W. C. T. U. has held two Interstate Prohibition Campaign Conferences, one for the South at Jacksonville, Fla., and the other for the Northwest at Boise, Idaho. Instructive and striking exhibits have been shown at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco and at the Made-in-the-United States Exposition in New York city. Temperance education in the public schools has been actively promoted. "Frances Willard Day" has been appointed in the public schools of Tennessee—the fourth State to pass a bill for this purpose, the others being Alabama, New Mexico and Kansas.

The abolition of the saloon has been steadily pursued by the W. C. T. U. At the last convention, there were but nine white States on the prohibition map. This year sees the number doubled, Virginia, Colorado, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Alabama, Arkansas, Iowa and Idaho being added. The Arizona law went into effect last January. The same month, the Alabama Legislature banished the saloons.

The campaigns this year include South Carolina and Ohio. In the former State, the temperance workers have made a strong contest for prohibition, churches and kindred bodies uniting for success at the polls on September 14. In Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Vermont (the last named a former prohibition State) and Alaska, W. C. T. U. workers are striving with a view to carrying the prohibition law at the 1916 elections. There has been great activity among the workers in New York State, in Pennsylvania (where county option was defeated), in Chicago (which has had a notable dry campaign) and in Minnesota, which is fast becoming "dry" under the new county option law that went into operation March 1, 1915.

On September 14, South Carolina decided for State-wide prohibition by a vote of nearly two and one-half to one. Returns from forty-three out of forty-four counties showed a vote for prohibition approximating 33,500 and about 14,000 against. In one county only, Charleston, was prohibition defeated by a large majority, ten to one. Of the fifteen counties which now have dispensaries selling whisky, ten voted for prohibition. The new law will go into effect January 1. This election comes at the end of a fight running back for nearly a quarter of a century, but State-wide prohibition had not previously been voted upon by the people of this State.

The new prohibitory laws of Colorado, Oregon, Washington and Virginia go into effect January 1, 1916. Statutory prohibition (enacted September, 1914), in Virginia will become effective on November 1, 1916. In all of these victories over the rum power, the W. C. T. U. has been a strong force.

The W. C. T. U. Convention at Seattle will meet in Plymouth Congregational church on October 9 and continue five days. Among the chief speakers will be Bishop Walter Sumner, Daniel Poling, and Dr. Mary Stone, the noted Chinese medical missionary and leader of the W. C. T. U. in that mission field.

Statistics recently made public by the United States Treasury Department show a decrease (in the ten months from July 1, 1914, to May 1, 1915), of $13,713,790 in revenue from taxes on spirits.

MISS MAY RANDOLPH CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Trinity C. E. Society Holds Annual Meeting Prior to 30th Anniversary.

Election of officers for the ensuing year took place at the monthly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of Trinity Reformed church, held in the church parlors, last night. The following were installed in office: President, Miss May Randolph; vice president, Miss Sarah Searing; second vice president, William VanNest; corresponding secretary, Miss Lucy Coriell; secretary, Miss Bessie Brokaw, and treasurer, Harold Gayle.

Miss Marie Hahn, the retiring president, expressed her thanks to the chairmen of the various committees, also all individuals who helped to make the society have a banner year such as it had. She also wished the incoming president the best of success in all her activities.

The nominating committee consisted of Miss S. Searing, Miss M. Randolph, Miss M. Dunavan, J. C. Kriley, Mr. LaTourette and Miss Marie Hahn. Following the reading of the monthly reports the social committee was instructed to take charge of the entertainment part of the meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. shortly, for the welcoming of new members of the organization.

Tonight the Christian Endeavor Society will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their organization. The Rev. Dr. Philip Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will address the gathering. His topic will be "Conquerors." An invitation has been extended to all Endeavor Societies in the city to attend.

COMMISSIONERS TO LEVY ASSESSMENTS

Dunellen Council Hold Busy Session and Discuss Issuance of Certificates.

J. Alfred Wilson and Calvin Gardner were named as commissioners to assess benefits and damages for the laying of the Madison avenue storm sewer at the October meeting of the Dunellen Council last night, and Alvah Gray, Paul Carpenter and Dr. M. J. Whitford will assess benefits and damages on the Front street system. Edward J. Dusel and Vincent Manahan were appointed as trustees of the public library to complete the terms of Rev. E. R. Brown and Father Dunphy. These appointments were all confirmed.

The question of further financing the work for the collecting sewer system was brought up by Mayor Latham. He said that the money representing the proceeds of the $55,000 of sewer bonds had all been used and the time had not arrived to raise money against property assessments.

The Council decided to raise $55,000 against these assessments by the issuance of improvement certificates which will be taken at par by the local bank. The certificates will be in the denominations of fiftx at $100 and one hundred at $500. The Mayor explained that this method would save the borough interest money for the reason that in the case of certificates of larger amount a longer time would be necessary to retire them.

Councilmen Ryan and Jones were appointed a committee to act in conjunction with the borough attorney in drawing a form of resolution covering the issuance of the certificates.

George W. Fuller, the engineer, reported that the estimate of the sewer work completed on September 30 was $58,089.73. Mr. Wheeler, representing Mr. Fuller, in answer to a question, said that about 70 per cent. of the work is completed based on the contract price of $82,640. It was also stated that there would be an extra expense of $3,619 for sheathing in the trenches and $6,614 the cost of excavating rock.

Borough Engineer Churchill was instructed to draw profile maps and establish grades of the streets from Front street to Mountain terrace west of Madison avenue so that the grades can be established by ordinance before the assessments for the storm sewer are levied.

Councilman Castner, head of the street committee, stated that residents on the New Market road thought the time opportune to get after the freeholders as to re-surfacing that thoroughfare. He said that the property-owners would send a petition to the freeholders but would like to have the Council use its influence in having the work done. The clerk was directed to call the attention of the freeholders to the matter.

CRAIG RESIGNS.

Patrolman Arthur Craig tendered his resignation to the Common Council at the October session last night and it was accepted by a unanimous vote. Craig's retirement took effect October 1. He had been a member of the Plainfield force about four years.

BIDS FOR STREET WORK.

The Common Council will meet November 15 for the purpose of receiving bids for macadamizing work.

A NEW HEALTH IDEAL.

Plainfield parents, as well as those in all parts of New Jersey, should welcome the advanced steps taken by the State Board of Education toward the teaching of health facts in the public schools.

It is now universally admitted that one of the most important functions of the municipality, State or nation, is the furthering of public hygiene, and New Jersey is well up in the ranks of progressive States in this regard. Its plans for the ensuing school term should be carefully studied by every Plainfield parent so that intelligent co-operation will be possible, for only in this way can the child be taught the proper care of the body, a lesson compared to which the development of the mind is second by necessity.

Health propoganda now adopted will develop men and women who are joyously alive, because it teaches the pleasures of a sound body, rather than pointing out the horrible effects of disease, and it accenuates the importance of prevention. It will ultimately result in general admission of the statement that the sick man is but paying the price of self-abuse, and is as little worthy of sympathy or respect as he who has lost control of his thirst for strong drink.

Rarely have we seen the more appropriate spirit of the modern "better health" movement better expressed than in a recent pamphlet of the Life Extension Institute.

"It is not a fear of illness or of death that we should encourage, but a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies, a desire for bodily endurance and efficiency and full achievement. If the mind is fixed on these ideals, and the already known means of approaching them are utilized, the needless miseries that embitter the lives of so many may be left to take care of themselves. It is not so much necessary to fight disease as to cultivate health for the happiness, contentment and moral gain that it brings."

THE CLOUDS ROLLING BY.

"Business is improving. Men are being hired. It isn't so hard to borrow money—on good security. Folk are coming out of the war funk," says the Paterson Call. "Ever see an ice jam in the spring? At first it looks as if it couldn't possibly be budged. Even dynamite doesn't feaze it. But by and by the warm sun gets in its work; and then folk worry lest the jam should move too quickly and do as much damage by going as by staying. We don't say that the business glut is like an ice jam in every particular, but there are resemblances. What saves the down country from being flooded by the spring thaw is that the melt by day is checked a little by the freeze by night. The derangement of the world's credit machinery, the conservation of bankers and the war uncertainties now guarantee as against a flood of speculation. But to keep things moving in the right direction and at a proper pace we need more sunshine.

"It is a time for courage, confidence, optimism. Not splashes, not a plunger, nor yet pinch-penny caution, but manly gumption, grit and go-ahead; still superior to war news as a topic of interest in the home is where good values can be got in buying for home necessities at fair prices. To meet this the merchants of this city have announced a week of great bargains, beginning Saturday of this week. We, nor any other Americans, cannot let eating and drinking and living lag till Europe moves for peace. The ordinary procession must go on—it is going on, but slightly affected, save as we will allow ourselves to be scared before we are hurt. Now that this great people is regaining its wind and its poise, turn on more sunshine—give hope a share."

Woman can't pick husband until she is fifty, says Pennsylvania spinster, who at 59 married man aged 72. If a woman doesn't pick a husband until she is fifty it's a safe bet that it was because she couldn't.

Fashionable Bridgeport church is using young women ushers to attract the men. Well, the devil has been using them for bait since the day of Adam and it's about time Christianity realized their charms.

Montclair starlings got so bold they tore the shingles off roofs, but when permission was secured to shoot them they disappeared before a shot could be fired. Another stragetical rushin' retreat.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

While the season of greatest activity is only commencing, yet this week is a busy one in Y. M. C. A. circles. Secretary A. C. Estes returned yesterday from a trip to Lockport, N. Y., and is getting things in readiness for a vigorous campaign during the fall and winter.

The men of the Baptist churches of the city will avail themselves of the privileges of the building this evening. An interesting program of exercise and amusement has been prepared.

The Boys' Club, composed of boys who are not members of the association, will meet Friday evening and pass a pleasant occasion in the gymnasium and with the various games. This will be the first meeting of the season and will be continued each Friday evening during the fall and winter.

The Efficiency Club will meet at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The boys will take a number of tests in efficiency.

The younger members of the association will have a game tournament and social evening Saturday, commencing at 7:30 P. M.

Forty boys attended the Boys' meeting Sunday afternoon.

MRS. HOFFMAN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. M. E. T. Hoffman, of Readington, was held at the Reformed church of that place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hoffman was the daughter of the late Judge Joseph Thompson, for twenty-five years a judge of Somerset county. For the past three years Mrs. Hoffman had been making her home with her brother, Aaron J. Thompson, of Three Bridges.

Try This On Your Disposition

When you discover that you hate

'Cause I don't know him well enough."

There is no human we'll despise,
If we could see through clearer eyes;
The reasons lying back behind
His faults—to these we're never blind!

Had Shakespeare's wisdom, we'd dispense
With hate—and have a lot more sense.

No Cause For Alarm

"I'm so afraid," said the fluttering young thing, "that some masterly man will overcome my scruples against matrimony, and just carry me off bodily, as the cave-men did!"

"Don't be alarmed," comforted her thirty-seven-year-old spinster cousin. "I used to have those fears, but I've not seen even a periscope protruding above my sea of life for fifteen years."

Comforting Thought

"Here, George," said one ammunition-factory employee to another, "you must quit lighting your pipe in here and throwing the live match-sticks about!"

"O what's the diff.!" grumbled his careless mate. "Even if we do blow up the whole concern it will be laid at the door of foreign-born plotters."

The Good Old Days

When I was a lad I spent my dimes
As ordered by the fine-print ads.
From Augusta, Me.—O the good old times
When a pair of jitneys looked like scads!

In Auto Language

"How many toes has a pigeon, and how are they arranged?" asked the teacher of Johnny, the motor-mad boy.

"Four—three forward and one reverse," answered the boy, promptly.

Why He Thought So

Supersensitive Lecturer — Were those folks where you went last evening discussing my lecture?

Thoughtless Friend—I don't know, but I suspect so. They told me they had been roasting chestnuts.

The Swell-Head

Blessed is the man with the pneumatic bean, for he cannot be made unhappy

He is always with himself, and therefore in the finest of company.

No matter what other persons may be present to bore him, he always hath the sweet consolation of his own alluring presence

Though others may show a dislike for him, it hurteth him not, nay, nit!

He only pitieth those whose mental condition is such as not to see his supremacy.

Though others show that they think he is a noodle, yea, even a sodden simp, and a grievous boob, he sorroweth for them and is not angry.

Neither is his opinion of himself changed one whit.

Even though he fail in life he standeth in rags and vieweth the silly world with a vast and consuming pity for that it did not know a good thing when it saw it.

Yea, blessed is the man with the inflated conk, for he shall always be at peace within, no matter what may be the attitude of others.

He knoweth he is right because he is He.

In Ar-Rears

Don't ever go behind a man
With sharp-edged words to prick him—
Behind, since first man's griefs began,
Has been the place to kick him.

The Young Lady Across The Way

We asked the young lady across the way if a certain young man wasn't a little wild and she said she was afraid he was worse than that and from what she heard she feared he was a regular paragon of all the virtues.

Aromatic Spirits Of Ammonia

ONE very useful medicine which should be kept in every medicine closet is aromatic spirits of ammonia. A two-ounce vial of this near-panacea is almost indispensable in first aid or emergency outfits.

The dose given internally is from a few drops to half a teaspoonful, always in a few spoonfuls of cold water.

To substantiate our faith in this medicine it may be well to mention some of the conditions in which it is valuable.

First, as a quick, sure and safe stimulant for the circulation in faintness or sudden collapse from any cause nothing is better than a half teaspoonful of aromatic ammonia in a wineglassful of water—provided the patient is conscious enough to swallow. Ammonia really stimulates, when whiskey or brandy only narcotizes and gives a false semblance of stimulation.

In digestive troubles accompanied by sour stomach, much gas and distress, small doses of aromatic ammonia in water every hour or two will often give relief. The ammonia, being alkaline, tends to neutralize acids formed by fermentation, and the local stimulating effect on the stomach aids in eructating the gas.

Aromatic ammonia has considerable reputation as an agent for the hurried sobering of a three-button souse—or whatever garment a man sometimes wears home when he has been out sitting up with a sick friend.

Inhaled from the bottle or from a handkerchief wet with the medicine, aromatic ammonia does everything "smelling salts" will do—being the same thing in liquid form.

Locally applied, this agent is one of the most efficacious remedies for mosquito bites and the bites of other insects.

Of course it would be an ideal antidote for poisoning by any acid.

A vial of aromatic spirits of ammonia, corked with a rubber cork or with a glass stopper, should be kept in every household, along with the vial of tincture of iodine (the safe and reliable antiseptic) and the box of boric acid (the stuff to make eye-wash, gargles and douches in general). With these three medicines and soap and water and fresh air and sunlight one could conduct a very successful practice in minor medicine and surgery. That is, if grandma would refrain from interfering with her worm medicines and healing salves!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Restless Husband

My husband, complains Mrs. W. E., has spells in his sleep when he groans, then he half wakes and seems to try to chase away something or other that comes up to him. He says he is conscious of it in a vague way, though he is certainly not awake. His breathing bothers him a good deal.

Answer—Your husband is bad at heart—in the literal sense, we mean. He ought to have his physician make a careful test of the heart. This is the best guess we can make via long distance communication.

Baby, Fresh Air, And The Neighbors

People think it terrible that I put no cap or stockings on baby when I take him for walks, writes a young mother. He has never had a cold and he is strong and healthy. What do you think?

Answer—We think the neighbors will learn common sense by observation if you will just keep on as you are doing.

TOOTH-PICKS

A TOOTH-PICK is an instrument of torture—not to the man who uses it, but to those who watch him. It is the unpolitest table tool known. Men who eat their soup with a suction dredge accent and try to make food and conversation pass on a single track road would shudder at the idea of using a tooth-pick in public.

Men who have served in the war and who can defend themselves against a dozen men with a cavalry sabre become pale and nervous when a stranger pulls one of these terrifying table implements on them and retire hastily.

The tooth-pick is not as damaging in its results as the pipe or the cigarette, but public opinion is very much down on it and it has no social standing whatever.

If we were to be given the task of picking a man who was absolutely careless regarding public opinion we should unhesitatingly pick out a man who had the nerve to stand in front of an exclusive hotel with a tooth-pick in his mouth.

Still, the tooth-pick is a necessity and a few rules for its use might not be out of place.

In the first place, the performer should change his name in order to avoid disgrace when caught. In minor adventures like stealing railroads or elections he can work under his own name. But in these cases the censure is not so scathing.

Having changed his name, the performer should then pick out a large isolated ocean and wade into it about seven miles where he will be safe from observation. By that time he will not need the tooth-pick anyway and his reputation will be saved.

Of late years we have come to converse unflinchingly in high social circles on subjects which would cause

Men who eat their soup with a suction dredge accent shudder at the idea of using a tooth-pick in public an Iowa family dinner party to run for the nearest disinfectants. We are not easily shocked by any sort of conversation nowadays in advanced quarters. But we still maintain a dignified horror of the tooth-pick.

This is good. Society needs to be horrified about something. If it should give in and indulge in the tooth-pick as fearlessly as it does in divorce we would have no ideals left at all.

Views Of The Press

The Youthfulness Of Students

WHENEVER the alumni return to the alma mater the common remark is, "How much younger the students are than they used to be." In vain the registrar brings forward his statistics and proves that the average age of entrance to college has been steadily advancing for a generation; they persist in their conviction. Now, Professor Keeble in his presidential address before the botanical section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science comes to the support of the common conception by laying down "the biological law that as society grows older its young men grow younger. Undergraduates call themselves men, not solely from a sense of pride, but also in obedience to tradition. Centuries ago they went up to the university as men of fifteen or sixteen; now they go up as youths of eighteen or nineteen. With respect to moral discipline we are not unforgetful of their youth; but with respect to intellectual education we treat them as though they were grown up." This reminds us of the sarcastic remark of a distinguished American scientist, that the college of liberal arts was a device for the artificial prolongation of boyhood.—The Independent Magazine.

One King That's Doomed

OLD KING BARLEYCORN and all his minions appear to be ambling on rather wobbly legs, judging by the facts in his case. Here are a few of the significant ones:

Absinthe has been prohibited in Belgium, Switzerland and France.

King Haakon, of Norway, closed the breweries on the outbreak of war.

Iceland has banished alcoholic beverages from the island.

The Czar has lifted the curse of Russia by his prohibition ukase.

Public men of Great Britain denounce liquor as the nation's greatest and most ancient foe.

Eighteen States in this country have kicked out old "King Booze."

A majority of the House of Representatives of the United States voted to submit a constitutional prohibition amendment.

Five hundred and fifty daily papers of the United States, including two in Harrisburg, now refuse all liquor advertising.

The druggists of the country may no longer sell whiskey or brandy.

The use of alcohol as a medicine is decreasing in more than nine-tenths of the leading hospitals of America.

Great industrial concerns, such as the Pennsylvania Railroad, now prohibit the use of alcoholics among their employes.

Not only is the world awaking to the fact that liquor is not a necessity, but it is coming rapidly to a realization that it is the greatest degrading influence known to humanity.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

Something She Had Neglected

Q. A girl lived with her parents for several years after becoming of age. She now wants to charge for services performed by her. Can she do this?

A. Not unless there was an express agreement to this effect or unless the circumstances show plainly that this was the understanding.

It's All In What You Say

Q. If a landlord does not expressly agree to make alterations and repairs in the premises rented, is he bound to do so? A. No.

A Minor's Consent

Q. Is a minor's consent necessary before he may be bound out as an apprentice?

A. In most of the states, the minor's consent must be expressly evidenced.

In The Agent's Hands

Q. If one employs an agent to take out an insurance policy for the protection of some buildings, will he be bound by what the agent says and does, in case the agent should misrepresent the facts?

A. Yes, as a rule.

A Fraudulent Title

Q. If a deed is not delivered, and the person to whom the conveyance is supposed to have been made gets possession of the deed fraudulently, will he have a good title to the property. A. No.

Error In Receipt

Q. If one signs a receipt in full for the payment of money, but afterward discovers that a mistake has been made, will he be at liberty, to show such mistake? A. Yes.

Liable For Agent's Acts

Q. Suppose one man should hold himself out as acting for another, while in fact he was not the agent of the second man. Would the first man incur any liability for his acts?

A. Yes.

A Testamentary Compromise

Q. Would it be legal to put a provision in a will directing the trustees under the will to compromise debt?

A. Yes.

A Real Estate Deed

Q. Who may make a deed conveying real estate? Are there any restrictions imposed by law?

A. In general, every person who may lawfully make a contract may lawfully make a deed.

To Pay The Piper

Q. Can a wife, in a divorce proceeding, have an allowance for attorney fees?

A. Yes, upon proper application.

Uniform Marriage Laws

Q. Isn't it true that if a marriage is legal by the laws of the state where the marriage ceremony is performed, it will be legal in every other state?

A. This is true as a general rule, but it has some very important exceptions. If the marriage is contrary to public policy or is such as is forbidden by the laws of a state where the couple afterward resides such state may refuse to recognize the validity of the marriage.

Trust

The human Soul craves Trust more than any other thing. Just as soon as you put Confidence in a man and convince him that you believe in him without a particle of distrust—at that very moment he enters into his greatest period of Efficient Accomplishment.

The best way to get the most out of any Friend or Worker is to Trust him.

Just as soon as an Employer begins to Trust an Employee—just as soon as an Employee begins to Trust his Employer—at that moment a strong organization begins. It is the same in the course of the Everyday. The people that we Trust are the people who Trust us. Mutual Trust is Mutual Happiness. No one can be Unhappy or Useless who Trusts.

It is Natural to Trust. It is Unnatural not to Trust.

Human Life begins by Trusting. The Child at first Trusts everyone. Every happy relationship starts with co-operative Trust. The only thing that can mar or pry Trust from its hinges is Suspicion.

In the work of this day—every day—whenever you are tempted to Distrust, to Criticize, to Envy—bring this little word into use—Trust.

Mrs. Laban Cain, who has been married six years, still is responding to encores from her husband's family. This is particularly noteworthy for the reason that a woman rarely succeeds in gaining the applause of her husband's family.

There are a lot of knotty problems in life. One of them concerns the wisdom of splitting a pair for the purpose of drawing to a flush.

People should sympathize more with old Methuselah. Methuselah, it will be recalled, lived to be more than 900 years old.

There is this to say in behalf of the pug dog. When he finally disappeared he did it unostentatiously.

What finally became of the mild-mannered person who "wouldn't hurt a fly"?

The newspapers pay a good deal of attention to a murder case if there is a young and pretty woman concerned in it.

Students at Wellesley have decided to eliminate slang from their conversation. They say it gets them in bad with people who are not hep to it.

Current Poetry

Can And Can't

Said Can't to Can: "It's plainly true
That I am stronger far than you.
Just see how much poor, wretched Man
Can't do compared to what he can:
He can't grow wings and soar on high,
He can't make clouds bedeck the sky,
He can't live without breathing more
Than two, three minutes, maybe four;
He can't control his dreams at will,
He can't make water flow up hill,
He can't defer unwelcome night,
He can't suspend time's speeding flight,
He can't do this, he can't do that,
In short, he can't do much, poor gnat!"

Can smiled and said: "Alas, alack!
You've gotten badly off the track!
Behold the things that Man can do
Compared with what he can't so few:
He can fly through the air and rise
Above the clouds that 'deck the skies,
He can descend in caverns dim
And breathe the air he takes with him.
His waking dreams he can control,
He can, as steam, seize water's soul.
He can make night seem like the day,
He can, through work, hold Age at bay.
He can do much, he can do more,
None knows as yet how he can soar."

Can't sadly smiled and said: "Nay, cease!
Man can do much; he can't keep peace."

—William Wallace Whitelock, in New York Sun.

She Took Them Under Her Wings and Kept Them Warm.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How the Cat and The Hen Raised Their Children.

"DADDY," said the children, "it's a long time since you told us a chicken story."

"There was once a cozy spot in a big barn that both an old red hen and an old white cat choose to bring up a family in. The cozy spot was in the haymow, high up where no boys or dogs could reach it, and instead of quarreling about it the hen and the cat both decided to share it."

"It's much nicer always to share things, isn't it?" asked Jack.

"Yes, indeed!" said daddy. "The old red hen laid three eggs in the cozy nest, and the old white cat used to keep them warm while the hen went to scratch for bugs and pick up corn. Then one day when she came back to her eggs she found three kittens lying on them. They were very small, so small that their eyes were still closed, and instead of scratching them right out of the cozy spot she took them under her red wings and kept them warm while the old white cat went to the kitchen for a saucer of milk. Strange to say, when she got back to the cozy spot she found three fluffy chickens cuddled up on her three kittens, and instead of eating them she curled up beside them while the old red hen went to get her supper of worms.

"Well, this neighborliness went on till one day the kittens got one eye open. It all depended upon the kittens, you see. One black kitten crawled out of the cozy spot, taking his two sisters with him, so that the chickens got very cold and peeped like anything for their mother."

"Those bad kittens!" cried the kiddies.

"The mothers took turns again, but in the back of the old white cat's brain was a big doubt. She felt sure she could not trust the kittens as soon as they got both eyes open and could see how attractive the world is. Sure enough, about a week later, when she returned from her morsel of breakfast, she found all three kittens curled up on an old dustpan, while off in the cozy spot by themselves stood the three chickens, peeping for dear life and some one to bring them worms. When the old red hen got back from her breakfast she was so cross that she clucked her three chickens right out of the cozy spot into a danger. So the happy neighborliness all came to an end because the kittens got both eyes open wide enough to travel about and see the world."

"We like that chicken story, which seems almost like a kitten tale," said Jack. And when daddy laughed he did not understand.

"Come back for a good night kiss," said daddy as the children skipped off.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Dick folded the letter and gave a low whistle as he tucked it in the envelope, then sat staring at the fire, his clasped hands dropped between his knees.

"Well, I am here," said Nell, a little nettled at his continued silence.

Dick came to with a start and handed her the letter. The spell of silence fell on her as well and the clock ticked away ten minutes before either of them spoke.

"If we hadn't bought the stock in the company we might dare think of trying to get a home of our own," he said at last with a sigh.

"Well, there is not any question that buying the stock was the wisest thing to do. When it is all paid for our income will be so increased that we can have a home, and you may have worked into a partnership as well. So we will not think about that." She smiled bravely up into his face.

"But you will find it hard to give up this pretty home, especially as there is not another decent house to rent in the whole town," said Dick anxiously.

"Whatever started him up to want to live in this house after renting it for years, do you suppose?" Nell mused after a pause.

"To tell you the truth, I verily believe it was because we've fixed it up and made him see the possibilities of the place," said Dick ruefully. "There is no question about it's being far more attractive than the house he lives in now."

"It's like evicting the Irish tenantry when they made their places look too prosperous," grumbled Nell.

"The tenants usually had the alternative of going or paying a higher rent, and we have no alternative; we must move in the spring willy nilly." Dick's tone was mutinous.

"I wonder if he intends to sell the other place or offer it for rent," mused Nell.

"He says nothing about renting it. I for one would not be very keen about it. It is way off the other side of town and this neighborhood is the charm of Fairport."

"Certainly," responded Nell, "but as you before remarked there are no decent houses to rent. We shall have Hobson's choice."

"And I can have the exquisite pleasure of beginning all over again on a mangy lawn and leveling it up so a lawn mower can be run over it." There was settled gloom on his face.

"Talk about my fixing up the place and making it attractive. You are the one who has brought this calamity on us by fixing up the yard," laughed Nell.

"So much of our furniture was bought for this place and really fits, it will be a makeshift wherever we go until we build and then we could build around the furniture. When that time comes we can have things to suit us again." Dick rose and walked to the window and looked out on the beloved alwn.

"Don't you care, Dick. When the two big blocks of stock are paid for we will buy a lot and build. You'll promise me that, won't you?" Nell leaned her cheek on his arm.

"To tell the truth I think we will have a home all the sooner for this enforced move. I was so well satisfied here that I was in no hurry to build. Now I shall want to bend every energy to get a home that no landlord can turn us out of." He patted his wife's cheek.

I'm glad you feel that way about it anyway, and nothing can take the the blessed memories of this home away; the home where our boy was born, where we have been sad and glad together," murmured Nell.

Don't you remember how we hated to leave our first home? We felt that we should never care for another half so much, and now we feel much more strongly about this one."

"Yes," chimed in Nell, "while we keep the essence of home in our hearts, we can face any future." She smiled through her tears and Dick bent and kissed her.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

Household Hints

CAKES

Cake Icing—In making icing with powdered sugar it is much better to use a little hot water instead of milk for mixing. This warm weather the milk soon sours and spoils the frosting of cakes. By this method you can ice a cake in a little while, as you do not have to cook it at all, and there is no danger of its spoiling.

A Good Fruit Cake—One pound butter, one pound sugar, twelve eggs, one pound currants, one pound raisins, one-half pound mixed peel, one pound flour, one-fourth pound almonds, two teaspoons baking powder. Beat butter and sugar to a cream, add eggs one by one until lightly beaten; stir in flour and baking powder lightly, then the fruit and almonds. Line cake tin with buttered paper and put mixture in, bake in slow oven five or six hours until thoroughly cooked in center. This makes a fine Christmas cake.

THE TABLE

Cauliflower Soup — Cook cauliflower in beef stock, saving the stock in which it has been cooked. Press through a fine sieve, rejecting all the stems and coarse pieces. To the puree of cauliflower add the stock, season and, just before sending to the table, add a pint of cream for each four people, whipping the cream and turning it into the soup just before it is served.

German Soup Balls—Roll eight crackers to a fine dust, add one tablespoon finely chopped parsley, one tablespoon flour and a grating of nutmeg. Add one beaten egg and six tablespoons soup stock. Mold into small balls. Cook in hot soup five minutes and serve.

Jellied Bouillon—For jellied soups use well made beef or chicken consomme. Add just enough gelatin to make it jell slightly. Place in cracked ice till needed. Serve in bouillon cups.

Baked Stuffed Fish—One-half cup bread crumbs, one-fourth cup melted butter, one-half cup cracker crumbs, one-half small onion chopped fine, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon finely chopped parsley, two tablespoons chopped pickle. Bind together with hot water. Stuff a large whitefish, put strips of bacon on it. Bake one-half hour. Serve with egg sauce. Egg Sauce: One tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour; make smooth in sauce pan, then add one-fourth teaspoon salt, one pint milk; cook until quite thick, then add a chopped hard boiled egg and parsley.

Salmon Patties—A dainty and appetizing dish in hot weather is salmon patties. Take one can salmon, with a fork mince fine; salt and pepper to taste; add one egg, one cup milk, two cups cracker crumbs, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and small bunch of parsley, cut fine. Mix all together, form in patties and cover in cracker crumbs. Have about one-fourth inch deep grease in frying pan and fry a golden brown. Serve hot.

Mexican Red Hot—Take six or eight large tomatoes (ripe), three large green peppers and one large onion. Plunge tomatoes in boiling water to remove skins, then cut up in fine pieces; add peppers and onion, chopped fine (remove seeds from peppers). Add salt to taste and generous pinch cayenne pepper; then add one cup water. Let all boil until peppers are dark green. This is delicious as meat sauce.

Green Tomato Pie—Wash, pare and slice five or six green tomatoes and put them in a pie crust. Add half cup vinegar and one cup sugar. Scatter over bits of butter, sprinkle with flour and a little allspice, put on top crust and bake in moderate oven.

Peach Dainty—Boil one cup rice until tender. Drain well and allow to cool. Boil half pound granulated sugar with half cup water until it spins a thread. Peel about eight peaches, split in halves, remove the stones and fill cavity full of cocoanut. Arrange the rice on a platter to about two inches thick, spread out nice and smooth; dip the peaches in the syrup and place on the rice, cavity side up, making it look like a mound; continue until all the peaches are used. Now take your syrup and add enough cocoanut to form into small balls, arrange these in between peaches and rice, sprinkle with powdered sugar, and serve with plain or whipped cream or a custard sauce. These make a delicious dessert.

"Mamma's Sweet Apples"—Wash, halve and score sound sweet apples. Lay in preserve kettle and cover with water. To one dozen apples add half cup sugar. When apples are tender, remove from kettle and lay on a platter, peel side down. Cook liquor in kettle until a rich syrup. Pour this over apples. Sprinkle with granulated sugar, also nutmeg and cinnamon if desired. These are to be served cold and make a delicious luncheon or supper dish.

Marvelous French Silks
Which Lyons Was Forced to Sacrifice

If Paris were wearing these sumptuous silks, as she would under normal conditions, they would never have come to America at these prices.

They are the tissues that the Lyons silk weavers fabricate for the Lyons dressmakers—marvelously lovely things which are used only in the most exclusive creations.

This year, however, an importer who represents these Lyons houses offered us their entire output at such a concession that we can sell

For $36,000 Silks that Under Normal Conditions Would Cost $104,000

When we try to describe such silks, we can think only of the fabled tales of "Argosies laden with rich stuffs from the Indies."

Imagine silks thick woven with metal, yet soft as velvet.

Imagine a cloth of gold embossed with velour.

Imagine 447 different colors and designs, each lovelier than the last!

Yes—in the midst of a season that bids fair to be one of the most sumptuous New York has known, and with a dearth of these Silks.

Wanamaker Prices Are Now Only $7.50 to $15 Yard

Some of the most unusual of these silks are—

Faille Metal Marron d'Inde	Velour Broche Sur Metal	Metal Broche Titian	Velour Broche Royal
Voile Metal Versailles	Filet Broche Normandie	Faille Souple Rose	Meteor Lame Triangle
Matelasse Ancienne Moresque	Chiffon Broche Greppillon	Satin Metallique Bakst	Metal Duchess Byzantine
Faille d'Iris Metallique	Satin Pekin Metallique	Broche Pommes Sturage	Faille Pommes Nippon
Damas Coptic Metallique	Metal Imprime Chrysanthème	Broche Frise de Neige	Broche des Romeaux
Metal Damas Gothic	Branche ondoyant d'Argent	Glace Tissue Chinoise	Taffeta Broderie Bakst
Filet Madrid Broche	Crepe Broche d'Arbre	Metal Gros de Londre	Chiffon Broche Imprime
Metal Broche Veronique	Broche uni Japan	Metal Souple Siamese	Metal Tissue Glace
Duchesse Broche Portuny	Meteor Converte de Fleurs	Metal Imprime Moderne	Satin Broche Grotesque
Faille Metal Pivoine	Matelasse Antique Florentine	Duchess Velour Broche	Metal Damas Frise
Meteor Tinsel Rose	Fleur Broche Lame

These marvelous French silks will be displayed in the Silk Rotunda, Main Aisle and Main floor, Old Building.

THE JOHN WANAMAKER PIANO SALONS

For children who are hungry for music, in homes where there is no one who can play the piano—

The Lindeman Player-Piano

(One model, on convenient terms)

$395

The Lindeman piano is the oldest but one in America. The first Lindeman piano was built 79 years ago, and people have liked the instrument so well that the factory has been turning out Lindeman pianos every working day since. The Lindeman tone is a home-tone. It is especially adapted for use in the average size living-room. It is a good tone to sing to; a beautiful tone to listen to.

The player-action in this Lindeman piano is simple and very effective. A child can play it. And you can get out of it any effect you wish.

It Is the Finest Player-Piano at Its Price

Would we might cry this from the housetops, that all might know of it, and that there might come into the life of little children who are musicless today, the blessing of good MUSIC, the bringer of smiles and happiness, and the physical and moral well-being that comes with them.

A small payment ensures immediate delivery; afterwards, little payments each month on a basis which will not cause the purchaser any worry.

Come tomorrow. Bring the children. See and hear for yourself how good this Lindeman player-piano is, and how easily you may make it yours—and your children's.

Music Rolls for all 88-note player-pianos. Used pianos taken in part exchange.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The Proctor Theatre is to observe "bazaar night" tomorrow night, and a few surprises are in store for those who may attend the performances. This innovation does not mean that the standard of the vaudeville or the program of pictures is to be lowered, but that the patrons of this house will get more for their money than heretofore on this occasion.

This week's bill should be seen to be appreciated. Not in many weeks has such an evenly balanced program been put on the boards. The feats of equilibrium by the Kawa troupe of Japanese acrobats are such as only Japs can get away with successfully.

There are also the Two Parshleys, a pair of instrumentalists who put across a bunch of stuff within the course of a few moments. Then Bobby Heath and Ruby Raymond, with their nifty nonsense, have some original stuff with a drop all their own. Give this pair the once over and see if they are not there with the goods. Joe Lannigan has something new and original in the line of a monologue, and bring the children along, for Joe loves them. David S. Hall and Company, in the comedy skit, "He's Just Gone Out," brought down the house yesterday at all performances. It is a scream. Cook and Sylvia, the pair of dancers, with a little singing thrown in as a side, were certainly on the job.

Don't forget that feature pictures, with current events in picture form, are still being shown at the Proctor house. And everybody is seeing them there. Notices tomorrow for the program of the last half of the week.

ATTENDING PRESBYTERY.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and C. M. Hummer, delegate, are attending the meeting of the Presbytery which is being held today in the Third Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth.

BASEBALL LEAGUE ENDS SEASON

Pennant and Silver Cup Presented to Netherwood Club.

TO PLAY NEXT YEAR

Same Clubs Will be Represented in 1916—First Monday in February Set For Next Meeting—Thanks to Dreier and Slonim For Interest.

The City Amateur Baseball League season of 1915 in Plainfield may now be written into history, for it is closed.

At a meeting of the league held in the office of the Plainfield Daily Press last night it was decided not to play any of the postponed games, and the standing of the clubs was declared officially ended. A pennant and a silver cup was presented to the Netherwood club, champions of the 1915 season.

The league adjourned, but it was agreed before adjournment that the same organizers would meet in the Plainfield Daily Press office on the first Monday in February to get ready for next year. There will be no new teams in the league, if plans discussed last night are carried out. It will again be composed of Netherwood, T. A. B. S., Clinton Avenue, First Baptist, Saurers and Hope Chapel.

In the absence of President W. C. Dobbins, Vice President "Brit" Martin presided. All of the teams were represented. After a brief discussion of the past season, followed by a motion that the schedule be declared closed, which was carried, Mr. Martin introduced Harry Dreier, who presented to the Netherwood club a handsome pennant. On it was "City League, Netherwood Baseball Club, Champions 1915, Plainfield, N. J." The pennant was lettered in white on a background of blue and white. Manager Jack Coughlin, of the Netherwood club, received the pennant and thanked Mr. Dreier for the players. Both the donor and Vice President Martin said that the club deserved to win because of its aggressive, clean playing, even when fighting against odds. On behalf of Leo Slonim, a beautiful silver cup was also presented to Manager Coughlin for his team. Both trophies are to be hung in the Netherwood club rooms. A standing vote of thanks was extended Mr. Dreier and Mr. Slonim for their interest in the league.

P. E. G. S. PLANNING FOR THE BASKETBALL SEASON

The P. E. G. S. will meet in the Plainfield High School gymnasium tomorrow night at 7:30, regular basketball practice preceding the business meeting, which will be held at 9 o'clock. Two teams will be formed at this meeting to represent the club, thus giving every member a chance to play on the team. At the business session to follow, a cast will be chosen for the three act comedy, "Commencement Days," which the organization will present sometime during December. Each member is urged to come for the tryouts.

SEVENTEEN REPORT TO HOLY CROSS COACH

Regular Practice Will Be Held on Next Thursday Evening.

A squad of seventeen men reported for practice Monday evening when the initial workout of the season for the Holy Cross football team was held. From this bunch of huskies Coach Stallings is confident he can pick an aggregation that will be even better than that of last year. The next practice will be held Thursday night, provided rain does not fall at that time.

RECREATION NOTES

A club, the aim of which will be to promote the art of expression and encourage discussion of public questions and debating, was organized at the Washington School last evening. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and plans were made for a systematic building up of the club in point of membership and in influence and usefulness. Mr. Semple was elected president; Mrs. Steiner, vice-president, and Mr. Power, secretary and treasurer. It was decided to have an open discussion on "Woman Suffrage" at the meeting next Monday. Both the suffragists and the "antis" will be invited to send a speaker.

The Needlecraft class met in the library room at Washington School last evening. The popularity of a dressmaking class for the west end was fully demonstrated. Others will no doubt join the class when its benefits are demonstrated by a few weeks of successful work. Many of the women prominent in the Parent Teacher Association have taken an terest in the class and it is hoped that others will do so, bringing their ability and enthusiasm to make the class a success.

The Zephyrs will meet this evening in the High School gymnasium. This is a self-governing athletic club, which will be entirely self-supporting. A business meeting is to be held tonight when a leader for the club is to be engaged. If the club can make the proper financial arrangement it is likely that Miss Mildred Brownlee will be secured as their gymnasium instructor. Miss Brownlee has done some splendid work along this line and has won an enviable place for herself in the hearts of the girls.

The Thespian Society will hold the first meeting of the season at the High School tonight. A large attendance is expected. Plans for the winter activities will be discussed. A social hour will follow the regular business meeting.

Piano classes for children continue to meet in the Franklin School. Application for lessons may be made at the office of the Public Recreation Committee at any time.

CAUGHT IN ELEVATOR AT EVERGREEN AVENUE SCHOOL

Albert Cook, of 340 East Third street, one of the workmen employed on the new Evergreen Avenue School, was caught in an elevator while at work this morning and sustained a number of minor injuries. He was removed to the hospital, where he was reported resting comfortably. He will probably leave the institution tomorrow.

MOVING PICTURE SCENES TAKEN AT DUNELLEN

Dunellenites within the vicinity of Sebring's Mills and Green Brook yesterday afternoon witnessed a stirring moving picture scene, when a company of Kalem players directed by Hamilton Smith, enacted the fourth episode of "The Ventures of Marguerite." Pretty Marguerite Courtot, the star of the play, and her guardian, Richard Purden, were crossing the bridge on horseback when the villain of the play made a bold attempt to kidnap the young woman. A pistol fight occurred, in which the villain was shot.

Later in the afternoon the party dined at a local restaurant. The porch and front lawn of the residence of George W. Day was also used for a setting.

ACTION OF NEWARK EAGLE RAISES STRONG PROTEST

Mrs. Lillian F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey State Suffrage Association, in a statement issued today, protests against the action of the Newark Eagle in suggesting, as it did on October 2d, that voters who are not registered cannot vote on October 19th.

"The Eagle is understood to be controlled by James R. Nugent," says Mrs. Feickert. "In trying to persuade its readers that those who are not already registered cannot vote on October 19th, it seems to me to be endeavoring to discourage voters from going to the polls to vote on the suffrage amendment. As a matter of law and fact, the election boards will sit in every precinct on election day. We have the attorney-general's decision on this point. Any voter who goes to the polls between the hours of 1:00 P. M. and 7:00 P. M. can register and vote. There is no confusion or difficulty about it."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The election of G. A. A. directors will be held next Friday, nominations being received at assembly exercises in the morning. No vice president wil be appointed.

The first meeting of the Commercial Club will take place Friday afternoon, a social hour following the regular business session.

Under the direction of Miss Ruth I. Wean, the girls' basketball team held its second practice this afternoon. In addition to a few of last year's stars, several recruits put in an appearance.

Gerald Linke, business manager of the Oracle, has announced a prize of a year's subscription to the school paper to the P. H. S. student who submits the best design for a cover and also to those who submit the most tasteful standing heads for the various departments.

The following sophomore officers have been elected: Vice president, Mary Simons, and secretary, John Causbrook. Before the remaining two officers can be elected a second ballot must be taken.

Owing to the inclement weather, football practice was not held today. The next encounter is scheduled to be contested in Passaic with the High School of that place. As the Passaic team is reported as being classy, a tough argument is in store for the locals.

At assembly exercises this morning, Principal Lindsay Best announced that the first minstrel show rehearsal would be held this afternoon. The show this year srould be an exceptionally good one, both from a financial and a theatrical standpoint. Gerald Linke is business manager, and Professors Biddle, Wriston and Tyree are the coaches. Tryouts for endmen will be held in a few days.

The following B. A. A. officers have been chosen by the directors: President, William Wheelan; vice president, Carlton Dunham; secretary-treasurer, Herbert Peacock.

"FLY-BY-NIGHTS" TO BE LICENSED HERE

Itinerant Merchants Ordinance Adopted by Council Last Night.

With but one dissenting vote, that being cast by Councilman Thomas Hylan, the ordinance to license itinerant merchants coming into Plainfield was passed at the October meeting of the Common Council last night. The measure, introduced by Councilman Francis J. Blatz, provides for a monthly license fee of $200 for all transient merchants and is similar in form to that now in vogue in Paterson and other places.

Two weeks ago a public meeting was held on the proposition and while a number of merchants appeared to speak in favor of the project not a single individual took the opposite view. For a long time there has been a feeling among local business men that they should be given protection under the city ordinances against the "fly-by-night" merchants who will be affected by the measure. Especially is the practice of conducting these "fly-in and fly-out" businesses noticeable around the holidays.

The promoters of the schemes come to the city and rent stores and then proceed to advertise bargains such as the permanent business men cannot compete with. It has been noticed that the materials disposed of have not always proven satisfactory after a trial by the buyer, who believes he has a bargain, and when he seeks the promoter for an adjustment he oftentimes finds that he has fled to parts unknown.

ELECTION FRAUDS REPORTED TO JUDGE

Grand Jury in Union County Told to Make a Careful Probe.

Elizabeth, Oct. 5.—That a report of violations of the election laws in the recent primary had come to his ears, was declared by Justice James J. Bergen in his charge to the grand jury that was sworn in and assumed its duties of criminal investigation in Union county this morning. Justice Bergen did not tell where the violations were reported to have occurred, but he told the grand jury to investigate and report an indictment, or indictments, if the reports were found to be true.

He also charged them as to their duties in determining the extent of criminal liability in an automobile accident, defining the rights of autoists and pedestrians, and explaining how manslaughter could be committed by the running over of a pedestrian by a motorist. He warned the jury that violations of the noise law might exist and ordered them to return indictments in all cases of this kind.

The only Plainfield man summoned for grand jury duty was the Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, and he did not report, being out of the State.

Circuit court also opened for the fall term here this morning, Judge George F. Silzer presiding. A number of Plainfield attorneys were present when court was called. The docket is a light one.

EXPLOSION ON BOARD AMERICAN WARSHIP

Washington, Oct. 5.—A report reached the navy department today that an explosion had occurred on board the destroyer Cummings. The Cummings is, in company with a large number of other vessels, engaged in the war game maneuvres along the Atlantic coast. No inquiry will be made by the navy department until after the conclusion of the war game as communication with the ships might interfere with the purpose of the maneuvres. The information reached the navy department through picking up an interrupted wireless message.

ELIZABETH PLANS TO HOLD SPRING FESTIVAL

Elizabeth is to have a Festival Chorus which will combine in the spring with the Newark Music Festival Chorus for the series of festival concerts which are to open that city's 250th anniversary celebration on May 1, 2, 3 and 4 next. While Elizabeth, Cranford, Rahway, Westfield and Plainfield, as well as other adjoining cities, were all represented in the series of concerts held in the First Regiment Armory last May, the Newark association has been assured of a large local chorus.

Singers who desire to join are urged to send their names and part they sing and if voice is high or low, as early as possible to the office of the Newark Music Festival Association, Wiss Building, 671 Broad street, Newark. Membership cards will be mailed to them upon the receipt of application.

OPEN CLASSES FOR FOREIGNERS

General Instruction in English, Mathematic, etc., to Be Given Aliens.

APPLICATIONS FILED

U. S. Bureau of Naturalization Will Co-operate With Local Educational Authorities in Making School a Success.

The night schools of Plainfield will open Monday, October 11, 1915. Classes will be held in the High School building, where instruction will be given in English, arithmetic, civics, and other subjects especially adapted to the needs of aliens seeking to become naturalized.

The foreign-born population of Plainfield in 1910 was 4,144. Of this number 1,670 were males who had attained their majority and only 830 were shown to have been naturalized. Since July 1, 1910, 2,316 aliens of Union county have declared their intention and 1,474 have filed their final applications for citizenship.

The Bureau of Naturalization has furnished the superintendent of the Plainfield schools with the names and addresses of aliens residing within his jurisdiction who filed petitions for naturalization during July, 1915, and has advised him that the names and addresses of declarants and petitioners will be forwarded to him from month to month during the scholastic year. This will enable the school authorities to get into touch with such applicants each month of the school year and give them valuable assistance in preparing for citizenship. Last year there were 813 who applied for citizenship in Union county.

It is the desire of the Bureau of Naturalization that teachers who are in charge of these classes observe closely the effect upon the student of the subjects and methods of instruction so that detailed reports of the results of their observation may be available at the end of the scholastic year. This information, in connection with the reports to be received from all over the United States from superintendents of schools, will be used in the preparation of an exhaustive report presenting the experiences of all engaged in this work. The Bureau of Naturalization also intends to call a convention of educators to be held next summer in the city of Washington after the convention of the National Education Association has completed its work in New York City. The purpose of this convention is to have formulated under the direction of the Bureau of Naturalization a course of instruction representing the best thought of the educators of the entire country concerning the instruction of the foreigner both in regard to material well-being and the responsibilities of the candidate for citizenship.

TRIAL OF BANK TELLER.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 5—The trial of Leo L. Perrin, former teller of the Cedar Rapids National Bank, will be tried at the session of the Federal Court which begins today. Perrin is said to have confessed to robbing his own bank, and locking himself in the vault in an effort to avert suspicion. The bank lost $20,700, according to the police, most of which has been recovered. The money was missing in August, when Perrin told how he was confronted with a lone robber in the bank and forced to hand over the money at the point of a revolver and than locked in the vault. Perrin, when found, was locked behind two doors, but he confessed to locking himself in. Purchase of land stock is the cause of his downfall, it is said. The police say the interest amounted to over a thousand dollars a year, and Perrin's salary was only $1,500. Friends of the young bank clerk will try to secure a suspension of sentence.

WORLD'S HIGHEST DAM.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 5—The Arrowrock Dam, the highest in the world, 351 feet high, and hailed as the crowning feat of scientific engineering accomplished by the U. S. Reclamation Service, was formally dedicated yesterday. The dam provides for the irrigation of 243,000 acres, near Boise. The great dam was built at a cost of five million. From 30 to 60 miles below it lie the rich, fertile valley lands whose reclamation is now made possible. The artificial lake formed by the dam is 200 feet deep and extends back for eighteen miles.

FIRE DAY—OCTOBER 9TH.
The "safety first" slogan is needed nowhere more than in the field of fire prevention. If a part of the money expended in keeping up fire departments and apparatus was used in the prevention of fires, the results would be more rewarding. COMBINING MATERIALS IN CHILDREN'S FROCKS POPULAR.

No. 9135.

The combining of materials for children's frocks is extremly popular at present. This makes it possible to use short lengths, and proves very useful in remodeling dresses of a past season. A dress which shows off this idea to great advantage is Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9135. It is a girls' one-piece dress which slips on over the head and closes diagonally in the front. The four-piece circular skirt, turn-back cuffs and collar are all of plaid material, while the waist is of plain dark blue serge. Cut in sizes 8 to 14. Size 12 requires 1⅝ yards 36-inch material with 2⅜ yards 36-inch contrasting material for skirt, collar, cuffs and sash.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force and Company.

PROPOSED WIDENING OF CENTRAL AVENUE

Property Owners Will Be Given Public Hearing Monday, November 1.

An ordinance providing for the widening of Central avenue, between the southeasterly line of West Front street and the northwesterly line of the Central Railroad bridge, was introduced to the Common Council last night by Chairman Francis J. Blatz, of the street committee, and adopted on two readings. A public hearing on the measure will be held in the Common Council chambers Monday evening, November 1.

There has been an agitation on foot to widen this thoroughfare for some time and Mr. Blatz and his committee have had it under consideration. It is believed that the only property that will be in any degree affected by the improvement is that at the intersection of Front street and Central avenue, known as the Lufburrow building.

REVIVAL SERVICES ARE WELL ATTENDED

"Al" J. Saunders, Opens Series of Meetings at Temple Baptist Church.

"Al." Saunders, the Scranton "trail hitter," began his work at the Temple Baptist church, last night, the opening service of the revival being auspicious. The speaker by his personality, pleasing manner and genial disposition soon won the close attention of his hearers. The service was largely attended and Mr. Saunders appeared to make a favorable impression.

The evangelist devoted his remarks last night chiefly to Christian people, emphasizing the need of a personal effort, showing by illustration how ready the world is to hear the message and is just waiting for someone to tell it. "Too many are living with us every day to whom we never say a word about their soul," said Mr. Saunders, "and they conclude, and rightly so, that the church is not concerned about them."

Mr. Saunders came here from Syracuse, N. Y., where he has been working with an evangelistic committee in preparation for the "Billy" Sunday campaign in that city. He has just finished a twenty-day circuit in Ohio in the interest of the Anderson work about to begin there. Every night this week Mr. Saunders will speak at the Temple Baptist church and tomorrow he will have charge of the men's noon-day prayer meeting in the rooms of the Rescue Mission on Madison avenue.

OUR RANGES

We sold them so fast last week that we could not keep up with the demand, and as a result, on Saturday night our show room was pretty well depleted. But we have an extra blacker on this week and we will try to keep the empty spaces filled up and we want you all to come in and see them.

Our Enameled Ivy Canopy Range, with Gun metal top, is a winner. No polishing, no dust—hours of labor saved.

No trouble about getting repairs. We have a large stock on hand, or we can get them on short order.

TRINITY C. E. IS THIRTY YEARS OLD

Anniversary is Observed With Interesting Program of Music and Addresses.

REPORTS BY OFFICERS

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong Talks on Subject of "Conquerors"—Miss Raybert Soloist, With Selections by the Church Orchestra.

Delightful music, interesting addresses and instructive reports, together with a pleasant social hour featured the observance, last night, of the thirtieth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church. The program was given in the Sunday-school room, which had been arranged for the occasion.

The president, Miss May Randolph, gave a short, but earnest, address of welcome, which was preceded and followed by selections by the church orchestra.

In her annual report the secretary, Miss Myra Dunavan, stated that the organization now has sixty-three active and four associate members, where a year ago there were seventy-eight active members and three associate members. This apparent loss is not mean an actual loss to the movement, however, as many had moved away and joined other organizations, while the loss in membership was more than offset by the efficiency brought about by a more concentrated effort during the past year. Fifty-two meetings had been held with a total attendance of 2,199 and an average attendance of forty-two.

The treasurer, Elmer French, was unable to be present but his report showed that during the past year the receipts of the organization totaled $251.49 and the expenditures $230.-93, while the missionary fund received $55.25 and paid out $50.

A solo by Miss S. Etta Raybert was enthusiastically received, while the selections by the orchestra called forth several encores.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, gave the address of the evening, taking for his subject, "Conquerors." He emphasized the fact that there were other and more noble conquests than those made on the field of battle and carnage. "He is a conqueror who solves the problems of life; to subdue one's passions and improve himself in manhood; the inventions, the achievements of industry and the betterment of moral conditions" were all conquests greater than those of Alexander, Caesar or Napoleon, according to Dr. Strong's statements.

On October 4, 1885, the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was organized in connection with the Trinity Reformed church. The officers were: H. E. Gayle, president; Miss Jennie Dunn, first vice president; H. Bolstell, second vice president; Miss Fannie Mattison, recording secretary; Miss Emma Gillem (now Mrs. Leonard Smith), treasurer.

While the growth of the organization was never rapid nor phenomenally large, yet it was founded on a firm basis, has been well managed and has accomplished a vast amount of good and rendered valuable assistance in church work.

MUSICAL SERVICE.

An elaborate musical service will be held Sunday evening, October 24, at Trinity Reformed church, when the choir and organist will be augmented by Paul DeNike, 'cellist. The music committee, comprising F. S. Otter, Robert Clark, Jr., and W. J. Trembath, will make arrangements to call for any shut-ins and bring them to the service if given the names of such people.

EDITORIAL WRITER.

The contributing editorial writer for the Plainfield Daily Press on Saturday is a well-known educator, one who has had considerable experience, especially in teaching boys, and his subject no doubt will be full of interest to all, particularly parents.

ALL-DAY MEETING.

The members of the Sewing Circle of Warren chapel have completed arrangements for an all-day session tomorrow in the chapel. Luncheon will be served and the women anticipate an enjoyable occasion.

SESAME CLUB TO MEET.

The first meeting of the Sesame Club for the fall season will be held Thursday morning at the residence of Mrs. Fred W. Genung.

—Van Arsdale has established a foot comfort department, and will have a foot specialist from New York city, October 18 to 23, who will give his services free to any one suffering with painful, aching feet, flat feet, broken down arch, and other foot troubles.—Adv.

EXCELLENT REPORT OF CITY'S HEALTH

Plainfield is at Present Without Any Cases of Quarantinable Diseases.

Plainfield at the present time has no disease cases under quarantine, according to the report submitted by Health Officer Randolph Chandler at the October meeting of the Board of Health, last night, and only seven cases of communicable diseases were reported during September, four of which were whooping cough. One case of typhoid fever was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital from Bound Brook and a case of tuberculosis from North Plainfield. Nine rooms were disinfected in nine houses during the month and also the isolation ward of the hospital.

An unusual amount of time has been spent on dairy inspection during the month, and in many cases the dairies are being constantly improved. However, in some sections the need of educational work among the farmers is apparent. With this end in view, efforts are being made to secure a lecturer from the State Board of Health to go through these sections giving illustrated lectures on the production of clean milk.

There were six cases in court during the month.

A total of 743 inspections were made by Health Officer Chandler and his assistants. Miss Harriet O. Mattison, registrar of vital statistics in Plainfield, reported that there had been forty-nine births, twenty-seven deaths and twenty-one marriages.

THEODORE LAYTON DIES IN 21ST YEAR

Popular Young Man Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Theodore Layton, the twenty-one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Layton, of 1009 West Front street, died this morning, at the home of his parents after a lingering illness. Mr. Layton was one of the most popular young men in this city and borough, where he held a wide circle of acquaintances. The news of his death spread throughout both communities this morning, and expressions of regret were heard on every side. The young man was possessed of unfailing courage and a naturally bright and cheerful disposition, which carried him uncomplaining through a long illness, which followed an operation performed two years ago. Mr. Layton was a student at Blackwell Mills prior to coming to this city. Up to the time he was compelled to leave school, he was attending the North Plainfield High School.

Mr. Layton was an active member of the Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school and the Dutch Arms Band. Beside his father and mother the young man leaves three sisters, the Misses Louise, Katherine and Magdalene, and two brothers, LeRoy, of High Bridge, and Allen, who lives at home. The funeral will be held from the parental home Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and interment will take place in East Millstone.

DANIEL HEALEY JAILED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Somerville, Oct. 6.—Daniel Healey, former Prudential Life Insurance agent, who was arrested some time ago for the embezzlement of $600 and has been held under bond, was jailed this morning by the county authorities.

Healey was indicted by the present session of the grand jury. Andrew Ehmil, who was indicted for assault and battery, was also jailed. Ehmil is charged with having assaulted his wife.

$10 FINE FOR MAN WHO VIOLATED HEALTH LAW

On the complaint of Health Officer Randolph Chandler, of the Plainfield Board of Health, Julius Valinsky, of 514 West Third street, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning, charged with allowing cattle stabled in his barn to create a general nuisance in that section.

In accordance with his announcement to the effect that he intended to break up the practice certain individuals have been making of breaking the health laws Judge DeMeza fined the defendant this morning $10, giving him the option of sojourning in the county jail for a forty-day rest. He paid the fine.

H. L. FINCH WEDS MISS MARY BAKER

Bishop Courtney and Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson Officiate at Brilliant Function.

IN ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Justice Finch Is Brother's Best Man—T. J. Mumford and W. Palmer Smith, of This City, Among the Ushers.

The wedding of Henry Le Roy Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Finch, of Graystone, this city, and Miss Mary Farquhar Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Baker, of New York City, was celebrated at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. James Episcopal church, Seventy-first street and Madison avenue, New York, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Courtney, assisted by the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of the Grace Episcopal church, Plainfield. The church was attractively decorated with masses of white and pink chrysanthemums on the altar and chancel, intermingled with trails of green and oak leaves.

The bridal procession was led by the full choir, which sang "O Perfect Love" as the processional, and later the Lohengrin "Wedding Song." The bride, who walked with her father, wore a gown of bridal satin, the skirt being draped over a petticoat of old point lace finished with a deep flounce. The corsage was draped in a deep point outlined with point lace and had long tulle sleeves. The satin train was veiled with tulle over which

REVIVAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Evangelist "Al" Saunders Attracts Many to Temple Baptist Church.

Interest is increasing in the special services now being held in the Temple Baptist church under the direction of "Al" Saunders, of Scranton, Pa. In spite of the weather last night there was a large attendance to hear the interesting talk by the evangelist. His message was based on the story of the two men who were sent out to find the room where the Master was eating the Passover, making as his final plea to all to allow no one but the Christ to occupy the guest room.

The music has been a help and inspiration during these meetings. A large choir of young women, which has been under the training of Clifford Braider for several weeks, opens each meeting with a fifteen-minute song service.

Arrangements have been made whereby a committee has volunteered to look after all small children during these services, so that no mother need stay at home on account of her children. The children will be taken to another room and have the best care while mothers are enjoying the service.

TOOK THREE COPS TO PUT THIS MAN UNDER ARREST

His scuffle with three members of the Plainfield police force in front of the new Federal building on Watchung avenue, last night, cost Amiello Dellallo $20 when he was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city police court this morning. The defendant became involved in an argument with a fellow countryman and it took the combined efforts of Sergeant Andrew Saffron and Patrolmen Muir and Welsh to persuade him to go to police headquarters.

After being lodged in a cell he created another rumpus and continued his disorder throughout the night. In court this morning he was penitent but the judge decided that he had caused trouble enough to warrant stiff punishment. He is an old offender.

ATTENDS RECEPTION.

D. Fred Aungst, principal of the Somerset School, yesterday attended the reception given by Joseph S. Frelinghuysen to Dr. William Schauffler, retiring president of the State Board of Education. The reception was given at the home of the Senator near Raritan and was attended by notables of the State of New Jersey.

SMYTH BRIDGE ACCEPTED.

The Board of Freeholders of Somerset county this morning visited the Smyth bridge, and after a careful inspection decided to accept same for the county.

"COTTON QUEEN" VISITS THIS CITY

Miss Katherine M. Giles Guest at Suffrage League Whist Party Today.

TELLS OF HER WORK

While She is Not Campaigning for "Equal Rights" She Has Demonstrated Her Equality With Man—Believes Women Should Vote.

The right of suffrage may be denied women as a class, but there is one woman in attendance at the suffrage card party this afternoon who has demonstrated her equality to man. She is not only the equal of the average man, but she has reached that which is, or should be, the ambition of every individual—she stands pre-eminent in her work, and it is a man's work, or was until she came along.

She is Miss Katherine M. Giles, cotton statistician, of New York city. Miss Giles is not actively interested in the suffrage movement. She believes in it with all her heart, but she is so busy telling New York's brokers months in advance what the cotton crop will be to almost the bale, that she finds little time to make speeches, march in parades and buttonhole men folks.

Miss Giles is the guest here of Mrs. Potter, on East Sixth street. She is here first to pay a social visit to her friend, but is willing to tell why she

30TH N. J. REGIMENT HOLDS ITS REUNION

Veterans' Association Meets in Somerville to Celebrate Silver Anniversary.

Somerville, Oct. 6.—The election of officers, together with interesting speeches and a banquet at Hotel Somerset were features of the twenty-fifth annual reunion of the 30th New Jersey Veteran's Association being held here today. The veterans gathered this morning in the armory for their annual business session at which time these officers were elected: President, Captain Nathan V. Compton, of Rahway; vice-president, Christopher Ehni, of Raritan; secretary-treasurer, J. E. Tier, of Rahway.

The veterans were welcomed by Captain Compton and there were also speeches by Harry W. Barnes and H. H. Graybriel, of Rahway, and Col. V. T. Holmes, of Summit. Several Plainfield members of the association were present.

Following the business session the veterans and their wives adjourned to Hotel Somerset, where dinner was enjoyed and other speeches were made. The afternoon will be spent in a social way. There were about forty members of the association present and with guests there were about 84 that sat down to dinner. Since the last reunion sixteen members have died.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF J. WESLEY JOHNSON

The funeral of J. Wesley Johnson was held at his late home, 720 Watchung avenue yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives, friends and business associates. Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, with which Mr. Johnson was associated and was a trustee, conducted the service. He was assisted by Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, of Lowell, Mass., a former pastor of the local church.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends, including one from the Park Avenue church. Mrs. H. V. Lewis sang several selections during the service.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall bearers were David M. Runyon, Samuel Townsend, Chauncey B. Koons, George E. Hall, W. F. Williams and R. F. Stevens.

GETS JITNEY LICENSE.

Adolph Ganzel, of Garwood, was granted a license at a meeting of the Westfield Town Council, Monday night, to run two jitneys between Cranford and Plainfield.

OPEN-AIR MEETING.

The North Middlesex Equal Suffrage League will hold an open-air meeting at South Plainfield tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. R. C. Talbot Perkins, of New York, will be the speaker.

MERCHANTS GIVE 'BOOSTER' DINNER

Successful Affair Arranged by Business Men's Ass'n in Aid of Campaign.

INTERESTING SPEECHES

Howard W. Hayden, H. B. Salter and Sallo Kahn Talk on Timely Topics—Samuel Rothberg Toastmaster—New Members Elected.

More than sixty-five of the leading business men of Plainfield attended the dinner given by the Business Men's Association, last night, and after two hours of dining and talking fifty-three signatures had been secured to the new membership schedule of the association which goes into effect January 1, 1916.

The dinner was held at the Kensington Hotel. Howard R. Hayden, secretary of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce, and Arthur B. Jones, of Plainfield, and Sallo M. Kahn, of New York, were guests of honor, but they were not the only ones to give optimistic and instructing talks on the future of the commercial organization. Harry B. Salter, of Trenton, who came here to secure memberships for the new organization, was well pleased with the results of the meeting and declared that this city would soon have one of the "livest" organizations in the entire State in the Plainfield Business Men's Association. If interest displayed last night was an indication to the class of citizenship here.

SAMPTOWN PLANT MAY CHANGE HANDS

Bethlehem Steel Co. May Acquire Property of Harris-Silver-Baker Concern.

With the metropolitan newspapers daily giving columns of publicity to the movements of the steel markets and corporations, especially since it has become known that a new company was to go into that line of industry, Piscataway township has, unawares, been the object of considerable attention in the industrial world. Three representatives of the Bethlehem Steel Company on Monday afternoon visited the plants now nearing completion at the Samptown section of Piscataway, with the purchase of the plant now nearing completion as the object in view.

The erection of this plant was started on the old Blackford farm last spring by the Harris-Silver-Baker Structural Company, which has a plant in Brooklyn at the present time. The building was planned to accommodate from 600 to 800 men. The fact that the men who visited the plant this week were supposed to be personal representatives of the Bethlehem Steel Company, of which Charles M. Schwab is the head, leads to the belief that the steel concern may be the ones to ultimately acquire this property.

The shipping facilities afforded at this plant is, in all probability, the attraction possessed by the Samptown building. The plant, it was expected, would be ready to be put into operation by October 15. Whether the Harris-Silver-Baker Company will erect another plant for its own use if the present buildings are sold to the Bethlehem Company is not known at this time.

MISS M'KERNAN BRIDE OF HOWARD J. WHELAN

A wedding of local interest took place at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., yesterday when Miss Helen Gertrude McKernan, daughter of Mrs. James McKernan, became the bride of Howard J. Whelan, a nephew of George J. Whelan, of East Front street, this city, and son of President T. F. Whelan, of the United Cigar stores. The wedding was celebrated at the Church of the Sacred Heart, the Rev. Father Flynn officiating. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts. Mrs. Whelan is the niece of the late Mrs. Augustus Utzinger, of Jackson avenue, the borough.

The couple left for a ten weeks' wedding trip to Canada, going to the expositions and returning through the south.

REDMOND TO SING.

William Redmond has been secured to sing at the Elks' Bazaar Wednesday night, October 20. He will render Verdi's "Aida", and by request "Sally in Our Alley" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

DELICATE OPERATION ON VICTIM'S SKULL

Peter Mohan, of Dunellen, Still Unconscious in New York Hospital.

Peter Mohan, the 17-year-old Dunellen young man, who fell ten feet from a ladder leading to bins in the stock room of the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company in this city Monday afternoon, fracturing his skull, underwent an operation at 9 o'clock last evening in the Flower Hospital, New York city, and this morning it was said that the young man, although still unconscious, had a good chance of recovering.

The operation was performed by Dr. William Tod Helmuth, the famous surgeon. The fracture as revealed by an X-ray photograph was a bad one. It is termed a linear fracture, extending from the top of the head to just above the left ear, branching off to the back and front, the back branch extending almost to the base of the skull. The operation consisted of trepanning the skull.

The sad feature of the accident is that it happened only ten minutes before quitting time of a day which was to be his last in the employ of the International Motor Company. He graduated from Plainfield High School last June and on Monday he was to enter Fordham College to study medicine.

It is considered a miracle that young Mohan did not meet instant death. He fell backward off of the ladder, his head striking the concrete floor of the stock room.

JOHN M'CAFFREY CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Columbus Club Elects and Decides to Join State Bowling League.

Election of officers for the ensuing year took place at the Columbus Club last night, the following members being installed: President, John McCaffrey; vice-president, John J. Varley; treasurer, Thomas Carty; secretary, William V. Sullivan; trustees for the year, John J. Coyle, Harry Forristel and John C. Traynor. Mr. McCaffrey appointed H. P. Greenwood chairman of the house committee and William V. Sullivan manager of the basketball team for the coming season.

The bowling committee, headed by George Taylor, is composed of George Howe, Joseph Sullivan, John Duffy, James Strappe and "Villa" Burke. The committee announced that a five-man head pin tournament would be conducted at the clubhouse, probably beginning October 25. All members are requested to enter as soon as possible. The fact was also made known that the local bowlers will join with the State K. of C. Bowling League, which includes clubs in Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Trenton, Perth Amboy and Red Bank.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN CONTEST FOR PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Three more capacity audiences attended the vaudeville performances at the Plainfield Theatre yesterday and last night and it is now a positive certainty that the playhouse's new policy is an established success. The original show will be presented again this afternoon and tonight, but tomorrow's matinee will introduce an entire change of bill, comprising six of the very best acts from the Will Fox offices. All are feature numbers with plenty of good music and comedy intermingled.

Manager Shannon has set aside next Friday night for a girls' Charlie Chaplin contest. Several entries have already been received, but other are wanted, the affair being a case of "the more the merrier." Three prizes are to be given for the best imitations of the popular comedian of the screen—$4 for the first prize, $3 for the second and $2 for the third. Entries may be left at the box office from now until Friday night.

WELCOME SERVICE.

A welcome will be given tonight at the Salvation Army Hall, to Lieut. Abrams, who comes from Jersey City to assist Adjutant Ogilvie in the work here. Mr. and Mrs Casler, who were to have been here last week, will conduct the services at the hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

CIVIC MEETING POSTPONED.

As only a few members put in an appearance the regular meeting of the East End Civic Association was not held last night.

BULGARIA WILL HELP GERMANY

Premier Notifies Greek Minister at Sofia of Such Intention.

MAY ATTACK SERBIA

If Austria and Germany Invade Her Neighbor's She Will Join Them—Greek Cabinet Resigns Because King Will Not Support War.

Athens, Oct. 5 (via Paris, Oct. 6.)—Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, has assured the Greek Minister at Sofia that Bulgaria will not attack Serbia unless aggressive action against her first is taken by Austria and Germany, in which case Bulgaria will be obliged to act against her neighbor.

After facing a storm in the Chamber of Deputies in Athens yesterday, defending the landing of an allied army at Salonica for the defense of Serbia if Bulgaria attacked, M. Eleutherios Venizelos, the Greek Premier, called on King Constantine last night and was informed by the Monarch that he could not support the Premier's war policy, which permitted the landing of the allied troops. The Premier at once tendered his resignation.

French Report Progress.

Paris, Oct. 6.—French war statement:

"The bombardment by both sides has continued in Artois, being particularly violent to the south of Givenchy forest. We made some progress by using grenades in the connecting trenches to the southwest of the Chateau of Folie. On all the rest of the front there were reported last night only artillery engagements on both sides in Champagne, between the Meuse and Moselle, to the north of Flirey and on the Lorraine front in the vicinity of Lientrey, Gondrexon and Domevre.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—The French have renewed their drive against the Germans in Artois and the Champagne region, but all attacks have been repulsed, according to an official statement issued by the German War Office today. The French attacked near Neuville, St. Vaast, north of Arras and along the entire front. In the Champagne it is admitted that the Russians gained some successes as a result of their attacks, but ultimately they were repulsed. These Russian attacks were delivered between Lake Drisswaty and Krewno on the Dvinsk front and also near Kosjany.

No Answer to Russia.

London, Oct. 6.—Up to date no answer has been received from Bulgaria to Russia's ultimatum, giving the Czar of the Bulgars twenty-four hours to dismiss his German military advisers and openly to break off relations with his Teutonic allies. No answer is expected in London, either, for Bulgaria is believed to be too firmly bound to the Central Allies.

Greek Cabinet Quits.

Athens, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelo announced in the Chamber of Deputies today that the cabinet had resigned owing to differences between King Constantine and the Ministry. The sittings of the Chamber were then suspended.

British Ship Floated.

Liverpool, Oct. 6.—The British S. S. Manchester Spinner, enroute from Philadelphia to Manchester, which went ashore on Pluckington Banks yesterday, was refloated today.

Kipling's Son Killed?

London, Oct. 6.—John Kipling, of the Irish Guards, only son of Rudyard Kipling, is reported in the latest casualty list as "missing and believed to have been killed."

Young Kipling was eighteen years old. On account of his delicate health his parents were reluctant to allow him to enter the army, but the boy insisted he should assume his share of the war, and his father yielded.

Young Kipling's mother is an American woman, the former Miss C. S. Balestier, a sister of Wolcott Balestier, the author.

WM. CRAMP AND SONS COMPANY LOWEST BIDDER

Washington, Oct. 6.—Bids opened at the Navy Department today for the construction of six destroyers having a speed of 30 knots an hour disclosed the fact that the William Cramp & Sons Co., of Philadelphia, was the lowest bidder for three vessels to be constructed within twenty months. The Cramp Company submitted a bid of $835,000 with its own design of machinery installed. With the Navy design of machinery the bid was $842,000.

DUNELLEN STATION LOOTED BY THIEVES

Daylight Robbery When Agent Was at Lunch Yesterday Noon Netted $20.

While Station Agent Neighbour, of the Dunellen Central Railroad depot, was at lunch yesterday noon, thieves broke into the screen enclosure and rifled the cash drawer, which contained about $20. The robbery is similar in many respects to the one committed in the Westfield Central Railroad depot several years ago when $600 was taken, and it is the opinion of the police that professional sneak-thieves did the job.

That two men worked at the Dunellen robbery is the opinion of the authorities. Thomas Fosbre, who conducts the Union News stand near the depot, and Joseph Green, a telegram messenger, who was left in the station by the agent, say that they did not see anyone around the place who would arouse suspicion.

Samuel B. Merrell, of Front street, is making a two weeks' visit out of town.

VETERAN ON A VISIT.

Joel Latham, a veteran of the Civil War, on from his home in Rodgers, Arkansas, to attend the reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic in Washington, last week, spent the week-end in the borough as the guest of his brother, Mayor E. B. Latham, whom he had not seen in over twenty years. Terminating his visit here Monday morning, Mr. Latham is at present visiting another brother, Charles, at Arlington. From Arlington, Mr. Latham will visit his boyhood home at Marlborough, Conn.

Peter Schneiderwind, of Prospect avenue, is contemplating a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., this winter for his health.

Mrs. Lydia Parker, of Second street, is able to be up and about, following an illness of a week.

TO LIVE IN VIRGINIA.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jones and daughter, Rose, of Seventh street, left yesterday morning for Richmond, Va., where they will make their home with their son, Benjamin Jones. Mr. Jones submitted to an operation last August, in which he had his leg amputated. He is a native of the South and having a desire to end his days there he moved back. Frank Smalley, the junior partner of Smalley Brothers, accompanied the family. After the safe arrival of the family at the new home, he will return on the next train.

Miss Mary E. Vance and sisters, of New York city, have moved into the Dunellen Home and Investment Company house at 244 Columbia street.

Francis Teeling, who has been ill with malaria, resumed his duties this morning in the local plant of the Hall Press Works.

RETURNS TO BOROUGH.

Vincenzo Tozze is back in his old position in the Imperial barber-shop. Mr. Tozze recently opened a shop in New Market. This shop has been taken over by the Imperial concern and Mr. Tozze transferred back to Dunellen.

BUILDING AN ADDITION.

An addition 50x150 is being built to the Hall Press Works. This addition will be used as an additional stock room. The company is very busy at present in filling a lathe war order. It is employing a day force of 350 men and a night force of ten planers. The company's printing press business is said to be dull.

Mrs. Harry J. Swackhamer, of Dunellen avenue, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Merwin Fagely, of New York city.

Fred Oakley and LeRoy Smith visited friends at Allentown, Pa., Sunday.

Burtis and Gaston Jennings, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jennings, of Front street, are spending the week at Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Frances Harrison, of New Market road, has been confined to her bed with a heavy cold for the past week. Dr. M. J. Whitford is the attending physician.

Naomi Snyder, of Penfield place, is spending the week at Orange as the guest of Miss Ethel Harper, who formerly lived here.

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

Mrs. H. J. Wiedenhaupt, of Madison avenue, had her tonsils removed in the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon. The operation was successful. It was performed by Dr. Raphael Yood, of Plainfield.

TO RESUME BOWLING.

The Presbyterian bowling alleys will open Friday night. One week night will be reserved for the use of the women and the alleys will be opened for their use on one or two afternoons a week if their patronage demands it.

UNION MEETING.

Twenty delegates from the local P. O. of A's will attend the union meeting of the P. O. of A's of Hudson county to be held in the People's Palace, Jersey City, this evening.

Contractors Harris and Shively have repainted the residence of former Councilman William Shively, on Whittier avenue.

Frank Lentz, of Danbury, Conn., on his way to attend a college in Chicago, is making Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Gary, of Dunellen avenue, a short visit.

South Plainfield.

A team of horses attached to a box wagon owned by Atone Capatora took fright at the Lehigh Valley crossing yesterday and they wound up with a sudden stop in front of Harry Phillips' grocery store, where the wagon collided with a telephone pole. There were a number of bags of feed in the wagon which was strewn along the road. The two front wheels of the wagon were demolished, while the harness was broken in many places.

An entertainment will be held in the Baptist church Tuesday evening, October 12. Harry C. White, a humorist, has been secured for the evening.

Michael Pomponio, the local contractor and builder, has secured the contract of erecting a two room addition to Mrs. Mary McDonough's home.

Miss Esther Van Reed, of Elizabeth, has returned home after being the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Everhardt, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews and Harry Phillips have returned from a visit with relatives in Bloomfield.

Michael Pomponio broke ground yesterday for his new seven-room home which is to be erected on his property on Lakeview avenue, which he recently purchased from the Hamilton Realty and Construction Company.

Relatives from Newark who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Delaney for the past few days, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ripgee have returned home after attending the funeral of Mrs. Ripgee's brother, Charles Roth, of Mauch Chunk, Pa., held on Monday.

Samuel Clauson and family have moved into their new home which they had erected on their property on Maple avenue.

Miss Lillian Hogan, of North Plainfield, is ill with rheumatism and is confined to her bed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan.

Mrs. William Miller, who underwent an operation in Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday, is reported as resting comfortably.

Thomas Sexton and family have moved into the home recently vacated by Samuel Clauson.

Herbert Ball, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in St. Peters' Hospital, New Brunswick, about three weeks ago, has returned home and is now recovering.

S. S. SUPTS. DINE AND DISCUSS WORK

World's Association to Start Experimental Training Class in Plainfield.

More than usual interest was attached to the annual meeting of the Plainfield Sunday-school Superintendents' Association in the Congregational church, last night. There was a complete representation from all the schools of the city and the informal program was greatly appreciated. An elaborate dinner was provided by the women of the church. In the absence of the president, George E. Hall, the vice president, L. H. Gates, presided.

One of the subjects to engage the attention of the superintendents was the arranging for the annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school Association, which will be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on October 21. The superintendents from the local schools will give a dinner to the superintendents of the county in the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year: George E. Hall, president; Philip S. Suffern, vice president; Frank Rimmer, secretary-treasurer.

The address of the evening was made by Frank L. Brown, field secretary of the Sunday-school Association of the World, who talked on the various phases of Sunday-school work.

Mr. Brown told of a new departure, of which he was the promoter, in preparing the younger people for active work in official capacities. He said that he had mailed blanks to fourteen members of the various Sunday-schools in Plainfield, asking each to specify the line of the work in which they took the greatest interest and in which they would prefer to engage, if given their choice.

The replies indicated that only a small percentage cared to become teachers, the greater number preferring to devote their energies in other branches of the work. Mr. Brown plans to form these pupils in a class and give a special line of training to each and when the course is completed to provide a diploma showing that each is proficient in the studies and capable of performing the work. If this class is formed in Plainfield as planned it will be the first of its kind to be tried anywhere.

RECREATION NOTES

The Thespian Society met last evening in the High School. It was decided to give a minstrel performance some time this fall under the direction of Sewell Ulrich. Selection of the cast will take place next Monday evening at the regular meeting of the club.

The Zephyrs met last evening in the gymnasium at High School. The regular basketball practice was held. A business meeting preceded the games. Miss Mildred L. Brownlee was engaged as gymnasium leader of the club. A delightful winter is in store for all the colored girls who become members of this club.

The piano classes meet every day at Franklin School auditorium. Children desiring to take lessons may apply at the office of the Public Recreation Committee or at Franklin School after three in the afternoon.

The P. E. G. S. are to have a basketball practice tonight in the High School gymnasium. A play is to be selected and the cast assigned to their parts. Any girls in the city desiring to join a live athletic club such as this one may send their application to Miss Clara Smith, the president of the club.

The gymnasium at High School is being used by two clubs each evening now. The club which meets tonight at nine o'clock is to hold a business meeting and decide upon their constitution and select a name. There are to be many interesting public games played in the gym this year.

Y. W. C. A.

Members are urged to attend the fall rally tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Miss Lena M. Farrar, from association headquarters, will speak, and subjects of extraordinary interest in association life will be presented. It will be a splendid opportunity for all members, new and old, to get in closer touch with each other, and with the association work for the coming year.

HELD SEWING MEETING.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held a sewing meeting in the parish house, yesterday afternoon, members making articles for the missionary boxes sent out each year by the local association. A number of papers on missionary work were also read. Mrs. J. M. Whiton presided.

H. L. FINCH WEDS MISS BAKER

fell a point lace veil, worn by both the bride's grandmother and mother at their weddings. It was fastened cap fashion with knots of orange blossoms. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a horseshoe of sapphires and diamonds, and carried a shower of lilies of the valley and white roses.

The bride's only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Margaret L. Baker, who wore a short skirted frock of silver lace over white chiffon and satin. The skirt was flounced and the low-necked corsage was finished with a fichu of silver lace that formed short sleeves and was held at the waist line in back with a plastron of pearls from which fell little coat ends. The dull blue girdle formed a wide bow at the back with a sash at each side. Her large silver lace hat was trimmed with tiny puffs of blue, brown fur, and a single rose. She carried a loose cluster of half-blown sunrise roses.

Mr. Finch had his brother, Justice Edward Ridley Finch, as his best man, and his ushers were Gerald Curran, his brother, Rufus Crane Finch; Bernon S. Prentice, Charles D. Baker and Frederick C. Tanner, of New York City; Thomas J. Mumford and William Palmer Smith, of Plainfield; Wilbur S. Tarbell and George W. Elkins, Jr., of Elkins Park, Philadelphia.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, 8 East Seventy-fifth street, which was decorated with chrysanthemums and green leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Finch will make their honeymoon trip by steamer to Panama and the Pacific coast and will visit the expositions there before returning to New York. They have taken an apartment at 51 East Fifty-eighth street. Mrs. Finch's father, Stephen Baker, is the president of the Bank of the Metropolis.

RABBI STEPHEN WISE TO AID SUFFRAGISTS

One of the most distinguished upholders of the suffrage cause in the United States is Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, pastor of the Free Synagogue. In addition to his work for his congregation he is one of the foremost speakers upon moral and social reforms of every sort, and was one of the successful campaigners for President Wilson during the political campaign of 1912. He has offered to give the New Jersey suffragists a number of speeches without charge, as he is an earnest believer in the moral, social and political benefits to be derived from equal suffrage. He will begin his campaign in the State by speaking in Trenton on October 7th, at a meeting at which the State President, Mrs. Feickert, will preside. Between that date and the election he will be heard in Atlantic City, Princeton, Newark, Orange and other places.

One of the most interesting contributions which has come to the New Jersey Suffrage Association during the past week was one from a prominent lawyer of Fullerton, Nebraska, Martin I. Brower. It was accompanied by a letter reading: "I hope you will win in your effort to make New Jersey more nearly a true democracy. I want to help you. If you win, I want the satisfaction of being 'in it' with the rest of you. If you lose, I do not want it to be because I would not 'do a lick' to help you. I will enclose a draft for a small amount."

MERCHANTS GIVE DINNER

association, introduced Samuel Rothberg as toastmaster. Mr. Rothberg is chairman of the membership committee, under the direction of which the dinner was given. Other members of this committee are John S. Johnston, Daniel Hulick, M. C. Van Arsdale, Leo Slonim, George J. Finger and A. E. Force.

The dinner was arranged, however, by a special committee of which M. C. Van Arsdale was chairman. With him served Mr. Hulick and Mr. Finger.

While but fifty-three signatures have been secured to membership applications for the organization, the total number represented is more than eighty, under the new plural membership plan, and there are many who are interested and even active in the work of the Business Men's Association that have not yet had an opportunity to sign. The total will exceed one hundred, it is believed by officers, within a very short time.

A list of those who have agreed to pay the new dues after January 1, 1916, follows: H. Haurand, Frank Neidig, Van Zandt & Voorhees, L. Kornfield, The Ritz, Weiss' Borough Drug Store, Plainfield Milk and Cream Co., Dudley S. Miller, C. O. Smith, Schwed Bros., H. P. Vosseller, Sylvester Sharkey, A. K. Willett, Kenneth Stuart, John J. Sullivan (Hotel Kensington), Boston Sample Shoe Store, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Louis Preger, James P. Hansen, Plainfield Credit Outfitting Company, Paul R. Collier, Central Publishing Company, De Meza & Blimm, H. P. Greenwood, Leo Zeisel, Carl Silbert, George J. Finger, Fred H. Firstbrook, Samuel Rothberg, John J. Varley, A. M. Griffen Co., Plainfield Press Co., Leo Slonim, Welsh Farm Dairy, John S. Johnston, Morris Abrams, M. C. Van Arsdale, Courier-News, A. E. Force & Co., Woodhull & Martin Co., Robert Heyman, Penn & Bernstein, C. F. Stout.

A few short, happy talks from boosters, one recital of the experiences of a salesman under unusual conditions, an excellent dinner and a spirit of brotherhood featured last night's dinner. The members gathered in the main dining room of the Kensington shortly before 8 o'clock. Manager C. V. Smith had prepared a menu that was inviting.

Mr. Smith and his chef, Jack Hoffman, were warmly congratulated after the meeting by almost every one present on both the dinner and service.

"Organization" was the subject of the address of Howard P. Hayden, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New Jersey. Mr. Hayden told of the need of a live organization of business men in every community, and said that a town that was progressing could be seen from afar by one accustomed to studying civic affairs simply by watching the activities of its commercial club. He emphasized the need of one central body here, instead of a large number, and told many incidents that have come to his official notice to illustrate the need of unity in town building.

Mr. Hayden's arguments were best illustrated by his reference to the European war. He said that there were many lessons to be learned from the war, but that the greatest to business men was the value of organization. How long would Germany have lived, he asked, if its men had started out to fight the Allies without being drilled and trained into a great army. He urged the Plainfield men to meet often, to give time and work to the organization, and to join the State Chamber of Commerce.

Arthur B. Jones, of this city, said that Plainfield merchants were noted in this section of the country for their service, and he emphasized the value of this as a business asset. He told of meeting people in other cities near here who bought goods in Plainfield because the merchants gave service and were courteous. Mr. Jones suggested that the use of one or possibly two motor delivery trucks, with one or more motorcycles, would enable all of the local merchants to make suburban deliveries at a nominal cost to each.

Harry B. Salter used the methods of "Billy" Sunday in his appeal for memberships. Mr. Salter said that he would get up on the table and have all doors locked, but that he knew it was not necessary. He explained why commercial organizations in Plainfield had not been as successful as they should be, and declared that the new plan would bring a realization of the dreams of all who had been hoping for a real live club that would accomplish things, using experiences of his work in Trenton to illustrate his arguments. Mr. Salter explained the details of the new plural membership plan, and then passed around application blanks, while he and volunteer assistants passed among the diners and begged them to "hit the trail." They hit it. When the dinner was over it was declared that every merchant who was present had joined the new association.

One of the most interesting talks of the evening was that of Sallo M. Kahn, a former Plainfield boy, and a graduate of the Plainfield High School in 1908. Mr. Kahn is now with a New York cotton goods house. He was sent to London and Paris as a salesman soon after the war and again a short time ago. He told of a Zeppelin raid on London last month, when frightened thousands stood in the streets and gazed at the huge silver cigar floating above them, from which sharp bits of light dropped at intervals, striking with a boom, scattering death and fire. He also told of the difficulties that an American encountered in attempting to sell war goods. Mr. Kahn said that in Paris he was frankly told that if the authorities could find a bidder as low or even a fraction higher than his, they would not buy, because they had been swindled too often by Americans early in the war. He related a story told him by a French war official of a shipment of rifles bought and paid for at a cost of $2,000,000 which were found to be of no value at all when they reached France. In fact the "rifles" were old shot guns and other arms made in the '80s.

Chairman Rothberg, in dismissing the diners, expressed the thanks of the officials to those who had attended, also to the committeemen who had worked to make the affair a success and to Manager Smith, of the Kensington.

Rev. E. S. Ralston, of the Netherwood Reformed church, who has been confined to his home for the past few days by illness, is able to be out again.

"COTTON QUEEN" VISITS HERE

thinks women should have the right to vote.

"Why should they vote?" she answered the reporter's question with counter queries. "Why shouldn't they? Are they less intelligent than men? Do they contribute less to the world? Can they not be trusted to govern their own affairs?

"A woman is responsible for her children. If a child is improperly raised, do we blame the father? Not often. Then women are certainly entitled to share in the responsibility of managing things that pertain directly to the education of the child. It would be so difficult to separate such affairs from others of more general import, that the world owes her a vote on all public matters. These arguments are aside from any interest in her own affairs or selfish desire to see the affairs of all managed wisely."

Miss Giles knows women, and men, but best of all she knows cotton. It is her business to watch the cotton crop and inform the business world months in advance of the picking just how many million of bales may be expected on the market.

"The crop this year will be much smaller than the 16,000,000 that the last one totaled, and growers will get far better prices for their goods. I am not interested in the price, and pay little or no attention to it, but I know that because of the agitation for diversified crops in the South, peculiar climatic conditions, and the scare that was thrown into farmers last year when they had 16,000,000 bales stored in warehouses and were offered but little better than six cents a pound for it, they are growing less cotton. The small crop will naturally command a better price."

It was with reluctance that Miss Giles talked of her work, but her story of her achievements, narrated in simple form, does not leave any doubt as to her equality with man.

"I started working in a broker's office nearly twenty years ago," she said. This statement is the hardest to believe of any in her remarkable recital of her career. "My chief work at the beginning was ruling the sheets upon which other people were to write the reports. Not very exciting work, one might say, but it interested me. Even then I began to plan ahead, I think, and after a little while I was entrusted with copying the figures upon the great report sheets which had previously been ruled by me. It was a step up. I began to learn more and more cotton facts, and, needless to say, I was more and more interested all the time. Gradually I became expert enough to go into business for myself, not as a broker, you understand, but purely as a statistician. The market and the operations of the broker are of no concern to me; my work deals merely with the figures.

"In the first place I get reports from the individual growers in the South. Two or three times a month I send out a list of questions to each of two thousand growers and their answers give me the basis for my calculation. It is not, of course, a matter of mere figures; experience counts enormously in my work. Also I have had to develop a sort of sixth sense in estimating and making allowance for the human element in each individual report—for pessimism, or undue optimism perhaps. Then I have to take into account weather conditions; rainfall conditions of the soil and all those practical matters connected with the actual raising of the cotton.

"It is intensely interesting work and I love it immensely, but the field is limited for this reason—that each product is already covered by certain experts of known reliability and experience. There isn't any need for the services of a large number of statisticians as there is for a large number of doctors, lawyers and architects. Any woman can fit herself for the work, as I did, simply by keeping at it, but it isn't a big field, as you can understand."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Delegations from the various Baptist churches of the city thoroughly enjoyed their night at the headquarters last evening. There was something doing continually in the swimming pool, in the shower baths and with all the other attractions.

Letters have been sent out calling for volunteers for the six-day membership campaign between November 11 and 18, inclusive. Dinner will be served each night and daily reports are to be made as to the progress of the work. The object of the campaign is not only to secure new members, but to stimulate interest in the work that will endure long after the campaign, and result in a steady and prolonged growth.

MUST PAY DEATH PENALTY.

New York, Oct. 6.—A second motion for a new trial in the case of Oresta Shillitani, awaiting the death penalty at Sing Sing for the killing of Patrolmen Heaney and Teare and John Rizzo on the night of May 3, 1913, was denied by Judge Malone in the Court of General Sessions.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR MISSIONARY MEETING

The Missionary Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold its first fall meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a program of special interest will be presented, in addition to the business session. Mrs. Walter Freeman will give "Convention Snap Shots," and Mrs. A. L. Wood will give "Personal Testimony of Diaz."

There will be a duet by Miss Mills and Miss Hadley, and Mrs. L. L. Hunt will give a talk on the subject "It Surely Pays." This will be followed by an open parliament, a violin solo by Miss Lyle Smith. Mrs. Birney S. Hudson, wife of the pastor of the church, will be the hostess.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

A photo-drama that will appeal to most theatregoers is "Jim, the Penman," the chief attraction at the U. S. Astor Theatre this afternoon and tonight with John Mason and Harold Lockwood in the principal roles. In addition there will be the usual program of supplemental films suppled by the leading studios of the world.

John Mason is one of the country's leading dramatic actors. At present he is appearing in support of Jane Cowl in "Common Clay," at the Republic Theatre, New York.

"Jim, the Penman," has been a fixture on the American and British stages for many years. Tomorrow Henry Kolker will be seen in "The Bigger Man," another film of interest. Friday and Saturday Mary Pickford, in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," will be the feature. This is in five parts and is said to be the best dramatic film in which Miss Pickford ever has appeared.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Both the basketball managers of the girls' and boys' teams are busy arranging their schedules. To date each manager has over ten games. Both are handicapped as word has not been received from the Board of Education as to when Saengerbund Hall can be secured.

The senior class has decided not to be represented by a class doubles team. This will eliminate the class doubles, since the upper classes always took the initiative and their acts are usually followed by the underclasses.

A meeting of all the tennis players will be held tomorrow and arrangements made to get the singles championship underway. Each entrant will be assessed an entrance fee of twenty-five cents to provide for a trophy while he will also have to be a member of the Boys' Athletic Association.

At a meeting of the play committee yesterday afternoon the title and characters were chosen. "Bill, the Coachman," was the unanimous selection. Miss Barnard, the coach, selected the members for the different parts, which were approved by the committee. The following will fill the eight parts: Gladys Sullivan, as Anna, an Irish maid; Marjorie Burtis, as Samatha Brewer; Emily Pleydell, as Eunice Brewer; Bertha Boylan, as Mrs. Susan Brewer; Charles Roll, as Lawrence Brewer; John Dawe as C. Reginal Depeyster; Oscar Dilts, as Bill, the coachman, and Warren Townley, as Jack, a disguised butler. All of these pupils have already had experience in dramatics. Rehearsing will commence as soon as the playbooks for the cast arrive, as arrangements are being made to give it in the early part of November.

The Boys' Athletic Association held a meeting this noon for the purpose of appointing committees in charge of the play. Charles Roll and John Dawe were named business managers; Sherman Chandler, stage manager, with power to appoint subordinates; music, Alfred Willett and Ronald Conroy; ushers, LeRoy Adams, Harold Mantz, LeRoy Daly and Seymour Day.

Charles Roll, who was elected manager of the baseball team last spring, resigned, finding that he would not be able to do justice to the position together with his heavy school schedule. William Seidel, who was his assistant, was appointed in his place.

VETERAN VISITS HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Meeker, of Minneapolis, Minn., who attended the G. A. R. encampment at Washington, are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. W. D. Marchant, of East Front street. They will leave tonight for Lockport, New York, where they will visit another daughter prior to returning to the west. Mr. Meeker is a descendant of the Meekers who figured so prominently during the Revolutionary war in the United States and of Charles Townley Meeker, who was born near Newark, in 1808, and Luther Meeker, in 1775.

A Gaffey o' Fun!

HAD IT HAPPENED IN 1911.

As the sculptor left the studio and locked the door after him, the newly-finished Venus de Milo gave a critical glance at her reflection in a mirror on the opposite wall. She seemed greatly disturbed. At last she spoke:

"What frightful hips! And they are too, too solid to reduce! Oh, that wretch of a sculptor! What shall I do?"

Frantically, and in wild despair, she massaged her hips until her weary arms fell off. There was no improvement. Once more there came a cold, stony look, as of marble, upon her lovely face, and she spake no more.

IN THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY.

"And thou hast been to the alchemist?" said the lady of the scornful mien. "Is it true that he hath discovered the elixir of youth?"

"Nay," said her acquaintance; "but he hath discovered a marvelous complexion wash. I warrant if thou wilt use it thou wilt not look a day over thirty-four."

AN AMIABLE MAN.

Josh—You don't find many men as good-natured as Silas.

Hiram—No, indeed! I never heard him say a hard word about anybody—not even about Congress or Legislatur'.

WHITE AND YELLOW.

Two stalwart men of different race
Smiled at each other, face to face.

One said: "I'll do thee, friend, no harm,"
And marked the sinews of his arm.

"Your servant, sir," the dark one said,
And studied long the other's head.

Said One: "Our ways together lie,"
And noted his companion's eye.

He answered "We will walk in peace,"
And saw the other's pace increase.

"You run?" said One, with smiling face,
And watched the dark one's easy grace.

"A friendly race!" the second cried,
And noted how their strength was tried.

"Let's rest awhile," the white one said,
Seeing the other was ahead.

"With joy," the dark one did reply,
And slipped into a wood nearby.

The fair one drew his gun and said;
"There may be enemies ahead."

"Within these woods is danger rife,"
Said Number Two, and drew his knife

Said One: "The best of friends we are,"
And laid his gun across his knee.

"True," prompt reply the other made
And sharpened his long, keen blade.

Then raised his arm without a word,—
This story's end I have not heard.

AN OPINION.

"Yes, indeed! Without them the city would be as dull as some of the Summer resorts."

MILITARY PREPAREDNESS ENDORSED BY PRESIDENT

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Wilson made a strong endorsement of national military preparedness to the Naval Advisory Board today. He said in part: "I think the whole nation is convinced that we ought to be prepared not for war, but for defense, and very adequately prepared, and that the preparation for defense is not merely a technical matter. It is not a matter that the army and navy alone can take care of but a matter in which we must have the co-operation of the best brains and knowledge of the country outside the official service of the government as well as inside."

WOODCOCK SEASON WILL OPEN MONDAY IN JERSEY

Beginning Monday morning, it will be legal to hunt and kill woodcock in this State. The prospects are poor indeed for shooting unless one goes along the Hackensack River, or along the Orange Mountain valley between Verona and West Orange or Eagle Rock.

The hunters are getting ready with a rush for the coming hunting season. Shooting clubs are holding extra meetings, where the shooters gather to talk over their plans. Dogs are being conditioned for the strenuous work, and as much care must be taken with these animals as is taken with an athlete, as it is impossible to get work from a dog that has grown fat all summer unless the surplus flesh is worked off.

GAFFNEY RESIGNS.

Washington, Oct. 6.—St. John Gaffney, U. S. consul general at Munich, Germany, tendered his resignation today to the State Department. It was accepted.

SIMPLICITY.

Most business men and women of our acquaintance will appreciate the sensible treatment of a problem too often confronting us all, as we find it in The Telephone Review, New York. Although directed to employees of The New York Telephone Company the discussion is of very general and definite interest.

As an object lesson in the necessity of simplicity in business writing, we quote the following from an editorial in the Evening Sun:

THE STENOGRAPHER WHO DID NOT GET THE JOB.

We assure our readers, gentle and otherwise, that the subjoined letter, applying for a job as private secretary or stenographer to a railroad president, is genuine in every respect:

"Dear Sir: I wish to lay before you my application for a secretarial position, to be given consideration at such time as you may require the services of one with the qualifications as touched upon in this letter.

"A competent and qualified stenographer, experienced in charting statistics, possessed of the taciturnity and discretion necessary to associate with executives, broadly read on matters germane to railroad operation, a student of unity and clearness in composition, with an acquisition of that uncommon knowledge of English—including the study of word differentiations—essential to the highest grade stenographic work, an omnivorous though active reader with a vocabulary sufficiently large to meet the requirements of both your vocative and avocative correspondence, I am fitted to give such service as would be demanded by one in your capacity.

"I shall be glad to give to any designated subordinate an oral expatiation of my fitness and experience.

"Respectfully yours,

"____ ____."

"The railway president must have read this impressive document with awe and some apprehension. Here was a vocabulary so large that it would undoubtedly have to be checked whenever the gentleman in the secretarial position traveled by rail; and this, under the Cummins amendment, might be no trifling matter of expense. Perhaps that is why the student of unity and clearness, although equipped with the taciturnity and discretion necessary to association with executives, was not invited to meet the requirements of this particular executive's vocative and avocative correspondence."

The tale of Dr. Johnson and Oliver Goldsmith is a good text for business writing. After listening to an "oral expatiation" by the great dictionary-maker, Goldsmith remarked, "Doctor, if you were telling a story about little minnows you'd make them talk like whales."

Beware of the whale in business correspondence!

You May Find a Worker Trained and Fit to do Your Work.

"Getting along" with half-competent help, in home, office, store or factory, is a poor plan—a poor business policy.

The quest for the Competent Worker is important enough to justify a real campaign of classified advertising in the Plainfield Daily Press—although it does not often require a very long campaign.

SUFFRAGE FORGOTTEN IN PARTY PLATFORMS

Neither Republicans or Democrats Mention Issue at State Conventions.

Party platforms were drawn at the Republican and Democratic State Conventions held in Trenton yesterday, neither convention mentioning woman suffrage during the sessions. Although not entitled to do so under the law, the Progressives held a convention also. Assemblyman William N. Runyon, of this city, attended the Republican State Convention, as did Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford; and Assemblyman Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield.

The delegates to the Republican gathering consisted of the hold-over Senators, the Senatorial and Assembly nominees, and the twenty-one members of the State Committee. The Democrts' meeting was also made up of hold-over Senators, legislative candidates and State Committeemen, and the Governor.

It developed that the State's financial condition is to be the main issue upon which the Republicans will seek to retain control of the Legislature. A proper businesslike budget system is one of the party's promises.

Senate President Walter Edge of Atlantic County was Chairman of the Republican convention, while Senator William T. Read, of Camden, was Chairman of the Resolutions Committee. Governor Fielder presided over the Democratic gathering.

Much interest centred in what the two main parties would do with the local option question, which proved to be an important issue in the primary balloting. Resolutions were presented at each convention, but were referred to committees and allowed to die. It was the feeling of the Republican delegates that it should not be made a party matter and no candidate bound one way or the other by any convention action.

Another fling at the Washington Administration was taken in the G. O. P. platform, a plank reading: "We appeal to the electorate to rebuke the Democratic party for its enactment of a tariff which approaches free arde, has paralyzed the industries of the country, except those that are supported by a foreign war, has injured the credit of the United States so that its bonds are selling below par, and, in spite of its promises, the cost of living is continually rising."

The Democrats handled the Republicans without gloves, accusing them of careless legislation and declaring that they had deliberately falsified the State's financial condition. The Democrats went on record as believing that the upbuilding of the State militia is the best way to co-operate in national defense. They declared their administration of the financial affairs was all that could be desired, and insisted that the money had been wisely spent.

The Progressives indorsed all of the so-called reform movements, including local option, woman suffrage, the initiative and referendum, the recall, and home rule.

RUNYON HIGHEST IN THE COUNTY

Plainfield Assemblyman Polled Most Votes for Re-election at Primaries.

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS

Runyon One of First to File Expense Accounts and Spent Nothing—Pierson and Morgan Also Spent Nothing in Campaign.

Official returns, filed in County Clerk Calvert's office at Elizabeth of the vote for candidates for county offices at last week's primaries, show few changes over the unofficial reports and do not alter the results. William N. Runyon heads the Republican Assembly ticket with a total of 5,927 instead of 5,833 as shown by the unofficial returns. Arthur N. Pierson leads Charles L. Morgan by four votes instead of one, as recorded by the unofficial count.

On the Democratic Assembly ticket William A. Leonard is high man with 4,103, the same figures announced on Wednesday. Edward M. Meek is next with 3,929, whereas the unofficial count gave him a total of 3,956.

The returns show that the voters were dissatisfied in some instances with their party's regular nominees. The Republican Assembly candidates receiving a few scattering votes by lead pencil on both the Democratic and Progressive tickets, and the Progressive candidates receiving a small number on the Republican ticket.

The official returns for Assembly follow:

Republican—William N. Runyon 5,927; Arthur N. Pierson, 5,867; Charles L. Morgan, 5,863; Edgar A. Knapp, 8; James B. Furber, 4; Theodore F. Van Dyke, 82.

Democratic—William A. Leonard, 4,103; Edward M. Meek, 3,027; Patrick J. Reville, 3,879; William N. Runyon, 5; Charles L. Morgan, 1; John Whelan, 1; Barton K. Davis, 1.

The statements of expense accounts report that none of the candidates spent a single cent during the campaign. Assemblymen William N. Runyon, Arthur N. Pierson and Charles L. Morgan, who were unopposed for renomination on the Republican ticket, were the first to file their statements, which show that they spent nothing.

STANDARD OIL CO. START INJUNCTIONS

Three Dealers in Fuel Oil to Be Made Defendants in Test Suits.

Three dealers in fuel oil in Atlantic City were served yesterday with preliminary injunctions issued on the application of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, by Chancellor Stevens, restraining them from using "Standard Gas" and "Standard Gasoline" as the names of a product they offered for sale. The interesting question of the difference between a noun and an adjective in the promotion of trade is brought up.

The papers in the case allege that the term "Standard Gas" has been used widely through the State to describe the gasoline manufactured by the Standard Oil Company.

Many garages which sell the Standard Oil Company's product were shown to have erected signs of their own which read "Standard Gas," despite the fact that the company furnishes signs describing its product as "Standard Gasoline" and "Standard Motor Gasoline."

The extensive advertising by the company of these terms "Standard Gasoline" and "Standard Motor Gasoline" was described to sustain the plaintiff's claim to the use of the nouns which have become familiar all over the State featuring "Polarine and Standard Gasoline."

The company contended that the names "Standard Gas" and "Standard Gasoline" have now become peculiar trade names of its product, and that persons who ask for gasoline under these names in practically every instance are seeking to buy its product, and nothing else, and it claims the right to use the word "Standard" in the manner it is used, as an identifying term.

Competition in the gasoline business in New Jersey is very active, and various dealers who do not sell the Standard Oil Company's product have sought to increase their business by displaying signs reading "Standard Gas," and at the same time have furnished the public, not with the Standard Oil Company's gasoline, but with something else which, whatever its merits, is not "Standard Gasoline."

The papers in these cases show also that one at least of these defendants, on being remonstrated with by the Standard Oil Company for his use of this name, vigorously asserted that in doing so he was within the law. This is the very question that the Standard Oil Company wants to test, and have settled by a legal adjudication.

POLITICAL NOTES.

October 19—State referendum election, and third registration day in municipalities of more than 5,000 people.

October 26—Third and final registration day in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

November 2—General Election Day.

Republicans of Hudson county, instead of profiting by the split in the Democratic ranks, are at each other's throats, and the Republican break is probably wider than the Democratic. William P. Verdon, of Hoboken, one of the county leaders, yesterday branded State Committeeman George W. Decker, along with "Teddy" Gerlerck and some others, as supporters of the Democratic party intent upon breaking up the G. O. P. ranks. Decker, in turn, accused Verdon of "cheating" him, Decker, out of the chairmanship of the county committee.

All the saloon-keepers who were arrested in the famous "Kinkead Sunday raid," on the eve of the primaries, were arraigned Monday in Jersey City and released when the "fighting sheriff" failed to appear to press the complaint against them. Notice which had been sent to the sheriff, that the hearing was to be called, received no response and was not even acknowledged. In connection with the charge of assault against Kinkead, also the result of the pre-primary raid, Assistant Prosecutor Vickers, of Hudson county, said yesterday that the present Grand Jury would hear the evidence and decide upon the question of indictment. There had been a question raised over the legality of such proceeding by the present Grand Jury, since the body was drawn by Sheriff Kinkead with Jury Commissioner Andrew P. Knox, but the assistant prosecutor called such a question "nonsense."

In Newark the Woodrow Wilson League has placed several candidates in the field by petition, despite the fact that they were beaten out in the primaries in almost every contest. The Wilson League is the anti-Nugent faction. A number of other factional candidates were also placed in the field yesterday by petition, including the Independent Citizen's League ticket and the prohibition men.

EDUCATOR'S NOTEBOOK

During the past year 26,533 baccalaureate degrees were conferred by colleges and universities of the United States. Graduate degrees numbered 5,248 and honorary degrees totaled 749. The Ph. D. degree was conferred by 46 institutions on 446 men and 73 women.

The Minneapolis School Board has authorized the organization of orchestras in every one of the 77 graded schools of that city, and will pay professional conductors to direct them. Emil Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, is to act as adviser in school orchestral matters. The advanced step of Minneapolis is an important extension of school work.

It is estimated that it cost $15,000,000 more to arrest, convict and care for in prison the American youth under 25 years of age, during 1914, than it did to educate all the children of the people of all the states. J. K. Codding, former warden of the Kansas State Penitentiary, is responsible for this estimate.

Sauk City, Wisconsin, is the first city of the United States to add its voting system to the social centre. Hereafter the elections in that city will be educational affairs, conducted in the schoolhouses. A unique pageant and celebration is being held today at Sauk City by the school children, in honor of the decision to move the voting from the town hall to the school house, where it is being made a part of the city's educational system. The decision is the outgrowth of the work of the Social Centre Bureau of the University of Wisconsin, which two years ago organized the first community institute in the State at Sauk City.

The problem of bringing education to the 160,000 children from five to sixteen years of age who come annually to the United States is occupying the attention of two Federal bureaus—the Bureau of Immigration and the Bureau of Education. The port officials, under the immigration service, will have the names of the immigrant children copied from the manifest sheets submitted by steamship captains, and these names will be forwarded daily or weekly to the county or city superintendents of schools. It is then up to the attendance officers to see that the new arrivals are enrolled.

The first graduate law school in America devoted exclusively to the instruction of women is being opened at Cambridge. Prof. Joseph H. Beale, of the Harvard Law School, is in charge. The professor's daughter and a group of her classmates at Radcliffe were refused admittance to Harvard Law School. Radcliffe is the home of the unique law school for women, and it is believed that the seed is sown for a successful departure in education.

The University of Florida has brought itself close to the economic life of that State through its co-operation with the fruit growers. At the university today, the citrus growers of the State are gathering for the annual "Citrus Seminar," where the commercial leaders of the State obtain at first hand, in the laboratory, information and instruction concerning diseases and pests that afflict the groves, and the best methods of caring for their groves. The Seminar will continue for four days, the faculty of the university taking entire charge.

The National Housing Conference which meets today at Minneapolis will be attended by many educational leaders who are interested in city planning and social welfare. Dr. Arnold B. Hall, of the University of Wisconsin, and Ernest Freund, of the University of Chicago, will be among the speakers on the opening day.

The latest educational statistics from India show that since 1912, the total amount given to education has increased from three and three-quarters to five and one-quarter millions sterling. Yet only 1 in 10 men and 1 in 144 women can read. Literacy is developing rapidly, however, through the schools, the growing press, the bringing of the people together by the railroads and the requirements of modern business.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

"There is only one danger for the Republican Assembly ticket this year in Union county, the Plainfield Press thinks, and that is overconfidence," says the Elizabeth Journal. "Quite right. On the surface the election of November 2 is decidedly unimportant. It is probably true that in Union county political circles there is already more talk about 1916 than 1915. Next year's contest is already looming up big. But it will be forced home to every Republican in this section of the State before the campaign upon which we have now entered is over that the best foundation for next year's success will be a sweeping endorsement of the G. O. P. Assembly ticket nominated a week ago. No three men have ever been more worthy of public approval. Let us all make it our business to see that Assemblymen Morgan, Pierson and Runyon get it generously."

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE GIVEN TO AUGUSTUS UTZINGER

A birthday surprise party was given to August Utzinger, Sr., last evening at his home at 112 Jackson avenue, the borough, when about forty friends called to help him celebrate his natal day. The evening was spent with games, music and playing "500." The guests also enjoyed dancing. Several piano solos were rendered by the guests. The home was very attractively decorated for the occasion, the parlor and hall being in green and white, while the color scheme in the dining room was pink.

At a late hour supper was served, the table center-piece being a large birthday cake and at each end of the table pink carnations were prettily arranged. Mr. Utzinger was the recipient of many pretty gifts. Guests were present from New York, Newark and this city.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

In the High School "gym" this evening the "Athenians," a colored basketball team, composed in part of P. H. S. boys, will hold their weekly practice.

Girls' basketball practice was held yesterday afternoon and will be continued, at intervals, until the season opens.

The "Oracle" designing contest, inaugurated by Gerald Linke, is still open and decidedly artistic results are being secured.

The first minstrel meeting was held yesterday and while no definite steps were taken the manner of producing this year's show was thoroughly discussed. Gerald Linke, one of last year's end-men, is business manager.

MEDICOS DISCUSS CANCER.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—The Wisconsin Medical Society opened its annual convention here today, and is entertaining some of the leading men from other States. A feature of the convention this year is an open discussion on cancer, which will take place tomorrow, with the public taking part. Some of the leading American surgeons will discuss the probable cause and the means to diminish the mortality from the malady.

OCCUPIES CEDED TERRITORY.

Sovia, Oct. 6.—The announced intention of the Bulgarian government to occupy the ceded territory gained by treaty with Turkey will be carried out today. The transfer of the section involved, which extends along the line of the Dedeaghatch Railway, will be formally made next Monday.

AN ORDINANCE

To Regulate Parades, Processions, Meetings and the Like, Through, In, or Upon the Public Streets, Highways and Places of the City of Plainfield.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1.

That in order more effectively to regulate traffic and the assembling of crowds in and upon the public streets, highways and places of the City of Plainfield intended primarily for the convenience and accommodation of the public, and each member thereof in the pursuit of his lawful affairs without let or hindrance, and in the interest of the peace and good order of the city,—no person, association or corporation shall hold, conduct or take part in any parade, procession, meeting, concert or the like, through, in or upon any public street, highway or place in the City of Plainfield without a written permit from the Mayor, to be issued and to be revocable in his discretion as he may deem conducive to the public welfare, specifying the place or places and the time or times when such function may be held or conducted; provided that nothing in this ordinance shall be held or construed to apply to any funeral procession or parade incidental to or connected with any funeral, nor to any procession or parade of any body of police or firemen of the City, militia of the State or troops of the United States of America; and provided further that no permit so issued by the Mayor shall be held or construed to authorize any licensee thereunder unreasonably to inconvenience the public or any member thereof in the lawful use of any public street, highway or public place in the city, or to create, cause or encourage any public disorder or disturbance whatsoever, or to limit in any manner the powers of the police, in the exercise of their duties, to regulate traffic generally and to maintain peace and good order within the city, or otherwise, and for such purpose to order any such function to be disbanded or otherwise terminated. During the absence or disability of the Mayor the President of the Common Council, and during his absence or disability the Chief or Acting Chief of Police, shall have authority to issue and revoke such permits. Each person who shall violate this ordinance or any provision thereof shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding Twenty Dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding seven days or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court before which conviction is had.

Adopted by the Common Council, October 4, 1915; approved by the Mayor, October 4, 1915.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, With Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to Provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments For Benefits.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Sherman avenue, from the macadam on Grant avenue to a point 700 feet easterly therefrom;

East Fourth street, from the westerly curb line of Richmond street to the present macadam on said East Fourth street;

Fillmore avenue, from the macadam on North avenue to the macadam on East Third street.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets as aforesaid in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the depth of six inches and for the entire width of the roadway, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the inhabitants of said city according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvements upon the land and real estate benefitted thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of five coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars each ($1,000) and amounting in all to Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), which bonds shall be dated November first, 1915, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by résolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefitted shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefitted by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

Adopted by the Common Council, October 4, 1915; approved by the Mayor, October 4, 1915.

AN ORDINANCE

To License and Regulate Itinerant Venders of Merchandise, Medicines and Remedies.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. In the construction of this ordinance the term "itinerant vender" shall be taken and construed to mean and include any person or corporation engaged in or carrying on, whether as principal or agent, a transient retail business whether of the nature of those usually called bankrupt sales, fire sales, assignee's sales, damaged goods sales, retiring from business sales, or the like, where the seller gives out or pretends that the sale will last for a limited time only, or where in fact it is the intention of the seller to continue such sale only temporarily. This ordinance shall not affect any sale made by virtue of an order of any court nor a sale made by any person or corporation who or which has been actually engaged in business in the City of Plainfield for a period of at least six months immediately preceding such sale in case the same is only of merchandise, medicines or remedies theretofore carried in stock by such person or corporation.

Section 2. Hereafter no itinerant vender of merchandise, medicines or remedies shall begin, enter upon or carry on any sale of merchandise, medicines or remedies at any house, store, wareroom or other fixed place in the City of Plainfield without first obtaining a license so to do as hereinafter provided and paying therefor a license fee of Two Hundred Dollars for each month or fraction thereof covered by such license. Such license fee is and shall be imposed for revenue.

Section 3. The Mayor of said City is hereby authorized, upon application in writing, to grant and issue under his hand and the seal of said City, licenses to such persons or corporations as he may think proper to engage in, conduct or carry on at any fixed place in said city named and specified in such application and in such licenses, and at no other place, any such business as described in Section 1 of this ordinance. Every such license shall state the period during which it shall be and remain in force and shall be void and of no effect both before the beginning and after the end of such period. The City Clerk shall keep a detailed record of every such license issued and shall attest the same. The license fee shall be received by him before the license is so attested by him and shall be by him paid over promptly to the City Treasurer.

The Mayor shall have power to revoke any such license at any time if he shall become satisfied that the licensee has been guilty of misrepresenting in any way the character of the sale or of the goods, wares or merchandise sold. No such sale in the nature of an auction shall be carried on except through a person holding a valid auctioneer's license issued by authority of said City.

Section 4. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance whether such person be acting as principal, or as agent or employe of a natural person, or as agent, employe or office of a corporation, shall be liable upon conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding ninety days.

Adopted by the Common Council, October 4, 1915; approved by the Mayor, October 4, 1915.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance to alter and widen Central Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council, to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the first day of November, A. D., Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 4, 1915.

AN ORDINANCE

To Alter and Widen Central Avenue From the Southeasterly Side Line of West Front Street to the Northwesterly Line of the Right of Way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

WHEREAS, The Common Council judge that the public good requires the altering and widening of Central Avenue between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Central Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, be altered and widened so that the said Central Avenue shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on the northeasterly side of the present centre line thereof as now established and existing, from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey; and of the uniform width of twenty-seven feet on the southwesterly side of the said center line thereof from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, which said center line is described as follows: Beginning at an intersection point marked on an iron manhole head, being the intersection of the center lines of said Central Avenue and West Front Street as now established and existing, and running from said point in a magnetic course of south forty degrees and thirty-five minutes east a distance of six hundred and one and twenty-five hundredths feet to a point in said present center line in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the northeasterly side thereof from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, includes a strip four and three hundred seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by Charles B. Lufburrow, Ella M. Benson, Charles P. Sebring, Estate of Juliet Runyon, Mary Augusta Runyon, Calvary Baptist Church, Plainfield Reform Club, and Wadley & Goodenough.

The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the southwesterly side thereof, from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly side line of West Second Street, includes a strip six and three hundred and seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by Walter F. Manning, Estate of Lebbeus L. Manning, (Elizabeth Manning, Walter F. Manning, Carrie E. MacIntyre), Mary McNamara, and Abrams & Kunzman. The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the southwesterly side thereof, from the southeasterly side line of West Second Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, includes a strip three and nine hundred and seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by P. Ballantine & Son (a corporation).

The land to be taken and the lines of the above described portion of Central Avenue, as the same is hereinabove ordered to be altered and widened are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled: "Map showing proposed altering and widening of Central Avenue, from West Front Street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, City of Plainfield, N. J., Sept., 1915."

HEROES.

In winning the 1915 pennant in their league, members of the Philadelphia National League baseball team deserve the honor, just as Boston players deserved it a year ago.

They won by clean, aggressive playing, by fair methods and by gameness when facing odds. In addition to being an accurate description of their work for the year it is about as good a definition of real American sport as can be found.

The Phillies are today America's heroes because they fought an uphill fight, and won, yet never ceased to be gentlemen, even in the thickest of the fray. That they are heroes speaks well for American sportsmen—by sportsmen we mean those of all classes who love clean games. The team began the season under difficulties. It was an assembly of "castoffs" and other leagues drew some of its better players. Manager Moran took charge of the squad of players when it looked like any thing but a pennant winner, and all those who indulge in baseball "dope" figured his aggregation hopelessly out. The Phillies fought on. They did not spend their time "baiting" umpires and protesting decisions, but played baseball—played it hard and fair, and they won.

If your boy is worshipping one of the Philadelphia players just at present do not feel that he is fathering an unworthy ambition. He might pick a statesman for his star and do much worse.

VICTORY WITHOUT HONOR.

"Governor Fielder predicts a Democratic Legislature, for reasons which he quite fails to demonstrate. The Senate is almost certainly Republican, and unless Essex county elects Nugent men, the Assembly will have a substantial majority on the same side. And Essex is not for Nugent," says the Newark Call. "The success of Wittpenn in Jersey City is called a Wilson victory, because Wittpenn is Naval Officer of the Port of New York, by the President's appointment! It is not to the credit of the Administration morally, whatever it may be politically, that the holder of an office of large profit and influence under the government should be a political heeler in a county not notable for its political purity. The success of Wittpenn was, at best, neither his own nor the President's. It was due to the folly of his great opponent.

"Hudson county seeks the Governorship, having tasted power with joy for three years. It is not likely to be so blessed again. That office will go to another part of the State."

HER VOICE IN AFFAIRS.

A telephone operator in Suffern, N. Y., saved considerable property and perhaps some lives in spreading a fire alarm and getting neighboring communities to despatch fire engines. Yet she cannot offset the vote of a drunken bum who may have carelessly started the blaze should a question that concerns her welfare be pending before "American citizens."

SCHOOL ADJUSTMENT TO DIFFERENT BOY TYPES

Recently Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann delivered a lecture on the topic, "School Adjustment to Different Boy Types," at St. Luke's School, Wayne, Pa., before the eighth annual conference of Masters in Church Schools. Dr. Hibben, president of Princeton, and he were the only speakers in the first session. Both addresses made such a profound impression upon the hearers, who represented the most conservative element among educational workers, that they were widely commented upon in the Philadelphia Press.

Particularly Dr. Groszmann's address was a topic of much discussion during the sessions of the conference. He was called upon to elaborate his views several times during the conference and has since been asked to be sure and prepare his manuscript for publication.

How great an interest was aroused by his suggestions is evidenced by the fact that he has already been invited to speak to the faculty of the Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., on October 25, and a little while later to the Schoolmasters' Club of the famous Groton School in Massachusetts. Both were represented by their head masters at the conference. Among the pupils of the Hill School are a number of Plainfield boys.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

"Bazaar Night" will be observed at Proctor's Theatre tonight and all in attendance at the two performances are to receive some sort of a gift, adults, young people and others. This is but another of the innovations on the part of the management which has proved to be popular with the lovers of refined vaudeville and feature photo-plays in the past. The Kawa troupe of Japs close their engagement here this evening, together with the remainder of the excellent program which has marked the first half of the current week.

Opening tomorrow at this house will be the hit of the season, the musical comedy "The Dream Pirates," a melodious cruise on an "Ocean of Mirth," introducing Flo Bert with a company of eleven juvenile stars. This act has special scenery which will appeal strongly to parents and lovers of children. The story of the act is one with a touch of human interest. The whole act is one which is well received.

Other acts of unusual merit are booked for the three days beginning tomorrow, including that sensational novelty of the season, the Spanish Holdings, and Olga Cook, the Mary Garden of vaudeville. Then there is that playlet entitled "A Work of Kindness," presented by May Duryee and Company, a dramatic endeavor that has met with a warm reception wherever it has been shown. Demarest and Colette, the comedy instrumentalists, assures the box office that something new and original is to be presented in their line. Rucker and Winfred, the ebony-hued entertainers, complete the program of the next three days. Bear in mind that this evening is "Bazaar Night," and that the feature photo-plays shown at the Proctor house are all features.

Jitting

The newest occupation
Of our cousins and relation
Is jitting.
They jit to town and back again,
They turn about and tack again,
While jitting.

Some distant jittress flaps her hand
At the jitoneer, to beat the band—
O, jitting!
And so he drives up to the pave
Like some land life-boat bent to save
The jitting.

They've started in to making love,
Like trolleyers they hog and shove
While jitting.
They meet the same folks day by day;
Each looks for each along the way,
While jitting.

They run on streets where cars are not,
And into many a carless spot,
While jitting.
It makes the traction magnates sore,
To deafened heavens it makes them roar,
This jitting.

The newest avocation
Of our cousins and relation;
Is jitting.
They jit to town and back again;
Make business brisk and slack again,
By jitting.

Silly, isn't it?

Hereafter, roads are to be built north and south, and people will be surprised to find they can be as nearly level as those running east and west.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Ear Marks Of A Competent Nurse

WHEN there is a good nurse caring for the patient careful examination by the doctor elicits no crumbs under the covers, no medicine exhibits and no feeding utensils on the what-not and no suggestive odor of Oriental incense in the deadly sickroom atmosphere. Even the air is kept fresh.

The one sign of a competent nurse that has never failed is this: She keeps the patient's mouth clean—inside. Let us see the patient's tongue and teeth and we will tell you whether your nurse was well trained.

A good nurse is one who knows how to make her patient comfortable. Indeed that is a nurse's whole duty. Many invalids don't know what real comfort is, because they have never employed a thoroughly trained nurse. The trained nurse habit grows on you. Once you try one on suspicion she kind of spoils you—always afterward you hanker after her whether you can afford her or not. She makes you so comfortable and sweet and clean!

Deliver us forever from the old, experienced, practical nurse who fears to change the patient's sheets or nighty for fear the poor thing will "take cold"! Who surrounds the patient with divers and sundry barriers to keep off drafts—so the doctor has to thread his way to the bedside through a maze of quilts, shawls, towels and old clothes! Who talks of living tissue "caking," of "inward fever," of "turnings" and "worms" and "attacks of neurology"! Who is forever wanting "something to raise the gas"!

A good nurse never knows a single thing about what would be a good thing to take for this or that trouble. She has no remedies to suggest, having received no instruction in prescribing while she was in the hospital. The less a nurse knows about the fine art of nursing, the more ready is she to prescribe for those who ask her advice. Old granny nurses rival even an invalid's casual acquaintances in this habit of knowing just what he needs. You know how it is with your near-friends when you are sick—they all have a sure cure you must try. That is, they think so if you are the type that is easily imposed on; not if you are reputed a person of firm opinions of your own.

A competent nurse never gives a baby anything for the "colic" unless it is ordered by the doctor. She has not been taught the science and art of infant feeding—she knows nothing about the proper food, except how to prepare and feed the formula the doctor prescribes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Symptoms Of Hookworm

Please tell me what are the symptoms of hookworm?

Answer—Anaemia (weak or watery blood), with all the results of anaemia—tired, run down, poor, no-account feeling; listless, shiftless, ambitionless existence. The infection occurs usually in the form of "dew itch" or ground itch, the parasites entering through the skin and after a few weeks lodging in the duodenum, where they remain for years unless properly attacked by treatment. The disease occurs in the South very frequently, but is rare in the North.

Pyorrhoea Alveolaris

I would be grateful, says H. S. C., for your opinion upon pyorrhoea.

Answer—Practical suggestions will be sent on receipt of your name and address neatly written on a properly stamped envelope.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. LITTLE GEOGRAPHY LESSONS—VLADIVOSTOK

VLADIVOSTOK is a little city of less than 40,000 people which has had more advertising in the last twenty years than one hundred commercial clubs, working night and day, could have secured for it.

Some cities are founded by pioneers and some just grow like Topsy. But Vladivostok was founded by ukase. It was built in order to provide a back door for the Russian empire through which war supplies could be slipped in time of trouble.

Vladivostok is located in the southeast corner of Siberia, uncomfortably near to Japan and discouragingly far away from everything else on earth. It is three weeks from San Francisco by water and ten days from Petrograd by rail. Theatrical companies which make one-night stands in Siberia have to travel 2,000 miles from the last opera house to reach it, and in the winter when the Sea of Japan out in front of the harbor freezes up five feet thick, the only amusement is going down to the depot to see the 4:30 train come in from Petrograd, 5,000 miles away.

Owing to all these facts Vladivostok has not grown extravagantly. It is sixty years old and only had 29,000 people at the last census. However, when these people travel abroad they do not have to explain where their town is. It is in the rear seat in the trouble zone whenever Russia goes to war.

Vladivostok is the terminus of the Siberian railway and has a big harbor, a navy yard, railroad shops and 500 restaurants where hot tea can be secured. It is as modern as an American city and at the present time its streets are full of American sailors, and its harbor is full of American ships unloading locomotives, automobiles and other hardware for Russia.

Vladivostok is popularly supposed to be situated in the frozen north and to do a heavy trade in snow-shovels on the Fourth of July. However it is not much farther north than Chicago and some day, when the real estate agents begin opening up the Siberian wheat lands, it will become a great metropolis and tourists will get excursion rates thither from America, with stopovers at Kamchatka, the Aleutian Islands and other popular summer resorts. It does not do in these enterprising days to regard any land as a wilderness. The implement sellers crowded the explorers out of western Canada in five years and at any time the eastern Siberian baseball league may begin making contracts.

When the real estate agents begin opening up the Siberian wheat lands

Views Of The Press

German As A World Language

WHILE Germans in high official positions deny that Germany wishes to dominate the world, German linguists admit that they believe German to be the coming "world language." They think, in other words, that the use of the German language will increase at a much faster rate than the number of people of German descent. One Davis Treitsche produces interesting figures to prove that there is reason in the claim that the German tongue will one day be spoken in all parts of the world.

In 1800, if Mr. Treitsche's statistics are correct, German was spoken by 20,320,000 persons, French by 31,450,000 and English by 20,520,000. In 1914 German was spoken by 105,000,000 persons, French by 52,000,000 and English by 152,000,000. From these figures it is apparent that French has lost its position as a convenient "universal" language. Nevertheless, nearly all educated Europeans speak French and find that tongue a great convenience when traveling in countries other than their own. English now appears to be the dominating language, both in the number of people who speak it and in the rate at which the use of it has spread. German has "grown" nearly as fast; but not, apparently, fast enough to justify an assumption that it may pass English.

Mr. Treitsche says that German ought to be the coming "world language" for the reason that "German in an economic and political sense has an entirely different uniformity or coherence from English." Whatever this cryptic utterance may be worth, it is a fact that German is better suited than French for popular use. French, while the most beautiful of languages, is also the most subtle and difficult. German has a highly complicated structure, but whoever has sufficient force of mind to master the rudiments of German masters the language. He does not, as he becomes familiar with the tongue, encounter baffling modes of expression similar to those which make French so charming when it is read and so elusive when one attempts to speak it.

English, however, has no complicated grammatical rules. Its modes of construction are clear and straightforward. Its pronunciation has no difficult sound except, to certain nations, the lisping of "th." The irregularity of our spelling is confusing to the foreign student, but nearly all intelligent Europeans concede that English is the simplest language to learn. If the "world language" of the future is such on its merits as a means of speech, it is safe to say that English will hold the position. If the "world language" of the future is decided by force of arms, who can say what it will be? Perhaps Russian, though the thought is a fearful one.—Rochester Democrat.

BY E. R. BRANSON

An Architect's Lien

Q. Does an architect have a lien upon the building which he has planned and which is erected under his superintendence?

A. The decisions of the courts are not uniform as to this matter. A great deal depends upon the phrasing of the statutes in the different states and upon the construction placed upon such statutes by the courts of the state.

At Last!

Q. After a mortgagor has paid off a mortgage, isn't he entitled to have the public records show such fact?

A. Yes.

The Intention Still Holds

Q. If a written instrument is altered by mistake, will the legal rights of the parties be affected? A. No.

A Fire Insurance Policy

Q. Is a fire insurance policy assignable?

A. It is, with the company's consent; otherwise, not.

The Wife's Dower

Q. May a wife be deprived of her dower rights without her consent?

A. Ordinarily, she may not be deprived of her dower without her consent. There are some states, however, which recognize dower only as to such real estate as the husband has at the time of his death, and in still other states dower has been abolished by statute.

The Deed In A Real Estate Deal

Q. Where one sells real estate, does he have to prepare the deed, or have it prepared?

A. Yes, unless there is an agreement to the contrary.

Making A Will

Q. Wouldn't it be possible for me to draw my will just as well as any lawyer could draw it?

A. Do you not think that to allow this to be done for you by a lawyer would be putting it into more capable hands?

Old Debts

Q. Isn't it true that old debts are outlawed?

A. Yes, provided the Statute of Limitations has run and provided there has been nothing, in a given case, to take the debt out of the operation of the statute.

Melodrama

Q. Where several persons have tried to injure a man's business, having planned to do so and having attempted it, may an action for damages be brought against them?

A. Yes.

Days Of Grace

Q. Are days of grace recognized in every state?

A. No, not in every state.

Punitive Damages

Q. Please tell me what is meant by "punitive damages."

A. Damages awarded by way of punishment or as an example.

I Have Called For Smith's Umbrella—I Need It

Q. I was given the use, for an indefinite time, of some articles of personal property. The person who loaned them to me said I could keep them until he called for them. In the meantime, another person took them out of my custody. Did he have any right to do this?

A. He had no right to act as he did.

A Mute Inglorious Lincoln

Q. Do night law schools offer desirable courses to one who is expecting to study law?

A. Many of them do. It depends on the school.

He Went In By The Window

Q. If one boards a street car in a careless manner and is hurt, can he get damages from the company?

A. If his own careless act was the efficient or producing cause of the injury, he cannot recover damages.

The Life Line

BY LAURA KIRKMAN

The Girl Who Slicks Her Hair Back

Why will she do it? She wouldn't use a word incorrectly if she knew how to use it correctly. Not for anything would she walk pigeon-toed—allow her feet to look at their worst. Yet her hair—the thing most important to her looks—she allows to look at its worst. It is the one thing about her that she has failed to make the most of. "Just look at that girl!" people exclaim of her. "She'd be really pretty if only she had a little taste about her hair." But the subject of their criticism is wholly unaware of the comment she excites. Indeed, on the contrary, she probably is wearing it that way from a false ideal of beauty; we suspect her of thinking that "her type" requires that arrangement. Let the girl who slicks her hair back, ponder upon that old description of woman's hair: Her "crowning glory."

She's scarring herself.

Current Poetry

In The Hospital

Bend down, I want to whisper it;
I'm glad that German bullet hit
My arm, so I can't fire again.
I'm sick of killing, sick of pain—
Not the clean pain I suffer now,
But pain that comes, I don't know how,
Around one's heart or mind or soul
Call it what name you please. The whole
Foul battlefield's a killing place
Of souls, not bodies. On the face
Of him just dead there is a look
Of horror, as if fighting took
More than his life away from him.
His mouth is set in tragic, grim,
And hopeless lines, as if he feels
The dying throes of his ideals—
As if his sightless, staring eyes
Had seen souls thrust from Paradise
Like Lucifer; oh, why should I
Just kill and kill!

Then as you lie
And wait to fire, there comes a stab
Unconsciousness—the dripping slab
Of the field hospital—the cool,
Clean pain of the calm, kindly tool
Handled by a physician-saint
Without a thought of self or taint
Of "kill or be killed." So you hear
In silence, agonies that tear
You limb from limb, knowing that now
Your soul can rest itself, and vow
Anew the sacred vows you broke
On the red battlefields, where spoke
Th' inflaming voices of the guns
That made of peaceful men mere Huns—
That make a quiet citizen
A lawless murderer of men!

I shall return when I am well,
Of course, but not to fight in Hell!
Nay, rather to put heart of grace
Into these men's sad souls—to replace
The horror by the thought of deeds
Performed for untorn people's needs.
The enemy, I cannot fight,
But I can put a gleam of light
And hope into the stricken heart
Of men who 'gainst their will take part
In butchery of decency,
That future nations may be free—
That from the refuse foul we leave
(Dead, splendid bodies, hearts that grieve),
May spring a phoenix, one superb
Unarmed race whose golden curb
Is but one God, one law, and one ideal!

Oh, thank you for the drink, I feel
Wild when I think of what I've seen
And know that it need not have been,
And should I not get well, but die—
Well, that beats killing. Sir—good-by!

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Football interest has centered itself around that Plainfield-Passaic High School combat scheduled for next Saturday afternoon, at the latter place. The red and blue outfit will be put to a hard test and if it dishes the article of football staged against Easton it ought to come pretty near to winning. The Passaic eleven is rated as one of the best combines in the State and Coach Patch's aggregation will be put to a severe test. Should the Plainfielders even succeed in holding their rivals to a low score they will be covering themselves with glory.

If enthusiasm counts for anything the City Basketball League should turn out to be one of the liveliest organizations ever put in working order in this section. The eight combinations holding franchises are of the highest calibre and the rosters include the cream of Plainfield basketball talent. It's one safe bet that an independent aggregation will have pretty hard sledding this year if any attempt is made to buck the leaguers around these parts.

Announcement that Holy Cross will have a football team and that the season will open on Columbus Day comes as a welcome herald to local lovers of the gridiron game. In past years Manager "Doc" Doyle has turned out some good elevens, and without Holy Cross in the field Plainfield football interest would lag considerably.

Now for a feminine basketball league. Why not have it? At no previous time has there been such an array of talent from which to pick a circuit and a little organization work on the part of those interested in the girls' game would bring out the desired results. Plainfield has its girl athletes and they are considered to be the class of this set in Central Jersey.

Inasmuch as leagues are clouding the air this year why not get that city bowling circuit into running order. With the Elks, Columbus Club and Park Club pin-knights still doing business we'd be able to have a pretty healthy three-cornered fight.

Over in Newark basketball is in full swing. The season is opening earlier each year in Jersey and this year Plainfield promises to get into the running by the middle of the present month. It's a long season and we've got plenty of titles to decide while it's in operation.

With sentiment pretty evenly divided between the Phillies and Bostons for that world's baseball title interest in the diamond sport will no doubt occupy the attention of the fan over the week-end.

NEW CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE HAS EIGHT GOOD TEAMS READY TO START SCHEDULES

Plainfield's new City Baseball League took form last night, with eight formidable clubs in the circuit, all of whom have selected home courts. At a meeting Friday night in the Daily Press editorial rooms the rosters of players will be presented and final arrangements completed for the opening of the season. The teams granted franchises are Hope Chapel, Y. M. C. A., Columbus Club, Grace Church, Plainfield Recreation Club, Y. M. H. A., Plainfield A. A. and the T. A. B.

The T. A. B., Y. M. C. A., Hope Chapel, Plainfield Recreation Club, Grace Church and Columbus Club own their courts, while the Plainfield A. A. has made arrangements for the rental of the T. A. B. on playing nights and the Y. M. H. A. will use Columbus Club for games.

A number of well known men of the city are being considered as likely nominees for the presidency and at last night's session Chairman John T. Caulfield appointed a committee consisting of Olina (Y. M. H. A.), Taylor (Y. M. C. A.) and Ricketts (P. R. C.), to decide upon a candidate to be put up at Friday night's gathering. At that time the officers will be selected and plans made for the drawing of a schedule.

Chairman Caulfield also named a committee, composed of Aaron Hirsch (Y. M. H. A.), Jack Denny (T. A. B.) and David Wardrop (Hope Chapel) to decide upon a trophy for the season's competition.

SHORE AND ALEXANDER CHOICE FOR OPENER

Managers Will Probably Select These Stars to Open Big Series.

Boston, Oct. 6.—The chances are that of all the Red Sox star pitchers, Ernie Shore will be selected to face Grover Alexander in the opening game of the World's Series. It has come to be recognized that on Shore, Foster, Leonard and Ruth the Boston team must depend for the pitching strength to hold the Phillies in check. Wood while up among the leaders and one of the greatest pitching stars of the decade when going right, can hardly be rated as a world's series possibility. His arm has been giving him serious trouble, although he claims it is ready for the fray. That Wood will figure only as an emergency man is the general opinion here today.

How will the Red Sox pitching force stand up against the twirling staff of Pat Moran? Will the great Alexander be able to dispose of Carrigan's clouters as he generally does of all his National League opponents? Will Long Ernie Shore be able to handle the Quakers as he can take care of most of the heavy stickers of his own league?

These are among the many queries that not only the Boston fans, but speculative rooters all over the country are propounding to each other. It is these questions which will in their unfolding on the field of battle here and in Philadelphia decide the World's Championship. Everybody is guessing, even the most confident rooters of Philadelphia and Boston.

The Red Sox have eight pitchers eligible and willing to enter the big struggle; and, singularly enough, that is the precise number that is ready to answer the summons of Patricius Moran. Yet it is conceded by all that but four Red Sox twirlers can be really counted on; and experts figure that Moran is still further limited for sure results.

Were it not for the fact that one Grover Alexander, the mainstay of the Philadelphia twirling forces, standing head and shoulders above anyone in his league for effectiveness, looms up as a possible big obstacle in their path to the big money, the Red Sox would enter this series with unbounded confidence.

While Alexander and Mayer alone class with the 10 leading twirlers of the National League, Boston's big quartet of twirlers, Shore, Foster, Ruth and Leonard, stand at the head of the pitchers' class in the American League. Yet the impartial cold figurer cannot get away from the thought that the tremendous superiority of Alexander over all of his National League rivals indicates his success in every game he pitches in the big series.

The Red Sox have never faced Alexander and most of them are utter strangers to his style of delivery. None of the Boston players will venture a prediction as to whether they can hit him. But it can be said of the Red Sox that as a team they can bat a speedy pitcher, and the team has made a great showing against Walter Johnson and other speed merchants.

45,000 MAY SEE SERIES GAMES IN BOSTON PARK

Boston, Oct. 6.—The world's series games to be played in this city next Monday and Tuesday probably will be witnessed by 45,000 persons, President Joseph J. Lannin, of the Boston Americans, announced last night. Careful checking up of the capacity of Braves Field, he said, had shown that this number could be cared for without inconvenience. About 5,000 persons will be allowed to stand, either in the rear of the grandstand or behind a fence to be erected in right field.

President Lannin expressed the belief that few if any of the thousands of persons who have applied for reserved seats would be disappointed. It was his desire, he said, to take care of every one, and 25,000 seats were set aside for reservation. A few applications for large numbers of seats were pared down in order to accommodate applications for smaller allotments, and some were refused because of indications that they were intended for speculation purposes. It is President Lannin's opinion that the speculative element will figure very little in the disposition of seats this year.

Mr. Lannin last night received a telegram from President Wilson expressing his regret that he would be unable to come here to see the games to which he had been invited.

JACK MARTIN WILL AGAIN WRITE WORLD'S SERIES BASEBALL FOR THE DAILY PRESS.

Readers of the Daily Press sporting columns will again be treated to some inside dope on the world's series games. Jack Martin, who will next spring join the Philly title-seekers, has consented to compile a number of articles for the Daily Press and these will begin Friday afternoon.

Inasmuch as Martin is personally acquainted with every man on Manager Pat Moran's team, and a large number of the Boston performers, his articles will have plenty of inside facts and should afford the fans an opportunity to get a line on the relative strength of the two combines. He will report each game for the Press and criticise the good plays and bad ones.

Watch for the Daily Press world's series extra. As in former years it will be the first one on the streets. Fans will be able to get full details of the game and a complete box score in the Daily Press five minutes after each game is finished, this time beating the metropolitan extras, many of which will not have the games in detail, by about two hours.

REFEREE OF ATHLETIC MEET.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 6.—Charles M. Schwab will throw off the burdens of steel and ammunition making this afternoon long enough to referee the athletic meet which is a feature of the semi-centennial celebration here. Mr. Schwab has provided prizes for the athletes, and to make sure that they go to the real winners he will be assisted by athletic coaches from the nearby colleges.

WHITE SOX AND CUBS SERIES.

Chicago, Oct. 6—The annual series for the baseball championship of Chicago will open today, between the Cubs and the White Sox. Seven games are provided for. Both teams have furnished good baseball during the season just closed, and the White Sox were serious contenders for the American league pennant.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CHAMPS NOT GOING INTO BIG SERIES WITH TOO MUCH CONFIDENCE

Boston American league team. Left to right, top row: Collins, Wood, Gainer, Shaw, Gregg, Ruth, Mays, Hoblitzel, Barry. Centre row: Leonard, Hendricksen, Gardner, Carrigan, Cady, Janvrin, Thomas, D. Green (trainer). Lower row: Lewis, Wagner, Speaker, Hooper, Foster, Scott.

It is not to be expected that the Red Sox will fall into the pit of overconfidence as did the Athletics a year ago. Bill Carrigan is wise enough to know that strong as his Red Sox are, they are not going to find the Phillies any mean foes. Accordingly he has had his entire aggregation of pennant winners watching the Phillies in action and against their strongest rivals, at that.

MRS. STOCKTON RETURNS LOW SCORE IN TOURNEY

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of this city, who has come to be a national figure in women's golf, made low score of 103 yesterday in a tournament for the members of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association on the Baltusrol Golf Club links. The Plainfield star was awarded the gross trophy, while that for net went to Miss Julie Bredt, of Essex County, who had a card of 105, 12-93.

Rain made it hard work for the women to get within even occasional touch of the hard Baltusrol par, but the returns were by no means as bad as expected when the players began to tee up. The scores of the Plainfielders in the handicap were: Mrs. H. R. Stockton, 103, 2-101, and Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, 121, 14-107.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE PRELIMINARY PLANS OUT

President William A. Wetzel of the New Jersey State Teachers Association has announced the preliminary arrangements made by the executive committee for the educational conference to be held in the Robert Treat School, Newark, Friday evening, October 15, and the next morning.

The evening session will be opened with a musical program to be rendered in the auditorium from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. Following this, John Collier of the National Board of Censors of Motion Pictures, will lecture on the motion picture as an educational factor. The lecture will be followed by a demonstration of educational films.

The exercises Saturday will begin at 9:30 o'clock. The topic for discussion will be the public school and the immigrant child. Among the speakers announced today, Spencer Baldwin, secretary of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, of New York; Miss Cornelia Bradford, a member of the Board of Education of Jersey City; Principal L. L. Jackson, of the Baldwin Street School, Montclair, and Dr. David B. Carson, first assistant superintendent of Newark.

The Robert Treat School has arranged for the presentation of an interesting historic pageant, illustrating the early history of Newark, on the Friday afternoon preceding the meeting of the association. An invitation is extended to all members of the association to attend. President Wetzel has requested the cooperation of all principals and teachers in order that a large attendance may result. Superintendents and principals have been asked to advise Principal Martin L. Cox, of the Robert Treat School, as to the probable attendance from their localities.

DIPHTHERIA GERMS FOUND IN MANY HEALTHY THROATS

Washington, Oct. 6.—To what extent diphtheria germs occur among healthy persons has been a point that has never been difinitely determined, some workers claiming that as many as one in every twenty persons carried these germs and distributed them more or less indiscriminately. To determine this point the United States Public Health Service, in a circular just issued, tells of an investigation of the prevalence of dephtheria carriers in Detroit during the winter of 1913-14. This investigation stands as one of the most thorough and painstaking researches of its kind.

In the laboratory the officers of the service examined 8,758 cultures taken from 4,093 persons; five bacteriologists examined the "smears" from an average of 158 cultures a day. The results of this examination were that nearly one per cent — .928 per cent., to be exact—of all the persons examined were found to carry diphtheria germs in their throats or noses, or both.

This means that in time of epidemic prevalence probably one in every 100 persons has diphtheria germs in his throat and in all probability on his hands and clothes as well. It is probable that the average individual comes in contact with 100 or more persons every day and hence is practically daily exposed to infection. School children come in close contact often with more than 100 others in a day. Occasionally one may even see 100 persons in a single street car, and none will doubt that many more than that number will cough into the air of a moving picture theater during an evening.

This data, gathered by the public health service, as well as data of the same nature obtained by other workers, the circular says, demonstrates one of many reasons for personal care of the throat and nose, avoidance of two intimate contact with others and the necessity of early preventive measures in the case of those suffering from sore throat and lesions suspicious of diphtheria.

CONFERENCE ON CITY HOUSING.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 6.—The fourth national conference on housing in America was opened today in this city. Mayor Nye welcomed the sociologists this morning, and President Robert W. De Forest, of the National Housing Association, presided. The menace of the city alley and the necessity for garden suburbs will be emphasized by prominent speakers. Dr. Aronid B. Hall, of the University of Wisconsin; Elmer S. Forbes, of the Massachusetts Civic League, and John J. Murphy, commissioner of the Tenement House Department of New York, are speakers today. Tomorrow's speakers include Miss Emily W. Dinwiddie, supervisor of Trinity dwelling in New York; C. B. Fillebrown, of Boston, and E. R. A. Seligman, of Columbia University. On Friday, Dr. George B. Young, of the U. S. Public Health Service; Dr. C. S. Woods, superintendent of the Methodist Hospital of Indianapolis; Charles B. Hall, chief sanitary inspector of Chicago, and others will speak.

OHIO DAY AT THE EXPOSITION.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Today is "Ohio Day" at the big exposition. Governor Frank B. Willis will hold a reception in the Ohio building, and a mass meeting of former Ohioans will take place in the auditorium. A reception and ball will be given tonight by the exposition officials in honor of Governor Willis and his party.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Kiddies' Squirrel Got A Blanket.

They Made the Nicest Home For the Squirrel.

THE children curled up beside daddy, for it was Bibbley Wah night, and they were eager.

"One fall, just as the leaves were beginning to turn colors, Bobbie and Jim set traps for animals," daddy started.

"Once they set a trap for a woodchuck. And guess what they got?"

"A hen, a dog, a rabbit," cried the kiddies.

"No. They caught Bibbley Wah. But she had on such strong shoes that it did not hurt her. She was tumbling around in the boys' way and stepped right into the trap.

"Well, Bobbie made a queer looking box that he said was just the thing to catch partridges, but when Jim dashed down the hill one morning to see the nothing had sprung the trap he found in it probably the prettiest catch the children ever had."

"What?" asked the kiddies.

"A pair of young gray squirrels. If the boys had tried all winter they could not have done it again. All their play time for the next month they spent making a cage for their pets. Their uncle gave them two boxes for a parlor and a bedroom, and Bobbie found some old wire and nails. They bored, sawed, hammered and cut till at last they made two rooms connected with a wheel where the squirrels could run.

"Now the children had a playroom where they did as they pleased. So they put the cage in it and started to get nuts for winter. The kiddies slept in the next room, and once after Bibbley Wah's mother had kissed her good night and gone she got one of the squirrels and took it to bed with her."

"Would it bite her?" asked Evelyn.

"No; the boys had tamed it so she could handle it. The next morning when Bobbie fed his pets he found a queer piece of blue cloth in the cage and could not understand how it got there. But Bobbie's mother knew. She looked in the closet where Bibbley Wah's winter coat hung and found a big piece of cloth chewed right out of the back. After Bibbley Wah had gone to sleep Mr. Squirrel had gone exploring. Liking the color of his playmate's coat, he had snipped out a piece with his sharp teeth for his own bed blanket.

"Then the boys had to take the cage down to a shed beyond the kitchen, where it stayed all winter, cozy enough, but not so convenient to coats as the playroom was."

"Thank you, daddy!" cried the children, with a hug.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Is this you, Olive?" asked Nell over the phone.

"Yes. What's up?" came back over the wire. Nell's voice had sounded shaky.

"Oh! send the doctor quick. Hal pulled a cup of scalding tea off the table and his arm is dreadfully burned. Not there? Oh, what shall I do? Can't you come over? Oh, thank you. Do hurry, dear."

When Olive came into the room the poor baby was screaming at the top of his lungs and Nell, who had managed to get the clothing off of his arm, was holding him in perfect despair.

"Oh dear, I'm so glad you have come," she gasped. "He's suffering dreadfully and I've no idea what to do."

"Have you any linseed oil and limewater?" asked Olive, starting for the medicine chest.

"No! I've nothing for a burn. I never had a burn in my life." Nell wiped her eyes.

"I was afraid you would not have it; few people do. So I telephoned to the drug store before I left home and gave them a hurry up order. The boy will be here in ten minutes at the latest, for he will come on his wheel and I walked over."

"Shall I telephone for Dick?" faltered Nell.

"No, I would not; he will not know what to do and I am sure I can bandage it all right. I left a note to Gaylord telling him where I was and what had happened. He will come right over as soon as he reads it, of course."

"Do you see anything of the boy?" asked Nell anxiously. Olive was looking down the street.

"Yes, here he comes. I'll get the dish and the absorbent cotton ready. I watched them do our maid's arm when she was scalded one time, so I know just what to do."

She soaked the cotton in the oil and soon the screaming child was quieted and dropped off to sleep exhausted.

"Now tell me how it happened," said Olive as Nell came out and closed the bedroom door.

Nell dropped into a chair and wiped her hot face. "I was not a bit hungry this morning and the baby was cross. I was waiting on him and getting Dick off. I often can't remember whether I have had any breakfast or not, in the hurry and confusion of getting things started."

"That's not right. You'll break down that way," interrupted Olive.

"About ten o'clock I was faint and made myself a cup of tea. Hal was toddling around but I never thought of any danger to him when I was called out of the room. I heard a crash and a scream. Running in I found the cloth pulled nearly off the table and under it on the floor with the broken china all strewed around, was the baby screaming at the top of his lungs. Even then I did not think of a burn. I thought he was frightened by the crash. When I found his sleeve soaked with the scalding tea, I was scared, I can tell you. I did not call you up till I had taken the wet sleeve off the poor little arm. It had begun to blister then, so I knew it was a serious burn.

"Whatever will Dick say? I must call him up and tell him before he starts home. He would never forgive me if I didn't." Nell looked too faint to move.

"You haven't had a bit of breakfast you say, and you did not get any tea. Then all this excitement. You lie down and I'll make you a cup of tea and after that it will be time enough to call up Mr. Dick. You need watchers; need some one to take care of you as much as the baby." Olive led her to the lounge and covered her up before she left the room.

After the tea was swallowed, Olive called up Dick and told him of the accident. "Nell is all upset," she added, after his fears for the baby had been allayed. "Be sure not to say anything to unnerve her any more; she can't stand it."

"Why should I?" he asked in wonder. "Poor little girl."

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

Household Hints--

ORANGE HONEY

Remove the skins from one small pony basket of blue grapes. Boil for fifteen minutes and strain. Add three oranges, one of them peeled, ground through the food chopper. Add three pounds of sugar to grapes and oranges and cook until it thickens. Then add one-half pound of English walnuts broken into small pieces. Pour in jelly glasses.

HOW TO MAKE DAINTY VIANDS FOR PICNIC

During the warm days when the heat and fatigue of our daily tasks make us long for a breath of country life, a flavor of the unaccustomed lends relish to life.

A day's outing is just the thing and the luncheon forms one of the most important requisites for the day's pleasure.

Paper plates, cups and napkins and a set of aluminum knives and forks and spoons, will equip the lunch basket for many a summer outing, at very little weight.

The different edibles should be wrapped in waxed paper, the condiments in pasteboard cartons or pails, all of which can be thrown away with the exception of the knives, etc., when used.

Here are some recipes appropriate for the picnic basket:

Walnut Deceits—Work a 10-cent cream cheese until smooth, using a wooden spoon, and season with one-eighth teaspoonful each of paprika and salt, add four queen olives, stoned and chopped. Shape into twenty-four balls, using a teaspoonful of each, roll in hard crackers, pounded and sifted, and flatten.

Place halves of walnut meats on each piece. Pack in layers on waxed paper with cardboard between.

Stuffed Tomatoes—Dip tomatoes in hot water and remove the skin, taking care not to cut the tomato. Place on ice, and when chilled, remove the inside and stuff with Neufchatel cheese, well blended with mayonnaise and finely ground green peppers. Chill thoroughly before packing; then wrap each one in oiled paper and seal. When ready to serve, slice and lay on a bed of lettuce.

Berry Cases—Cream one-third cupful of sugar; then add two eggs beaten light, and one-fourth cupful of sweet milk. Measure three cupfuls of pastry flour (after sifting); add four teaspoons of baking powder and sift again; stir into liquid and turn on a floured board or marble, adding flour enough to make a soft dough (but not more than is necessary to make the dough possible to handle).

Roll to about one-fourth inch in thickness, sprinkle with nutmeg and cut in large round shapes. Bake on inverted buttered muffin-rings in a quick oven until light brown, and to prevent breaking, remove from rings while hot. These can be used to hold any fresh fruit, and are especially good with berries.

Club Sandwiches—One medium-sized Spanish onion or several spring onions run through a food chopper; then one cucumber, ad last, four or five slices of crisp browned bacon. Mix all together with mayonnaise to moisten and season well. Place a lettuce leaf on a buttered slice of bread; add a little of the chopped mixture, then a slice of tomato; spread again with first mixture, add another lettuce leaf and a slice of bread. Wrap and seal.

THE TABLE

Sweet Potato Salad—Boil three large sweet potatoes and peel. When cold cut them into one-half inch cubes. Cut three stalks of celery or endive into small pieces, add a small onion sliced in thin rings and season to taste. Dress with French dressing and garnish with parsley.

Nut Muffins—Two cups bread flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one-third teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon melted butter, one cup milk, one cup chopped walnuts. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; beat egg, add sugar, beat again, turn in butter and milk; combine ingredients; stir in nuts, and bake in muffin tins in fairly hot oven for twenty-five minutes.

Sure Recipe for Bread—Boil twelve medium potatoes at noon. Use potato water, and if old potatoes are used, add four mashed well to water. Pour this over three-fourths cup sugar. Soak one compressed yeast cake in half cup warm water and when potato water is lukewarm, add yeast and stir. Set one-half day or until bedtime, then add warm water to make two quarts of liquid. Add one-half teacup salt, three tablespoons sugar and enough flour to mix hard. Stand where warm over night. First thing in morning cut and form into loaves for second rising, and then bake from fifty to sixty minutes.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Washington.—The equal suffrage States where women have the ballot will cut quite a figure in the next Republican National convention. The women will have a representation of 182 in a convention of 995 delegates, under the tentative plans of the Republican National Committee. "With so heavy a proportion of representatives in the Republican convention from States where women vote, the pressure exerted by woman in national politics is very decided," says Miss Lucy Burns, of the Congressional Union headquarters. "The representatives of all parties at the next Presidential election will have to seek the support of nearly 4,000,000 women voters; women who are keenly interested in extending the right to vote to the women of the whole nation."

La Crosse, Wis.—The convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held here today, Thursday and Friday of this week. Among the guests will be Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, national president; Mrs. John Sherman, of Chicago, chairman of the conservation department of the General Federation, Miss Helen Boswell, chairman of the political science department, and Mrs. Thomas Winter, of Minneapolis. Mrs. K. O. Kinsman, of Whitewater, Wis., is president of the State Federation.

Seattle.—Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Dixrude, a City-Wide Child Welfare Institute opened here Monday. Dr. William A. McKeever, professor of child welfare at the University of Kansas, is conducting the work. Mrs. Nellie Burnside, president of the Legislative Federation, will preside at an important meeting today on constructive legislation on child welfare. Fifty women prominent in this section of the country will address the various meetings during the week. The present sessions on child welfare are part of the general campaign underway throughout the country, in which many of America's leading women have joined.

St. Louis.—Private reports from Germany announce that Fraulein Lonny Herta von Versen, a cousin of the late Mark Twain, was the first woman to receive the Iron Cross from the Kaiser in the present war. She is the daughter of Maj.-General Henry von Versen, who came to the United States and met and married a relative of the great American humorist. The daughter cared nothing for the gay life at the German capital, it is said, although her mother was a leader in court circles until her death a few years ago. Fraulein von Versen had done a lot of charity work before the war broke out, and she was much beloved. Then she offered her services as a nurse, and was attached to a field hospital. At the battle of St. Mihiel she saved the life of a little girl who was a servant employed in the camps. It was for this brave deed that the Kaiser decorated Fraulein von Versen.

Washington. — Twelve billion stamps were handled by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing during the past year. The entire work of accounting for this immense number of stamps, of all denominations, was done under the supervision of Miss Margaret Kerfoot, chief of the division, without a single mistake. Miss Kerfoot has charge of the sending of stamp orders to the 64,000 postoffices throughout the country. She has seen 32 years of service. The present capacity of her office, which is constantly growing, is 24,000,000 stamps a day. Not only does Miss Kerfoot handle the reins of accuracy, but she trains her helpers to thwart the devices of thieves. Her shipments of stamps are protected by telltale devices, and seldom are any stamps missing when the packages reach their destination. Washington has many women who hold responsible positions under the government, but none perform a more trying service than the handling of immense numbers of small, sticky stamps, some in sheets others in books, and coming out correct at the end of a long year's work!

NEW EVENING DRESSES WINNING.

NO. 9098.

The new semi-fitted, full skirt evening frock have taken the country by storm with delightful results. There is a freedom and grace in the new clothes as compared with those of last season, that must be as pleasant a relief to the wearer as to the observer. The above, Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9098, is a charming and elegant ladies' evening dress. It consists of a plaited underwaist supported by a sleeveless lining, kimono overwaist and a five-gore gathered circular skirt perforated for hem facing. Dress to be trimmed with ribbon if desired. Length of skirt at center-front is 40 inches. Skirt is cut 2 inches above regular waistline at side seam. Pattern cuts in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure, size 36 requiring 6½ yards of 36-inch material.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force and Company.

Among the passengers sailing on the S. S. S. United States of the Scandanavian-American Line tomorrow is Miss Augusta Anderson, of the West End. Passage was secured through the Estil Steamship Agency of Park avenue.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Equal suffrage for Canada has at last achieved a definite result. Premier Sefton, of Alberta, announces that a governmental measure will be brought into the forthcoming Provincial Legislature "placing men and women on a basis of absolute equality so far as provincial matters are concerned." The majority of the Liberals is such that the Premier's declaration is a virtual guarantee of the ballot to over 100,000 women.

While he speaks only of Provincial equality, their admission, says the Evening Post of September 24, will be to Dominion suffrage also, for by an act passed at Ottawa in 1897 the Dominion electoral qualifications are made those of the various Provinces.

The Toronto Globe is of the opinion that "other Provinces will no doubt fall rapidly into line, and in a few years, perhaps a few months, people will be wondering why the reform hung fire so long." In New Zealand the enfranchisement of women was carried in 1893, and in Australia it began in 1894 and was completed in 1908; so that Canada has been strangely behind the other Anglo-Saxon dominions of the Empire.

Mrs. Eliza B. Hettle, of Manitoba, writes The Woman's Journal: "We have a new Liberal Government now, which is in favor of woman suffrage. We expect to be enfranchised before New Year's."

She added: "We are having the petitions signed this month. They promised us the franchise if we had 15 per cent. in signatures of the votes polled at the election in 1914. We expect to have at least 50 per cent. So there is no doubt of our obtaining the franchise."

Queen Wilhelmina announced at the opening of Parliament at The Hague, September 21, that the government of Holland will introduce a bill to eliminate the existing hindrances to the granting of suffrage to the woman of Holland. The announcement was greeted with applause.

According to Dr. Aletta H. Jacobs, pioneer suffragist of Holland, now visiting in this country, Queen Wilhelmina's announcement about woman suffrage means that the word "male" will be eliminated from the qualifications of voters. It means, too that the present Parliament, if it drafts a new constitution, as is expected, may pass a constitutional amendment enfranchising women. If it does not make a constitution embodying such an amendment, it will make it possible for Parliament to pass a law to the same effect.

SHALL NEW JERSEY HAVE SUFFRAGE.

Here is the opinion of a well-known citizen of Plainfield on the subject, in reply to a letter from Mrs. Jones, president of the Equal Suffrage League, Howard A. Colby says:

"Indeed you may place my name among the supporters of woman suffrage, for I have always been strong for it. The time is not far distant when we shall all walk to the polls together, and it will be a great day for the welfare and progress of the human race."

WAR ELECTRICAL SHOW.

New York, Oct. 6.—So that the American public may learn some of the uses which the government is making of electricity in preparing the national defense, and some of the ways it might be employed in actual fighting on land an sea, in the air and beneath the waters, a series of exhibits arranged with the cooperation of Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels are shown at the electrical exposition which opened here today. For ten days the public will be shown some of these unusual exhibits. The Springfield Arsenal will show how rifles are made, and how the sabres are turned out, from the furnace to the finished product. The navy has prepared a wireless receiving and sending station and the generating station of a battleship. These exhibits were prepared at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The Signal Corps of the army shows communication apparatus used by an army in the field, including wireless telegraph, telephone and other signalling devices.

BOOM LOWER RATES.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—The removal of burdensome restrictions, a reduction of expenses and losses, lower costs to the insured and a wider distribution of the benefits of insurance, are the topics for today's session of the World's Insurance Congress.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS BEING FORMED

Extension Work by New Jersey State College is Proving Successful.

The club work carried on by Miss M. Anna Hauser, home economics specialist, and Miss Fannie Cooper, state leader in boys' and girls' club work from the extension department of the New Jersey State Agricultural College, has proven to be very successful. At present there are thirty clubs in different parts of the State, and more are being organized. During the summer months each of the canning clubs organized has had three canning demonstrations at which the boys and girls actually did the work of canning fruits and vegetables. They came to each demonstration with their aprons, one quart jar each, and enough fruit or vegetables to fill it. The canning was done under the direction of the specialist in charge. In each case the club members took the canned products home. The ladies of the community and all interested in canning were invited to attend.

The growth of the clubs has been surprisingly rapid. The smallest club organized had but five members when the work was begun; its membership has now increased to twelve.

The clubs have done much for girls in interesting them in canning and other household duties. The work is educating them back to the home. Club girls now assist their mothers in canning fruits and vegetables, and in some cases the daughters have taken the entire responsibility of all the home canning.

The organization of these clubs will be continued throughout the year. Any persons residing in communities in which this work has not been organized, who are desirous of having the work started in their locality, can receive assistance by writing to the New Jersey State Agricultural College, New Brunswick, N. J.

MRS. K. C. GOULD MUST APPEAR IN COURT TODAY

New York, Oct. 6—In answer to an order issued to Howard Gould by Justice Charles E. Hughes of the U. S. Supreme Court, Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould must appear in the U. S. court today to argue for the retention of $212.79. Rather than pay income tax on his wife's alimony of three thousand dollars a month, Howard Gould sought a writ of error against the decision of the New York courts, which awarded Mrs. Gould the verdict.

The amount at issue was deducted by Mr. Gould from the alimony he paid his wife. She sued for the amount and won her suit, Justice Hendrick denying Mr. Gould's right to deduct the income tax, and the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court affirmed the ruling. Mr. Gould argued that his wife was bound to share the income tax burden with him, as they were still husband and wife.

While the amount involved is small, the case calls for a decision on whether alimony is income within the meaning of the Federal income tax law. In this State alimony is not so considered.

PLAN FINISHING TOUCH FOR FAIR

Plainfield Elks' Monster Bazaar to Be Attended by Many State Brothers.

COMMITTEES AT WORK

Much Activity On the Part of Those Arranging For Week's Festival—Booths Being Erected—Week of October 18 Has Been Selected.

Assurances have been received by the committee in charge of the Elks' bazaar to be held during the week of October 18 that large delegations of visiting members would be sent by the lodges of Dover, Newark, Morristown, Irvington, Somerville, Elizabeth and New Brunswick, and although nothing definite has been heard from many other cities it is believed that this number will be doubled before the first of the week. At the request of several lodges allotted nights during the fair week the committee at its meeting last night effected a change in the schedule and in its revised form it will take care of the visiting Elks on the following nights: Tuesday, Orange, East Orange, Irvington, Hoboken, Jersey City and New York; Wednesday, Dover, Morristown, Summit, Paterson and Rutherford; Thursday, Somerville, Elizabeth, Bayonne, Newark and Brooklyn; Friday, New Brunswick, Rahway and Perth Amboy. Saturday night has been set aside as "local fraternal night," and it is expected that a large representation from different local orders will be in attendance.

Encouraging reports were submitted by committee heads at last night's meeting and the progress made to date indicates that everything is now in smooth working order and all concerned are optimistic over the possibilities for a record breaking week of activity. The erection of the numerous booths was started today and it is expected that all will be completed by next Thursday.

A general committee meeting, at which all of the workers, including the women assistants, will be held next Thursday night. At that time the final assignments will be made and the finishing touches put on the booths, all of which will be artistically and elaborately decorated.

As previously announced the committee has engaged a number of professional entertainers for the various nights and local talent will also play a prominent part. Dancing, with music furnished by an orchestra, will be a feature each night.

NEW BIG BILL TODAY AT THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The second half of the first big week of advanced vaudeville will be ushered in at the Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and tonight with an entire change of bill from that seen the past three days. "The Pan-American Girls," a miniature musical comedy with special scenic and electrical effects, will be the headliner, supported by the following five high class offerings: The Unicycle Hayes Duo, comedy cyclists; Robinson and Nicholas, in a bit of coonology; Charles Graham and Company, in a laughable comedy entitled, "How Ignatious Got Pneumonia;" Mazie Rowlands, the Australian comedienne; Dalrypimple and Davis, comedians out of the ordinary. The Will Fox booking office guarantees this program to be one of the best that has yet assembled and Plainfield Theatrons are assured two hours of wholesome entertainment.

Tomorrow night will witness the presentation of a novel feature in the form of a Charlie Chaplin girls' contest, three prizes being offered for the feminine persons who can best imitate the popular screen comedian. Several entries have already been made and in addition Manager Shanahan will introduce the Charlie Chaplin girls, a comedy of five young women who made themselves up to look and act like the real Charlie. The latter, however, will be barred from taking any part in the prize contest, it being the aim of the management to make the awards only to local girls. The Plainfield Theatre prices are within the reach of all, but no matter what price is paid the local public is guaranteed the greatest value for the money.

MISS BENSON BRIDE OF JOHN CONNOLLY

Many Plainfield Guests Attend Nuptials at St. Joseph's Church, Carteret.

In the presence of a large gathering of guests, many of whom were from this city, Miss Margaret Benson, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Benson, of Carteret, was married in St. Joseph's church, that place, yesterday morning, to John Connolly, a former well known Plainfielder and son of Mrs. Katherine Connolly, of 956 West Fifth street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Haggerty, rector of the church.

Miss Benson was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Benson, as maid of honor, while Thomas Connolly, of this city, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple left for Washington for a week's trip. On returning they will make their home at Carteret, where Mr. Connolly is a member of the police force. He was employed for many years at the Pond Tool Works where he served his apprenticeship as a machinist, but has been making his home in Carteret for the past five years. He was appointed a patrolman on the Carteret force two years ago.

Among the many gifts which the couple received were a handsome dining room set presented by the Carteret police force and a beautiful china closet filled with cut glass and china, the gift of the Carteret fire department. Mr. Connolly is unusually popular in both departments, while his bride is also held in high esteem. She has been a school teacher in one of the Carteret schools for several years. The bridegroom has a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and all his local friends wish him success.

Among the guests from this city were Councilman John H. Cose, who is a cousin to the bridegroom; Mrs. Jacob Cose, of West Third street, and several other local relatives.

RED MEN OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY DAY

Present Regalia, Entertain Visitors, Dance and Have General Good Time.

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, was twenty-six years old last night, and the anniversary was appropriately observed by the tribesmen and their friends, the occasion being in the nature of a social entertainment rather than with any formal program.

Music, informal addresses and dancing occupied the greater portion of the evening, while one of the interesting features was the presentation of a past sachem's regalia to Past Sachem John Flynn. This was a complete surprise to Mr. Flynn and after the presentation speech by Chief of Records Charles L. Holstein, Mr. Flynn replied with a few bashful words, which no one could hear, but which tended to increase Mr. Flynn's embarrassment and to immensely please the audience.

Among the visitors was Past Sachem John T. Green, of New Brunswick, a former member of the local tribe and at one time keeper of wampum for the local tribesmen. Among the visiting tribes from out of town were: Tonaluka Tribe, Cranford, Menno Tribe, Westfield; Nariticong Tribe, Somerville. There were also a number of visiting members from Dakotah Tribe, of Brooklyn, while the local council, Daughters of Pocahontas, was numerously represented.

DANIEL BUCKLEY LEAVES UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

Daniel Buckely, a well known Plainfield boy, has been discharged from the United States naval service after serving four years as a marine on the battleship Arkansas. He left a few days ago for Chicago, where he has formed a business partnership with a former shipmate for the purpose of installing gaslight plants in country residences. Mr. Buckley was among the reserves who landed at Vera Cruz in April, 1914, when sixteen naval reserves were killed. He is a nephew of Mrs. George Mehl, of Madison avenue.

FIRST FALL MEETING.

The Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 8:15 in the Chamber's headquarters in the Babcock building. As this meeting is the first of the fall term a large attendance is expected.

BUSY DAY FOR ELECTION BOARD

Must Work From 6 A. M. to 9 P. M. On October 19 Without Rest.

SPECIAL REGISTRATION

In Addition to Recording the Vote On Woman's Suffrage the Election Officers Must Also Register Voters Up to the Closing Hour.

Members of election boards in the State of New Jersey are going to have an awful busy day when the morning of October 19 dawns. In addition to the regular duties attendant upon an election, and the added work that will come from a lively fight over the woman suffrage amendment, they will be called upon to hold a special registration.

Under a strict interpretation of the law they will work from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m., and will not even be allowed the customary one hour for lunch, which the law provides. This is due to conflicting hours of the election and registration.

Election hours, as fixed by the act which authorizes a vote on the suffrage amendment, are from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. This act also provides that the board shall close booths from 1 to 2 p. m. in order that its members may partake of lunch and rest from their trying duties. But there will be no rest on October 19. Just at the time when they are usually closing for lunch it will be necessary to take up the work of registration and while there will be no voting from 1 to 2 p. m., the board must sit at the polls and record the names of those who wish to register. The election polls will be closed at 6 p. m., but the board is required by law to keep registration booths open until 9 p. m., and it is not allowed any time for dinner or evening rest. This will necessitate a delay in the count on the suffrage amendment, and it will be late in the evening or early morning before women of New Jersey know whether or not they are entitled to vote.

According to an opinion of the attorney general's department of the State it will be legal to register and vote on the same day, and as this information is incorporated in an official chronological index of duties relating to the special election to vote upon the proposed amendments to the constitution of New Jersey which has been sent to election boards over the entire State, it is not probable that there will be a dissenting opinion, although the "antis" still claim that such action would be illegal.

City Clerk James T. MacMurray announced today that the sample ballots are ready for delivery to the Boards of Registry and Election and that they will be mailed on or before October 14, the date fixed by the election laws.

The clerk of the board of election of the borough of North Plainfield has sent out copies of sample ballots to each voter in the borough. This is provided by law and must be done in each voting precinct at least five days before the special election.

COLUMBUS DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED WITH DANCE

Plans have been made for a Columbus Day reception in the Columbus Club headquarters on West Front street, Tuesday night, a committee having been appointed to arrange the final details of an appropriate program. This is in accordance with the usual custom and the entertainment this year will be of high order.

Dancing will be the principal attraction of the evening's program, but a number of informal numbers are also being planned. Refreshments will be served.

WILBUR JENNINGS.

Wilbur Jennings, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jennings, of Dunellen, died last night after a brief illness. The funeral will be held from the parental residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Dunellen, will conduct the service. Interment will take place in Hillside cemetery.

WANTS HOUSES NUMBERED.

Growing neglect on the part of house owners in not properly numbering their houses has led Mayor Calkins to suggest to Street Commissioner Andrew Gavett that those persons not having complied with this regulation be notified and compelled to do so. The proper numbers of houses may be obtained at the tax collector's office.

MAYOR CALKINS' SUFFRAGE VIEWS

Plainfield's Chief Executive Will Cast His Ballot in Favor of Women.

CITES MANY REASONS

Believes That It is Not Expedient But That Expediency Should Give Way to Justice in Woman's Fight for the Ballot.

In response to a query submitted to him yesterday, Mayor Leighton Calkins today issued a lengthy statement giving his views on the woman suffrage issue. Aside from asserting that he will cast a ballot in favor of the measure the city executive cites reasons for his belief that women should get their rights, at the same time declaring that the time for it is not expedient at present. He further states that in his opinion the woman suffrage workers should have directed their energies toward bringing about a reform in male suffrage before attempting to obtain universal suffrage.

His statement follows:

"The President's declaration that he will vote for woman suffrage ought not to affect substantially the result in New Jersey because every voter by this time should have decided the question conscientiously for himself; and the President, while he has made public his conclusion, has said little if anything to persuade. I therefore think that the honest intelligent electorate will be unaffected; also, of course, the ignorant voters of opposing parties, leaving only the unintelligent Democrats and those whose motives when they vote are insincere. There will also be some voters in all parties who in these days have a profound respect for the President's patriotism and honesty of purpose, who, hesitating even at this late hour, may be influenced by his stand.

"I say this as one who will himself vote for woman suffrage, though unconvinced that universal suffrage is expedient until we first eliminate all voters who vote but don't know how; but who believes that a practical qualification test, a matter which should be our first and chief concern, is too uncertain and difficult of attainment, to warrant expediency at the cost of justice. And a denial of women suffrage is essentially unjust.

"I am afraid doubling the vote, the ignorant as well as the intelligent and patriotic, will hinder and delay what seems to me to be most expedient. And I am sorry that the women who are working for universal suffrage have been unwilling to exert their influence and devote the same energy for the elimination of the ignorant male suffrage as a preliminary to universal suffrage. They would do better for democracy, I think, if they would tackle the problem without simultaneously doubling it. But it is human, perhaps, to prefer to work on the inside. Whether a majority of the women want to vote or not, is of no importance.

"It is just as much a duty for intelligent and honest women to vote as for intelligent and honest men, and if there are intelligent and honest women who claim the right and the privilege to vote, as a matter of justice, the fact that there are other women who do not want to vote should not prevent; nor should expediency, which must give way to justice."

POSTPONE SALE OF THE TIER PROPERTY

Suits Are Threatened Against Party Over Alleged Failure to Keep Contract.

Elizabeth, Oct. 7.—Postponement of the sale of the $4,000 estate of Mrs. Gertrude Tier, a Plainfield widow, aged 79 years, resulted again yesterday at the sheriff's office when Sheriff Otto served a chancery order on George W. V. Moy, of Plainfield.

The order vacated a previous order secured by Mr. Moy in behalf of Augusta L. Marshall, holder of a $9,000 mortgage, ordering the sheriff to sell the property forthwith or be held in contempt.

Both orders were issued out of the Court of Chancery by Chancellor Edwin Walker. William A. Coddington represented Mrs. Tier, and Mr. Moy the complainant.

The reason for the several postponements as given by Mr. Coddington, is that a contract to purchase the place had not been kept by an unnamed party and that suit against that party is contemplated.

POSTMEN MAY CONVENE HERE

Board of Trade Favors Holding Letter-Carriers' Convention in Plainfield.

INVITATION EXTENDED

Proposition to Open Moving Picture Theatre On Sunday Not Endorsed—Postal Card Vote On Consolidation to Be Taken.

A movement was started last night at the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade to have the annual convention of the State Letter Carriers' Association held in Plainfield next year, or the year following. Efforts will be made to secure the session of 1916, but should these fail nothing will be left undone to bring Uncle Sam's "men of letters" here in 1917.

A committee representing the Plainfield postmen visited the board meeting and asked for the co-operation and support of that civic body in its plans to secure the convention for this city, with the result that it was unanimously voted to extend a formal invitation to the State association to come to Plainfield. The members also went on record as being willing and anxious to co-operate with other civic bodies of the city in giving all material help and support possible to the local postmen in their efforts to secure the convention and in making the event a success.

It is expected that Newark will try to get the convention for next year in connection with the 250th anniversary of that city. The question will be decided at a meeting of the State executive committee of the association Saturday night.

The proposal to ask the Common Council to submit the question of consolidating the city of Plainfield and the borough of North Plainfield was discussed at length, but it was decided to sound the sentiment of the voters of the city on the subject before taking any other steps. A thousand or more return postal cards are to be sent to as many voters asking that they indicate their sentiments for or against the proposal and mail the card to the secretary. In this way it is hoped to measure public sentiment for or against consolidation and decide whether it would be advisable to ask for a submission of the consolidation question to the voters.

A proposal to the effect that the Board of Trade go on record as favoring the opening of moving picture establishments on Sunday afternoons and evenings failed of endorsement. Ways and means of increasing attendance at board meetings and awakening more interest among members in the efforts of the organization for civic betterments were discussed at length, but no formal plans of action was decided on. Personal efforts will be made to have a larger attendance at the next meeting, when a number of important business matters will be presented for consideration.

REGULAR SCHOOL SESSIONS WILL BEGIN ON MONDAY

Final touches are being added to the Harrison Avenue School building and it is expected that the work of equipping it will be completed this week so that the building will be in readiness for regular sessions on Monday.

There was considerable trouble over the plan to enlarge the school facilities of North Plainfield and its construction was attended by many delays and disappointments. It was expected that the building would be completed and ready for occupancy when the school term opened last month, but a number of obstacles were encountered and a change of contractors impeded the work until the patience of the Board of Education was about exhausted. The school work was obstructed and double sessions in the other school buildings were necessary, so that both teachers and pupils welcome the relief from the congested conditions.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

The annual scholarship examination for singing, piano, violin, etc., of the National Conservatory of Music of America, 128 West 79th street, New York city, will be held Saturday morning, October 23, from 10 to 12, and Wednesday night, October 27, from 8 to 9 o'clock. Free scholarships are given to pupils who qualify, provided they have no means of pursuing their study.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Young People's Society, of St. Peter's Lutheran church, will be held in the Sunday-school rooms tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Miss W. Gutenberger will entertain and as several important matters will be decided all members are requested to be present.

DECIDES INDEFINITE SUSPENSION UNJUST

Question of Reimbursing Parents for Son's Tuition to Be Considered Further.

Since March 12, 1912, when the Dunellen Board of Education indefinitely suspended Leslie Vail, son of Mrs. Lydia Vail, of Lincoln avenue, Dunellen, the boy has been attending school in Plainfield. Yesterday in the Lincoln School, before Asistant State Commissioner Enright, William W. Walters, grandfather of the lad, brought action against the Board of Education to make that body reimburse him for transportation and tuition fees in sending the boy to Plainfield.

Mr. Walters was represented by William W. Giddis, of Dunellen, while President A. F. Todd, of the Board of Education, was the chief spokesman for the Board. Other members of the Board who were present were A. J. Hamley, Mahlon R. Dayton and George Cameron.

Mr. Walters' case was based on the contention that the Board of Education had no right to indefinitely suspend young Vail.

The Board of Education in presenting its case, said that on February 28, Leslie had been sent home from school by Superintendent Rentschler, for continuous disobedience and was told to stay there until further notice. On March 12 he was given a hearing before the Board, at which his mother and grandfather were present. Instead of making application for the reinstatement of Leslie with the assurance that he would conduct himself properly the mother and grandfather took the boys' side and the indefinite suspension was the result.

After listening to both sides of the case, Commissioner Enright, said that the indefinite suspension appeared unjust. His decision as to whether or not a complainant should be reimbursed for tuition and transportation money was reserved until a later date.

WEST END CIVIC ASS'N TO CELEBRATE

Third Anniversary Will Be Observed at Washington School.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the third anniversary celebration of the West End Civic Association which will be held in the Washington School tomorrow night. The recreation committee will be present in a body and the possibilities of working out the suggested Community Center plan will be discussed in full. This will come before the business meeting which will preceed the celebration program.

Women friends of members will be welcome at the anniversary event and indications point to a large gathering. A special program of vocal and instrumental music has been arranged for and included in the numbers will be a vocal solo by Mrs. Josepa Edgar, of West Sixth street, and a violin solo by John Endress.

Miss Lou Rogers, the widely known cartoonist, whose work has been featured in Puck and Judge, will be present and give an illustrated talk, using sketchings made as she talks. Mayor Leighton Calkins will be one of the invited guests. Refreshments will be served.

SUFFRAGE WHIST PARTY IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Suffragists from this city, New York, Fanwood, Westfield, Cranford and Bound Brook to the number of 240 gathered at the suffrage bridge party held under the auspices of the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League in the Park Club yesterday afternoon. Bridge and "500" were played by the women and handsome prizes were offered the winners at each table. Suffrage punch and cakes were served throughout the afternoon.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated for the event with suffrage colors, masses of yellow dahlias, marigolds, palms and ferns being used in a charming arrangement. Suffrage banners added to the effectiveness. During the afternoon Mrs. Charles Ward entertained the attendants with several vocal solos, her numbers being rendered in excellent voice. As a result of the card party, a large sum was realized which will be added to the suffrage fund, to be used in campaign work in Plainfield and the State.

INVADERS ENTER SERB TERRITORY

Long Expected Austro-German Drive at Last Under Way.

MANY ATTACKS MADE

Greek King Forms Coalition Cabinet—Germans Claim to Have Pierced Russian Lines, But Admit Success of French—Suffer Heavy Losses.

Berlin, by wireless, Oct. 7.—The great Austro-German invasion of Serbia has been launched. The War Office announced today that the Teutonic forces had crossed the Drina Save and Danube Rivers at many places. The Austro-German forces are thus attacking the Serbs from the north and from the west. The Save and Danube Rivers form the northern boundary of Serbia, while the Drina flows along the western front.

Kaiser Gains Ground.

Today's official report from the German War Office admits that the French have gained ground in Champagne, but declares that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's troops have pierced the positions of the Russian troops at Dvinsk, over a front of three miles.

British Lose Cotton Stores.

British cotton stores at Bombay were recently destroyed by fire with a loss of $10,000,00, according to the Overseas News Agency.

New Greek Cabinet.

Athens, Oct. 7.—A coalition cabinet has been formed with Alexandre Zaimis, governor of the National Bank of Greece, as premier, and a former premier and foreign minister, succeeded E. Ven Zelos. All the members of the new cabinet are former ministers.

Bulgarian Goods Contraband.

The British legation today notified the Greek government that merchandise consigned to Bulgaria will be treated as contraband.

Germans Lose Heavily.

Paris, Oct. 7.—Tremendous losses were sustained by the Germans in efforts to retake from the Fernch the positions captured by them in the Champagne yesterday, says the War Office today. Furious counter assaults were launched by the Germans in an effort to drive back the French forces that captured Tahure, Northeast Souain. All these attacks were repulsed, the Germans leaving many dead and wounded upon the field. The most violent efforts were made by the Germans to dislodge the French from Tahure Ponn, from which point the French guns command Bazancourt Challerange Railway.

Cut Off From Sweden.

Amsterdam, Oct. 7.—Germany has been completely isolated from Norway and Sweden, owing to the presence of British and French submarines in the Baltic Sea. The Swedish government has cancelled all main service between Trelleborg and Saasobitz and between Gedser and Warnemunde.

German General to Bulgaria.

General Sanders, of the German army, who has been in command of the Turkish defense of the Dardanelles, has arrived at Philippopolis to meet King Ferdinand, of Bulgaria.

Austrian Loan Floated.

Zurich, Oct. 7.—The raising of the third Austrian war loan is now in German hands. Six German banks are offering the new issue at 90 per cent. to holders of the first and second loans. The main subscribers are industrial corporations and firms favored with war orders who are forced to reimburse for the same amount as at first to obtain more business. In consequence of the German bank actions Austrian industries are becoming more and more mortgaged to the Germans.

Dutch Steamer Sunk.

London, Oct. 7.—The Dutch steamer Texelstroom, 1,601 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. A despatch to Lloyds says 20 survivors were landed today.

Submarine Sinks British Ship.

The British steamer Arabian, 2,744 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. Twenty survivors have been landed.

KIELY AT MONTCLAIR.

Chief P. S. Kiely, of the local police force, is today attending the monthly meeting of the State Police Chiefs' Association at Montclair.

Harry Swivel, one of the operators at the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, returned yesterday from a week's vacation spent in Pennsylvania.

For Friday and Saturday Sale

We wish to announce that our Cloak and Suit Department for the past three months has been under the supervision of a new buyer. We stand ready at all times to serve you. We invite your careful inspection of our NEW FALL and WINTER stock.

Why spend your time and money, to say nothing of worn out nerves shopping in New York, when the same articles at a lower price can be purchased at FORCE'S. Come in and get acquainted with our NEW BUYER and let him help you make your selections. Should we not have just what you want, he will be only too glad to get it for you on short notice.

For Friday and Saturday Sale

Lasting smartness in a garment is of infinite satisfaction. It depends principally on three things—good taste, careful workmanship and good material; to assure our regular customers that these qualifications are met in every garment we sell is quite unnecessary; even those who do not know us personally know that this is Force's reputation. Our prices are low, as you may easily prove for yourself, and we carry a complete stock, which includes simple as well as elaborate things. Especially charming are our new Fall models; chick enough to captivate any eye and of a lasting smartness.

ONE IMPORTANT SALE of new Fall Smart Dresses for women, misses; Street Dresses ..... 5.00 and 6.98

AFTERNOON FROCKS of Silk or Compose materials; sizes from 14 to 44; colors, black, blue, Russian green, African brown, field mouse; stripes and plaids ..... 7.98 and 10.98

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIMS ARE IMPROVING SLOWLY

Charles Fuchs, of 203 First street, who was in the auto delivery of the Cashin grocery when it was struck by a Philadelphia flier at Lincoln a week ago last Saturday, while able at present to be up and about, has not fully recovered. His back and heart are troubling him and he has lost nearly fifteen pounds. He does not know when he will be able to resume his duties with Contractor S. M. Titus.

Joseph Cashin, of Plainfield, the other victim of the accident, is improving at his home in Plainfield. He is still suffering from the nervous shock he experienced.

MINSTREL END MEN.

Harold Seals, Richard Ritterbusch and George Smith, who are among the pupils from this borough attending Plainfield High School, are candidates for the end men positions of the minstrels to be given by the High School on the evenings of November 12th and 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Seals, of Front street, will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schuyler, of Brooklyn, next week.

SUFFRAGE MEETING.

A street meeting under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage League, of Dunellen and New Market, will be held on North avenue Friday evening. Miss Lou Rogers, a cartoonist on "Life," will give an exhibition of rapid cartoon drawing. The drawings will, of course, be relative to the cause. Speeches will follow.

The Dunellen and New Market Equal Suffrage League will meet with Mrs. A. F. Conant, of Washington avenue, at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

CITIZENS FAVOR PLANS FOR A COUNTRY CLUB

A meeting was held last evening in the Borough Hall to formulate plans for the organization of a country club, having for its purpose the procuring of grounds and the erection of a clubhouse.

The plan was considered and it was the sense of the meeting that Dunellen is greatly in need of a club of this character and that there is little doubt of the borough's ability to finance such a project.

Committees were appointed to secure plans for a building and to obtain the names of all those who would be willing to join the club. A meeting will be called within the next two weeks to consider the reports of these committees and determine the future plan of action.

Among the prominent men in attendance at the meeting were: Mayor E. B. Latham, Councilman H. D. Williams, Democratic Committeeman W. N. Apgar, Borough Engineer Churchill, Edward Maurer, W. S. Frederick, Frank H. Fuller, W. A. Houghtaling, Arthur Cockburn, Charles Fedderman, E. H. Westcott, Fred Fedderman and George Martin.

Charles Stark, of San Francisco, is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Siriski, of Lincoln avenue.

Janet Wood, the granddaughter of Mrs. H. D. Thompson, of Prospect avenue, who has been spending a month here, has returned to her home in Bound Brook.

Miss Kathryn Todd, of Warwick, N. Y., is spending several days in the borough as the guest of her cousin, Miss Laura Todd.

Mrs. S. C. Seals, of Front street, entertained Mrs. John Cooper, of Jersey City, last week.

"HUSKING BEE."

The members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a "husking bee" at Mrs. Grace Gangloff's Saturday night. Miss Lilla Stites is chairman of the committee in charge.

Charles Todd, of Front street, has been placed on the committee in charge of the dance to be given by the junior class of the Plainfield High School in the High School Auditorium a week from Saturday.

CHICKEN SUPPER.

At the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held in the Baraca room of the church yesterday afternoon it was voted to hold a chicken supper on November 28.

TO UNDERGO OPERATION.

Mabel Margentino, the crippled daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Margentino, who was injured last Saturday when the collapsible carriage in which she was sitting was pushed by a little girl companion into a man who was standing on the sidewalk, may have to submit to an operation as a result of the accident. Mabel's crippled limbs were protruding over the edge of the carriage and one of these bore the brunt of the collision. The ligaments of the knee were torn, causing it to swell considerably.

PLAN CHURCH SUPPER.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, at their meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joel Giddes, on Lincoln avenue, decided to hold a chicken dinner in the basement of their church on November 4.

Mrs. Martha Apgar, of Front street, returned yesterday from Califon, where she spent two weeks visiting her sisters.

WILLIAM JENNINGS.

William Lyman Jennings, the nine months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Jennings, died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The child had been in poor health since it was born. The funeral arrangements are not completed.

TENNIS TOURNEY.

Local sportsmen are looking forward with much anticipation to this Saturday afternoon when William W. Giddes meets his brother, Harrison E Giddes, on the Madison avenue courts of the O. Z. T. Fraternity in a tennis match to decide which one shall meet Fred Fedderman in the finals of the elimination tournament of the Fraternity. The match will start at 3 o'clock.

CONDITION IMPROVED.

According to a report received today, Peter Mohan, the 17-year-old boy who is in Flower Hospital, New York, with a fractured skull, passed a good night and his present condition is highly satisfactory.

TRAFFIC POST FOR BOROUGH.

That the agitation for the placing of a traffic post at the intersection of Main street and Lakeview avenue has not been in vain was learned yesterday, when the local correspondent was informed by Joseph Kelly, an unofficial representative of the Board of Freeholders in this section, that such a post has been ordered by the Board.

TO TEST WATER MAINS.

The Township Committee recently purchased two portable gauges for testing water pressure in mains in New Market and South Plainfield and these gauges are now in the possession of the respective fire companies of these places.

Township Committeeman Nelson is making street improvements in his district. The work is being done by Peter Q. Dolliver and Robert Schworer.

Walter S. Craig is obtaining signers to a petition for the repair of New Market road.

Township employes, under Joseph E. Kelly, have completed the 15-inch storm sewer at the junction of Main and William streets.

The quarantine card has been removed from the home of Charles S. Day, whose son, Ernest, was ill with diphtheria.

Joseph Ahearn, of Keansburg, spent the week-end in the village.

Among the visitors at the De Long farm on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. James Wotten, Sr., and James Wotten, Jr., and family, all from Plainfield.

Fred Clark, Le Roy La Rue and Russell Burdick were recent visitors at Trenton.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Next Saturday afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock, there will be held in Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, a sale of cake, pie and bread. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Public Library and will be used partly to purchase new books and magazines.

The first meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Episcopal church since early in the summer was held at the home of the president, Mrs. H. P. Robinson, of North avenue, yesterday afternoon. A report was read by Mrs. Albert Riblet, the secretary, and plans for the winter's activities were discussed. Meetings will be held every Wednesday afternoon from now on and plans will be made shortly concerning the annual winter sale to be held early in December.

Sherman Betts entertained a number of his school friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Betts, of LaGrande avenue, yesterday afternoon on the occasion of his sixth birthday. All kinds of games, including a peanut hunt, furnished enjoyment for the youngsters. Ice cream and cake were served as a close to the affair.

It is now only a matter of a few days before School No. 3 will be completed by the contractor, Charles Dennick, and will be ready for use. Its location in the "Big Woods" section of the township will cause the Board of Education to separate the township and borough into three parts, the children therein attending the school in the district. It will not affect School No. 3 in the Willow Grove section of the township, but about fifty children from School No. 1 in Scotch Plains will be transferred to the new school. That pupils from Westfield who live near the boundary line will be sent to the new school was decided at a recent meeting of the Board of Education of that town. All those residing west of Brightwood avenue will go to the school and their tuition will be paid by Westfield. A number of township children in that section who have gone to Westfield heretofore will no longer be allowed to do so, but will have to attend the new school. The fact that local High School pupils go to Westfield High School is expected to about balance the number from that place who will be sent to School No. 3.

The local Junior O. U. A. M. lodge held its semi-monthly meeting in Excelsior Hall last night. Plans are being made to enter in the parade, which will be a part of the convention in Newark the latter part of the month and Charles Elliot is the local man in charge.

The young people of the 'Plains will hold dances to liven the winter season as a number of the young men have taken the matter in hand. Meyer's Hall, on Park avenue, is to be secured for the affair, which will be held probably every other week.

All of the departments of the Baptist church will gather in the Memorial Parish House tonight to enjoy a Rally Day social. An entertaining program has been arranged and it is intended for everyone to have a good time.

The cash book and ledger that have kept the borough accounts for over a decade, were closed and checked up by the finance committee of the Council last night, and starting with the incoming tax accounts Collector Sheehan will open new books.

Borough Mayor William H. Hoar is confined to his home on Martine avenue by an attack of erysipelas.

South Plainfield.

The North Middlesex Equal Suffrage League will hold an open-air meeting tonight at eight o'clock. Among the speakers will be Mrs. I. C. Talbot Perkins, of New York, and Mrs. William Jennings, of this place.

Mrs. B. Telly and daughter, Grace, of Oswego, N. Y., are spending a few weeks with the former's brother, Hugh McCaffrey.

L. Russo and family, who formerly resided in one of the two new homes erected by John Shean, of Jersey City, last spring, moved into one of P. F. Kaine's four-family apartment houses Monday.

The new home being erected by Carmen Valicinti near his cement block factory which is directly opposite the coaling station is about ready for occupancy.

"Teddy," the collie dog owned by Robert Hamilton, returned home yesterday after an absence of three months.

Stanley Good and family have moved into one side of Kaine's two-family house on Waldron street.

The new powerhouse which is being erected by the Spicer Manufacturing Company near the forge shop is nearing completion. There are a few large motors which are to be installed yet but it is expected that the building will be finished in a very short time and that the new plant will be ready in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lammers and children have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lammers, of Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. William Claney, of New York, are residing with Mr. and Mrs. George Smith. Mr. Clancy is employed as a drop forger for the Spicer Manufacturing Company.

Flemington.

Warren H. Wilson, of New York, will make an address before the Larison's Corner Presbyterian Brotherhood tonight on "The Country Church and Community." A chicken supper will be served at the close of the meeting.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Anna C. Holcombe, daughter of Mrs. Margaret C. Holcombe, and George M. Kuhl, at the bride-to-be's home in Pennsylvania avenue, October 14.

Mrs. Caroline Tomlinson returned to her home here Monday after spending several weeks at Atlantic City and places in Pennsylvania.

The Flemington Baptist Sunday School will observe Rally Day Sunday. More than forty scholars will be promoted.

Rev. Dr. A. W. Sonne, the Misses Mae Hice and Miss Mary Hart and Mrs. Frank B. Mallory are attending the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union convention in the Third Presbyterian church, Elizabeth.

The Willing Workers Bible Class of the Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Reamer tonight.

Frank Reasoner, who, although not a candidate at the primaries, was nominated by Democratic and Republican votes for Common Councilman, has accepted. Samuel Stothoff was nominated by a petition filed Monday. Other candidates are Charles Bird and William McCrea.

High Bridge-Califon.

Mrs. Garret Wack, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Kate Wack, of West street, High Bridge.

Somerville

The testimonial luncheon given by former State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen to Dr. William Schauffler, yesterday afternoon, was a pleasant affair. Dr. Schauffler is the retiring president of the State Board of Education. Edmond Mott Osbourn presented the doctor with a silver loving cup on behalf of the Board. Remarks were made by Dr. Shauffler, State Commissioner of Education Kendall and Mr. Frelinghuysen. About seventy-five officials of the State Board and other departments were present. Many of the guests who arrived during the forenoon indulged in golf. The county and State superintendents played a game of baseball, which afforded much amusement for those present. The county superintendents won the game. An orchestra from New York furnished music. Lunch was served in Mr. Frelinghuysen's home at Raritan.

Mrs. George M. CHILD LABOR LAW IN GA. NOT ENFORCED

Legislature to Meet Again Without Any Definite Action.

According to Dr. A. J. McKelway, of New York, who has just returned from Atlanta, Ga., there will be no adequate enforcement of the Georgia child labor law for at least another year. The Governor has just called the legislature in extraordinary session but there is no mention of the bill to provide a factory inspector among the six subjects for legislative action. At present the Commissioner of Commerce and Labor is charged with the enforcement of the child labor law in addition to the "collection, collation and dissemination of information and statistics concerning labor in its relation to capital; location, capacity and output of mills and factories; quantity of raw material used by them annually; location and horsepower of valuable water powers," etc., etc., for which work he is provided with two office assistants.

The bill providing for an assistant factory inspector to enforce the child labor law was favorably reported by both House and Senate committees at the last session and the Governor was urged by the Department of Labor, the labor unions and other friends of child labor reform to include it in the program for the extraordinary session.

"This is one of the occasions when we realize more strongly than ever that a federal child labor law is the most important goal in the campaign against child labor," said Dr. McKelway, the National Child Labor Committee's secretary for the Southern States. "For years we have fought to improve the child labor law in Georgia and last year we did succeed in raising the age limit from 12 to 14, with the exception for poverty raised from 10 to 12 years. But now the State refuses to provide for the enforcement even of that mild law. If we had a federal law we would not have to wait for the Georgia legislature to take action. The law could be enforced by federal inspectors."

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG MEDICAL MEN

Vacancies in Public Health Service Now Being Filled by Government.

Young medical men between the ages of 23 and 32 will be given an opportunity on November 1, 1915, according to a circular just issued by Surgeon General Rupert Blue, to demonstrate their fitness for admission to the grade of assistant surgeon in the U. S. Public Health Service. There are several vacancies in the government's mobile sanitary corps, which is now in the 118th year of its existence, but in order to be recommended to the president for a commission, a physical and professional examination must first be passed.

As the tenure of office is permanent and the Public Health officers are liable to duty in all parts of the world, they are required to cerify that they believe themselves free from any ailment which would disqualify them for service in any climate. Boards will be convened at Washington, Boston, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, New Orleans and San Francisco, but permission to take the examination must first be obtained from the surgeon general. The examination is searching and includes, in addition to the various branches of medicine, surgery and hygiene, the subjects of the preliminary education, history, literature and the natural sciences. Commissions will be issued as assistant surgeon and, after four years of service, the young officers are entitled to examination for promotion to the grade of passed assistant surgeon, and after twelve years of service to another examination for promotion to the grade of surgeon.

The annual salaries are: Assistant surgeon, $2,000; passed assistant surgeon, $2,400; surgeon, $3,000; senior surgeon, $3,500; assistant surgeon general, $4,000. When the Government does not provide quarters, commutation at the rate of $30, $40 and $50 a month, according to grade, is allowed. All grades receive longevity pay, that is, 10% in addition to the regular salary for every five years until the maximum of 40% is reached. When officials travel on official duties they are reimbursed their actual traveling expenses.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 57 degrees; 11 a. m., 60 degrees; 1 p. m., 60 degrees.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press.

It will be remembered that some months ago the writer took up the issue between the police department and a sect known as the Pillars of Fire, after the latter had suffered physical violence at the hands of a mob of Plainfield citizens aided by parties from Dunellen and possibly other nearby cities.

I now desire to state publicly that the investigation which I carried on disclosed the fact that the major portion of the citizens who actually saw the riots were willing to give information and evidence that reflected severely on the police, but they were not willing either to appear personally or to make affidavit of what they saw. The police board of Plainfield granted me an interview and we went over the matter carefully. As a result of this interview, and at the suggestion of the Mayor, John Doe warrants were sworn out by those persons who were assaulted or threatened with assault. These warrants were never served as the police maintained that they had no information to warrant making arrests. It is further stated that those assaulted could not give sufficient information or descriptions to enable arrests to be made. This, of course, is not unnatural, as the cowardly riffraff that dares operate only in a mob naturally lacks the courage to attack openly and in nine cases out of ten commits the assault from the rear or with stones or other missiles thrown from a distance. It is plain therefore that without the evidence of the citizens who were present and saw the assaults committed, and who could, if they had the courage, furnish names or adequate descriptions of individuals who were active in the mob, the writer is powerless to carry the case further.

I have today written Mayor Calkins advising him that I shall let the matter rest here, unless evidence is produced that will warrant carrying it further, and that inasmuch as I have his pledge that the right of free speech and assemblage guaranteed each citizen under the Constitution will be safe-guarded while he is Mayor of the city, I feel that something has been accomplished.

I beg to express my appreciation of your fair and courteous treatment of my previous communications on this subject and hope that further correspondence may never be necessary, and remain,

PERCY S. BROWN.

October 5, 1915.

NO CHANGE CONTEMPLATED BY NEW MARKET COMPANY

A representative of the Harris-Silver-Baker Structural Steel Company, which is now building a large plant at New Market, is authority for the statement that the concern has no intention of disposing of its property to the Bethlehem Steel Company as rumored. The building will be completed within a month when it will be put in operation. The recent report of a merger of steel industries gave rise to the belief that the New Market plant would be acquired by the big concern.

BONNIE BURN REPORT.

Bonnie Burn Sanatorium had 119 patients on September 1, 81 men and 38 women, according to the report for the month by the superintendent. During the month fourteen patients were admitted, 10 men and 4 women. These were classed as follows: Incipient, none; moderately advanced, 5; far advanced, 9. The smallest number of patients present during the month was 110, a daily average of 112.6.

WILSON'S VIEWS WILL HELP CAUSE

Suffrage Leaders Say Victory is Already Assured in New Jersey.

SEE 25,000 MAJORITY

All Agree in Opinion That Open Advocacy of President Will Carry Much Weight With Voters Trying to Decide How to Vote.

The utmost importance is attached to President Wilson's declaration for suffrage by leaders of the movement in New Jersey, especially the active workers in local organizations.

"It insures the success of our cause in New Jersey," said Mrs. E. F. Feickert, president of the State association, today. "We were already confident of success. Even without the public support of Mr. Wilson, we would have won, but there is no longer any doubt of the result. I predict a majority for woman suffrage of 25,000 when the ballots of Tuesday, October 19, are counted."

Other leaders were equally optimistic over the latest campaign argument, and freely predicted victory. The most original of the interviews came from Mrs. C. L. Riley, first vice president of the Plainfield League.

"The announcement of President Wilson will be a potent factor in determining the result," said Mrs. Riley, "because there are a large number of men in the State who are not yet decided how they are to vote. They have been waiting for a leader. A majority of voters will, of course, decide the question for themselves, but with the whisky men and professional politicians frankly opposing a vote for women in New Jersey and such statesmen as Woodrow Wilson, Secrteary Tumulty and Secretary Garrison lending their support to the cause, there is little choice for the respectable man who is to be influenced by the advice of others. Those who feel that they have not had an opportunity of investigating the possible results of woman suffrage for themselves, will certainly take the opinion of Wilson, Garrison and Tumulty against those of liquor men and politicians. Looks like a big victory for women."

Mrs. A. B. Jones, president of the Plainfield League, saw another influence for the good of suffrage in the open avowal of the President.

"Suffrage can no longer be treated lightly," she declared. "With many men it has been a joke. They have laughed at our efforts to get a vote, mostly because of humorous efforts of paragraphers and column conductors, and have treated our appeal for rights lightly. The chief executive of the United States would not lend his support to a joke on such a vital matter and all men must now look upon the cause as a problem requiring serious consideration. This will mean much to us, because no man who soberly weighs our arguments against those of the antis can deny us the right to participate in affairs in which we are so vitally concerned."

Mrs. George LaMonte, chairman of the Somerset County League, is of the opinion that the opinion of President Wilson will go far toward offsetting the opinion of "men like Senator Martine."

"Coming as it does, after mature deliberaiton," she explained, "it carries great weight with the people. The indications are that suffrage has made great strides in Somerset county in the past two weeks, and President Wilson has helped greatly by his statement."

Mrs. C. E. Ryder, third vice president of the Plainfield League, says that the statement of Wilson will be followed by a general scramble for places on the band wagon by politicians in New Jersey. "It will have a good effect," she said. "Many will be influenced by the President's opinion, and soon you will see many coming over to aid us in the fight."

There are many New Jersey voters who will take the advice of the President on suffrage, in the opinion of Mrs. C. C. Wheeler, president of the Watchung Avenue League. "We expected the announcement of yesterday, because we felt that President Wilson could not do otherwise than favor suffrage. It will help us greatly because those who have been taking his advice about war and other State matters will follow his lead on the suffrage question."

Miss Nelson and Miss Durar, the two fair young canvassers for the cause, were very happy over the President's open advocacy of their cause. These two young ladies are the outside workers of the local league and they are the ones who come in closest contact with the men folks. Both believe that their work will be made easier now that they can use the position of the President as an argument for the cause.

Yesterday they were at the depot for a greater part of the morning interviewing commuters as as they left for New York. Miss Scriver and Miss Woolston augmented the ranks of the pleaders and the four young women found 17 who were opposed, 10 who were neutral and 25 who were in favor of suffrage. Some of the men, man like, put them off with evasive answers.

One declared that he was heartily in favor of giving women the right to vote and that he hoped they would use it to take the right of suffrage away from man. Another said that he was neutral, but that he would vote for or against it, according to the cause for which the first pretty girl that approached him was working. Miss Durar nailed him on the spot.

Miss Nelson innocently approached one man who declared he was radically opposed, although he gave this information in a most polite manner. She later learned that he was the husband of a woman active in the cause of the antis.

"We are called lots of things," said one of the young women yesterday, "and get used to it, but we heard of a new one yesterday. One of the canvassers called at the house of a social leader to ask her views on suffrage. The woman was out and the maid was told to inform her that a representative from suffrage headquarters had called. To the surprise of the matron she was informed on her return of a visit from a young woman from 'sewerage headquarters.' It isn't a very nice simile but we propose to do away with all the filth and dirt and uncleanliness of politics when we get the right to vote, so the maid wasn't so far off at that, politically speaking."

George M. LaMonte, chairman of the men's campaign committee for suffrage in New Jersey, who will be the principal speaker at the open-air meeting here Saturday evening, yesterday gave out a statement. He said that in his opinion the thing which had most influenced Mr. Wilson was the delegation of working women who interviewed him at Washington some twelve months ago.

"These women stated the case for the working woman, and one of the delegates, I remember," said Commissioner LaMonte, "implored the President not to speak FOR his party but to speak TO his party. I believe that Mr. Wilson became convinced that working women desired the vote, and once convinced of that, quietly made up his mind that his duty as a citizen was to support their demand."

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, was caught en route from Reading, Pa., to Harrisburg, and told of the "great news." She was considerably moved and expressed her deep gratification.

"Nothing can stop us from carrying New Jersey now," she said. "Things are coming our way. With Mr. Wilson's cabinet in such hearty agreement with him on the subject, it certainly suggests that the suffragists are garnering most of the men in active political life, leaving to the antis an ex-president, an ex-attorney-general, an ex-secretary of war and an ex-secretary of state. This may be merely a coincidence, or it may be the inexorable march of events. We suffragists believe that it is the latter."

The following telegram, signed by Mrs. Everett Colby, has been sent to President Wilson by the Co-operative Committee of the Suffrage Organizations of New Jersey:

"The Co-operative Committee representing all the suffrage organizations of New Jersey congratulates and thanks you for your magnificent statement in favor of the New Jersey suffrage amendment.

"This is the most important aid given the cause of political equality since Lincoln took his stand in 1836, and your name will be linked with that of Lincoln in the suffrage calendar."

FANWOOD IMPROVES LIGHT CONDITIONS

200 Candle Power Arc Lamp to Be Located at Martine and North Avenues.

Fanwood is to have a 200 candle power arc light at the junction of Martine and North avenues which will replace two lights of ordinary candle power now located some distance from the junction of the two thoroughfares. Action was taken on the matter at a meeting of the Fanwood Council last night, the members believing that the change will lessen the danger of accidents. The estimated cost of the improvement is $55 per annum. It was also decided to install two lights at the end of Martine avenue, near the boundary line of King street. This will complete the circuit throughout the borough.

It was reported that the street committee accomplished considerable work during the past month, including the macadamizing of five hundred feet of Farley avenue. The borough bore half the expense with the township for the repair of King street which is the boundary line between the two places. The roadway at Tilliston road and Midway avenue and Forest road was resurfaced and the gutters throughout the borough received a good cleaning.

The police alarm box at Martine and North avenues has been installed and will be in use in another week. Upon the advice of the telephone company it will not be listed in the 'phone directory, but anyone needing the services of the marshal at night need only ask "central" for the police connection. The police committee was authorized to purchase a new uniform for the borough marshal. Cash on hand amounting to $1,472.96 was reported and bills aggregating $711.13 were audited and ordered paid.

SEVERAL REALTY CHANGES REPORTED AT WARRENVILLE

Several realty changes have been reported in Warrenville during the past week. Arthur Hoffheimer, a wealthy New York man, who has been living there for some time, having purchased the farms of Howard Toms, Rev. George Hauser and John Bowers. It is believed that Mr. Hoffheimer intends to develop the property. John Bowers has also purchased the Henry Williams farm at Warrenville.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Henry Kolker, a dramatic actor of wide fame, will make his first appearance in photo-drama in Plainfield this afternoon and tonight in the drama, "The Bigger Man." The subject indicates the fluctuations of thought and feeling in the mind and heart of a romantic, wilful girl. Mr. Kolker's performance is art of the highest quality. He is one of the recent acquisitions of the screen. In addition today, a program of selected features also will be shown and there will be special music.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

That the latest innovation at Proctor's Theatre in the form of the first of a possible series of "Bazaar Nights" after a summer of complete surprises in this direction, proved to be a big success beyond the expectations of either management or the public.

The new bill, to be seen at the Proctor house for the next three days, will be complete and up-to-the-minute in every detail. The headliner for the new program comes in the form of a musical comedy of unusual merit. "The Dream Pirates," as it is called, is headed by Flo Bert, ably supported by a company of nine juvenile stars. This production is said to be a topliner, and must be seen to be appreciated. The special scenic and electrical effects add to the occasion.

The above act is referred to as the headliner, but the other five acts are well up on the ladder of fame in the vaudeville world. Rucker and Winfred, the ebony-hued entertainers; Demerest and Collette, the comedy instrumentalists, are among the numbers for the last half of the present week. Then there is Olga Cook, the Mary Garden of vaudeville, and the Suanish Holdings, together with May Duryea and Company in a sketch entitled, "A Work of Kindness," complete the program of vaudeville.

Feature photo-plays are still playing a prominent part in the shows at Proctor's Theatre, and are commended by all those who witness them upon the screen.

ADOPTS LOANS ON HONESTY.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 7.—A public hearing is under way today at the State House to consider the first application under the new Morris Plan law for the establishment of a loan and investment company that will have the power to loan money to persons who have no other security than good reputations. The petition comes before the Board of Bank Incorporation today, and it declares that the public convenience and advantage will be promoted by the establishment of such a company.

LITERARY CLUB FOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Principal Lindsey Best Makes Announcement of Proposed Organization.

Mr. Best announced to the senior class this morning that two literary clubs, composed of seniors and as many juniors as wish to join, will be formed, meetings being held every other Monday afternoon in the auditorium. The two clubs, which will probably be known as the Alpha and Omega Literary Societies, will carry on debates, exclamation and oration contests. Although public speaking has been required of seniors for some time past, the need of such clubs as these has been felt exceedingly.

Already challenges have been received from out-of-town scholastic clubs and it is the plan of Harold F. Biddle, the local instructor, to pick his debating team from the best material in each of the clubs. The plan has been tried and has proved itself very valuable in Trenton and should produce excellent results here.

In years past P. H. S. has been well represented in the oratory field. Only last year Randolph Stelle captured the Union county oration prize.

UNDERGOES OPERATION IN NEW YORK HOSPITAL

J. Hervey Doane, of East Seventh street, who recently returned from a vacation trip to Nova Scotia and points in Canada, is now in a New York hospital, where he went for an operation previous to returning to Plainfield. He was operated upon last night and word received this morning was to the effect that he was doing well.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

The annual business meeting of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church was held in the sewing room of the church yesterday afternoon. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. William C. Hubbard; vice president, Mrs. Sarah L. Wardner; treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Dunham; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edwin Shaw. With the exception of Mrs. Titsworth, all the above mentioned were re-elected from last year. A business session followed the election.

The meeting adjourned until Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the nominating committee will submit their report to the society.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The price of the tickets for the A. A. play have been changed this year. Heretofore the reserved seats were sold at seventy-five cents and the general admission fifty cents, while for the coming performance the reserved section will cost fifty cents while the general admission will be reduced to thrity-five cents.

All pupils who have any appropriate articles for a rummage sale which the Parent Teacher Association will hold next week are urged to inform Mrs. W. O. Taylor, 25 Fairview avenue, immediately. The proceeds of this sale will go to the Recreation Hall fund, so it will be to the advantage of the pupils to do all they can.

The entire cast of the A. A. play is composed of members of the senior class, all the members having taken part in the play produced by the present senior class last year or the A. A. play.

Mr. Earley, together with a few members of the play committee, visited the Harrison Avenue School yesterday afternoon to see if it would be possible to hold the play there this year. It was the conclusion of those present that the disadvantages were too difficult to overcome. Scenery, chairs and a curtain would have to be procured for the evening, while the dimensions of the stage were not in the right proportion for the setting. The Park Club will once more have to be hired and negotiations will be started with those at the head of this club immediately.

Miss Stafford, who was recently hired by the Board of Education, assumed her duties this morning.

William Seidel, the newly-elected baseball manager, has already made an early start on his schedule and has to date arranged for ten contests.

A number of the pupils of the High School have arranged for a marshmallow toast tomorrow evening on the Watchung mountains.

—It there's a new owner in charge of the little store down the street, the chances are that a "Business Opportunity" advertisement has been "at work."

ITALIAN FATALLY SLASHES THROAT

Went Into Watchung Avenue Garage and Committed Rash Act.

MENTALLY DERANGED

Had Been Wandering About North Plainfield All Morning and Searchers Were Looking For Him When News of Death Was Made Public.

After wandering about the borough in a mentally unbalanced state during the morning, Dante Cenduzzi, an Italian, committed suicide in a garage at 51 Watchung avenue at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The man entered the place unnoticed and attracted no special attention until he pulled a razor from the inside pocket of his coat and slashed at his throat. He severed the jugular vein and bled to death before medical assistance arrived.

The borough police could give little of a definite nature concerning the man when interviewed a short time after the act was committed. He had been boarding for the past three years on Somerset street and was of a quiet, unassuming disposition.

Joseph Church, a Somerset street grocer, who knew the man intimately, stated that it was noticed this morning that he appeared to be depondent and that he refused to eat breakfast. He left his boarding place soon after 9 o'clock and when he did not return at noon the other boarders became alarmed. They instituted a search and were looking for him when the news of his suicide was made public.

RECREATION NOTES

The Dramatic Club will meet at the Washington School tomorrow evening.

The Dunbar dance will be held in the auditorium of the Washington School tomorrow night.

The Recreation Committee has been invited to meet with the West End Civic Association tomorrow night in the Washington School.

The Choral Society is to begin rehearsals next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Franklin School auditorium.

The Guild of Play meets at Stillman School tomorrow afternoon.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The election of G. A. A. directors will take place tomorrow. Nominations will be received at assembly exercises in the morning.

The first meeting of the Commercial Club will be held in the auditorium tomorrow afternoon. A social time, with dancing, will follow the regular meeting.

The newly formed Alpha and Omega Literary Clubs will hold their first meetings Monday, when a constitution will be adopted and officers elected.

Football practice, including signal drill and scrimmage, was held at Parker Field, this afternoon.

Samuel Carter, representing the Princeton Club, will present the Princeton Cup to Rodman Parvin at assembly exercises one week from tomorrow. Eustace Eggie will receive the runner-up cup at the same time.

The freshmen class held its first ballot in the election of officers this morning. It is not unlikely that one or more ballots may have to be taken before the candidates will receive the number of votes necessary for election.

Minstrel practice will be held regularly beginning next week. Those who will coach the cast this year are Professors George W. Wriston, Harold Tyree and Harold F. Biddle.

The sophomore class elected the following officers this morning: President, Monroe O'Donnell; vice president, Mary Simons; secretary, Wallace Zimmerman, and treasurer, John Causbrook.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Atwood, formerly of this city, but now of Wellfleet, Mass., are the guests of Captain and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue.

Mrs. F. O. Dunning and daughter, Betty, of Mountain avenue, the borough, are enjoying an extended visit with P. M. Dunning, of Norwood, Mass.

LOYAL LEGION BANQUET.

Captain S. C. Peck, Dr. Frank S. Wells and W. C. Dobbins, Plainfield members, attended the quarterly meeting and banquet of the New York Commandery of the Military Order, Loyal Legion, in New York, last night. The fiftieth anniversary of the commandery will be celebrated on January 17, when the commandery in chief will be present.

FINED $10 BY COURT.

Herman and Samuel Rosenthal, of Newark, were arrested here yesterday afternoon, charged with soliciting junk without a license. In court this morning City Judge DeMeza fined them $10 with the option of spending forty days in jail. Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen, special agent for the S. P. C. A., stopped the men as they were leaving the courtroom and told them not to have their wagon with the present load on it, inasmuch as it was too heavy for one horse to draw. The men were forced to "split" the load before continuing to Newark.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Adv.

THE KELLY CASE.

"When I get my money I will get away from mother so fast you wouldn't know it. I hope I never see her again."

Such is the degree of love that Eugenia Kelly holds for her only parent. Miss Kelly is twenty. A few months ago she was arrested as an incorrigible on a warrant sworn out by her mother, who is seeking to prevent her daughter from marrying Al Davis, whom the mother calls a "tango pirate."

We know nothing of the character of Mr. Davis or of his designs on Miss Kelly. The girl is evidently old enough to know her own mind, and she publicly announces her determination to marry him as soon as his present wife secures a divorce, for which she has asked in the courts. Mrs. Kelly's relationship to her daughter is so unusual, so unnatural, as to cause a moment's reflection of an idle mind.

Mrs. Kelly blames it all on Broadway and from the child comes the information that it was the mother who introduced her to Broadway—when she was seventeen years of age. She says Mrs. Kelly took her to cabarets, insisted on her dancing, and made her stay up until daylight.

Broadway is wicked, but it does not burn all who pass through its flames. Those who seek, find. Perhaps the Kelly girl was lonely for love, for someone who would care for her, and if she could not find it elsewhere, why not Davis? Most anything can be found in the sunshine and shadows of Broadway. Mrs. Kelly sought entertainment and she found it. Her daughter sought what she could not find at home. Shall her mother blame Broadway if she, too, was rewarded in her quest?

GET TOGETHER.

Aside from the advantages of organization, get-together dinners for business men of Plainfield are of untold value to the individual merchants. A gathering such as that at the Kensington Hotel, Tuesday evening, brings good to every man present. You cannot associate with any man on a common level without learning from him, and when this association is warmed by a good dinner, a cigar and a spirit of good fellowship you learn and like him better, all of which is a potent factor in community building. These informal dinners should be held as often as possible.

MEDICAL LICENSURE.

The responsibility for the licensing of medical practitioners has been left by the national government to the individual States; it is left to the State to establish the only legal barrier possible between the public and the thousands who seek authority to treat human diseases. Some States have provided an efficient guaranty that practitioners given the State's endorsement have secured the essential educational qualifications. In some States, however, the responsibility has been taken up in such a happy-go-lucky manner, and the legislation provided is so contrary to effective legal procedure, that the situation would be laughable, were it not for the serious menace to the public. In some States, laws have been passed, admirable in their composition and excellent in their purpose, only to be invalidated by clauses or by other laws exempting the very persons to whom the law should apply. Invariably, the exemptions are of those unable to comply with the educational requirements of the practice act and against whom the people most need protection—those who have had little or no medical training. The making of such exemptions, either by special clauses in the practice act or by laws providing special boards and lower educational standards, is clearly perverting medical licensure, so that instead of protecting the public against the incompetent, it is providing special privileges for the incompetent, untrained men and women parading as apostles of some 'new and marvelous' form of healing. "Legislators have yet to learn," says The Journal of the American Medical Association, "that the art of healing is not gained by birth or by inspiration, but by a rigid and prolonged course of training in the fundamentals of medicine. The only way to make medical licensure a real protection of the public is to provide one licensing board in each State with ample power to apply one educational standard alike to all practitioners of the healing art."

ARE YOU A MEMBER?

Results of the campaign for members for the new Plainfield Business Men's Association are encouraging. There is no reason on earth why the committee should not be able to report one hundred signatures at the next meeting. All that is necessary is a full understanding of what the organization is for. Just as soon as a retail or wholesale merchant is made to realize that the association is working for the advancement of his interests he will be convinced that he should become a member for selfish reasons, even though he does not possess one bit of civic pride—and there are few, if any, of that class in Plainfield. The dream of every merchant in this city is a bigger, better Plainfield that will fill his store with customers at every hour of the day. That is what he is hoping and working for. Why not join the army of trained men who are also working to this end, if you are not already a member? Give them the benefit of your experience and learn from them. All will prosper.

PIKERS ALL.

Von Hindenberg, Joffre, Kitchener and even the Kaiser would be able to realize just what they amount to in the estimation of the American public if they could be here when Alexander the great begins his assault on the trenches defended by Carrigan's bean-shooters.

The Road Puzzle

As you and I go hiking 'round in various kinds of cars,
We see and hear a lot of things that draw our close attention.
But nothing else we ever see our pleasant way so mars
As that one thing I'm now about to come right out and mention.
And that is why the Ford car folks, when you're inclined to pass
them,
Turn their wee cars in front of yours and wildly spark - and - gas
them?

The car you drive has two full score of horses 'neath her hood.
You do your thirty miles with ease and never turn a hair.
The Ford ahead is doing all a Little Fordie should—
A comfortable eighteen miles—when you emit a blare
Suggesting "Will you turn aside and let my car go on?"
Then that proud Ford man grows displeased with the rate at which he's gone.

He opens up the throttle wide, he heels the cut-out thing,
He gives her all the spark he has,
and lets her fairly fly.
Then to the left invariably he makes his wagon swing—
The Ford man simply can't endure to let a big car by!
He thinks when he does twenty-five at risk of life and limb
There's none so brash as e'er to wish to go a-passing him!

And so we find them everywhere
from Maine to expositions—
The Ford folks hate to let us pass and be upon our way.
They feel so speedy when they spurt
'neath fav'rable conditions,
That none should wish to pass them by—that's what their actions say.
Now when we see a Ford ahead we do not honk, because They always speed and swerve to left, despite the roadway laws!

Grand Juries

There are several varieties of grand jury, including the Georgia variety.

A grand jury (outside of the Georgia kind) is formed for the purpose of finding out who has probably violated a law, and getting ready to convict that person of said legal violation.

We used to know a young man who visited hitherto-unknown relatives and left no forwarding address, whenever there were symptoms of a grand jury.

If there were no indictments that caused him any uneasiness, he would return suddenly, and we never knew where he had been.

Things that transpire in a grand jury room are confidential, and nobody ever knows about them till they are told by some member of the grand jury or by one of the attorneys or witnesses or a bailiff.

Sometimes there is a mad race among all these parties as to who shall be first to spread the glad and confidential tidings of the secrets of the inner temple of justice.

A grand jury can fail very successfully to find out any specific thing it doesn't want to find out.

This is its specialty.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Tea and Coffee And Health

GOOD things for adults are very often bad things for children and immature persons. For example, matrimony.

Tea and coffee are mild stimulants, as universally taken in the form of a beverage. As a general thing they are good for adults, and without exception they are bad for children under twelve.

Coffee depends upon an alkaloid, caffeine, and tea depends upon a similar alkaloid, theine, for its stimulating, cheering influence. These alkaloids slightly raise blood pressure, increase the force of the heart beat and improve the tone or volume of the pulse. Unlike drugs ordinarily employed for the purpose, they seem to possess no after effects of depression.

Both tea and coffee tend to make a nervous person more nervous when used in excess. We are quite sure a cup of tea or coffee does not make anybody nervous. It is the abuse of these grateful stimulants that makes trouble for the nervous, the sleepless, the excitable person.

Both tea and coffee contain a certain amount of tannin which tends to favor constipation if the tea or coffee is improperly prepared. Boiling either of these drugs not only ruins the flavor, but makes it unfit to drink. They should be made by pouring freshly boiled water upon the leaves or berries and serving the beverage soon afterward.

Any one with exophthalmic goitre should carefully avoid tea and coffee. Any one with high blood pressure should avoid them. Any one with palpitation or overactive heart should not drink tea or coffee without permission from the physician. Neither beverage should be taken late in the evening, for insomnia is likely to follow. Neither should be taken during a meal, but only after the meal, before the meal if you like in one drink or at least not as a vehicle to wash down food with.

There is a lot of commercial buncombe about the alleged injurious effects of coffee. Some of it is very impressive, too, if you are of a neurotic temperament. But after years of investigation we must confess that we have never observed a case of stomach trouble, dyspepsia, or any other abnormal condition which could be attributed to the proper use of tea or coffee as a beverage by adults.

Soup is a stimulant. So is cold water. Tea and coffee come pretty near to being Nature's beneficent contribution to the welfare of the high-pressured, so to speak, human race. We civilized folks need these gentle stimulants with our daily bread.

The Dentist Ought To Know

I wish to thank you cordially for your letter of advice regarding the new and effective treatment for pyorrhoea. My dentist asserts that the injection should be made in the arm or the back. In order to be perfectly sure, I venture to ask you to set me right.

Answer—The dentist is right—he ought to know.

Bad Advice For A Nursing Mother

I. B. M. asks what we think of the advice that a nursing mother should drink ale and beer.

Answer—We think that is the one time when a mother should not listen to the gratuitous advice of her friends. Alcoholic beverages, contrary to the old idea, reduce a mother's capacity to nurse her baby. Ale and beer may intoxicate, but they cannot feed or supply nourishing elements, like milk or candy does.

AMERICAN COLLEGES—WILLIAMS

WILLIAMS belongs to the old-family class of American colleges. It was founded in 1793 at Williamstown, Mass., and only twenty schools in the country are older.

Some of the twenty have grown into enormous institutions with vast bins full of money and enough alumni to fill a Roman coliseum. But Williams has always remained small and satisfied. It does not boot the eager young freshman away from its doors, but whenever it gets 500 students it raises the entrance requirements a little and keeps down its population. It costs $175 per year in tuition and fees to attend Williams, which also helps in discouraging the swarms to some extent.

Williams is now a rich college with fine buildings and can afford to provide a preceptor for each six or eight students. Its students live in magnificent Greek letter chapter houses costing from $30,000 to $75,000 apiece and many a poor student from a decayed New England farm learns to handle a porte cochère or pergola with skill and grace during his course. Williams has more chapter house property than any school in the country except Cornell.

Early in the last century, Williams was a very poor and struggling college and had a president named Mark Hopkins and a student named James A. Garfield. Garfield made Williams famous by becoming President of the United States and he made Mark Hopkins famous by declaring that a log with Hopkins at one end and a student at the other was a good enough college for him. Later on, he raised a son, who is now president of Williams. There have been many loyal college alumni, but few so useful to their college as Garfield was.

Williams has an endowment of $2,000,000 and about 6,000 alumni, who are said to be more prosperous, man for man, than any other set of alumni in the country. There was a time when Williams, Dartmouth and Amherst fought together happily each year, but Dartmouth has grown so big now that it is only happy when it is fighting Harvard. Thus the chief end of Williams is to beat Amherst at football, baseball, track, chess and debate.

A log with Mark Hopkins at one end and a student at the other was a good enough college for him

Williams is very useful to the cause of education in this country, because it is one of the few institutions in America which has no desire to get any larger. Captains of industry who are not content with a prosperous factory until they have doubled its size and quadrupled its debt should be required to take a short course in small-scale perfection at this college.

Views Of The Press

Psychology In Business

FOR months the United States has held more gold than any nation ever held before. In round numbers the value of this gold is $2,000,000,000, a sum twice as great as any other single nation holds.

A short while ago a shipment of gold amounting to about $20,000,000 was received in New York from London. As one newspaper paragrapher said at the time, it left the other side quietly enough, but its arrival in the American metropolis resembled a circus coming to town.

Yesterday a Philadelphia newspaper that pays a great deal of attention to business condition printed a dispatch from Chicago under this head: "West Sees Business Boom to Follow Gold Influx."

No one but an expert mathematician with considerable imagination can understand the difference between twenty millions and two billions. The one is veritably a drop in the bucket as compared with the other. Nevertheless it is altogether probable that the arrival of this comparatively small sum of British gold will have the precise effect upon business conditions that the quoted headline indicated.

Yet many American newspapers that fancy themselves as founts of wisdom undefiled thought it was a huge joke when President Wilson last winter said that the business depression, which was then felt, was largely psychological. The truth is that just such subtle influences as produced that depression, and are now causing business buoyancy, are more potent in determining business conditions than is cold logic. Your typical business man likes to fancy himself as "hard headed," but all of them feel, and only here and there is there one who actually thinks in a large way.—Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot.

He Went To The 'Frisco Fair

Q. Some time ago I employed a servant. After being with me for a time, he left, without my consent, and remained away. Since then I have not heard anything about him. Wouldn't I have the right to consider the employment ended and decline to take him back if he should return to me?

A. Where neither party is at fault, and the servant absents himself for an unreasonable length of time, the employment may be regarded as terminated.

Get The Gun!—It's An Agent!

Q. A book agent called at my house and I subscribed for a set of books. After they arrived, I found I did not want them. Can I be compelled to pay for them?

A. If your reason for not wanting them is merely whimsical or capricious, you cannot avoid your contract.

The Law, And Picture Houses

Q. Can a state pass a law relating to and governing the operation of moving-picture houses?

A. Yes. A law of this character will be valid if constitutional in other respects.

Look Before You Leap

Q. If a man signs a contract without reading it, is he bound by it?

A. Yes, if he was able to read and there was no fraud, deception or misrepresentation.

A Debt With A Beard

Q. May a book account be collected after it has been allowed to stand a long time?

A. It cannot be collected if it is so old as to be barred by the Statute of Limitations.

Playing 'Possum?

Q. If one doesn't understand a paper he has signed, what will be the legal effect?

A. The fact that one has an inferior intellect will not be sufficient in itself to enable him to avoid his contracts. If it can be shown that he comprehended the meaning, design and effect of his act, he will be bound. If, however, he has no understanding, in a reasonable way, of the subject-matter, and especially if he has been induced, by means of artifices or undue influence, to enter into the contract, he cannot be held liable.

The Loan Shark

Q. Haven't laws been passed, in some states, directed against the operations of loan sharks? A. Yes.

Who Pays?

Q. Where an attorney is employed by a collection agency, does the creditor have to pay him?

A. Ordinarily, no. The case would be different, of course, if the creditor should have an independent agreement with the attorney or if he should expressly agree to pay the attorney.

A Lease Disregarded

Q. A lease contained a provision stipulating that the premises were to be used strictly as a private dwelling and not for any public purpose. The tenant subsequently conducted a boarding-house on the premises. Would this amount to a violation of the lease? A. Yes.

The New

We are all more or less slaves to The Old. We shy at The New. And yet The Old at one time was The New. The most marvelous and interesting period of anything, be it a Thought, a Plan, or a Human Being, is at Birth. For at that time it is The New. And all attention and all eyes centre there and then.

Get acquainted with New Ideas, New Viewpoints, New Angles of Vision—New People.

You may be dealing with the same things day after day. But seek each day to look at them from New Viewpoints. Get back of them and discover New Angles. They contain elements that you never suspected. They contain possibilities of which you never dreamed. Train your mind to discover. Even the people with whom you come in contact hourly may hold within them wells of priceless inspiration that you have never tapped.

In New Things real Worth asserts itself, and finds its level.

Your personal growth and high standing in the business of this life depends upon the willingness and open mindedness with which you take to New Things. Therefore, be ready to move alongside and under cover of Progress by grasping eagerly at The New in whatever shape it is handed to you. If you feel yourself held in the monotony of your work as though in the grip of a vise, get loose. Hunt out The New—renew your Strength in its pursuit.

For New Jobs, like "New Occasions," as Lowell once wrote, "teach new Duties, and Time makes Ancient Good uncouth."

Be not afraid of The New.

But now that heart has tender

PLAYS IN OUTFIELD FOR THE PHILLIES

Beals Becker.

Beals Becker, New York and Cincinnati cast-off, is going to get a slice of the world's series coin this year. McGraw said Beals couldn't think fast enough for a big league club. But he has made a good record in the outfield for the Phils and hopes to cover himself all over with glory in the big series.

TRENTON RACES OFF.

Trenton, Oct. 7.—There will be no automobile racing at the Interstate Fair grounds here this year, the postponed event having been called off finally yesterday. The races were originally to have been held on Friday of last week, the closing day of the annual exhibition. Rain interfered and the event was put off until the next day. It still stormed and Saturday of this week was chosen. Then the Sheepshead Bay races were postponed until the same date and yesterday was agreed upon. Tuesday night's rain made the track dangerous and it was decided to abandon the program.

ARCHITECTS IN CONVENTION.

San Francisco, Oct. 7.—The special trainload of eminent architects from the east who made their long pilgrimage to the exposition, arrived here yesterday, and today a special meeting was opened of the American Institute of Architects. Among the delegates are Whitney Warren, supervising architect for government buildings; Cass Gilbert, who designed the Woolworth Building, the world's highest skyscraper, and others of equal distinction.

PLAINFIELD DOG BEST IN POMERANIAN DIVISION

Danbury Conn., Oct. 7.—The dog show held at the Danbury Fair yesterday brought out a large number of breeds and attracted many well-known exhibitors. In the class for German sheep dogs Houston Wyeth, of St. Joseph, Mo., besides winning two firsts with Daisy Von Mohlen, won the trophy offered by the German Shepherd Dog Club of America for the largest number of points won.

Mrs. Philip Hone, of Plainfield, N. J., with Kleiner Fritzi, took first in the limit class for Pomeranians.

RED SOX FAVORED BY 10 TO 7 MARGIN IN SERIES

Boston, Oct. 7.—Encouraged by the showing of the Red Sox twirlers in the games with New York yesterday, the gambling element in this city last night again offered odds on a Boston success in the World's Series. Ten to eight were the figures most frequently mentioned about town, with a fair demand for the short end by Philadelphia supporters. Odds of 10 to 7, offered a week ago had disappeared Tuesday, when even money was the general proposition, but yesterday's games in New York apparently did much to restore confidence in the Red Sox.

The first of the notices of reservations of grandstand seats were placed in the mails late last night. President Lannin and Secretary Riley, laboring with the great pile of tickets and notices, said that every notice would be sent out by this morning. TWELVE P. E. G. S. REPORT FOR BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Twelve members of the P. E. G. S. reported for basketball in the Plainfield High School gymnasium last night, and a hard practice game was held. The young women playing were the Misses Helen Hummel, Clara Smith, Mildred McAuliffe, Lucy Johnson, Bessie Morris, Vera Flynn, Mary Flynn, Christine Vesagardt, Theresa McCullough, Helen Brookes, Ellen Doughty and Thelma Cooke. A captain of the squad will be elected next Wednesday night and members assigned to their respective positions. Miss Clara Smith, manager of the quintet, has already booked several games with out-of-town aggregations and promises some interesting games for the local girls.

Double-headers will be played just as soon as the season opens, the team of the Boys' Recreation Club, under the leadership of Jack Ricketts, former Y. M. C. A. player, staging a game on Wednesday nights also. A dance will follow the exhibitions.

A business meeting followed the court practice, and a number of selections were made for the play the club will present during December. The complete cast will be announced next week.

CHANGES IN DATES FOR P. H. S. FOOTBALL ELEVEN

According to word received by Coach Ralph Patch yesterday, the Passaic football team will come to this city for its scheduled tilt Saturday. It has also been announced that the Somerville game will be played here Columbus Day. It was originally intended to have this encounter take place in Somerville, but the plan of having as many home games as possible was responsible for the change.

Two full elevens rushed at each other on Parker Field yesterday afternoon, both being under the supervision of Coach Patch. "Prof." Harold Tyree, who refereed the Easton-P. H. S. match of last Saturday, assisted with the lines and gave the boys some valuable tips.

No definite changes were made in the lineup yesterday, and it is very likely that the team will enter the fray this Saturday just as it did last week.

The second team will play Westfield H. S. second team at Parker Field next Thursday.

PASSAIC AT PARKER FIELD.

Owing to the inability of the Passaic High School eleven to secure a suitable gridiron for Saturday's match with the Plainfield High School team, the managers have agreed to stage the contest on Parker Field, this city.

SOCIALISTS' CHARGES DIDN'T HOLD WATER

So Police Court Judge Dismisses Complaint Against Co. Chairman Russell.

Elizabeth, Oct. 7.—With the complaint improperly drawn, the justice of the peace who started the proceedings having exceeded his powers, and upon a number of other grounds, the Socialists' action against Lucius T. Russell, editor of the Elizabeth Evening Times, and chairman of the Union County Democratic Committee, was thrown out of court yesterday morning by Police Judge Owen P. Mahon. John C. Keyes, representing the Socialists of Elizabeth, charged Russell with having incited to riot by an editorial in his newspaper during recent labor troubles here.

Mr. Russell was represented by Edward Nugent, and the complainants were unable to prove that Russell was responsible for the article in question. They also failed to quote the statute in their complaint, while Justice of the Peace Gustave A. Theimer, the Socialist leader before whom the complaint was made, was alleged to have exceeded his authority in issuing a subpoena.

Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor was present during the hearing and advised Judge Mahon to dismiss the case. The complainants objected strenuously. They were represented by Henry Carless, of Newark, and the interest taken in the case by Socialists outside Elizabeth was shown by the prominence of some of the spectators.

Mr. Russell is the president of the State Board of Taxes and Assessments, and is also chairman of the State organization of county chairmen.

JURY FAILS TO FIND GROUNDS FOR ACTION

Case of Linden Property Owners Against County Defended by Local Firm.

After a deliberation of twenty minutes yesterday afternoon, the jury in the case of Markus Geosits and Frank Kaklisch against the Union County Board of Freeholders returned a verdict of no cause for action before Circuit Judge Silzer in Elizabeth. William R. Codington and Francis J. Blatz, of this city, defended the case for the county, and Francis A. Gordon represented the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs own adjoining land in Brook street, between Knopf and Blanche streets, Linden township. They alleged that in constructing a new county bridge over West brook, near their property, the course of the stream was changed, causing the water to flow upon and damage their respective properties. Geosits sued for $1,500 damages and Kaklisch for $700.

The Plainfield lawyers, on behalf of the county, resisted the two claims on the ground that the building of the bridge had nothing to do with the alteration of the stream's course, which was declared to have been due to natural causes.

The most interesting feature of the trial was the repudiation of his own witness by Francis A. Gordon, counsel for the plaintiffs. The witness was Howard P. Solomon, a real estate broker. He testified as to the value of Kaklisch's property before the erection of the new bridge, but when asked to state the amount of depreciation the property has suffered since, he answered that he was unable to do so.

Mr. Gordon told the court that the witness' testimony was a surprise, declaring that at a talk with Solomon in the former's office earlier in the morning the witness had informed him that the depreciation amounted to several hundred dollars. Asked by Mr. Gordon if he had talked to anyone since arriving at the courthouse, the witness replied that he had spoken to County Engineer Jacob L. Bauer.

Some humor was injected into the case by the testimony of C. H. Winans, a contractor, who was called by the defense. Under cross-examination he said that he had seen West brook run backwards.

"FIRE PREVENTION DAY" TO BE OBSERVED SATURDAY

As a fitting observance of "Fire Prevention Day," which has been set for Saturday, October 9, the Commissioner of Labor has requested each factory of the State to practice a fire-drill, and make a demonstration of their fire-fighting organization and equipment in accordance with the instructions of the department. In addition to making this test of their facilities for proper action in the event of fire, reminder is made of the necessity of adequate preventive regulations, and suggestion is made that as a further commemoration of the day all premises should be especially cleaned and renovated in a manner to lessen the fire hazard.

Particular attention should be paid to cellars, under stairways and places not frequently visited in the regular course of business. All oily wastes, loose sweepings, excelsior, or other inflammable material should be placed in safe receptacles. As a further precaution, attention should be given to the matter of both approaches and general character of the methods of egress, and an inspection should be made as to the operation of fire escapes and doors.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS ARE MADE BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

Members of the City Union of the King's Daughters held their regular business meeting in the local headquarters this morning, reports submitted indicating that 530 children had been taken care of by the Day Nursery during the month of September, a great increase over the same month in 1914. Plans were definitely arranged for a union meeting of all circles to be held in the future every second Wednesday of each month.

The semi-annual meeting of the union has been called for November 4, and the tenth anniversary celebration of the Day Nursery will take place early in January. A prominent speaker will be engaged for the semi-annual meeting, which will probably be held in one of the local churches and will be followed by a tea.

COLLIER TROPHY FOR MOST POPULAR PLAYER IN CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE

As an incentive to keen competition, and there promises to be plenty of it in the new City Basketball League, the Reliable Jewelry Shop has offered a silver loving cup to be awarded to the team winning the title, and Paul R. Collier, the East Front street sporting goods merchant, has donated another silver trophy, which will go to the most popular player on the circuit. The announcement of Mr. Collier's award gives rise to plans for an innovation in basketball circles and will no doubt be met by universal approval on the part of all interested in the live organization.

The conditions of the contest for the individual trophy have been tentatively formulated by the donor and will be passed on by the team representatives at no league meeting in the Daily Press editorial rooms tomorrow night.

Each night a game is played in the league schedule a coupon worth for ten votes will be published in each of the local papers, and when properly filled out by readers with a name of one of the eligible players it will be deposited in ballot boxes to be placed in the gymnasiums where the games are staged. A committee, to be named later, will open the ballot boxes each week and count the votes, a standing of contestants being published every seven days. Every player registered in the league will be eligible for the honor and it is a safe conclusion that friends of all performers will turn out in full force to clip coupons and boost their favorite's standing.

Further details relative to the individual award will be made known after tomorrow night's meeting, but the foregoing gives a general idea of the plan mapped out by Mr. Collier. Permanent officers will be chosen tomorrow night and the selection of two referees will be made.

"CURLEY" TAYLOR INJURED IN FOOTBALL SCRIMMAGE

Word was received in this city that "Curley" Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Taylor, of Fairview avenue, the borough, was injured last week in a football scrimmage at the Colorado School of Mines, at Golden, Colorado, where he is a third year student. The young man is confined to his bed with a dislocated shoulder blade and the right arm is twisted in its socket. At present the outlook for his resuming play on the eleven seems dubious, at least for this season. The mishap is a regrettable one, inasmuch as Taylor had just made the first team of the school, occupying the position of halfback. Included in the schedule for the school are games to be played at Salt Lake City and the Expositions.

Y. M. C. A. PRACTICE.

The initial scrimmage of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team was held in the association gymnasium, last night, five of last year's men being present. They were "June" Dunning, "Ash" Burner, "Al" Brynairski, George Townley and "Bill" Taylor. A captain and manager will be chosen next Wednesday night.

The "safety first" slogan is needed nowhere more than in the field of fire prevention. If a part of the money expended in keeping up fire departments and apparatus was used in the prevention of fires, the results would be more rewarding. Each Child Blew Out a Candle and Made a Wish.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Boy Who Had a Birthday Party.

"DO you know anybody who would like a birthday story?" asked daddy when Jack and Evelyn stood waiting.

"We would!" cried both children.

"There was a small boy by the name of George who was going to be seven years old"—

"So old?" interrupted Evelyn.

"So his mother thought he ought to have a birthday party. It was to be a surprise, so for the week before she sent him to visit his grandmother while she made party lists, a birthday cake, gifts for the little guests and all the nice things that always go with a birthday."

"Did she have candles?" asked Jack.

"There were seven candles and one to grow on," daddy answered. "So this meant eight children in all. George's mother sent letters to seven of his best friends, three boys and four girls. She ordered ice cream, cake, lemonade and candy. Then when the table was all ready and the guests almost on the point of coming George's grandmother brought him home all dressed in his best clothes, so that he was just in time to welcome his friends."

"Did they play games?" the kiddies wanted to know.

"Yes, indeed! They played London bridge and here grows a wild rose and the muffin man. Then George's mother hid a present in the garden, and the first child to find it was to have it. Then the children had played so hard that they were very hungry, and so after they had danced to a lovely hurdy-gurdy on the lawn it was time to go up on the porch and cut the birthday cake."

"It took quite a time for each little boy to find the little girl he was to sit beside. But there were long blue ribbons tied to some favors on a table, and finally the children at each end of the ribbon had to meet each other. Then George sat down at the head of the table, and all his small friends walked past him and gave him a present. All except one! One boy blushed very red, explaining that he had forgotten to bring his present.

"When all the children were at last seated, and, oh, so hungry, George's mother told them that before she cut the cake each child might make a wish and blow out a candle. Everybody wished, and when it came George's turn, what do you think he said?"

The children had to give it up.

"'I wish Philip had not forgotten to bring my present,'" said George.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

The cold autumn rain fell dismally on the attic roof in the old farm house, as Nell made her way through the accumulations of a life time and dropped on a seat by the small gable window. An apple tree reached its bare arms up and softly tapped the pane as if to attract her attention.

"That is the tree father planted on the day Dick was born," she murmured softly, resting her chin on her hand and pressing her face against the window down which the rain poured in trickling rills. "Twenty-six years tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, and he is coming down tonight to celebrate."

"Well, I will not get my cake done if I sit here watching the rain," she said at length with a start. Over the garret floor were spread walnuts and butternuts to dry. She gathered a pan of the nuts for her cake and hurried toward the stairs. As she felt her way along under the low rafters her hand struck against glass. She turned and peered into the dusk at her elbow. Was it possible? Could it be one of those delightful old clocks that she had always longed for, but never hoped to possess? She fairly ran down the stairs.

"Mother!" she exclaimed, bursting into the kitchen, "whose clock is that up in the garret?

"My father's. It was a fine one in its day, but it has been up there in the garret ever since the cord that held the weight broke twenty years or more ago. Pa could not get a cord the right size in town, so he bought a new clock and that went to the garret." The old lady stirred the mincemeat and dipped it into the pie tins lined with crust.

"I suppose you value it—you would not be willing to part with it, would you?" Nell's voice trembled a little she was so excited.

"Why? Do you want the old thing? I do not suppose it will go after all these years, but if you want it you can have it. You'll find it takes a lot of room." Mrs. Morton gazed in surprise at the radiant face of her daughter-in-law.

"I would rather have it than anything I know of. I always envied people with a grandfather's clock on the stairs and an open fireplace, and now I have one of them. Oh, I can hardly believe it." She began dancing around the kitchen. "As soon as I get the birthday cake made I am going to get it out and father will bring it down for me. I will clean and wax it and we'll give it to Dick for a birthday present."

"That will be a queer present, trash from the garret." The old lady gave a scornful little laugh.

"I assure you, you could not give him anything he would like as well," said the enthusiastic Nell.

"We will see about that," said Dick's mother with an air of mystery. "You may give it to him if you want to. I have my present all ready."

"Good! the trifle of a present I have I'll save for an ordinary occasion. I'll get this clock in nice shape, and after I bring in the birthday cake with its twenty-six candles I'll show him this. It will be a wonderful birthday!" Nell's face was radiant.

"Of all the fol-de-rol I ever heard of, this beats it all." But the old face wore a pleased smile.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

The spot-light of full publicity, turned on a store, reveals and places in that full light a store's defects—if it have defects. For example: If high prices prevail, or lines of goods are not kept up to date, the reader of the store advertisements knows it. It follows that advertising "pays" the store that renders real service—and would not pay the other kind of a store.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING

To Can Ripe Cucumbers—Take twelve large ripe cucumbers, peel and quarter and take out seeds, then let them stand in cold water while preparing one quart vinegar, one quart water, two cups sugar, two tablespoons salt, one tablespoon celery seed, one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice, cloves; let this come to a boil, put in cucumbers and let them get heated thoroughly, but not boil. Can at once in fruit jars.

Tomato Relish—Cut in fourths one gallon ripe tomatoes, add one cup fine sliced celery, one cup horseradish, one cup chopped onions, one cup sweet peppers, 1½ cups sugar, one-half cup salt, one tablespoon black pepper, one-fourth teaspoon cayenne pepper, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ground mustard, vinegar to cover well. Press down with a heavy weight in vinegar.

Corn Relish—Ten cups corn cut from cob, ten cups cabbage chopped fine, five red peppers, three tablespoons salt, four tablespoons white mustard seed, two tablespoons celery seed, three cups sugar, two heads celery, half gallon vinegar. Mix all together and cook one-half hour. This is a delicious relish, to be eaten with cold meats.

Corn Salad—Thirty ears sweet corn, one head cabbage, four onions, six ripe red peppers (remove seeds), one-fourth pound ground mustard, one-half cup salt, 2½ cups sugar, two quarts vinegar, one tablespoon turmeric. Stir mustard and turmeric to a thin paste, then boil all together one hour. Can and seal in air-tight jars.

Oil Pickles—Four dozen small cucumbers (sliced thin), one quart cider vinegar, one-half cup salt, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup mustard seed, two tablespoons celery seed, one cup oil. Mix and pour over cucumbers, let stand over night, put in jars and seal.

Sliced Cucumber Pickles—Slice large cucumbers (do not peel), let stand in salt water three hours, drain; to each quart add one cup vinegar, two-thirds cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mixed spices, one small onion. Let boil three minutes. Seal airtight.

Spiced Peach Pickles—Pare peaches (clingstones preferable); make syrup of four pounds sugar and one pint best vinegar, add spices (whole cloves and cinnamon bark) in muslin bag and boil thirty minutes. Put peaches into syrup and boil until tender. Remove with silver fork, fill jars, then boil down syrup, pour over fruit and seal.

Ginger Pears—Eight younds pears chopped, eight pounds white sugar, two glasses water, three lemons chopped, one-fourth pound ginger root. Cook four hours and stir often, as it will burn easily. This is a delicious preserve. It can be put in glasses.

Carrot Pickles—Wash and boil tender, when they will pare as easily as beets. Remove skins, cut into any desired size and shape and pack into glass jars. Have ready hot vinegar sweetened and salted to taste (some like celery seed as well), pour hot over the carrots and seal. These are fine put up this way and make a beautiful border around any salad during the winter time.

To Can Beets—Do not scrape them; get fresh from garden if possible. After they are cooked tender plunge them into cold water, then the skin will rub off easily. Slice as for table. To one-half bushel beets (which will make about ten cans) use three pints vinegar; strain two quarts of the water in which beets were boiled, add to vinegar; use one pound brown sugar. Put the beets back into cans while hot. Boil vinegar, water and sugar, then fill cans and seal. Next winter they will be as fresh as when taken from the ground.

The Bravest Battle.

The bravest battle that ever was fought!
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not;
'Twas fought by the mothers of men.
Nay, not with cannon or battle-shot,
With a sword or noble pen,
Nay, not with eloquent words or thought
From mouths of wonderful men!
But deep in a welled-up woman's heart—
Of a woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently, bore her part—
Lo, there is a battlefield!
Yet, faithful still as a bridge of stars,
She fights in her walled-up town—
Fights on and on in the endless wars;
Then silent, unseen, goes down.
O spotless woman in a world of shame,
With splendid and silent scorn,
Go back to God as white as you came—
The kingliest warrior born!

—Joaquin Miller.

Pleas For the Children.

The indigestion of one's children is continually the concern of mothers. The best qualities of food and sterilized milk may form the diet, and yet there is trouble. Only too often the difficulty lies not with the diet, but with bad mental conditions, physical fatigue or chills. Mothers should never reprimand the children about table manners while at the table, but give instructions at some other time and let the children practice at each meal. While it is not good to pamper young tastes, nevertheless indigestion will result when a poor, unhappy child is commanded to swallow what it does not want.

Learning to Spend.

Are you teaching your children how to spend money?

"Oh," you asnwer, "anyone can spend money. The trick is to make it."

Wrong!

As a nation, Americans are the finest moneymakers in the world, and the worst spenders. This is due to the fact that from the cradle up they hear the importance of making money emphasized, while the right spending of money is ignored. They are taught how to earn or acquire it, not how to get full value for what comes to their hands. The lad who runs an errand is handed a nickel or dime without any suggestion as to how to spend it. The little girl receives a dime for tending the baby while mother makes a call or a visiting aunt tucks a shining quarter into her dimpled fist with the hint to run along and have a good time with it. Nobody demands an accounting from either child for these cash gifts.

The regularity of an allowance has a steadying effect on a child's nature. The boy who is given a nickel for running an errand or for blacking father's boots will think that tomorrow will bring another errand or a convenient rain may muddy the boots. So he spends the reward of spasmodic labor with a reckless hand and waits Micawber-like, for something to turn up. But if the boy is paid ten cents a week to keep father's boots polished, he will immediately begin to balance his earnings and his desires. He will discover that a dollar ball glove means more than three weeks' work. And if father is the right sort the boy will find that he can't draw ahead on his allowance without denying himself things the week no allowance is forthcoming.—Pictorial Review.

An Editor's Opinion of Newspaper Reading.

On the subject of allowing children to read newspapers, The Baltimore American says editorially: "Getting closer to the responsibility for the news which is printed, we find that a tremendous amount of discretion is left with the managing editor, the telegraph editor and his copy readers, the city editor and his assistants. These men handle night after night, enormous batches of news, a great portion of which is never printed. They are the ones who must decide what shall appear the next morning and what shall be 'killed.' The personality of these men, again, will throw light on the question. In most cases you will find them cultivated gentlemanly, refined men of family just as jealous of the morals of their children as are their readers. Certainly, this must be a strong controlling motive.

"So we cannot expect these men to be anxious to spread spiced stuff in their sheets, that low instincts may be pandered to. Every parent may rest assured that these men will 'blue pencil' stuff—tone it down—when it appears indecent, in most cases throwing away that which is not indispensible. But there is the rub. News is news. A newspaper exists to tell it. The Thaw trial was a great problem for editors. Under such circumstances, it could hardly be expected that the reports of the case would make family circle reading. That brings us to the great question: How is a parent to deal with newspapers in the home? Granting that their editors are anxious to keep them clean, but understanding too, that they will sometimes contain things which children should not see, what then is to be done?

"No father or mother has the right to hand children a newspaper, knowing not what it contains. If the parents do not read the papers, then certainly the little ones should not much as those old enough to understand should read in order to be alive to the world in which they are growing. The father and mother should constitute in every home a family board of censorship. * * *

"Opinions differ as to crimes, such as suicides, murders, thefts and kidnappings. These are surely explosives, and must be handled with care. Yet, when my little daughter grows big enough to understand, I know what I shall do. I shall make of these reports brief object lessons, allowing her to hear them but lightly and toned down to touch her innocent understanding. Through my interpretation, she shall learn from them how sad it is that men neglect the lessons their mothers taught them in their youths, to grow up into felons, garbed in stripes."

MISSIONARY ALLIANCE.

The regular services of the Christian and Missionary Alliance at the German Reformed church, Duer street and Craig place, will be held tomorrow afternoon and night at 3:30 and 7:30 o'clock. SLEEVELESS COATS ATTRACTIVE FOR EVENING WEAR.

No. 9117.

There are many occasions when an evening coat is not only attractive but necessary. A most charming coat for this purpose is the sleeveless model, a striking example of which is shown above in Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9117. This is simple yet smart and classy, particularly delightful in its narrow, soft rolling collar extending into a beautiful circular frill. The length of the coat at the centre-back is 33 inches, being cut in three sizes—34, 38 and 42. Size 38 requiring 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Company.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Washington.—Washington society is greatly interested in two brides, one the daughter of Senator John Sharp Williams, and the other the daughter of Joaquin Calvo, former minister from Costa Rica. Miss Sally Williams yesterday became one of the famous "Mayflower Brides" when she married Lieutenant Joel Bunckley, U. S. N. The "Mayflower" brides are the brides of young officers serving on the President's yacht Mayflower. Her predecessors are the former Lucy Hoke Smith, Alice Meyer, daughter of former Secretary of the Navy Meyer; Maitland Marshall and Genevieve Walsh, daughter of Senator Walsh, of Montana.

Miss Calvo, who is one of the most charming girls in the "diplomatic set," weds today Thomas D. Harrington, of Boston, and the ceremony took place at 11 o'clock, Monsignor Bonzano, the papal delegate, officiating. Miss Calvo was educated in a university here, and has spent much of her life in Washington.

London.—Gossip in London has it that the Prince of Wales will have a British bride. It is said that Queen Mary has made up her mind that the heir to the throne shall never marry any but a Protestant consort. At one time there was considerable talk, understood to be founded upon something far more substantial than mere gossip, that the prince had decided for himself that the Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the Czar of Russia, was the best candidate available. It was believed that Queen Mary had actually consented to negotiations being opened in an unofficial way with Petrograd. Now comes the newer rumors that none but a Protestant will be considered. This restriction, if it really exists, reduces the available royal princesses almost to the vanishing point. In short, it is held that the prince will have to marry on his own soil and that he will, moreover, be reduced to the necessity of wedding a non-royal miss. There is a feeling here that such a development would be extremely popular in England and would give the Crown Prince great popularity.

St. Paul, Minn.—The annual convention of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage Association opened here today. The organization now reaches every city and town in the State, and the leaders are hopeful of beginning a winning campaign in the near future. Many suffrage leaders from other States are here to speak of the outlook throughout the country.

Washington.—"No law can protect the individual except in a certain degree. The intelligence of the consumer must meet it half way," says Miss Annie Lewis Pierce, who for fifteen years has been fighting the food adulterators and misbranders, as the assistant to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. "Gradually the general public will be educated up to the point where it is able to discriminate between the false and the true. It will cease to throw away its money on harmful or falsely represented products, either in medicines or foodstuffs." Miss Pierce was invaluable to Dr. Wiley during his pure food agitation for the government, and she is still aiding his work through the Wiley publication. She is deluged with letters from women on all sorts of subjects.

HANDICAP CLOSES RACE MEET.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—The closing day of the fall race meet at Churchill Downs brings together today some of the greatest distance horses in the country, in the St. Leger Handicap. There are 32 entries for the event, which is for three-year-olds and upward, over the two and a quarter mile course. Today's event is the forty-first consecutive contest for this stake.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE HEARS EVANGELIST AL. SAUNDERS

A capacity audience heard "Al" Saunders, the evangelist, last night, as he continued his services in Temple Baptist church, the earnest words of the preacher, taken from his own personal experience, during that period of transformation when he was lifted from the depths and became converted, moved the hearts of his hearers. He brought to the unsaved a living illustration of the power of God to save and to keep.

A spiritual atmosphere pervades the services, and every night so far has seen an increasing number in attendance. The evangelist's discourses are brief, but to the point. Good spirited singing is also a feature of these services. The meetings will continue every night during the week except Saturday.

The Dashing New Gypsy Boots $6.00

With women's styles prescribing short skirts the feet will continue to be much in evidence this fall.

The Fall models introduce very many beautiful shoes in plain leathers. The Battleship grey gypsy cut button is being shown in a very pretty pattern; also a patent leather black cloth top plain toe button with white piping.

The lines are light, airy, artistic, tending to reduce the appearance of foot length. The shapes tend toward the slender with heels from 2-inch in dress boots to 1½-inch in walking models—both gracefully arched.

GIVEN SURPRISE ON WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. P. Edward Wisch, of Borough, Observe Twentieth Anniversary.

PURSE IS PRESENTED

Mr. Wisch Gives His Wife a $20 Gold Piece For Each Year of Married Life—Mrs. George Wescott Also Makes Presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Edward Wisch, of 80 Mercer avenue, were the guests of honor last evening, at a surprise reception given in honor of the twentieth anniversary of their wedding day. Mrs. Guy Peck, assisted by Mrs. William Hutchcroft, Mrs. George Wescott, Mrs. George Passmore and Mrs. Allen Coddington, arranged the affair, which was entirely unknown to Mrs. Wisch, although Mr. Wisch was taken into the confidence of the women owing to the fact that he had contemplated a business trip to Buffalo, not knowing of the plans.

Guests to the number of fifty, chiefly members of three clubs to which Mrs. Wisch belongs, were present. The clubs represented were the Thursday Night Dancing Club, the Wednesday Afternoon Reading Club and the Saturday Night "500" Club. Several of Mrs. Wisch's relatives from Jersey City were also present. Card playing, dancing, games, music and singing helped to make the evening one long to be remembered by the attendants.

On behalf of the guests present Mrs. George Wescott presented Mrs. Wisch with a handsome china ice cream set, taking occasion to express the great pleasure of the givers in welcoming them home after their trip to the Pacific coast and hoping that the gift would, in a small measure reveal to them their friendship, love and sincere wishes. She concluded her speech with the following tribute: "As you travel along life's pathway together, may it lead through the garden of love; may you find blessings, rich and rare; may happiness sunshine across your pathway shed and every day be just as happy as the day when you were wed."

Another gift, which was especially noteworthy, was the presentation to Mrs. Wisch by her husband, of twenty $20 gold pieces, a gold coin representing each year of their married life. Mr. and Mrs. Wisch were married a score of years ago by the Rev. Emil Meury, known as the "Marrying Pastor," of the Jersey City Dutch Reformed church. Mrs. Wisch's maiden name was Miss Charlotte Kemm. The couple made their home in Jersey City until four years ago, when they removed to the Mercer avenue residence. Within the space of four years the couple have won for themselves hosts of friends in both this city and the borough. They have two children, Naomi and Edward, Jr., both students in the North Plainfield schools.

WILL ENFORCE ORDINANCE ON NUMBERING RESIDENCES

With a view to enforcing the law relative to properly numbering houses in Plainfield, Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett today served official notice in the public newspapers on all property owners who have not complied with the regulation. The proper numbers may be obtained at the office of Tax Collector William R. Townsend and must be affixed to the residences at once.

While a failure to comply with the ordinance has no doubt been due in a large majority of the cases to oversight, it is now proposed to rigidly enforce the rule, and the street commissioner will take steps to see that every house in the city is properly numbered.

GAVE BIRTHDAY PARTY IN HONOR OF DAUGHTER

Mr. an Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, gave a birthday party in honor of their daughter, Hazel, yesterday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock. The observance was in honor of her tenth natal day, and seventeen girl friends gathered at the home to help her celebrate the event. A large cake, decorated with ten candles was a feature of the affair. Games and singing and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

Those present were the Misses Emily and Florence Goodenough, Lucille and Estelle Burke, Frances and Isabelle Van Cleef, Ruth Peacock, Elsie Hunter, Rhitta Shay, Daisy Hyle, Jennie Robinson, Vera Wright, Olive Lindabury, Dorothy Bird, Marion Emery, Gertrude Blue and Hazel McVoy.

ITALIAN PREFERRED DEATH TO ASYLUM

Slashed Throat With Razor to Escape Being Committed to Institution.

That Dante Cenduzzi, the Italian who committed suicide in North Plainfield yesterday, deliberately decided on this rather than the insane asylum, and then slashed his throat with a razor, developed today. The man had been acting queer for some time, and Wednesday his brother called a physician. He was advised that the man was insane, and that he should be committed to the State Asylum at Trenton. Dante heard the conversation, it is believed, and knew of arrangements being made to send him early Thursday morning.

Before these could be carried out he disappeared, and he was found dead in a livery stable at 51 Watchung avenue, about 3 p. m., yesterday. He had been dead for hours. Chief Weiss is of the opinion that he killed himself about 9 o'clock in the morning.

MAN LEAVES HOME WEARING NIGHT SHIRT

Martinsville Man Has Been Missing Since Wednesday Night.

Laniel Knuter, 47 years of age, is wandering around in this section somewhere in a nightshirt, and members of his family are afraid that he will catch cold. They have asked the police to aid in a search for him.

Knuter left his home at Martinsville some time during Wednesday night. He put a pair of light pants over his night clothing, at least the trousers are missing, and it is believed that he is wearing them. Chief Weiss, of the North Plainfield police force, yesterday received a telephone message from a member of the Knuter family, telling of the disappearance of the man, and asking that a watch be kept for him. It is believed that he is insane.

VETERANS OF 1898 ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Thirty New Members Mustered in at Last Night's Meeting.

The annual election of officers of Ensign Worth Bagley Camp, No. 21, United Spanish War Veterans, department of New Jersey, was held at a meeting last night, and resulted in the following being chosen for the ensuing year: Commander, M. D. O'Keefe; senior vice commander James Boyd Potter; junior vice commander, William R. Townsend; chaplain, Rev. J. Madison Hare; quartermaster sergeant, D. J. Shea; adjutant, Charles Lellman; surgeon, Dr. Harold D. Corbusier; officer of the day William Scarlett; officer of the guard R. E. Davis; trustees, Charles A. Flynn, Dennis J. O'Keefe, John F. Sickler. The State department officers will install at the next meeting which will be held subject to the call of the chair. Thirty new members were mustered in at last night's meeting. The charter will remain open for two weeks and those eligible for membership may secure blanks from D. J. Shea.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MISS BLANCHE WEED

A surprise party was given Miss Blanche Weed in honor of her birthday at her home on Wednesday evening. The house was decorated in Japanese lanterns and flowers. Miss Weed received many handsome gifts from her friends. More than sixty guests were present from Plainfield, New York, Garwood and Bound Brook. Those present were: Grace Mauer, Anna Stewart, Helen Vanderhof, Grace Baker, Ethel Coffey, Daisy Terry, Grace McDowell, Florence Terry, Gertrude McGray, Aletta McDowell, Grace, Ruth and Catherine Simons, Mrs. Tallman, Mrs. M. Kistner, Russell Scribner, Westley Clarkson, Wendle Hutchcraft, George Stitcher, Steven Helfen, Albert Porter, Arthur Force, Albert Coffey, Eugene Spencer, Donald Paterson, William Dowell, Donald Adams, Jack McCarty, Peter Markey, Harry McGee, Samuel Millwater, James and Walter Stranahan, George Walsh, Harold, John, Dress, Thomas, Duffey, Addie and Lewis Weed, John Kampmier.

FINE PROGRAM FOR COMING YEAR

Monday Afternoon Club Announces Fine Series of Lectures and Musicals.

TO BEGIN NOVEMBER 1

First Lecture on "A Year in England During the War," to be Given by Dr. A. H. Graves—List of Events for 1915-1916.

"A Year in England During the Present War" is the topic to be used for the first lecture of the series to be given under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club this season. The lecture will be given November 1, in the parish house of the Congregational church, by Dr. Arthur Harmount Graves, formerly assistant professor of government in Yale University. Lectures start at 3:45 Monday afternoons. Other notable lectures on the list are the following:

November 29, subject, "Value of Modern Critical Study of the Bible," Stuart Tyson, of Princeton University; December 6, topic, "Russian Folk and Peasant Songs," Edward Bromberg; December 9, "Modern Russia," John B. Prince, of Columbia University; January 2, "Siberian Prisons," George Keenan, in the High School Auditorium; March 6, concert by the string quartet of the Russian Symphony Orchestra and Mme. MR. SAUNDERS IS FOR SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

Says They Are Force for Clean Politics in the West.

W. L. Saunders, former mayor of North Plainfield, and who has been appointed to the Naval War Board, recently returned from a visit to California, where he was impressed by the number of women who took an interest in elections and turned out to vote. Mr. Saunders is heartily in favor of suffrage after his visit to a State where women vote, and expressed his views in the following letter to Mrs. A. B. Jones, president of the local league:

"On my return from San Francisco, I find your letter asking me to permit my name to be used in Plainfield as an advocate of woman suffrage. I heartily accede to your request and wish to say that while in the West during the past month, I visited several of the suffrage States, spending about two weeks in California. In no instance have I been able to discover the slight st harm that has resulted from the enfranchisement of women, and in several cases substantial good has been pointed out to me, notably in California, where a primary election was held during my visit, the women coming out in large numbers and voting to retain Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, whose large majority was mainly obtained by the support of the woman vote. A strenuous effort was made in this election to reinstate a man who had been mayor of San Francisco during what is known as the graft period and the chief issue was good, honest, clean government against graft. In this the women made themselves felt in no uncertain terms."

VITAPHONE COMPANY TO BUILD BRASS FOUNDRY

The Vitaphone Company has completed plans for the erection of a brass foundry in connection with their plant near the Netherwood depot. The erection of the foundry is to facilitate the filling of orders. It is said that this company has booked a large order from the British Government.

FRUIT THIEVES REPORTED IN NORTH PLAINFIELD

The police of North Plainfield are receiving complaints of fruit stealing in various parts of the borough. In the absence of the owners a number of orchards have been visited and trees almost stripped of their yield. Property owners threaten stern methods to protect their fruit.

Miss Gussie Lipner, of New York, is being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Tepper, of West Seventh street.

BULGARIA IS AT WAR WITH SERBIA

Greece Will Maintain a "Benevolent Neutrality," Says the King.

GERMANS ARE CHECKED

Bulgars Shell Nish From Aeroplanes and Land Force—Aids Kaiser In His Attempt to Hack a Passage to Turkey.

London, Oct. 8.—Bulgaria has announced that it will aid the Austro-German forces in attacking Serbia, and has begun active warfare; Serbia has declared war on Bulgaria in retaliation; Greece announces that it will maintain a "benevolent neutrality," and Anglo-French warships have begun a bombardment of the Bulgarian fortress of Dedeagatch.

This is a chronological index of rapid-fire developments in the Balkan situation during the past twenty-four hours.

Bulgaria's announcement that it would aid the troops of the Kaiser in forcing a passage through Serbia to Turkey came after its troops had already begun warfare. The official neutrality announcement of Greece was expected after the dismissal of the former cabinet and the forming of a new one, a majority of the members of which are pro-German.

German and Austrian troops are on Serbian soil, but are reported to have suffered temporary checks. This report comes from Serbian headquarters.

Varna Is Shelled.

Besides shelling Nish from aeroplanes, the Bulgarian troops today are reported menacing Uskub and Chevgeli, on Serbian soil, in their first attacks on the Serbians in an effort to aid the 400,000 Austro-Germans now hacking their way south to the Salonika-Nish railway in an effort to cut the only source by which the Serbians can receive munitions of war.

And while the Austro-Germans, aided by the Bulgars, are cutting across Serbia to open a path through the Balkans to Turkey, Russian cruisers are actively bombarding the port of Varna, one of the gates to the Bulgarian capital.

Powerful forts protect Varna, which is 300 miles from Sofia.

Allies Bombard Bulgaria.

Athens, Oct. 8.—A squadron of Anglo-French warships drawn from the Dardanelles fleet is off Dedeagatch and is preparing to bombard the Bulgarian fortress, according to a despatch from Saloniki. Dedeagatch is Bulgaria's only port on the Aegean Sea.

To Aid the Germans.

Berlin, by wireless, Oct. 8.—Bulgaria has announced that it will fight on the side of Germany and Austria, according to a despatch from Sofia, given out by the Government News Agency today.

Cannonade Keeps Up.

Paris, Oct. 8.—French war statement:

"To the north of Arras the cannonade was kept up by both sides during the night in the direction of Souchez and its environs as well as in the sector of hill No. 140 at La Folie. There was rather great activity by the enemy's artillery, likewise with replies from our guns, in the region of Roye to the north of the Aisne toward Tracy Le Val and at St. Mard Forest. In Champagne the Germans violently bombarded our positions between the roads from St. Hilaire to St. Souplet and from Souain to Somme Py. Our batteries responded very energetically everywhere. A sharp battle is going on in the communication trenches to the southwest of Tahure toward the Butte of Mesnil. Between the Argonne and the Meuse one of our mines blew up sapping works of the enemy in the forest of Melancourt. The night was relatively calm on the rest of the front."

Greek King Is Ill.

King Constantine, of Greece, is again ill, according to a despatch from Lausanne.

NEGRO ARRESTED.

William Binkney, a negro, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a serious charge by Patrolman Martin Welsh. The police have been looking for Binkney for sometime, but this is the first opportunity they have had to get enough evidence on him to cause his arrest. This morning he made a complete confession in the presence of Chief Kiely and Mayor Leighton Calkins. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza.

RELIEF CORPS MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Relief Corps will be held in the G. A. R. Post rooms at Reform Hall, tonight.

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Ways of Aiding Local Industries in Future.

CO-OPERATIVE PLANS

Paul Burns Outlines the Local Situation and Points Out How Plants Can be Kept Busy After the European War is Over.

Owing to the absence of a quorum the Chamber of Commerce held no formal meeting, last night, but the few members and visitors who were present discussed at length a number of matters of considerable importance to Plainfield and its people and had the meeting been a formal one with a much larger attendance, it could have scarcely been more interesting.

President Paul H. Burns stated that the impression had gone forth that because there were a number of civic organizations in Plainfield there was an unhealthy spirit of rivalry, bordering on strife, among them, but such was not the facts. He said that all such organizations were capable of accomplishing much good for the city and its surrounding communities, and, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, he said that the only spirit to be fostered was one of mutual help and co-operation and that antagonisms could endure.

Mr. Burns outlined a number of things under contemplation, but declared that much more important

TIFFANY WINDOW TO BE DEDICATED

Gift to St. Stephens Church to Be Marked by Special Services on Sunday.

Dedication of the new Tiffany window made this summer by the Tiffany studios in New York will take place at the 11 o'clock service in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Sunday morning. Rev. Henry Mesier, rector of the church, will have charge of the services.

Though not a large window, the very restriction and limitations of the artist to so circumscribed an area has produced a landscape view of the Sea of Galilee, as perfect as a picture, yet with the changing vivid colors of the glass. It represents the lake, looking down from Capernaum, at the dawn of day. On the left of the rugged limestone cliffs, and on the extreme right in the foreground one catches the light of the morning daybreak through a tangle of dogwood branches, above the sea, and also the night breaking and the stars just disappearing before the coming sun, reflected down from the eastern mountain tops upon the great blue lake of Galilee.

Though it is an excellent picture of the place so associated with the life of Christ, the artist has wrought into the wonderful coloring of the glass its spiritual significance. It will be to the worshippers of St. Stephen's an inspiration of truer worship and of increasing helpfulness.

THREE BOROUGHITES ARE ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Three of the boys in the borough of North Plainfield strayed from the path of rightousness Wednesday and were assessed fines of $5 each in police court yesterday morning, by Recorder Hand, as part payment of the wages of sin. Whisky did it all. Harry Mollison, better known as "Dutch," was fined $5 for getting drunk and stopping on his way home to rest awhile on the sidewalk of Somerset street. Patrolman Swody awoke him from his slumbers and appeared against him in court.

Fred Klukas was not with Harry, but he followed suit a short time later. Outraged justice in his case was represented by Marshal Pope, and as the recorder had established the price of a sidewalk bed as $5 but a few minutes before, Fred was ordered to produce this amount or contribute its equivalent in brawn or brain to the commonwealth.

George Summers got hold of some talking whisky, according to Marshal Swody, who arrested him, and he used profane language in front of women at the corner of Somerset and Chatham streets. George was on his way home, but the court decided he was making slow progress, and held that society had been damaged to the extent of $5.

MORAN'S QUAKERS SCORE FIRST ON WHITTED'S SINGLE IN THE FOURTH

BOSTON---	0	0	0	0	0	■	■	■	■--0
PHILA ---	0	0	0	1	0	■	■	■	■--1

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Ideal weather conditions greeted 21,000 fans who flocked to the Phillies' baseball park here this afternoon, Old Sol's rays beating down strongly on the two teams as they took the field at 1:35. The batting orders were announced as follows:

BOSTON	PHILADELPHIA.
Hooper, right field.	Stock, third base.
Scott, shortstop.	Bancroft, shortstop.
Speaker, centre field.	Paskert, centre field.
Hoblitzel, first base.	Cravath, right field.
Lewis, left field.	Luderus, first base.
Gardner, third base.	Whitted, left field.
Barry, second base.	Neihoff, second base.
Cady, catcher.	Burns, catcher.
Shore, pitcher.	Alexander, pitcher.

Umpires—Rigler and Klem for National League; Evans and O'Loughlin for American League.

Tight baseball featured the early rounds of play, the ball being handled well by both teams. Alexander and Shore were in their best form, the first named clouting out the initial hit for the Quakertown outfit.

Whitted pushed the first counter of the series across the gutta percha with a neatly placed single, scoring Paskert from second and giving the Quakers the initial advantage.

Pat Moran's youngsters were the first on the field and were followed a few minutes later by the Red Sox battlers. Both were given a big hand by the mob of baseball fans, many of whom were drenched to the skin during a night of watchful waiting outside the city gates. Bitter denunciation was manifest on all sides over the ticket scandal story that has been going the rounds during the past week. This was the main topic of conversation among the fans during the preliminary drills of the two teams. Boston's "royal rooters" made their presence conspicuous by their wild shouting and novel methods of noise-making.

Managers Moran and Carrigan walked to home-plate a few minutes before the umpires donned their regalia and posed with clasped hands for the photographers and movie men. Moran's popularity with the Quakertown fans was never more clearly evidenced than at this moment, the applause accorded him being even greater than Connie Mack enjoyed when the Athletics were at the zenith of baseball fame.

National League Umpire Klem was selected for duty behind the bat; American League Umpire O'Loughlin went to the base line; National League Umpire Rigler was sent to right field foul line, and American League Umpire Evans was delegated to the left field foul line. Before the teams took the field Moran was presented with a huge silver loving cup, a token of esteem from the Philly fans.

At 2:03 Umpire Klem cleared the playing field and brought another burst of applause from the grandstand with his shout "play ball."

FIRST INNING.

Boston—Hooper started off the series by hitting past Neihoff for a single. Scott bunted, sending Hooper to second base with his sacrifice. After having two strikes called, Speaker waited out the next four and walked. Hoblitzel forced Speaker at second when he hit to Bancroft, Hooper taking third on the day. Hoblitzel was caught napping off first by Alexander.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Stock flied out to Cady. Bancroft flied out to Barry at second. Packert flied out to Hoblitzel at first.

No hits, no runs.

SECOND INNING.

Boston—Lewis opened with a single to left field. Alexander prevented Lewis from taking a long lead off first by repeated throws. Gardner sacrificed Lewis to second by bunting to Alexander, who threw to Neihoff. Barry hit to Alexander, and Lewis was caught in a run down between second and third and touched out by Neihoff. Barry reached second on the play. Cady fanned.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Cravath walked on four straight falls. Luderus hit to Barry and forced Cravath at second. Luderus went out trying to steal. Whitted was handed a free trip. Neihoff ended the round by fanning.

No hits, no runs.

THIRD INNING.

Boston—Shore grounded out, Neihoff to Luderus. Hooper flied out to Whitted in left field. Scott singled to centre field. Speaker flied out to Whitted.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Burns flied out to Scott. Alexander singled past Scott at second. Stock forced Alexander

WARREN CHAPEL WOMEN HOLD ALL-DAY MEETING

The all-day sewing meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society, of Warren chapel, was held in the church parlors, yesterday, fifty women reporting for work at 10 o'clock. At noon a hot luncheon was served under the auspices of Mrs. John Higgins, assisted by Mrs. John Johnson and a corps of other helpers.

The sewing session, which terminated at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, was supervised by Mrs. Henry Bishop and Mrs. Charles Hering. Four machines were used in making the clothing for the annual missionary box to be sent to the girls' school at Huntsville, Tenn. Next Friday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the society will be held at 3 o'clock. A large attendance is requested.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR ALTERING COUNTY JAIL

A contract for alterations to the county jail was awarded to the H. A. Rath Company, of this city, the lowest bidder, yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the public buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Freeholders. Mr. Rath's bid was $814.

The specifications call for changes on the second floor of the jail to provide separate quarters for juvenile and first offenders. At present the latter are confined with old offenders and habitual criminals. The Board of Freeholders adopted the plans for the improvement at the suggestion of Sheriff Otto and Warden Hughson, who propose to institue a reform system as soon as the alterations are completed.

PLAINFIELD AND ELIZABETH EXHIBITORS MAY UNITE

A movement to unite with a similar organization in Plainfield for the purpose of holding a poultry show in the Armory in Elizabeth some time in December has been started by the Union County Poultry Association.

A committee, consisting of George Benedict, Frank Brown, H. D. Woodruff, Raymond Cook and C. Harry Scherf, has been appointed to confer with the Plainfield association at the latter's meeting on October 19, regarding the plans for a joint exhibition. A general discussion of the proposal and sentiment seems favorable to the project, as the consensus of opinion is that a far stronger organization will result from the co-operation of the two bodies.

F. Warren Sumner, the president, announced that the executive committee is preparing a series of excellent programs for the monthly meetings of the association throughout the winter. These will be announced at the next meeting.

"FLATTERY AND PRAISE."

Rabbi Herman Martin, of Temple Sholem, will preach at this evening's service at 8:15 o'clock on the theme, "Flattery and Praise."

MIDDLESEX FARMERS TO HOLD FIELD MEETING

The Middlesex County Board of Agriculture will hold a field meeting at the farm of John M. Evans on Friday afternoon, October 15, beginning at 2 p. m. Mr. Evans, in cooperation with the office of "Farm Demonstration," has been growing nineteen samples of corn which were collected from various farms throughout Piscataway township. While other points will be taken up the meeting next Friday will be mainly concerned with studying the results of this neighborhood test.

All samples of corn will be weighed and a study made of the comparative weights and quality. Corn will be judged by an expert and a talk on corn growing will be given by D. P. Witter, of New York State. The farmers of the county are earnestly requested to attend this meeting, which should be of interest to all.

Mrs. George Corfell, who has been ill for the past week, shows considerable improvement.

DUNELLEN PROPERTIES SOLD AT SHERIFF'S SALE

The following local properties were sold by Sheriff Houghton yesterday: Property in chancery between Josephine H. Kyle, complainant, and Frank T. Farrell and others, defendants. Decree and costs, $3,467.92. Sold to Frederick Pope for $3,000. Property in chancery between Anna V. Huff, complainant, and Frank T. Farrell and others, defendants. Decree and costs, $2,918.14. Sold to Frederick Pope for $2,900.

PETER MOHAN IMPROVING.

Peter Mohan passed another good night. He has regained consciousness, and his physician says that since his condition has continued favorable for this length he should recover.

Mrs. Lewis Lane is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Bert Kenyon leave on Tuesday for Kisseme, Ohio, to make their future home with their daughter, Mrs. Barber.

F. Percy Vail and family, who have been stopping at Manitou, Colo., for the past two months, left there on Monday for San Francisco, where they will attend the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Mrs. Charles S. Day announces that the postponed meeting for the formation of a young people's orchestra will be held at her home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers, of Prospect avenue, have returned from a several days' visit out of town.

Mrs. Josephine Terry, of New Market road, who has been ill, is said to be considerably better.

George Jennings, of Front street is suffering from a carbuncle.

The home of former Postmaster Peter C. Staats on Front street is being improved.

Miss Edna Jennings, of Front street, left today for a visit of several days' duration with her brother, Clarence Jennings, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Ella Kennedy, of Washington avenue, has recovered from a heavy cold.

Miss Luella Stryker has resumed her duties in the local postoffice after a visit at Allentown, Pa., where she was the guest of Miss Emaline Kessler.

Miss Ruth Eder, of Columbia street, will entertain the members of the Farther Lights Missionary Society of the First Baptist church at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Gilbert Herlich, of Newark, was in the borough recently visiting his father, Adam Herlich, of Front street.

Doris and Bill Deering, children of Borough Clerk and Mrs. William P. Deering, who have been ill for the past five weeks, continue under the doctor's care.

Watchung.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold its regular meeting this evening in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church. Miss Theresa E. Schmidt will be the leader. After the meeting a business meeting will be held.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Mogey. All arrangements have been completed for the annual supper which they will give next Thursday evening in the Improvement Hall.

Mrs. Charles E. Spier and daughter, Elizabeth, have returned to their home, afer spending two weeks at Harrisburg, Pa.

Miss Jeanne Reed has gone to Denver, Colorado.

Miss Barbara McKenzie and nieces have closed their summer home and gone to New York for the winter.

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton will address the Improvement Society of North Plainfield township at its meeting Monday evening in the Improvement Hall.

Arthur Herschmann, a baritone soloist, of "Washington House," has gone to New York for the winter months, where he will give a number of concerts.

Mrs. La Casse has returned to her home in New York city, after spending some time as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gellis.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The committee of four in charge of the arrangements for the dance to be held by the young people of the 'Plains during the winter is planning for the first affair to be held on October 30, Hallowe'en night. It is expected that a new floor will have been laid in Meyer's Hall by that time, and efforts will be made to secure a victrola.

Mrs. Smith, who has been stopping at the "Homestead," on Martine avenue, for some time, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday with what was thought to be a stroke of paralysis.

The weather of last night failed to put a damper on the success of the pro-rally day social of all of the departments of the Baptist church and the Memorial parish house was crowded with the workers and their friends. Plans were discussed for the work to be undertaken for the ensuing year, and very favorable reports were read by the secretaries of all of the various departments.

Defective brakes caused Peter Ritter, of South avenue, to run his auto into the iron railing in front of the local railroad station yesterday afternoon. The mudguards, lights and fender were broken, but he had them fixed, together with the brakes, within a few hours. There was no passenger in the car at the time.

In his musical at the Fanwood firehouse one week from tonight, Robert Thrane, of the Philharmonic Society, of New York, will be assisted by Mrs. Thrane at the piano, and Nicholas Lancella, another member of the Philharmonic Society. Mr. Lancella is a flutist of considerable reputation, and the concert will undoubtedly live up to the standard set by previous local musicals of Mr. Thrane's.

A social evening was enjoyed in the Willow Grove chapel last night by the members of the Adult Bible Class. A musical program, rendered by the Misses Lambert, and a number of amusing games comprised the program, and the affair was terminated by the serving of refreshments.

Borough Marshal Logan is to get a new police outfit at the expense of the borough for the first time in ten years, that being the length of time he has comprised Fanwood's police force. Figuring on that basis, protection does not cost very much in the borough.

Miss Elsa Palmer, one of the few local girls now going to Plainfield High School, is manager of the girls' basketball team at that institution for the coming year.

Miss A. M. Slaux, of New York, is stopping at the "Homestead," on Martine avenue.

The Woman's League of the 'Plains and Borough has resumed its winter activities, and at a meeting the fore part of the week, decided on several plans for a successful season.

South Plainfield.

The new four-room addition to the public school has just been finished. The plumbing work was completed the first of the week. The large entrance door and steps on the old building were finished yesterday and a number of laborers are now engaged in cleaning up about the new addition.

Frank Briscoe, of West End avenue, who has been suffering an attack of appendicitis, is somewhat improved. He expects to undergo an operation next week.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHS.

How a Man Talks When He Shows Them to a Friend.

Here's the way the average man shows his little book of amateur photographs to a friend:

"This is supposed to be my wife, but it ain't very good. Let's see the next one. Well, that's the baby, but the sun was wrong. On this page is a family group. I took it myself, and it would be a good picture if three of 'em hadn't moved. Oh, yes! Here's one my wife took of me. Looks like the dickens, don't it? She ain't used to the camera, but notice how I'm grinning.

"And d'you see what a good background I'm posed in? I'd just got back from the office, and she just had one film left and thought she might as well snap me and finish up the roll—you see, I didn't have time to comb my hair or—what? Why, the one on the next page is a freak thing my next door neighbor snapped, showing his baby falling out of an upstairs window. Not much good—he didn't have a good light, and the baby was falling too fast to be quite in focus. Now, here's another one of me—my wife never could get the hang of the camera, but people say the wink is natural. I had quite a bunch of 'em printed because she wanted 'em to give around. Oh, those pictures are pretty fair. We took them at the lakes. There's people you don't know in 'em, and you'll hardly be interested. Well, hey, Mary, what's become of that one with me in it? I wish you'd keep all these pictures together. You monkey with this book till all the best ones get lost out!

"Well, I guess the rest won't interest you. We keep 'em because they're good souvenirs. Lot o' my wife's friends posed in the grand canyon, and such. A professional photographer don't get the personal touches that make these snapshot pictures nice to keep. Now, just take that one of me you saw back there. It's not much good as a likeness, but they tell me there's something characteristic about it—what? Why turn back? It's on page 3."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MUSIC AS A MEDICINE.

Ragtime For the Melancholy, Chopin For Overstrung Nerves.

The effects of music upon the health—well known ever since David harped to Saul, but hitherto illy understood—are being looked into more deeply by the physicians who form the National Society of Musical Therapeutics.

"No matter to what extent music may restore a person to the normal," says the New York Medical Journal, "there can be no question that it may help other influences to incline the person from the normal. There are many compositions, notably among those by Chopin, which are the outcome of more or less melancholy moods, and while they are beautiful and harmless to the healthy, when made a steady diet and source of self consolation by those suffering from depression from mental or bodily causes their effect is undoubtedly pernicious, just as a too exclusive diet of olives or meringues would depress the general bodily condition and mental atmosphere of a person so indulging a sickly appetite."

On the other hand, ragtime music, "being in no wise serious," is the reverse of depressing. "The African jingles of the present day create an emotional atmosphere of restlessness and excitement which is typically American and which is opposed to health only so far as our national restlessness and lack of poise tend to make us a people whose national disease is nervous exhaustion."

Roughly speaking, lively music, such as ragtime, is likely to rouse depressed persons from their melancholy. Sad and pathetic music will soothe the excitable and hypernervous.

Sandwich's Wonderful Drum.

The eccentric Lord Sandwich had, according to his biographer, a strange passion for the thunder of big drums, for the gratification of which passion he had caused the entire side of one large music room in his mansion at Hinchinbrook to be covered with parchment, so that when it was struck with a massive stick it gave out a roar sufficient to terrorize any sensitive soul. Many who heard this drum once struck positively declined ever to enter the apartment again lest they should be given a second performance.—St. Louis Republic.

Turtle Eggs.

Turtle eggs are an acquired taste with most people, although they are not so with bears. They have a rough yellow yolk and a white like any other egg, but you can cook them for a year and the white part will remain liquid. Notice a curious dimple in the side of each one. If you squeeze it out the dimple appears on the other side, and you can never get hold of a turtle egg which hasn't got a dimple in it.

Distribution.

"The question of distribution is one of the most serious of our time," remarked the ponderous man.

"It is," replied Miss Cayenne. "There is no telling what may happen to the simplest statement of innocent fact after it has been passed around by the gossips."—Washington Star.

SEVEN TONS OF COAL IS DELIVERED TO VACANT LOT

What the police believe was a neatly executed flim-flam game was reported by the local coal firm of Wadley & Goodenough yesterday afternoon. A man giving the name of Charles King, and claiming to be an agent for the Remington Typewriter Company, stopped at the Madison avenue office and ordered seven tons of coal, giving a $75 check in payment from which he received $20 in change. When the coal was delivered it was found that the address given by King, on West Front street, was a vacant lot.

Here's the Most Interesting Fashion News and Items of Timely Economies--At TEPPER'S--TOMORROW

The new season requirements in wearables and other needs are all here, in styles that are correct and in good taste, in qualities that are dependable and at prices that again demonstrate that you get "more for your money at Teppers." Only a few items selected at random from here and there are given below—examples of the many other worthy values that are not advertised.

You Get More Than Mere 'Style' in the Fall Suit Bought at Tepper's

Down beneath the smart, comely exterior of Tepper Apparel are tailoring points of vital importance which you can't see—may not even realize belong there, but which we KNOW must be the foundation of every garment if it is going to hold its shape and give satisfaction to its wearer.

These little details of inside designing, lining and hidden bits of hand needlework are of as much importance to you as the cut of the garment itself, and our insistence upon having such ideas carried out lets out one of the secrets of the diff rence between Tepper suits and other suits. Yet these very suits—made from the finest materials, in the most up-to-date fashions, don't cost a penny more than inferior garments are generally sold for.

Right now when fall stocks are at the heighth of completeness—both in quality and variety—is the time to make your selection—new suits ar coming in daily—and you had better come tomorrow, when there will be a specially attractive group of models to choose from.

The prices, as always, are the lowest in Plainfield for garments of distinction and quality—

$12.50 up to $35.00.

The new-comers in our Coat Department are smart, exclusive creations from the best makers in America. Prices range from—

$5.95 up to $35.00.

Two Reflections

There are two ways in which we reflect the merchandise in our store. One is by description and illustration—our advertisements. The other is by placing the goods where they may be seen to good advantage by passersby—our show windows.

Thus do we provide two ways of informing you about the newest and choicest merchandise the market affords. Our windows and our ads are always interesting to study—they merit regular and careful inspection by everyone.

Needless to say, prices are made as interesting as the merchandise itself. What you purchase here represents full value for the money expended, not merely sometimes but ALWAYS, and occasionally, an extra - big measure when we offer "specials" through a lucky trade deal by our representatives in New York.

MT. BETHEL GRANGERS TO OPEN MARKET SOON

With the object of doing away with the middleman's profits, an organization known as the Mt. Bethel Grangers, and composed of a large number of Warren township farmers, has leased the store occupied by the Welsh Dairy Co. as a co-operative market.

For some time there has been an agitation on foot here for a city market at which farmers from the Watchung Mountain district can trade. Although the Common Council took steps to solve the problem, nothing as yet has been accomplished.

The lease of the East Front street property, however, will probably cause the old stand to be abandoned and the Council's task of looking for a suitable spot for a city market will probably be rendered unnecessary.

U. S. TO PUT BANKS IN SOUTH AMERICA

Branch Agencies to Be Allowed Federal Reserve Institutions.

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson has approved a suggestion from Secretary McAdoo for the establishment of joint agencies by Federal Reserve banks in the leading cities in Central and South America as a step for strengthening commercial and financial and industrial relations between the United States and the Latin-American countries.

These agencies, it is understood, would perform for the Federal reserve system those foreign functions permitted by the reserve act.

Skinner to Go Back.

Washington, Oct. 8.—After his conference with the Secretary of State, Consul-General Skinner will return to his post at London, according to present plans of the State Department, it was announced today.

Mexican Official Sentenced.

Mexico City, Oct. 8.—Alberto Garcia Grenades, former Minister of the Interior in the cabinet of General Huerta, has been convicted of treason and sentenced to death on the charge that he assisted in the overthrow of President Madero and his subsequent assassination.

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS LOTUS GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The Lotus Glee Club, of New York, opened the fall series of entertainments to be given by the High School lecture course last night at the High School building. A crowd of about 500 heard the concert, which was made up of quartet and solo numbers. The gree club is made up of Harvey Hindermyer, G. Morgan Stricklett, Charles L. Lewis, Larue Boals, Frank J. Smith.

FIRST FALL MEETING.

The first fall meeting of the Chi Gamma Chi will be held in St. Joseph's Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of members is desired. Any girl wishing to join is requested to attend the meeting tonight.

SOLDIERS AND CANES.

English Military Men Must Not Go Out Walking Empty Handed.

It is one of the regulations of the British army that every soldier when walking out must carry in his hand a stick in order to preserve a soldierly appearance and prevent anything like slouching in his gait.

This rule applies to all ranks, and should any one seek to evade it he would find his progress barred by the sentry at the barrack gate or entrance to camp.

Privates generally carry light canes or "swagger sticks," noncommissioned officers fairly stout sticks, and officers invariably go in for the more expensive kind. It is a question that has often been asked, Who first suggested the idea? But nobody seems to know.

From the earliest times drill sergeants and drum majors have carried sticks, and the fashion may have come from that fact. Soldiers as a rule buy their own sticks, but in one or two regiments a recruit is presented with one when he gets his uniform. If this gets lost, however, he has to buy the next and subsequent ones.

There is a story told of a soldier one day who couldn't find his cane and, knowing he would be challenged if he didn't have something in his hand, quietly picked up a poker and passed through the gate all right with it in his fist.—Dundee Advertiser.

HE DWELT IN PEACE.

Revolutions In Haiti Didn't Bother the Old Darky Settler.

During one of the revolutions in Haiti a party of Americans made a riding tour of the mountains. One morning a member of the party suddenly drew rein and pointed to a lone ridge where an old tattered stars and stripes fluttered on a bamboo pole.

"We must pay our respects," some one said.

After some search they found a path that zigzagged up to the wild place. They followed it and at last discovered an aged negro sitting before his wattled hut smoking his pipe, while he kept his eye on the flag.

"What's the flag for?" some one asked.

"Pertection," said the old man quietly. "I heah dey done begin anudder resolution, so I put it up. Yes, suh. I come hear twenty-two yeahs ago, an' has dat flag wid me. I'm George, cook on a steamer outer Savannah.

"Like de place? Yas, suh. Plant yam an' coffee an' cassava. Resolutions don't trouble dis nigger. Ebery time dey resolute yander, up goes de flag, an' dat's all dere's to it."—Washington Star.

Antiquity of the Organ.

The organ is the most magnificent and comprehensive of all musical instruments. While the pipes of Pan, aside from that mythical personage, indicate a very ancient use of pipes as a means of producing musical sounds, the "water organ of the ancients" furnishes to the student of organ history the first tangible clew regarding the remote evolution of the instrument. In the second century the magripha, an organ of ten pipes with a crude keyboard, is said to have existed, but accounts of this instrument are involved in much obscurity. It is averred that an organ, the gift of Constantine, was in the possession of King Pepin of France in 757, but Aldhelm, a monk, makes mention of an organ with "gilt pipes" as far back as the year 700.

Cuts in Parliament.

Lord Londonderry once threw the house of lords into roars of laughter during the debate on the second reading of the Irish land bill by gravely declaring that "this is the reason why you have failed to settle the Irish land question in the future as you have done in the past."

In the course of the same speech he concluded a period with: "This is the keystone of the bill. Are you going to kill it?"

Better still was a sentence which he uttered in 1897 when speaking once more on the Irish land question—"That, your lordship will see," referring to a quotation he had just made, "indorses up to the hilt what I have said."—London Tatler.

Burns as a Tax Collector.

In the olden days candles were taxed articles, and it was the duty of Robert Burns as an excise officer to see that the tax was not evaded. He generally looked the other way, however, as when passing through the kitchen one night at William Lorimer's of Kennishall, where the gudewife was busy making candles, he merely remarked, "Faith, madam, ye're thrang the night," and passed into the parlor.—St. James' Gazette.

No Cause For Him to Complain.

"See here!" remarked the guest to the new waiter. "There doesn't seem to be any soup on this menu card."

"Oh, no, sir!" replied the waiter nervously. "I didn't spill it at this table. It was the one on the other side of the room."

Of Good Repute.

"But what is his reputation? That is the principal thing."

"Well, papa, he is reputed to spend fifty thousand a year. That's good enough for me."—Judge.

A Galley o' Fun!

NO REMEDY.

"After the circus parade had passed yesterday," wearily said the landlord of the Polkville, Ark., tavern, "these two young ladies, Maxine and Lucile, that wait table here, got into sort of a dispute over which of 'em it was that the clown winked at, each claimin' the credit, or discredit, I don't know which. One illustrated her views by beating the other head with the dinner-bell, while the other voiced her opinion with a ketchup bottle. Of course, I understand how, being working ladies, they resent all insinuations that they are in any way inferior; but still, after the ketchup-bottle had spread most of its contents over the scene, and the clapper had flown out of the bell and broken a window, I sorter felt called upon to interfere and stop the fracas.

"No, it ain't worth while to fire 'em. Ladies will be ladies, and there ain't no help for it."

SOCIETY NOTES FROM THE LONDON TIMES.

The betting is 13 to 5 at present that the Duke of Dudbrooke will not get out of goal in time to attend the coronation festivities of King Edward's successor. The Duke is "in" for 14 years.

The Baroness Dill-Biff announces the coming-out party of her accomplished niece, the Hon. Muriel Sponge to take place at an early date at the fine old country place of the Baroness, "Queensbury Hall." Odds of 3 to 1 are offered that the Baroness has no niece; and 9 to 2 that if she has, she won't have the nerve to bring her out.

Lady Lockdough will signalize the opening of the Fall season with an immense ping-pong dinner to over 200 guests. Betting is brisk at 12 to 7 that the bailiffs will be the first guests to arrive.

Society is at a complete loss to understand why Mr. William Waldorf Astor should have presented a handsome hunting-case watch to old Sir Michael Misspent. At any rate, it is universally predicted that Sir Michael will have the ticker up the spout by Thursday week; and, so far as the betting goes, it's a case of write your own ticket.

One of the real events of the season, the garden party of the popular Marchioness De Lush, is on for next month. Odds of 100 to 9 against prevail that the Marquis will not be sober enough to appear.

Young Lord Lodcends came in for his inheritance late last week, the estate consisting mainly of the title and a kennel of hounds. At the Platypus Club they are making up a pool as to whether he marries an American heiress or a Gaiety Girl.

No doubt Sir Tranby Croft is a fortunate card player, but you can obtain even money in any Mayfair drawing-room that he possesses more skill at games of chance than he does at games of skill.

They are nothing if not original at the Trepanned Club. One of its members recently laid another £4,000 even that a horsefly could fly further than a fly horse could flee. So far as is known the stakeholder has not yet rendered his decision.

Bishop Boldnag is a game old sportsman, and one who can not see that a friendly wager interferes with with his standing as a dignitary of the cloth. The Bishop lately offered to bet the Hon. Willoughby Wildrake that the latter would go to Hades when he died; but the Hon. Willoughby declined the wager, even at liberal odds.

The engagement is officially announced of Lady Audrey Axtartar to Lieutenant Henny-Henny, of the Life-guards Green. The odds on 'Change are 23 to 8 that the old Dowager Duchess Axtartar bulldozed Henny-Henny into it; and 17 to 5 is also offered that he will eventually leave the country rather than come up to the scratch.

A NICE POINT.

"Every student of history knows that our Christmas customs are a development of the Roman Saturnalia."

"O, surely not all!"

"I think so."

"No, no! There's no reason to suppose, for instance, that the Romans were all the time being lunched to do their Saturnalian shopping early."

"Dress Up, Men"

TEN THOUSAND MERCHANTS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY ARE sounding this message today. You will see it in every newspaper you'll pick up.

WHY? NOT JUST TO SELL CLOTHES. There's a much greater reason behind it than that. Something that concerns and affects every man, woman and child of the hundred million in this country.

IT IS THIS. FOR THE PAST YEAR EVERYONE HAS been afraid of hard times, people economized, kept their money in the banks, talked war, and looked for trouble. Trouble never came, but everybody was afraid it would.

IN THE MEANTIME THE WORLD BOUGHT OF US millions of dollars worth of merchandise of all kinds. The banks became full of money. Enormous international loans accumulated in this country. Conditions improved.

PROSPERITY ARRIVED. IT IS HERE NOW. But thousands of people can't realize it. They haven't DRESSED UP—they're afraid to feel prosperous.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? WHY, DRESS UP. Look the facts in the face. Look prosperous, feel prosperous, talk prosperity and cheer up. You'll see all your neighbors dress up and cheer up, too.

Set a good example—you've got plenty of reason to help the good cause along.

OUR ICY OCTOPUS.

Mount Rainier and Its Majestic Frozen Rivers.

GRIPPED BY GIANT GLACIERS

Their Huge, Wrinkled, Frosty Arms Reach Down and Out Among the Most Luxuriant Masses of Wild Flowers to Be Found In This Country.

A frozen octopus of enormous bulk whose glittering armored body rises three miles into the sky, with twenty or more huge wrinkled arms reaching down among thousands of acres of the most gorgeous and luxuriant wild flowers to squirt from each fingertip a river of ice water into the valley below!

Surely a quotation from the "Arabian Nights" or a ghost tale to frighten children on Halloween!

But no. However figurative, this is a true statement of an actual fact. There really exists such an ice armored octopus in these United States. It is a justifiable description of the most interesting mountain in Uncle Sam's dominions and perhaps in the world.

Mount Rainier is in the state of Washington, fifty-six miles southwest of Tacoma. It is one of that celebrated range of volcanoes which were supposed to be extinct until Lassen peak broke forth again. Rainier, though supporting one of the most remarkable single peak glacial systems in the world, emits steam from certain crevices, evidence of present internal heat.

In height Rainier is second in the United States only to Mount Whitney. The altitude of the main summit has for many years been in doubt. Several figures have been announced from time to time, no two of them in agreement with each other, but all of these, it is to be observed, were obtained by more or less approximate methods. In 1913 the United States geological survey, in connection with its topographic surveys of the Mount Rainier National park, made a new series of measurements by triangulation methods at close range. These give the peak an elevation of 14,408 feet. This last figure is not likely to be in error by more than a foot or two and may with some confidence be regarded as final. Greater exactness of determination is scarcely practicable in the case of Mount Rainier, as its highest summit consists actually of a mound of snow, the height of which naturally varies somewhat with the seasons and from year to year.

This crowning snow mound, which was once supposed to be the highest point in the United States, still bears the proud name of Columbia crest. It is essentially a huge snowdrift or snow dune heaped up by the furious westerly winds.

Six great glaciers originate at the very summit. They are the Nisqually, the Ingraham, the Emmons, the Winthrop, the Tahoma and the Kautz glaciers. But many of great size and stateliness are born of the snows in rock pockets or cirques—ice sculptured bowls of great dimensions and ever increasing depth—from which they merge into the glistening armor of the huge volcano. The most distinguished of these are the Cowlitz, the Paradise, the Frying Pan, the Carbon, the Russell, the North and South Mowich, the Puyallup and the Pyramid glaciers.

More than twenty glaciers, great and small, clothe Rainier—rivers of ice, with many of the characteristics of rivers of water, roaring at times over precipices like waterfalls, rippling and tumbling down rocky slopes, veritable noisy cascades, rising smoothly up on hidden rocks to foam, brooklike, over its lower edges.

Each glacier, whether originating in the bright summit or in vast springlike cirques, begins in even, immaculate snow. A thousand feet or so below it attains sufficient density and weight to acquire movement. Here, looking down into a crevasse, one sees nothing but clean snow, piled in layers—slightly compacted and loosely granular snow, called neve in the Swiss Alps. Gradually as the current sweeps along it compacts, under the pressure and the surface meltings, into hard, dense, blue ice.

In glowing contrast to this marvelous spectacle of ice are the gardens of wild flowers surrounding the glaciers, pushing, wherever the rock and ice will permit, up the giant slopes. These flowery spots are called parks—Spray park, St. Andrews park, Henry's hunting ground, Paradise, Summerland and many others.

"Above the forests," writes John Muir, "there is a zone of the loveliest flowers, fifty miles in circuit and nearly two miles wide, so closely planted and luxurious that it seems as if nature, glad to make an open space between woods so dense and ice so deep, were economizing the precious ground and trying to see how many of her darlings she can get together in one mountain wreath—daisies, anemones, columbine, erythroniums, larkspurs, etc., among which we wade knee deep and waist deep, the bright corollas in myriads touching petal to petal. Altogether this is the richest subalpine garden I have ever found, a perfect flower elysium."

The lower altitudes of the park are densely timbered with fir, cedar, hemlock, maple, alder, cottonwood and spruce. The forested areas, extending to an altitude of about 6,500 feet, gradually decrease in density of growth after an altitude of 4,000 feet is reached, and the high, broad plateaus between the glacial canyons present incomparable scenes of diversified beauties, seemingly arranged to suit every taste.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO CONVENE HERE

Work to Be Demonstrated, Addresses, Music and Banquets to Be Features.

Workers have about completed preparations for the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Union County Sunday-School Association, which will be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Thursday, October 21. An elaborate program has been prepared, and the arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors will be of unusual interest.

The morning session will be devoted largely to routine business, reading of reports and describing some of the work accomplished during the past year, followed by an address on Sabbath-school subjects.

During the afternoon session experts will demonstrate some of the work of Sunday-school departments. Other features will be introduced at this session to add interest and profit to the occasion.

The evening session will be featured by two addresses, one by Frank L. Brown, general secretary of the World Sunday-school Association, and by Rev. George P. Howard, Sunday-school missionary for South America.

The music for the convention will be led by a female cornetist, and for the first 125 delegates to arrive for the morning session a neat leather-covered pocket memorandum book will be given.

A supper for Sunday-school superintendents will be given in the Seventh-Day Adventist church on Central avenue.

LOCAL FIREMEN ELECT DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

Local No. 7, of the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association, of this city, met at fire headquarters on East Second street, last night, and elected the following delegates to the annual convention at Passaic on October 25: James McDonough, Daniel Keiderling and Harry Wierenga. A considerable amount of business is to be transacted at the convention and the Plainfielders will take an important part in the proceedings. Captain William F. Townley was elected a member of the executive committee of the local organization.

The business session was followed by an oyster supper, in which all the members participated. The oysters were prepared by James McDonough, assisted by his brother, Roy McDonough, both of whom are experts in serving the delicious bivalve.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Mary Pickford will make her first appearance in Plainfield this afternoon at the Astor Theatre in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the drama written by Frances Hodgson Burnett, the leading role of which was created by Miss Mary Robson, now Mrs. August Belmont. Most persons who have seen Miss Pickford in recent vehicles on the screen have, of course, marveled at the nobility of her countenance. In certain scenes in "A Dawn of a Tomorrow," Miss Pickford's hands are bent and twisted and tortured and flung above her head as if they clutched desperately at the visible web of destiny that enveloped her.

Cast and Wrought Iron.

In a paper recently read before the Society of Chemical Industry the statement was made that the strength of cast iron was affected by the addition of wrought iron in the following proportions: With 100 parts of cast iron ten parts of wrought iron increase the strength 2 per cent; twenty parts of wrought iron increase the strength 32 per cent; thirty parts of wrought iron increase the strength 60 per cent; forty parts of wrought iron increase the strength only 33 per cent. The maximum result is therefore produced with 30 per cent wrought scrap.—Indianapolis News.

The Harm of Damp Houses.

It is dangerous to health and even life in a damp, moldy house or one built over a moldy cellar. Many years ago the London Lancet in an article on diphtheria traced the disease in certain cases to the presence of certain molds and fungoid growths which seemed to be breathed into the throat. Remember, one of the best disinfectants is lime. Moldy cloths, such as shoes and other articles that are unfit for use, should be destroyed at once.

LEGEND OF THE ROBIN.

Indian Story of How the Brave Bird Got Its Red Breast.

When white men first came far across the sea to this country they found many birds such as they had never seen before. But they found one which they liked best of all. It had a pretty red breast, and they called it robin, for its red breast made them think of a bird back in the old home which they loved most of all.

The Indians had a story about how the robin got its red breast. They said it happened a long time ago, when there was only one fire in all the cold far north.

A hunter and his son kept the fire burning day and night until the father fell ill, and the son had to watch the fire all alone. The great white bear was waiting for a chance to put the fire out so he could have all the north to himself. He saw the boy fall asleep; then he jumped on the fire with his wet feet and put it out.

But a gray robin saw him, and when he was gone she pecked about in the ashes till she found a tiny live coal. She fanned it with her wings until it blazed out and turned her breast red. Then she flew away to every hut in the cold north. Wherever she touched the ground a fire sprang up, and soon there were plenty of fires to keep the people warm. After that the robin's breast was always red instead of gray. —Exchange.

LESSON OF THE LETTERS.

A Warning the Thoughtful Old Lady Gave the Heedless Young One.

They were two women, one young, radiant; the other gently, beautifully old.

"But, auntie, it's such fun."

The older rose.

"Wait."

In a moment she had returned. Two faded, yellow letters lay upon the young girl's lap.

"Read them."

Wonderingly the girl obeyed. The first read:

"Dearest—I leave you to John. It is plain you care for him. I love you. Just now it seems that life without you is impossible. But I can no longer doubt. If you cared there would be no doubt. John is my friend. I would rather see you his than any other's, since you cannot be mine. God bless you. WILL."

The other:

"Beloved—I am leaving you to the better man. For me there can never be another love. But it is best—it is the right thing—and I am—yes, I am glad that it is Will you love instead of me. You cannot be anything but happy with him. With me—but that is a dream I must learn to forget. As ever and ever, JOHN."

—Joseph Hall in Life.

How the Roman Empire Grew.

Rome was founded 750 B. C., the kings were expelled 509 B. C., and it was not until 290 B. C., 460 years after the founding of the city, that the Romans conquered their immediate neighbors, the Samnites, Latins, etc. It was not until 266 B. C., following the defeat of Pyrrhus, that Rome was supreme in Italy, from the southern boundary of Cisalpine Gaul to the Sicilian strait. For 350 years, from the foundation of the city, the Romans could stand on the hills of their city and almost look across their entire territory, as it stretched away only some twenty miles on either hand. After the consolidation of their power in Italy, however, it took them but 150 years to conquer the world.

TRY A PRESS WANT AD

"Oh, father," she cried, "I want it to play with!"

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Spoiled Princess Who Wanted the Rainbow.

"WHO is hungry for a fairy story?" asked daddy.

"I have never heard enough fairy stories!" cried Evelyn.

"Once upon a time there was a little princess who had been petted so much she was quite spoiled. She had beautiful golden hair, as princesses have a strange habit of having, and no brothers or sisters to ever share things with, so she was quite sure that whatever she wanted very much she could have if she only cried hard enough or kept on asking for it. One summer day a beautiful shower came to freshen the dry land, and when the sun suddenly came out of the clouds again Mother Nature hung a charming rainbow high across the sky like a huge sash to celebrate her glory of rain."

"Was the rainbow as pretty as Evelyn's sash?" asked Jack.

"Prettier," said daddy. "It was red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet—a big wide band that hung way across the kingdom. Now it happened that one end of the rainbow lay in a dell that the little spoiled princess used to play in.

"'Oh, father,' she cried to the king, 'the rainbow is in my dell! I want it to play with!'

"The king was very fond of his little daughter and had really been the one who spoiled her. So he ordered his courtiers to send a band of elves quick as lightning to get the rainbow before it faded."

"Did the elves capture it?" asked Jack, much excited.

"The elves dashed off like a little army, glad to do the bidding of their king. They rushed through the pretty dell, tripped over ferns, made a circle around the glowing end and were just lifting it on to their backs when a cloud sailed over the face of the sun and entirely spoiled the rainbow."

"They were very disappointed. But they formed in ranks like little men and marched back to the castle to tell the king.

"The little spoiled princess was on her balcony, watching them come empty handed. The elves bowed very low and told her how sorry they were. But the spoiled little princess behaved very badly. She went into a dreadful temper, kicked the balcony with her new kid shoes and screamed that the king would punish them. When the king saw what a temper she was in, to stop her he ordered the elves to be turned into hoptoads as punishment for something they had no power to help. And that is why when we go to walk after supper we see so many hoptoads under the trees instead of elves," said daddy.

Household Hints

PEACHES ARE GOOD, FRESH OR PRESERVED

Peach Cottage Pudding—Stir sliced peaches into a batter made of one-half cup sugar, three tablespoons melted butter, one beaten egg, one cup of milk, one pint flour, three teaspoons baking powder. Bake in a loaf. Serve with hard sauce.

Peach Ice Cream—Three eggs separated, two cups sugar beaten with the yolks. Add one pint cream and one quart milk, beat the whites of the eggs and mix well. Flavor with vanilla. Peel six large peaches, cut into fine pieces, mix with three tablespoons powdered sugar. Stir into the cream and freeze.

Peach Custard—One pint of hot milk, add one-eighth teaspoon salt, quarter cup sugar, beat three eggs and add, stir constantly. Cook in a double boiler until mixture thickens. Cool and flavor. Arrange alternate layers of stale cake and peaches, then pour over the custard.

Peach Delight—Three tablespoonfuls tapioca, 1½ cupfuls water, sugar to taste, pinch of salt and boil until clear. Add one-half teaspoon of vanilla, 1½ cupfuls of ripe peaches sliced, pour into a baking dish and bake twenty minutes, take out of the oven and cover top with marshmallows, set about one-half inch apart, put back in oven until marshmallows are partly melted and slightly browned. Serve cold with thin cream.

LAUNDERING HINT

There is a simple method of pressing embroidery which most persons use, yet there is one small but important item that is seldom considered.

The pressing is done over a heavy padding or toweling. Turkish toweling is excellent, but the imprint is apt to show, especially if the embroidered article is of a delicate material. To avoid this place an old piece of fine muslin between the toweling and the embroidery.

The majority of people press directly on the back of the embroidered article with the iron. This is a great mistake, as the iron may catch on a thread and cut or strain the stitches. Always place a thin piece of muslin over the wrong side and press over it, so the iron does not come in direct contact with any of the threads. You will find your embroidered centerpieces, etc., will last longer, as it is largely due to careless laundering that many pieces wear out so quickly.

When the embroidery is in eyelet stitch or radio punch work, use a stiletto each time after laundering and the work will look like new. For the eyelets use the stiletto, pushing it through the wrong side, so the raised rim appears to be on the right side. In radio punch work the effect is better if the stiletto is pushed through the tiny openings from the right side.

THE TABLE

Dandy Meat Loaf—Mix one pound round steak (ground), half pound sausage meat or fresh pork, one cup milk, half cup cracker crumbs, one egg, pepper and salt to taste (a little onion if liked). Form into loaf, lay in pan. Strain a can of tomatoes, pour over loaf and bake from three-quarters to one hour.

Honey Salad Dressing—Beat together three tablespoons of olive oil, two tablespoons of honey, a tablespoon of lemon juice and a few grains of salt. Use at once.

Orange Omelet—Beat yolks of five eggs until light, then beat in three tablespoons of powdered sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt and half cup orange juice; last of all, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Turn into hot buttered pan and cook carefully, as the sugar browns very quickly. When firm in the center, remove pan, invert the omelet on a hot platter and sprinkle well with powdered sugar. This will serve nicely four people.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME—

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRAND—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectinvely, to gain.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"It's lovely to have a birthday on Thanksgiving, you're sure to get a big birthday dinner," chuckled Dick.

"Once in six years at least," said his father, making a preparatory flourish with his carving knife over the beautifully browned turkey before him.

"I've always spent the birthdays that came on Thanksgiving at home, never missed one, and now that we seem likely to stay in Fairport it looks as if I could always do it."

"Did I tell you about the letter I received from Scott, congratulating me on my recent purchase of stock in the firm? He says he is sure it will be a good thing for me financially and he is personally glad that the shares went to some one that they like and would enjoy being associated with in business as well as socially," continued Dick, "and he adds this significant sentence: 'Perhaps it may mean a closer connection with the business later on.'"

"We are proud that you are making good," said his father, passing him a plate loaded with good things.

"We certainly have everything to be thankful for." Nell's face was radiant. "A happy home, our health, and a fine prospect, thanks to your generosity. We would never have been able to purchase the stock without your help."

"And there would not have been anything to purchase with, if mother hadn't saved the oil stock by her efforts," said Father Morton, smiling at his wife.

"Since we are telling what we are thankful for, I'll say I am thankful Nell and Dick are going to have a new home." Mrs. Morton smiled at her husband, and the children exchanged glances.

"A new home, what do you mean?" asked Dick.

"Tell them, Pa." The old lady rose to look after the dessert.

"Well, mother and I have talked the thing over and we have come to the conclusion that if we could do a little for you now, it would help more than to have all your vast inheritance come at once after we are gone." The old man chuckled softly to himself. "So we have decided to buy you a lot in Fairport. That will make it possible for you to build a home and pay for it on the installment plan, enjoying it all the while you are paying for it."

"They must have heard about the landlord's asking us to move," thought Dick.

"Father!" exclaimed Nell.

"It certainly is like you to think of such a thing," began Dick after a moment's pause, "but you mustn't do it. You have done too much already. It isn't as if you were rich. You have worked hard for everything you have and now you are old and must take it easy and will need all your little savings. We are young and can earn our way and get along without luxuries until we can afford them."

"We are not likely to scrape the bottom of the kettle yet a while and we shall enjoy seeing you in your own home, and besides I think you will learn to be more economical if you have a big thing like that to pay for. A horse going up hill with a big load will put his head down and dig right in. That's what we hope this will make you do, both of you," said Mother Morton, coming into the room.

"There is a fine well shaded lot just beyond the doctor's house that we have been looking at and if that suits you, we will buy it, and you can get the foundation in this fall."

Nell had risen to help clear the table, but instead of removing the platter she put her arms around the old man's neck and buried her face in his shoulder. He patted her cheek as she whispered, "dear father, how good you are to us."

On the way out with the platter she met Mother Morton with a tray; she stopped and put up her mouth to be kissed.

"The love that prompted your gift is more precious than the gift itself," she said. "We will never forget this Thanksgiving day."

"I see now why you were willing I should present the lovely old clock I found up in the attic. We will plan a fine place for it in the new house," said Nell when Mother Morton returned to the kitchen.

SEMI-FITTED DRESSES

No. 9122.

The semi-fitted dress has become and will remain for some time a favorite. This is not odd for it is not alone easier to make and smarter in appearance, but it is a pleasant relief from the tighter tailored garments of the preceding season. A good example is the above illustration—Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9122. This dress has a semi-fitted lining with yoke section front and back, and full length or shorter sleeves. The dress opens on the left shoulder and under arm seam and the lining opens at the center back—the dress at this point is 56 inches long—sash and hem facing ribbon. The dress cuts in 6 sizes, 34 to 44, size 36 requiring 5¼ yards of 36 inch material, 2⅝ yards of 3 inch banding for hem facing, ¾ yards of 36 inch contracting material, ¾ yards 36 inch lining and 3 yards ribbon for sash.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Company.

—Every "Help Wanted" advertisement has a strong "news value."

—Those accustomed to getting SERVICE from the classified columns would consider it a very foolish thing to do to pay too much rent, either for a store, a house, an apartment or a furnished room.

Promenade des Toilettes at Gimbel Brothers

Costumes Combine Grace, Beauty and Charm.

One thing was made clear at the exhibition of French models held yesterday afternoon at Gimbel Brothers'—clothes are becoming more like clothes this year, that is they are not intended solely as a decoration, designed with no consideration for the wearer's comfort or convenience.

Most of the new models are wearable. The average woman can put them on and look gracefully, charmingly garbed. In one of them the—casual observer will not mistake her for a poster nor yet for a paid manikin. She will look merely like a smart woman dressed in a smart frock, and that, after all, is the highest compliment one can pay any sort of a gown.

Of course, there are a few freakish fashions — any sartorial exhibition would not be complete without a bit of eccentricity—but, fortunately for women in general, fashions this year are particularly free from objectionable features, and grace and beauty characterize the best frocks.

Wine red, bottle green, deep purple and of course black and navy blue are the colors most in favor for suits. As for materials, velvet is much used and the trimming consists chiefly of fur. It appears at the hem of skirts in broad bands. Coats are bound with yards and yards of precious pelts, cuffs are deep and collars are almost invariably of the "choker" variety.

That this undoubtedly will be a prosperous season for the furriers one cannot help but prophesy, as one sees model after model trimmed with fur, here, there and everywhere.

Half of the style of a walking suit depends this season upon the boots worn with the costume. At Gimbels one sees an excellent assortment of styles, all given great prominence by the shortness of the skirts. Russian boots seem to be the most popular form of foot covering. A pair of this order is in a dark bottle green kid, but just the right touch to a dark green suit with which the boots were worn.

But woe betide the woman who has big feet who attempts to hide their size in a pair of Russian boots. She will only succeed in adding several inches to their length and breadth.

Next to the shoe of Russian origin comes the fur trimmed boot, this being a novelty which promises to meet with great favor. For those who do not care for such eccentricities there are any number of smartly cut shoes with uppers of numerous colors.

Costumes for Evening.

So much for the daytime. Now let us turn on the lights and turn to the evening costumes. Never have they been so lovely as they are this year. Everything from debutante dance frocks to the matrons dignified but highly chic dinner gown of black velvet and jet, shows the touch of a master hand in its making. Beautiful and extremely graceful is the black velvet gowns, with its skirt, which is short in the front and falls in a train in the back. This is one of the novelties introduced this season which is apt to prove highly popular on account of its convenience.

A beautiful gown by Weeks is in brilliant green and is made almost entirely of spangles. Jenny, Callot, Paquin, Worth, all the biggest French modistes are represented in the Gimbel exhibition by stunning models, which must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated.

DEDICATES NEW BUILDING.

Exeter, N. H., Oct. 8.—Phillips Exeter Academy will dedicate its new building tomorrow, at the annual celebration of Founders' Day. An interesting program has been arranged, including speeches by President Hibben, of Princeton; Thomas W. Lamont, of New York, and others, a luncheon and a football game.

COLLIER SLATED FOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE PRESIDENCY--IMPORTANT SESSION TONIGHT

City Basketball League officials will meet in editorial rooms of the Daily Press tonight for the purpose of putting the finishing touches on the season's arrangements. Permanent officers will be named at that time, and in all likelihood a tentative schedule will be introduced. The constitution will also be passed upon at this gathering, and all managers have been notified to have a tentative set of players ready for presentation.

It is proposed to send the season on its way the first week in November, and much activity has been noticed during the past week on the part of teams holding franchises. The Y. M. C. A. has held practices, and the Columbus Club team held its initial meeting last night.

Referees to handle the season's games will also probably be selected at tonight's meeting. A number of names have been suggested, but the nominations will have to be ratified by the entire governing body.

Rumor has it that Paul R. Collier, the local sporting goods merchant, is slated for the league presidency. A better man than Collier would be hard to single out, as he is well acquainted with the game, both as a player and manager, and would no doubt prove a thoroughly competent and satisfactory leader for the organization.

HARRY GRANT, NOTED RACER, DIED EARLY THIS MORNING

New York, Oct. 8.—Harry F. Grant, twice winner of the Vanderbilt Cup race, died early this morning in the Coney Island Hospital of burns he suffered a week ago last Monday, when his automobile caught fire on the Sheepshead Bay Speedway.

$10,000 HORSE RACE.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 8.—A match race for $10,000 has been arranged between the pacers Judge Ormonde and Hal Boy, to be decided before the regular program of the Grand Circuit meeting here next Tuesday afternoon. R. J. McKenzie, a wealthy Canadian sportsman, is the backer of Hal Boy, while C. A. Valentine, a trainer, of Columbus, O., is backing Judge Ormonde. The race will be three in five heats, Hal Boy to be driven by "Dick" McMahon and Judge Ormonde by Valentine. The backers of the horses have deposited $5,000 each with the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association.

ROY PHILLIPS WILL OFFICIATE AT GAME

Referee Task at Plainfield-Passaic Contest Will Be Well Taken Care of.

The Passaic High School football warriors will come to this city tomorrow well prepared to give the P. H. S. gridiron artists the tussle of their lives. The changes in the local lineup will be of little account, if any changes are made at all. At quarterback "Herb" Peacock and Pete Alpaugh are rivals, with the latter having the upper hand. In fact, Alpaugh seems to be the "find" of the season.

In the line Samloch may be the man who will be lifted from the fray. Samloch, who has not fully recovered from the effects of a "Charley horse," is "green" at the gridiron game, although he is always there with the "pep." As usual, Bill Daniels and Jim Noonan are looked upon as the mainstays of the aggressive section of the home guard, while Sammie Davidson and Dave Fitch demonstrated last Saturday that they can be depended upon to tackle anything that comes their way.

Nothing, really, is definitely known of the visiting eleven except that it comes here with a "rep." The fact that it comes from the vicinity of Paterson seems to have surrounded them with an atmosphere of unusual strength and spirit.

Parker Field will again be the scene of the game and according to those who ought to know, Roy Phillips will referee.

"LION HEART" FOURTH.

Though a rainstorm marred the social features usually incidental to the Morristown Horse Show, the opening of this year's exhibition yesterday afternoon was not marred so far as the judging went. The officials kept right at their work, attired in raincoats and rubbers, and the amateur and professional riders and drivers put their entries through their paces despite the downpour. There was a large field of hunters and jumpers. In Class 42, open to all hunters, "Lion Heart," of the Donnybrook Farm, captured fourth place.

THE BROCKTON MARATHON.

Brockton, Mass., Oct. 8.—The annual marathon race, from Boston to the Brockton Fair, to finish in the fair grounds, will be run today. A bronze trophy goes to the winner and silver cups for the next four to finish. The runners will start at noon.

PROGRAM FOR BOY SCOUT FIELD DAY

Official List of Events for Annual Affair on October 12.

WILL AWARD POINTS

Blind Boy Scout Troop, of New York, to Be Guest of Local Organization—Another Contribution to the Building Fund.

Deputy Commissioner F. E. Bach, of the local Boy Scout movement, has completed arrangements for bringing to this city the blind boy scout troop of a New York, Tuesday morning, October 12. This is an organization of boy scouts trained in scoutcraft, although not one of them is able to distinguish objects. This troop is the marvel of scout officials everywhere for the excellence of its work and the fine drilling it does. They are being brought to this city as guests of the local Boy Scouts, in charge of their scoutmaster, who himself is partially blind.

The building committee reports a further reduction in the amount yet due on the new structure completed on Terrill road, in the sum of $5, contributed by L. V. F. Randolph. This contribution brings the total remaining indebtedness down to $81.

Official programs for the Boy Scout Field Day contain the following events and the rules governing same. The following are the revised regulations adopted by the field day committee, of which Paul R. Collier is chairman. A prize will be offered for the out-of-town troop making the best demonstration:

1. Parade and grand ensemble starting from First Baptist church, Front and Grove streets, 12:30 sharp. Troops form in numerical order, led by fife and drum corps. Guests in centre. Ten points to count for local patrol showing best form in review before grand stand at Parker Field.

2. Barrier climb—10 points. Patrols of eight to compete. Leaders may fill vacancies caused by absentees. Rubber soled shoes permitted. Barrier 10 feet high, 4 ft. wide at top. Teams must be in uniform consisting of coat or shirt, trousers, leggings or stockings. Each scout must have staff when starting and finishing. Start 25 yards from barrier and finish 25 yards behind it. Best form and greatest number finishing out of each patrol in shortest time to score.

3. Rope casting—5 points. First cast to count. Throw rope 125 ft. long over mark. Score goes to scout having straightest rope nearest center of mark. Accuracy and distance to count. One competitor from each patrol.

(B) Knot tying—5 points. One picked competitor from each patrol to tie any four knots judge may select from handbook. Quickness to score.

4. Water boiling competition—5 points. Teams of two representing each patrol. Wood, two matches, quart tin pail and one pint of water. Scout provides everything but water and wood. Equipment will consist of ax, knife, in addition to pail, matches and wood. At starting scouts will select wood from brush heap; the first pail to show bubbles all over entire surface wins. One competitor per patrol.

(B) Produce fire by friction (sticks or flint and steel)—5 points. Time to count from first draw of bow or first stroke of flint until flame bursts. (Record 31 seconds.)

Extra event. Open demonstration for out-of-town troops. Special prize, pennant offered by Schwed Brothers. Novelty and form of execution to count. Winner to be decided by judges.

5. Tower building—5 points. Any number of scouts in troop up to 16 can compete. Height, time, stability and form to count. Time to be taken until signaller reaches top and semaphores letter "R."

(B) Signalling—5 points. Semaphore exclusively. Teams of four representing each patrol, sender, receiver, sender's aide, and receiver's aide. At starting receiver and writer will run to point 100 yards away. The sender will be given a message of 16 letters. Writer will take message as received and when completed will report to judges. Time and accuracy to count. Messages not making sense may be thrown out. Incorrect letters will add three seconds to time.

6. Patrol surprises—10 points. Great secrecy is maintained regarding the features for this event. Each scout is on his honor not to reveal any of the features of this event. Ingenuity and general workmanship in construction and execution to count. Presentation period—5 minutes.

7. Firemen's carrying competition—10 points. Teams of two, one of whom is patient. Patients lie in long line perfectly still. Any patient moving or assisting fireman will be ruled out. Lifters to assemble at point opposite patients, proceed at whistle, lift patient to proper position and return to starting point. Form counts first. Speed, in case of tie, will be basis of judging.

8. First aid competition—5 points. (Dr. Corbusier competition first aid pennant.) To be won twice in succession by same patrol. Won last year by First Aid Patrol, Troop 5, Thomas P. Fitch, leader. Bandage head, elbow with two inch roll bandage. Demonstrate Schaefer method of resuscitating drowned or asphyxiated person, split leg for fracture of bone between thigh and knee and demonstrate fireman's lift, carrying patient with leg splinted to position before judges.

(B) First aid to animals—5 points. Mrs. Stephen G. Von Hoeson prize. Best demonstration of proper treatment to injured animal, one-half to count for ingenuity of demonstration.

9. Track cart drill—10 points. Teams of 8. Vacancies may be filled. Line up 100 yards from grandstand facing judges. At signal start and run toward grandstand 25 yard. Stop, dismount cart from wheels, load wheels on body and carry 25 yards, stop, remount carts on wheels and run to finishing line. First cart wheels passing tape to win. Time and form to count.

10. Scout page—5 points. Teams of four competing. One quarter mile in three minutes. Fifty steps running and fifty steps walking alternately. Scouts coming within safety zone at expiration of three minutes to win. In case of tie, same to be run off, one scout to patrol.

(B) Horse and rider—5 points. Teams of two from each patrol. Rider uses both hands. House uses one. Slugging will mean disbarment of competitor. Field twenty-five feet square.

General rules have been formulated as follows: The patrol making the greatest number of points out of possible 100 will be acclaimed champion. Scoutmasters will have their competing scouts ready to respond to bugle call immediately. Laggards may be disbarred from competing in events. A space of 25 yards wide must be kept clear of scouts in front of the grandstand. Bulletin will announce events.

TENNIS TOURNEY TO BE PLAYED MONDAY

Bad Weather Forces High School Players to Postpone Play.

The tennis singles for the championship of North Plainfield High School will commence Monday afternoon. The tournament was originally planned to start this afternoon, but owing to the inclemency of the weather this was found impossible.

Ten pupils have entered the tournament, and the drawings were made yesterday afternoon. Sidney Dunning or Sherman Chandler stand out prominently as winners of this event, both playing strong games, and either one will undoubtedly annex the championship and the silver loving cup.

The following pairs will meet in the first round: Sherman Chandler vs. Nathan Clay, William Kenworthy vs. Richard Sill, Le Roy Force vs. Lee McGee, George Fisher vs. Irving Scarborough, and Sidney Dunning vs. Warren Townley.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

At Assembly exercises this morning Coach Ralph Patch urged the pupils to be on hand when the local warriors meet Passaic on Parker Field tomorrow. He also asked them to "yell" under the guidance of the new cheer-leader, Carlton Dunham.

Professor George W. Wriston also addressed the pupils at the exercises this morning. His mission was to urge a larger number of candidates to come out for the minstrel show, practice for which will be held the early part of next week.

Bref exercises commemorating Columbus Day will be held Monday morning. There will be no school on Tuesday.

Football schedules presented by the Plainfield Daily Press were distributed this morning.

The first meetings of the newly-formed Alpha and Omega Literary Clubs will be held Monday afternoon.

Today is known in High School annals as "Safety First" day. At the exercises this morning Mr. Best spoke on the subject, emphasizing the need of "keeping one's head when excitement of any kind prevails." Fire drills are held at certain intervals throughout the school year, and these tend greatly to carry out the "Safety First" idea.

The girls' swimming classes will begin on Tuesday, the instructor being Miss Ruth I. Wean. A representative school team, in addition to four class teams, will be formed. This same policy will be carried out in basketball circles, practice for which began last week.

Members of the B. A. A. have for sale season tickets which admit one to all the football and basketball games scheduled for this season. The N. P. H. S. contests are not included in this "bargain."

At a G. A. A. meeting held this morning the following girls were nominated for offices: The Misses Irma Good, Florence Ryder, Florence Nelson, Ruth Fuller, Jennie Bremble, Monty Taylor, Natalie Goetter, Clementine Bremble, Mildred Burnett and Alice Cohen.

John C. Evans, head of the commercial department, presided at the Commercial Club meeting this afternoon. After the routine business was transacted a general good time was enjoyed.

The Somerville High School may not observe Columbus Day, and, as a result, the scheduled tilt with the locals may take place Wednesday.

WANT DONATIONS.

The Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild will receive donations of flowers, vegetables, delicacies and food suitable for the sick, Monday afternoon from 4 to 6, and Tuesday morning from 9 to 10:30 o'clock, in the rooms of the W. C. T. U., 19 Madison avenue, Babcock building. Persons having no way of sending may notify J. M. Harper, 237 East Sixth street, telephone 758-W, and a messenger will call for same.

NIGHT SCHOOLS TO OPEN.

The night schools will be open in Plainfield on Monday, October 18. Sessions will be held at the High School.

PREPARING TAX BILLS.

Tax Collector William R. Townsend is now busily engaged in preparing tax bills to be sent out soon.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD HEARS SUFF TALKS

Mrs. R. C. T. Perkins and Mrs. B. H. Jennings Address Meeting There

Mrs. R. C. Talbot Perkins was the principal speaker at a meeting of the North Middlesex Equal Suffrage League held in the firehouse in South Plainfield, Thursday. A good audience heard her address in spite of the rain. In her argument for suffrage for women, Mrs. Perkins said, "Housekeeping is a woman's business and her success depends not only on herself, but on the way her town is governed—the control of food, lights, water, health, education, morals and all living conditions is today in the hands of the official of the town and it is only common justice and common sense to let the woman in the home share in electing the men on whom the comfort of the home depends."

Mrs. Bertha H. Jennings also spoke in favor of suffrage.

EXPERT OPENS SAFE.

The management of the A. & P. Tea Co., on West Front street, was confronted with a problem yesterday morning, when it was found impossible to open the store safe. All efforts for several hours failed to swing the door until Samuel Clouston, of Craig place, an expert on combinations, was pressed into service. Mr. Clouston spent two hours tinkering with the mechanism, and finally opened the safe without injuring any of the parts. The successful man was employed for a number of years by the Manganese Safe Company, of this city, and has on many occasions swung open big vaults that were locked tight through a shift of the combination.

RELIEF CORPS SOCIAL.

The dime social given by the Women's Relief Corps at Washington Headquarters, last night, proved one of the most successful ever held by the organization, a large turnout of members and their friends spending an enjoyable time playing games, singing and dancing. Dainty refreshments were served the attendants. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Annie L. Smith, chairman; Mrs. A. Townley, Mrs. Ada T. England, Mrs. Mary E. Kitchell, Miss Edna Smith and Mrs. Mary Brewin.

FOLEY—DONNELLY.

Miss Elizabeth Foley and Henry Donnelly, both of Plainfield, were married at St. Mary's church, Wednesday evening, Father Bernard M. Bogan officiating. A reception followed at 317 Stebbins place. The couple will reside in Plainfield after a trip.

Percy H. Stewart, of West Seventh street, returned yesterday from the military training camp at Plattsburg, N. Y.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS WITH REGARD TO STREET NUMBERS

Notice is hereby given that on and after November 1, 1915, proceedings will be taken to enforce compliance with the provisions of the Ordinance approved December 5, 1910, requiring numbers to be placed in a substantial manner, and conspicuously, on the front part of each house and store fronting on the public streets, avenues, roads and lanes of the city. The proper numbers may be obtained from tax bills or by application to the Collector of Taxes, at 151 North Avenue. In order to comply with the law, numbers must be plainly visible from the sidewalk.

THREE GOVERNORSHIP CAMPAIGNS ARE ON

Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky Hold Centre of Political Stage.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky hold the center of the political stage this fall, for they are the only States that will hold elections prior to the spring primaries of 1916, to furnish straws that may show which way the presidential wind blows. The Democrats in these three States have asked the White House for help in their local campaigns, for they realize that anything approaching an endorsement or a repudiation of their party as a result of the State elections might have an important effect upon the political future. A few speeches are wanted to set the pace for the voters, but President Wilson will undoubtedly adhere to his plan of keeping out of the State fights this fall. His advisers have told him that the results in all three States will turn chiefly upon local issues.

On November 2, Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky will elect Governors, and minor elections will take place in some other States, but only this diverse trio will attract national attention. The two national committees are extending assistance and speakers of national reputation are booked. In both Maryland and Massachusetts, the primary vote was unusually heavy and this is taken to mean that a large off-year vote will be cast next month.

The contest in Massachusetts will be watched with special interest. Though normally Republican, it has a Democratic Governor in Hon. David I. Walsh. That the Republicans have been able to control the Legislature and the minor State offices is an indication to the minds of the Republican national leaders that the Bay State will swing back to absolute Republican control. The Republican candidate, Hon. Samuel W. McCall, was prominent when in Congress, and has undivided support.

The Republicans manifest high hopes of again winning in Maryland. These hopes are based in part on the ability of their candidate, Ovington E. Weller, but more especially on the rift in the Democratic ranks. The Democratic nominee is Emerson C. Harrington, who was backed by Senator John Walter Smith. Blair Lee, also a U. S. Senator and a machine man of the most conventional type, made a fight for the nomination for himself, but the Smith forces were too much for him. It is said that the Lee forces are not fully in line. The present Governor, Goldsborough, is a Republican who slipped into a victory because of a Democratic split, and Mr. Weller, who has a reputation for practical work as chairman of the Maryland Highway Commission, may have the same luck. The result will be at least close in Maryland.

The Republicans are not so hopeful in Kentucky, although they are claiming more than a mere chance. They are opposed by a strong Kentuckian, Augustus O. Stanley, formerly in Congress. Edwin P. Morrow is the Republican nominee. It is assumed he will be aided by the temperance vote, although neither Stanley nor Morrow espoused prohibition in the primaries.

High Bridge-Califon.

George Dare, of High Bridge, spent part of the week with the family of Edgar Lance, at Mt. Lebanon.

Mrs. J. Barton Apgar is ill from typhoid fever at her home in Main street, Califon.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. John Potts at High Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beatty, of Middle Valley, were visitors the week to Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Downs, of German Valley.

Clarence Williams, of High Bridge, has returned from the West.

Mrs. Sarah L. Youngs, of Califon, will go this week to Millburn, where she will spend the winter with her son, Grover C. Youngs.

SUFFRAGISTS HONOR PIONEER.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The second of a series of celebrations in honor of the centennial of the birth of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the pioneer suffragist, takes place here today, on the spot where the first women's rights convention was held in 1848. Prominent suffrage leaders from many States of the east are present, and the party will journey tomorrow to the birthplace of Mrs. Stanton at Johnstown. On October 16 a big meeting will be held in New York at the home where the pioneer lived when she ran for Congress. The final celebration will be held on October 30, at a luncheon in New York, at which surviving friends of Mrs. Stanton will speak. The opening of the long series of events took place in New York on September 25, at the house where Mrs. Stanton lived during the Civil War.

WRONG ADDRESSES CAUSE MAIL DELAY

Postoffice Officials Also Have Considerable Trouble Deciphering Names.

While one is apt to berate the postoffice people if some anticipated mail goes astray or is delayed in reaching its destination, perhaps many are not aware that fully sixty per cent. of all delays and trouble in the delivery of mail is caused by defective addresses. The postoffice department for years past has been endeavoring to instill in the public mind the necessity for absolute correctness in addressing all mail matter, but the efforts have not been crowned with success.

A large percentage of the trouble is caused by omissions. The name of the town, the street and number, the name of the State, or other part of the address is often omitted, necessitating that the postal employes consult a variety of directories, write to other postoffices and hold the piece of mail until its correct address can be ascertained. A case in point was a letter mailed in New Jersey to a friend in Oregon. The letter contained the correct address, excepting that the name of the town to which it was to go was omitted. The letter reached its destination with only a few days' delay. Another instance occurred a few days since when a letter addressed to a visitor in North Plainfield came to the local office, the address containing only the name and "Plainfield, N. J." The person addressed was an entire stranger known only to the family with whom he was staying, but he was located and the letter was delivered with only two days' delay.

Just how the postoffice authorities manage to deliver incorrectly addressed letters is a "trade secret."

WORKING TO PROLONG DURATION OF LIFE

What the U. S. Public Health Service is Doing to Better Conditions.

The United States Public Health Service and the various health agencies of this country are working to prolong the average duration of life. In this they are obeying the dearest or existence which is the strongest instinct of mankind. Only a small proportion of the human race rounds out its tour of duty on this earth. Some people are born with good bodies which they treat well. Barring accidents, they live a long time. Some people are born with poor bodies which they treat well. Barring accidents they can live to a ripe old age. Some people are born with good bodies which they treat badly and some people are born with poor bodies which they treat badly. The latter don't last long.

It is recorded that in Yorkshire in 1501, Henry Jenkins was born. He died in 1670, cut off at the age of 169. He remembered well the battle of Flodden Field. This occurred in 1513, when he was twelve years of age. The Register of Chancery and other courts show the administration of oaths to him 140 years prior to his death. He gave deposition as a witness when he was 157. In his young manhood, when he was a little over 100, he was a remarkable swimmer.

The term "old age" too frequently is another name for the falling due of the debts of youth. Overeating, over-drinking, over-playing, overworking, these are drafts on the bank of Nature which sooner or later must be met. Sometimes the day of reckoning can be put off a little but Dame Nature will not be cheated out of her claim.

The remarkable thing about Henry Jenkins is the fact that he has left behind him no rules of living which would enable one to duplicate the feat. In this he showed great self-repression. As a matter of fact there is no royal road to old age and it is not to be attained by a particular dietary or regimen of life. Perhaps the best rule may be expressed in one word, "Moderation." Moderation in food, moderation in drink, moderation in the joys and worries of life, moderation in work, moderation in recreation, equanimity of the mind the soul and the body. These make for long tenure of life.

GREAT SHOOTING TOURNAMENT.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 8.—With the annual matches of the Southern Rifle Association out of the way, the big shooting range on the Florida campground was cleared this morning for the great tournament of the National Rifle Association of America. Colonel Richard M. Blatchford, U. S. A., commandment of the Army School of Musketry, at Fort Sill, Okla., is executive officer for the tournament. Teams from nearly every State in the Union are taking part, and there are teams from colleges and shooting clubs from many places. This year each competitor is given a separate target. In past years, two riflemen have shot on one target.

DISTRICT EPWORTH LEAGUE TO MEET IN NEW BRUNSWICK

New Brunswick, Oct. 8.—Delegates from the churches in the New Brunswick district of the New Jersey Conference met here today at the First Methodist church for the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Epworth League of the district. Rev. H. M. Lawrence and W. W. Payne, of the convention church, made the addresses of welcome, to which Rev. L. L. Hand, of Milltown, the district president, will respond.

The rest of the morning session was taken up with the reading of reports and appointments of committees and talks on the work of the league by Rev. H. P. Sloan, of Red Bank; Rev. Harry A. Relyea, of Cape May, and Rev. Leon Chamberlain, of Matawan.

At the afternoon session department conferences were held and officers elected. This evening Rev. Dorr F. Deifendorf, pastor of the Roseville Methodist church, Newark, will make an address on "The Three Ideals of Life."

WILSON'S HELP.

Wilson's open advocacy of the cause of woman suffrage in New Jersey has provoked optimism in the ranks of the workers for the ballot, and there seems to be every reason to believe that it will be of great value in bringing about a favorable vote on the amendment. Of course antis belittle its influence, but their attempts to discredit the influence of the president here will be of no avail.

There are many voters in New Jersey, and some of them possessed of more than ordinary intelligence, who have never studied the possible effect of woman suffrage. They have, for some unknown reason, considered the matter more or less in the nature of a joke. This is probably due to the innocent activity of humorous writers. Weight is given the amendment by the consideration of the nation's chief executive, and his public statement will lead to a sober consideration of the possible good or evil that may result from the participation of women in State affairs. This should bring a few votes to the cause.

Others, and they are of numbers, are as yet undecided. They cannot but be influenced by the opinions of others, and when they come to analyze the forces for and against they will be faced by the staggering fact that it is Wilson, Tumulty and Garrison against the whisky interests, a few political mercenaries, and some good men who honestly doubt the advisability of extending the suffrage qualifications. They will hardly refuse the advice of statesmen and follow that of interested campaign spell-binders.

President Wilson's statement was weak as campaign literature in that it did not give his reasons for arriving at the decision that New Jersey would be helped by woman suffrage. The State honors and respects Wilson, but it does not follow him blindly. However, his expressing of faith in the cause of suffrage will have a good effect and it may be the deciding argument in the campaign.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

While those on the other side of the ocean are decorating the breasts of killers with iron crosses and holding them up as heroes, it is good to see a whole nation pay tribute to a man whose claim to fame is that he has written verses to gladden the hearts of children.

Yesterday was Riley Day, and that part of the world that is not blinded by blood turned its eyes to a little street in Indianapolis; turned its heart back to the golden days of youth, and laid a wreath, not upon the grave of a dead poet, but upon the doorstep of one whose eyes are still open to see the love-light shine in those of his fellowman. While our brothers are occupied in slaughter, we pay homage to a children's poet. It is a sublime tribute to our nation.

James Whitcomb Riley was sixty-two yesterday, and for every day that he has lived, yes, for every hour, he has made some young heart glad. Can there be a higher earthly calling?

Your army of innocence, arrayed under the flag of love, salutes you, Mr. Riley, and may you live to see all the world at peace again, as you would have it.

WOMEN AND VOTE FRAUDS.

"The Times recently published a letter telling of the corruption of the women voters in New Jersey more than a hundred years ago. The corruption was general with both men and women, but the women were such notable repeaters, and committed such ballot frauds, that they were regarded as having surpassed the men, and the legislature promptly disfranchised the women. Now it is likely that some women will be as wicked as some men in exercising their suffrage. But because some men use the ballot box corruptly no one seriously discusses the disfranchisement of all males. A vast body of facts and arguments can be marshaled to show the failure of universal male suffrage, and most of the arguments would apply to woman suffrage, but no argument can be made against woman suffrage that does not equally apply against male suffrage, says the New York Mail.

"Male suffrage and female suffrage stand and fall on the same premises."

THE AMERICAN PRESS.

"I believe that no press in the world has on the whole, been more fully informed of the underlying causes and issues of the war, and the general course of events, than the leading journals of the United States, and I venture in sincere gratitude, to bring my humble tribute to their capacity, largeness of views and unerring instinct for the cause of justice and liberty, treaty faith and humanity and ultimately for all that will be best serve to achieve a durable peace," says W. S. Perris in the Westminster Gazette.

DARE YOU!

Julian Street is going to write up Dixieland for Colliers Weekly, and the editor solicits suggestions as to what might be worth looking into on the trip. He might stop in Marietta, Ga., and ask where the male population spent one warm night in August.

Notice This

The verse-writer who has to write a lot every day writes the best stuff because, driven on by the needs of haste, he writes from his very own life, which is like every other human life. Therefore his verse rings true and people read it eagerly and understandingly. Instance the Bentztown Bard of the Baltimore Sun, and other desk-slaves.

Touring

Touring is regarded by some hardy people as a sport.

To the ordinary person who has no chauffeur it is a means of grace, a penance for sins of one's entire past misspent life, and for all he may commit in a long and wicked future.

As soon as the average automobile owner gets used to running his machine well enough to miss a crossing policeman by six short inches in a seventy-foot street he thinks of touring to some place five hundred miles away by the map.

He starts out and finds it is eleven million miles.

The furthest fixed star is a near neighbor compared with a town a hundred and fifty geographical parasangs from where you are, if you attempt it with an automobile without having a paid chauffeur and an unlimited back account.

When you first hit the trail you ban along for two or three hours, averaging a little over twenty miles.

You are delirious with joy. You call the attention of whoever happens to be your seat mate beside the wheel to the fact that the machine seems to have selected twenty-eight an hour as her favorite gait.

In two minutes from the time you emit this rash brag a loud report sings out from your port quarter deck, a streak of blue air punctures the sunshiny atmosphere, and you stop to the time of a diminuendo squeal from an expiring tire.

You stop, go to the nearest garage, hire a man who knows nothing about it to come and fix you up. You do so, while he looks on, you hand him half a dollar, wipe your face with your sleeve, distributing more picturesquely the dirt thereon, and away you go.

But why continue?

We never did believe in sickening details.

Suffice it to say that the tourist never needs to be told which is the Lincoln Highway, nor needs look for the big blue L on the white spot below the red band. The road itself looks like 'ell over a great deal of its distance.

After Care Of Vaccination

WHEN a physician undertakes to treat a hernia or a hare-lip by surgical procedure he feels and is responsible for the proper care of the wound until all possible risk of infection has passed.

The same principle holds true in regard to vaccination against smallpox. In practice, however, there is an indefensible neglect of the after care of the arm in some cases. This may be the physician's fault, or it may be the patient's fault. If a patient relases to follow instructions the responsibility rests upon his own shoulders. If the physician fails to dress the vaccination wound and give it proper attention, then he is derelict, no matter what custom says.

There would be little or no opposition to vaccination as a preventative of smallpox if every one knew precisely what vaccine virus is and if every vaccination wound were treated with the same intelligence ordinarily devoted to the care of wounds. The unpleasant complications following vaccination are almost invariably due to neglect of the wound after vaccination—to infection from ignorant or careless handling by the patient or his family.

In spite of the fact that every bit of vaccine virus is tested and issued under government supervision, lockjaw is occasionally seen in persons recently vaccinated. The lockjaw germs are not implanted with the virus, as our rabid "antis" like to think; the infection occurs from one to ten days after vaccination, from contact with dirty fingers or unclean salves or other applications used by untrained attendants. Ordinary septic infection, or blood poisoning, gains entrance in the same way.

Every person vaccinated should remain under the observation and care of the physician at least ten days. If dressing of the wound is necessary it is the physician's place to do it, and his alone. A vaccination wound is just as serious as an appendicitis operation wound, perhaps more so, since the environment is not usually so safe as it is when a major operation is performed.

Proper surgical dressing of the arm obviates the annoyance of "sore arm" and insures the subject against the possible risk of septic poisoning.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Whooping Cough Prevention

Can you give me any information upon the value of a vaccine or serum said to prevent whooping cough? Is it at all helpful after an attack begins? How is it administered and of what does the remedy consist?

Answer—It is a measured quantity of the killed bodies of the bacilli that cause whooping-cough. It is administered by hypodermic injection by the physician, a dose every five days or so, for about three times. It is fairly efficient as a preventative, but after the attack begins it only serves to diminish the frequency and severity of the paroxysms.

Marriage And Genetics

If you would kindly recommend an authoritative book suitable for a lay-reader upon the subject of marriage as it relates to health and heredity I will be very grateful.

Answer—A small book called "Marriage and Genetics" is published by The Galton Press, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Appendicectomy

Is immediate removal of the appendix the only safe treatment for appendicitis?

Answer — Certainly not. Many cases are safely treated without surgery.

HOW TO BE A DRESSMAKER

LEARN to say "Next Tuesday," and mean heaven knows when; to say "next Tuesday sure," and mean Thursday week; to say "next Tuesday positively," and mean Saturday night; and to say "next Tuesday without fail," and mean that if the customer calls for it Friday afternoon about quitting time, she can have the gown if she will pull out the basting threads herself and put the shields in and bring it back Saturday and wait two hours to have it refitted and fixed the way she had told you all along to make it.

Having acquired this putoffability, the rest is easy.

I have known dressmakers who didn't know a gusset from a russet or a seam from a dream or a gore from a whipstitch, yet who made much money through their ability to hire the right kind of seamstresses, throw the right kind of bluff and lie plausibly.

Learn to buy blue voile and rechristen it till it looks like four dollars a yard; to make two dollars' worth of piece goods, eighty cents worth of trimmings and two dollars and a half worth of work look like $[illegible] on a twelve dollar woman.

Impress upon some long-tongued idle woman that there is "a certain something" about your style and workmanship, and you can't get a look at her too soon. Andrew Carnegie will envy your poverty no more. You will earn to cut coupons on the bias, and can show more independence than the owner of the only chunk of ice in hades.

If you can only get two or three women to promise to keep secret the place where they got such a stylish gown—just to keep it more exclusive, don't you know—that is another short and easy way to fortune. It would amount to a combination in restraint of trade, to work both schemes I have laid down. Don't be a hoggess.

Fastening a gown on a woman who bears a strong family resemblance to the southern exposure of a northbound hack

Learn to clasp your hands and faint with a smile of I-don't-care what-becomes-of-me-now bliss on your face after fastening a tight gown on a woman who bears a strong family resemblance to the southern exposure of a northbound hack, saying gurglingly with your last conscious breath, "How positively ex-quizzitely svelt!" If the wide lady has money, you may go to Europe the following week.

They like the "con." I don't know why; but I am dealing with facts, not logic.

Views Of The Press

The Jar That Woke Him Up At Forty

IN THE new department called "The Family's Money" in the September American Magazine appears a little article by a man who was suddenly made to realize that one who could not make a success of his family finances could not be trusted to manage the finances of a larger business. Following is his account of how he secured a $5,000 a year position which he might not have gotten had he not learned to save his own money:

"Until forty, pride was always my greatest failing. I married at thirty and had a wife and four children. My salary was $50 a week. We spent all of it. One day my department head called me into his office.

"'We are going to make a change,' he said. 'I am to be promoted, and So-and-so is to succeed me as manager of this department. You were considered, but the "old man" investigated you and, finding that you were not putting aside any of your income, concluded that one who could not make a success of his family finances could not be trusted to handle an important part of a big business where production is maintained at the minimum.'

"I did not feel offended. I realized that the fault was my own. I went home and told my wife why I had lost this $5,000 a year place. I think I must have jolted her pride. She suggested that we move out of the district where house rent was $50 a month and confine our living expenses to $25 a week, half of my income.

"To make this obligatory I instructed the office bookkeeper to hold back $25 of my salary each week until the end of the year. I was determined to show the 'old man' that I could save money.

"At the end of the remaining thirty weeks in that year I had $750 to my office account. I might have received six per cent. interest, but I was fishing now for bigger game. I told the bookkeeper to hold back $30 a week.

"The end of the eighteenth month found me in charge of the purchasing department for the company and drawing the $5,000 a year. When I am fifty years old I shall have no less than $30,000 at the present schedule. And this is a better asset in old age than pride."—San Bernardino, Cal., Evening Index.

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

Back To The Jitney

Q. I purchased an automobile, paying a part of the purchase price at the time. The machine is not all that it was represented to be and I should like to cancel the contract and have my money refunded. I have been told that it will be necessary to return the machine in order to return it, before I can get my money back. Is this correct? A. Yes.

A Compromise

Q. Where one person has a claim against another, and there is a probability that a law-suit will result, would a compromise agreement between them be valid and binding?

A. Yes, unless the compromise was effected by means of false representations.

Safety First

Q. Isn't it true that a railroad company is legally bound to observe more care in running its trains through a city or a populous district than in rural neighborhoods or sparsely settled districts?

A. Yes, this is true.

The Fence And The Land

Q. Is a fence considered a part of the land on which it is situated? If the land is sold, is the fence sold also, where nothing is said to the contrary?

A. The answer to both questions is in the affirmative.

A Legal Jaw-Breaker

Q. Kindly tell me what is meant by "testamentary capacity."

A. A testamentary capacity is a capacity to make a will.

Car Fare

Q. Do the authorities of a city have the right to regulate and control the passenger fare charged by street railway companies?

A. Yes, if such right is conferred by the legislature.

Protecting An Idea

Q. If a man has established a business and a reputation, and has used a certain name or style, isn't he entitled to legal protection?

A. Yes, you are right.

The Gentle Art Of Keeping Customers

Q. Where one man gives another a series of checks, drawn on a certain bank, to pay for services performed from time to time, has the second man the right to hold these checks back for six or eight weeks, or sometimes longer, and compel me to keep my account in this bank?

A. No, he has no such right.

Pay-As-You-Enter

Q. Does a street railway company have the right to compel a passenger to pay his fare upon entering the car? Suppose some one should board a pay-as-you-enter car and refuse to pay as he goes in. Could he be ejected?

A. The company has the right to oblige a passenger to pay upon entering the car and has the right to eject him if he refuses.

Too Young To Administer

Q. May a person who is under legal age be appointed an administrator?

A. It is generally held that he will be disqualified.

The Life Line

The Man Who Takes Pills At Table

There it stands, that awful pill bottle—right beside his plate. We stare at it with curious eyes as we sit down. "How can such a little thing make so much noise!" we marvel. For that little bottle is fairly shouting at us—shouting of ills and woes and gloom—of our own periods of sickness, and of those of our friends. Then comes The Taker of the Pill. He sits down in a leisurely manner and begins to unfold his napkin. "Fine day, isn't it?" he throws across the table. A "fine day!" How can he feel so optimistically—with that dark bird of ill omen perching right there beside his plate! How can he think of anything but ills and woes and gloom! Yet he is blissfully impervious to the little bottle's volley of black suggestion. Quite calmly, he picks it up. He takes out its cork. He rolls two pills into the palm of his hand. He reaches for his water glass. And then we close our eyes; we are sure that The Taker of the Pill will excuse us from witnessing the rest. Already he has made us see doctors and nurses standing beside us.

He walks with ghosts.

Figures show
Atlas you outdo.

There's no doubt
Hereabout
"Holdups" are taboo,
But the throng
All are strong
With a hand for you.

Half a dime
Any time
Gets you to extend
Your support;
Seats are short,
But you're there, old friend.

RELINQUISH CONTROL OF SOUTH AVENUE

Plainfield to Care for a Mile and a Half of County Thoroughfare.

Elizabeth, Oct. 8.—The Board of Freeholders voted yesterday to relinquish control of South avenue, from Terrill road, in the city of Plainfield, for a distance of one mile and a half into the city. The action was recommended by the county road committee.

Frederick W. Veghte, of Roselle, was appointed to the board of managers of Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, succeeding William Howard, of Rahway, who resigned.

Peter H. Meisel was appointed as the Board's representative on the freeholders' committee of twenty-one, which is to draft new road laws for the construction of county roads and for the distribution of State Aid road funds. The committee is composed of a freeholder from each county. Isaac Seeley was given a two weeks' leave of absence from his duties as sealer of weights and measures.

Setting A $25 Record For Woman Saturday

We put our manufacturers on their mettle; demanded something better than we had ever been given to sell for $25. It is wonderful how they responded.

SUITS in 25 Styles

Each in the Autumn shades; broadcloth, gabardine, corded velvet, velveteen, and velour cloth in fancy effects; mostly fur-trimmed, with short furs and fluffy furs; some tailleurs simples to wear with fur sets; smart, well-matched or contrasting linings; collars cut with a flare at chin and back of neck; inside of every collar of velvet or the material of the suit; fashionable well-tailored suits, $25.

COATS in 6 Styles

Tweeds for car, country or street use, straight back, full swing, half belted, full lined, raccoon collar and cuffs; cheviots, (1) long, warm, with big pockets and beaver collar, and (2) braid bound, with plush, backed collar, deep cuffs on sleeves, satchel pockets, flare and belt; wool plush, with deep waistline, kimono sleeve, belt lined to waist; silk plush, side flare, high roll collar—very smart; chinchilla, full length, back belted, slash pockets—like a guardsman's coat, $25.

Saturday, Gallery of Fashions, Second floor, Old Building.

Special Collection of $25, $27.50 and $30 Suits for Young Women

It would be difficult to duplicate these suits at these prices, for it has become very, very difficult to get fur trimmings of really good quality.

And the majority of these suits are fur-trimmed with beaver, skunk opossum, raccoon and seal (dyed muskrat.)

At $30—Checked velour suits, broadcloth with skunk opossum trimming, broadcloth with beaver, suits with fur-edged bell sleeves, whipcords combined with velvet and fur, suits with fur tabs or belts, etc.

At $25 and $27.50—Excellent models with both long and short coats in gabardine, whipcord, poplin and broadcloth, fur or braid trimmed, lined and interlined. Other suits, beauties, up to $78.50.

Coats Beyond Compare

Here, too, young women will note the quality of the fur collars. Coats for every occasion and in every material—velveteen, tweeds, wool velours, seal plush, plaid velours, zibeline, corduroy, duvetyne, etc.

Special fur-collared zibeline coats, $18.50. Smart chinchilla raglans, $15.75. Full pleated tweeds, $13.75. Wondrous evening coats, $30 to $62.50. Second floor, Old Building.

Lovely Ostrich Trimmed Hats $6.50

If you imagine, as the writer did, that all ostrich trimmed hats look alike, you will be amazed at this special collection of ostrich trimmed hats.

They were trimmed in our own workrooms and practically every hat is different.

Pokes turned up in back with great curling ostrich plumes.
Hats with many tiny tips about the crown.
Sailors with fine ostrich filaments curling about the crown.
Ostrich bands, too, burnt ostrich, uncurled ostrich, etc.—a host for every face.

First floor, Old Building.

Where Every Foot is Fitted And Every Purse is Suited

At Wanamaker's—where the complete, efficient, whole-family shoe store offers the best and most varied assortments of shoes of its generations-long career.

For men, women, girls, boys—the shoes are here at the lowest possible prices consistent with the sterling Wanamaker standards of style, service and economy.

No matter what price you pay here, the standards are maintained, as, for example, in the very moderately-priced—

Wanamaker-Special Shoes for Men and Women at $4 Pair

In this one group alone there are shoes for every need, from extreme dress wear to extreme rough wear. Every variation of heel and toe-width is represented. Every size, too, and widths from AA to E for women and A to E for men.

This group typifies the extraordinary good value in every shoe we offer. Other groups of shoes at other prices in little rises up to $10 for men, $12 for women.

Boys and Girls, Also

Every sort of shoe that every girl or boy could possibly wear, you will find here—at prices that are consistent with our standard of quality.

We ask you, in particular, to examine the girls' shoes, priced $2.50 and $3, according to size, and the boys' shoes, priced $3 and $3.50.

The whole family shoe store is readier than ever—now.

Women and Girls'—Main floor, Old Building.
Men and Boys'—Burlington Arcade floor, New Building.

Plentiful Supplies of All the Most Wanted Furs

Wanamaker furs are so uniformly good that they are exceptional. Furs here have been picked out one by one—by experts. Because bought at the early rate, even the most popular furs are at moderate prices.

SEEK SO. AMERICAN TRADE

work was cut out for the Chamber of Commerce by conditions over which its members had no control. He said that the European war had caused a vast amount of foreign business to come to Plainfield factories and nearly every one which could do so was working at utmost capacity on "war orders." This put a great amount of money in circulation through wages paid to skilled workmen, but the war would not go on forever and when hostilities ceased and peace comes the war orders would likewise cease. There at least will have to be a readjustment of industrial conditions and perhaps be a reaction from the present feverish activity in manufacturing. How would this affect the Plainfield industries and the general business conditions in the city? Mr. Burns thought that it was a good plan in time of war for the Plainfield Chamber of Commerce to prepare for peace.

It was pointed out that hundreds of buyers from South America and other neutral countries were flocking to New York to buy manufactured products which had been procured from Germany, France, England and Belgium, but the supply from those countries was now cut off by the war and the nations of peace were now turning to this country to secure the goods which they could no longer procure from Europe.

Mr. Burns said that the problem, which was not so difficult of solution, was to bring these buyers and Plainfield manufacturers together. He argued that at the best the war orders were but temporary, while the products of the Plainfield factories in normal times were used continually and if these products could be sold to South America and in other parts of the world at this time when the factories of Europe were paralyzed, the trade would continue permanently. If the local factories could procure a share of this trade and build up a business on these foundations when war orders cease they could continue their plants in steady operation and the period of readjustment to normal conditions would have but little effect on Plainfield industries or on Plainfield merchants.

Others present coincided with Mr. Burns' views, and the latter outlined a plan which has been widely discussed among members of the Chamber of Commerce, although no formal action has yet been taken, to compile a list of the products made in Plainfield and, together with other literature available, place such information in the hands of buyers of foreign goods that would not only acquaint them with the fact that Plainfield is on the map, but would also bring foreign orders to the local factories.

Mr. Burns further stated that he believed a movement would soon be started by which the Plainfield manufacturers would make a united effort and go after a large slice of the foreign trade in a systematic way. He said that the heads of local industries realized that a period of readjustment must come and he believed they would get in on the ground floor, secure a permanent foreign trade with the countries not at war, and when war supplies were no longer required they would have a steady line of business that would keep their machines in motion, give work to their employes, and hold up the business situation generally in the city.

It is probable that a definite policy along these particular lines, to work with and assist the local manufacturers, will be acted on at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to be called within a fortnight.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Isaac Roberts, of New York, expects to attend the Friend's meeting on Watchung avenue, on Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. The public is invited.

The Plainfield Graded Union will hold their meeting Monday afternoon, October 11, at 4 o'clock, in the Y. W. C. A. parlors. Mrs. L. R. Schofield will have charge. Her subject will be a study of the first twelve chapters of Numbers.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Phoebe Conover, of Jackson avenue, the borough, who has been ill, is said to be improving.

Mrs. J. P. Truitt, of Greenbrook road, is registered at the Belvidere Hotel, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Melick have closed their bungalow adjoining the Plainfield Country Club and have returned to their East Seventh street residence.

You May Find a Worker Trained and Fit to do Your Work.

A worker whose salary you will voluntarily raise in a short time!

"Getting along" with half-competent help, in home, office, store or factory, is a poor plan—a poor business policy.

The quest for the Competent Worker is important enough to justify a real campaign of classified advertising in the Plainfield Daily Press—although it does not often require a very long campaign.

It is proper that the housewife should know as much about the business of buying for the home as her husband knows about the business in which he earns his income.

Buying for the home cannot be done wisely and economically unless the "buyer" is a student of the advertisements—no more than a store may be made prosperous without advertising.

POLITICAL NOTES.

October 19—State referendum election, and third registration day in municipalities of more than 5,000 people.

October 26—Third and final registration day in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

November 2—General Election Day.

The Democratic County Committee, at its meeting tonight, will be called upon to settle the controversy which has arisen in Summit, between Frank J. Cushing and Francis Griffin, both of whom claim membership from the Third district of the Second ward. The situation which has arisen is a peculiar one. Each candidate received two votes at the primaries, but Cushing claims he should receive the election because there were eight ballots upon which his name was written, but which were invalidated because the voters failed to place the necessary cross opposite the name. Since the actual vote resulted in a tie, there was no election and it remains for the county committee to fill the vacancy. One of the two aspirants may be named, but it is not incumbent upon the committee to name either.

William O'Neill, until lately a member of the Hoboken Board of Assessors and a bitter enemy of Mayor Patrick Griffin, has been ousted from his job by the Griffin cohorts and a loyal follower appointed in his stead. Griffin claims that O'Neill tendered a verbal resignation last week and this alleged verbal resignation was accepted. It was only a week or so ago that Griffin and O'Neill came to blows and had to be forcibly separated by friends. O'Neill will probably contest the naming of his successor and seek a court order sustaining his position.

Indications are that the so-called Wilson Democrats in Newark, who have filed petitions as independent candidates, will not get on the official ballots in November after all. An objection has been filed by the regular Democratic candidates, who claim that the independents are not legally qualified and that their lists of signers contain many illegal names. Unlike County Clerk Calvert in Elizabeth, County Clerk Joseph McDonough, of Essex county, has paid heed to the protest, and has ordered the independents to appear before him to show cause why their names should not be stricken off the ballots.

With General Collins back from the West the supporters in Elizabeth of the small council act who have obtained a rule to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue will no doubt be doubly interested in the outcome of the court action. Collins, like those who are fighting to have the companion act of the Board of Works declared constitutional, holds the view that the move to continue the large council is primarily a move to keep the comptrollership where it now is.

FIRE DAY—OCTOBER 9TH.

The "safety first" slogan is needed nowhere more than in the field of fire prevention. If a part of the money expended in keeping up fire departments and apparatus was used in the prevention of fires, the results would be more rewarding. Every citizen should consider it his duty to observe Saturday, October 9th, as a day to thoroughly inspect his premises and remove any cause for fire.

ANDERSON WINS ASTOR CUP RACE

Stutz Pilot Drove 350 Miles in 3.24:42 for a New Record.

DAREDEVILS OUT EARLY

De Palma, Oldfield, Resta and Cooper Forced to Retire Because of Engine Trouble—Anderson Set Pace Most of Way.

Sheepshead Bay, Oct. 9.—Bill Anderson, driving a Stutz, won the Astor Cup 350-mile classic in the bay saucer here this afternoon, setting a record of 3 hours, 24 minutes and 42 seconds. He led during the greater part of the race and the victory was an unusually popular one.

Rooney, in a Stutz, was second, Time, 3:25:29.

De Palma, Oldfield, Resta and Cooper, considered by many to be the dangerous quartet in the big grind, were forced to retire owing to engine trouble. The first three went out early, but De Palma drove a brilliant race until after the double century had been passed.

Twenty-one cars got off to the start shortly after noon, piloted by auto speed kings representing Germany, France and the United States. When the big field faced Starter Fred Wagner at the take-off ideal weather conditions prevailed and more than a hundred thousand persons encircled the huge Sheepshead Bay saucer.

The positions of the first five cars at the start were as follows: First, Resta, in a Peugot; second, Oldfield, in a Delage; third, Aitken, in a Peugot; fourth, Cooper, in a Stutz, and fifth, Anderson, in a Stutz.

At the sixteenth mile Oldfield was declared out with a broken piston rod, and Cooper was declared out on account of a broken valve.

Wilcox, driving a Peugeot, was declared out on account of engine trouble. Resta, in a Peugeot, was declared out on account of broken connecting rod. and Ridkenbacher, driving a Maxwell, out on account of lost ball bearings.

At the end of 200 miles the standing was as follows: Aitken, Peugeot, first, time 207.44, average 103.34; Anderson, Stutz, second, time 208.58, average 102.35; Burman, Peugeot, third, time 208.58, average 102.35.

VERDICT FOR TOBIN IN SUPREME COURT

Titusville Iron Works Fails to Collect $770 From Local Man.

Elizabeth, Oct. 9.—A verdict for the defendant was returned by a jury in Supreme Court here yesterday in the suit of the Titusville Iron Works, of Titusville, Pa., against George J. Tobin, of Plainfield.

The suit was to collect $770 which the iron works claimed was due on two boilers delivered to Tobin for installation in the addition to the Plainfield High School. Interest for two years on the $770 was asked. Judge Silzer presided at the trial.

Tobin was represented by Attorney W. L. Hetfield, Jr. His defense was that the boilers were not up to specifications and that they leaked and the company failed to make the cold water test of 150 pounds pressure. It was shown that George W. Knight, the engineer in charge of the work, had never accepted the boilers.

The jury was out but forty minutes after hearing all the evidence and reported no cause for action in its verdict.

OLD-TIME BARN DANCE.

An old time costume barn dance will be given by the young people of St. Joseph's church, in Debele's Auditorium, Thursday night, October 14. The committee named for the affair will decorate the spacious hall with corn stalks, and pumpkins and other articles to represent a typical country barn. Paroubek's orchestra will furnish the old fashioned dance music and later in the evening a grand march will take place in which only those costumed may take part. A handsome prize will be awarded the most appropriate costume worn.

FIRE TAPPER IN POSITION.

The councilmanic fire committee today installed the new fire tapper at Park avenue and Second street, and it sounded at noon today for the first. This tapper is intended to give a warning to pedestrians and others if a fire so that the danger of accident at this important corner may be greatly lessened.

JENSEN IS AGAIN REFUSED A LICENSE

North Plainfield Man Cannot Sell Liquor From Hotel..

The application of Charles Jenson, of North Plainfield, for a license to sell liquor at his hotel was refused by Judge D. H. Beekman after a hearing in Somerset county court in Somerville, yesterday.

The case is of unusual interest in the borough of North Plainfield because Mr. Jensen has made repeated attempts to secure a license. The building owned by him formerly held a license but it was rescinded because of a raid on the establishment, and opposition to the issuing of another is based on this raid.

Mr. Jensen was represented at the hearing by Attorney W. A. Coddington. A large number of citizens of North Plainfield were subpoenaed as witnesses and many of them swore to the good character of the applicant and his reputation as the keeper of an orderly and legal place. Among those who were witnesses in his favor were N. B. Smalley, Robert Wilson, Frank Mobus and Mr. Abrams. A written objection to the granting of the license, which contained many names, was on file with the court. This petition had been circulated some time ago.

While it was not mentioned by the judge who refused Jensen's application for a license, it is believed that a recent statement of Judge Parker that no more licenses would be granted in the county this year influenced the refusal.

Jensen is unable to use his building for hotel purposes because of his inability to secure a license. He has been advised to remodel it and erect a modern apartment house.

NEW ORGANIZATION PLANS FOR A PLAY

Columbian Dramatic Club Founded With Thirty Charter Members Last Night.

An organization for the promotion of literary work and dramatics was founded in Columbus Club, last night, members and friends of the club being included in the charter membership. The officers elected by the body, which will be known as the Columbia Dramatic Club, are as follows: President, F. Otto Linke; vice president, Miss Anna Doyle; secretary, Miss Mary Murray; treasurer, Garret Keating.

One of the first objects of the club is to give a play entitled, "Ye Village Skewl of Long Ago," for the benefit of Columbus Club in the latter organization's auditorium sometime next month. The play calls for thirty characters and is now being rehearsed under the direction of Mr. Linke and Miss Doyle. Rehearsals will be held at regular intervals between now and the date for presentation and indications point to an entertainment of considerable merit, the members of the club having gained previous success along this same line.

WILL DEBATE SUBJECT OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE

3D ANNIVERSARY OF CIVIC ASS'N

Large Audience Enjoys Attractive Program at the Washington School.

HISTORY IS REVIEWED

Interesting Addresses Are Followed by Proposition to Form a "Community Centre"—Refreshments Are Served During Social Hour.

With a special program, appropriate to the occasion and an audience which filled the assembly room in the Washington School building, the West End Civic Association, last night observed the third anniversary of the formation of the organization.

After the members voted to adopt new by-laws and transacted other routine business, John J. Carroll gave an interesting outline of the work which the association had accomplished in the three years of its existence.

It was on October 10, 1912, Mr. Carroll said, that a few of the residents of the West End met in a private dwelling and formed an organization, whose object was to better the conditions in the western section of the city in particular and further the welfare of the entire city in general. Meetings were held at the homes of members until December 9, 1912, when the association met in the school building for the first time, since when a meeting has been held there each month. No regular meeting has been passed for want of a quorum or for any other cause.

At the instance of the association new crosswalks have been laid in that part of the city, streets have been

REPUBLICANS WILL MEET IN BOROUGH

Organize to Boost the Candidacy of Ogden H. Hammond.

A meeting of the Republican Club of North Plainfield will be held Monday evening for a reorganization of the workers in view of the coming State election. The meeting will be held in the Edgerton building, on Somerset street, at 8 p. m.

Activities of Republicans in the borough from now until November 2 will be confined to advocacy of the candidacy of Ogden H. Hammond for Assemblyman. He is the only party nominee with opposition, and the borough supporters promise that he will have a strong campaign organization after Monday evening.

In addition to discussing the candidacy of Mr. Hammond there will be election of officers and collection of dues.

MAYOR CLARK HAS ADDED DIGNITY OF GRANDFATHER

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough of North Plainfield, is not so busy with his official duties as to prevent his taking a little time off to properly celebrate the arrival of a grandson. The son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Clark, 162 Watchung avenue, Wednesday evening last. It has not yet been named, but the grandfather promises that no matter what his name, the youngster will be taught to keep out of politics.

Y. W. C. A. HOLD ANNUAL RALLY

Miss Lena Farrar, National Secretary, One of the Principal Speakers.

"FAMILY AND FRIENDS"

Fall Activities Are Resumed and the Association Plans for Many Entertainments During the Winter Months.

The first fall meeting of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. was held yesterday at the home of the president, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, who also entertained the members of the board at a delightful luncheon. Miss Lena Farrar, of the National Y. W. C. A., was the special guest and the women were given an opportunity to confer with her about any phase of association work in which they were particularly interested. Miss Farrar had much to say about the jubilee and told of the plans being made for the celebration.

Reports were received from the general secretary, physical director, officers and chairmen of committees, all of which were most encouraging for an unusually successful year.

The annual rally of the Y. W. C. A., held Thursday night, was well attended, about seventy-five being present. A good deal of enthusiasm for the year's work and play was evinced and the registration for classes was well started. It is desired, however, that all those who wish to join any of the classes and have not yet registered will do so without further delay as the classes will begin this coming week.

Miss Lena Farrar, one of the secretaries of the National Y. W. C. A., was the principal speaker. Her theme was "The Association Family and Friends," and she emphasized the fact that all members of the association the world over belonged to the same family and should be friends in the highest and best sense of the word. She told of the jubilee to be celebrated during February, 1916, culminating in the great birthday festival on March 3d, it being fifty years on that date since the first association was formed. It is hoped that each one of the 342,000 members will participate in some way in this celebration, and through this means that the "family" relationship shall be more firmly established.

Miss Aller, the general secretary of the local association, told of the plans for the classes and other activities, and Miss Mann, the physical director, made the announcement for the physical department. The intention has been to include girls of all kinds and ages. The secretaries will gladly answer any inquiries and extend a cordial welcome to all girls and women.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS TO INCREASE MEMBERSHIP

Special Twentieth Century Campaign is Being Arranged by Sec'y Estes.

Arrangements for the membership campaign of the Y. M. C. A. are nearing completion and it is expected that the work will start in earnest next month. The general chairman selected for the campaign committee is L. B. Albin, while the division chairmen are: W. N. Runyon, J. W. Gavett, Alex Milne, Donald McGee, James E. McClymont. While responses from the letters, recently sent out, are being received daily, the chairman of the committee is anxious that all shall be returned without delay so that they can be filed and he will be enabled to make the necessary arrangements for the campaign. This campaign will start November 11 and close November 18. It promises not only to awaken considerable interest in Y. M. C. A. circles, but is attracting considerable interest from the business men. The committee will meet each evening when reports of the progress of the work will be made and luncheon served The committee is seeking the co-operation of the public.

COMMUNION AT HOPE CHAPEL.

Holy communion will be observed at Hope chapel tomorrow at the hour of the evening service. The following fall and winter schedule of hours goes into effect at the chapel, starting tomorrow: Morning preaching service at 10:45; Sunday-school at 3 o'clock; Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 o'clock; evening preaching service at 7:45.

SERBIA IS NOW CENTER OF WAR

All European Armies Are Now Using Her as Battle Ground.

GREECE STILL NEUTRAL

Bulgar Cavalry Hopes to Prevent Anglo-French Army From Aiding Defenders—Fierce Attempt to Force Dardanelles.

London, October 9.—Serbia has suddenly become the European battleground. Her importance as a means of communication between the Austro-German and Turkish armies, and the entry of Bulgaria into the conflict has brought divisions of the German, Austrian, Bulgarian, French and English armies to her soil, where they are engaged in a bloody struggle for control. The Turks are sending 250,000 men to add to her troubles, and Russian soldiers are on their way to help her armies resist the invaders.

The importance of Serbia as a stragetical center for the Germans is shown in the fact that the Kaiser is on his way to take personal charge of forces attempting to hack a passage way through it.

Turks Rush to Bulgaria.

An army of 250,000 Turks is reported hastening north to the Black Sea coast of Bulgaria to aid the Bulgars in opposing the landing of Russians at Varna and other ports. Allied warships are already bombarding Aegean and Black Sea ports of Bulgaria.

TROLLEY HIT JITNEY; WOMAN IS INJURED

Mrs. Cohen's Bus Struck by Main Line Car and Considerably Damaged.

An automobile jitney bus, owned by Mrs. Bertha N. Cohen, Union county's only women jitney operator, was struck by a Main Line trolley car on West Front street, west of Plainfield avenue, Wednesday afternoon, one woman being slightly injured and several others badly shaken up. The bus was in charge of Maurice Cohen, the owner's husband, and was damaged considerably by the impact.

Mrs. Cohen says that her car was stopped twenty-five feet west of Oxford place and that the motorman had ample time to stop his trolley without hitting the jitney.

Superintendent George Luhr, of the Public Service Railway Corporation, said this morning that the motorman in charge of the trolley was one of the corporation's most reliable employes. He claims that the jitney stopped on the cross-road without giving the usual stop signal and that when he saw the automobile was going to slow up in front of him it was too late for him to bring his car to a full stop. Superintendent Luhr charges, and Mrs. Cohen admits, that the jitney bus was stopped in such a way as to leave part of the machine standing on the trolley tracks. Mrs. Cohen says she will bring action against the Public Service to recover damages.

PENCHANT FOR GAMBLING DOWNFALL OF WM. HAND

Elizabeth, Oct. 9.—A penchant for gambling is responsible for the various offenses of William Hand, 21 years old, of Fanwood, according to the statement of Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor in the Court of Special Sessions yesterday afternoon, where Hand was arraigned before Judge Connolly for the larceny of leather belting from a Fanwood factory.

Mr. O'Connor said that Hand's commitment to the Reformatory on larceny, forgery and false pretense charges previously made against him were all due to the gambling weakness. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

RED SOX TAKE SECOND AND EVEN UP SERIES WITH PHILLY TEAM

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Boston evened up the series with the Quakers here this afternoon by a 2 to 1 score, the winning run coming in the ninth which Gardner opened with a single. He scored when Pitcher Foster slammed out a safety after two men preceding him had been retired for outs.

The expected Saturday throng was on deck bright and early and after a night of delirium Philadelphia came to a trifle repentant and considerably worried about the second battle. It was generally admitted in the Philly rooting section that Alexander wore a halo yesterday and some fear was entertained lest Dame Fortune should desert Pat Moran's Quakers in today's tussle. Shortly before game time it was officially announced that 21,000 had clicked the turnstiles. The field was in excellent shape and the sun was shining brightly at game time. President Wilson and party occupied a box in the left stand.

Summary—Two-base hits—Foster, Cravath, Luderus. Struck out—by Foster, 7; by Mayer, 8. Bases on balls—Mayer, 2. Left on bases—Boston, 7; Philadelphia, 2.

Up to the last moment there was much speculation on the selection of pitchers and when Pat Moran announced that he would send Mayer to the mound it occasioned considerable surprise. Foster warmed up in right field for the Hub town club and was named for box work by Carrigan.

President Wilson pitched the first ball from his box to Pitcher Mayor, who was standing at home plate. This was a signal for the umpire to shout "play ball" as the throng gave a rousing cheer to the President's fiancee.

FIRST INNING.

Boston—Hooper waited and started the game by drawing a pass from Mayer. Scott flied out to Luderus at first base. Speaker singled to right field, Hooper going to third base. Speaker went out trying to steal second base, Hooper scoring on the play. Neihoff's throw was perfect, but Burns muffed the ball. Hoblitzel singled to center field. Hoblitzel went out in attempt to steal second.

Two hits, one run.

Philadelphia—Stock grounded out, Scott to Hoblitzel. Bancroft struck out. Paskert grounded out, Barry to Foster.

No hits, no runs.

SECOND INNING.

Boston—Lewis struck out. Gardner singled to left field. Barry struck out. Thomas grounded to Mayer and was out to Luderus.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Cravath struck out. Luderus struck out. Whitted grounded to Scott and was thrown out to Hoblitzel.

No hits, no runs.

THIRD INNING.

Boston—Foster struck out. Hooper struck out. Scott struck out.

No hits, no runs.

Philadelphia—Neihoff struck out. Burns grounded to Hoblitzel and was thrown out to Foster. Mayer struck out.

No hits, no runs.

FOURTH INNING.

Boston—Speaker flied out to Bancroft at short field. Hoblitzel went out to Luderus unassisted. Lewis singled over Neihoff's head. Gardner flied out to Whitted in left field.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Stock flied out to Speaker in center field. Bancroft grounded to Hoblitzel and was thrown out to Foster, who covered first. Paskert flied out to Hooper in right field.

No hits, no runs.

FIFTH INNING.

Boston—Barry went out, Stock to Luderus. Thomas grounded to Stock and was thrown out at first. Foster hit to right field for two bases. Hooper walked. Scott flied out to Whitted.

One hit, no runs.

Philadelphia—Cravath hit to left field for two bases. Luderus doubled to center field, scoring Cravath. Whitted grounded to Scott and was thrown out to Hoblitzel, Luderus going to third. Neihoff flied out to Hoblitzel and Luderus was held at third. Burns struck out.

Two hits, one run.

SIXTH INNING.

Boston—Speaker flied out to Bancroft in short field. Hoblitzel flied out to Neihoff at second. Lewis struck out.

No hits, no runs.

Philadelphia—Mayer went out, Barry to Hoblitzel. Stock grounded out, Barry to Hoblitzel. Bancroft singled to center field. Paskert grounded to Gardner and was thrown out to Hoblitzel.

One hit, no runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

Boston—Gardner flied out to Whitted. Barry singled to left field. Thomas forced Barry at second, when he grounded to Bancroft. Neihoff made the out. Foster singled to left field, Thomas going to second. Janvrin went out to run for Thomas. Hooper hit to Mayer and beat the throw to first. Hendricksen was sent in to hit for Scott, but the cheers of Boston's "Loyal Rooters" died when he popped out to Luderus, ending the inning.

Three hits, no runs.

RUSSIAN SAYS GRAFT IS HELPING GERMANS

Dunellen Merchant Tells of Horrible Conditions in Czar's Army.

There is one subject of the Russian government, or rather a former subject, in Dunellen, who hopes and prays for the success of German arms, and declares that Russia has already defeated herself by rotten government. He is Louis Feldman, the North avenue shoe dealer, who was born and brought up in a place six miles from Brest Litovisk, Russian Poland.

In an interview yesterday he told how he was obliged when of military age to pay $400 to army officers and doctors to escape military service of three years and eight months. Mr. Feldman paid this $400 to two doctors and two officers. He was then examined by one of the doctors, who rubbed a pasty substance on his head. This preparation made his scalp inflamed and caused sores to break out. He was then sent to a hospital. After being there a week his scalp commenced to heal. One of the doctors, who received the graft, noted this and smuggled Mr. Feldman a box of the preparation which had made his head sore and told him to slip into the laboratory at his first opportunity and apply it. In addition he was told to hide the preparation and apply it when necessary. Mr. Feldman was detained in the hospital five weeks and then dismissed as an incurable. This, of course, released him from his obligation to serve in the army.

In further backing up his statement to the effect that the Russian government is corrupt, Mr. Feldman says that since the Germans have chased the Russians out of Russian Poland letters which he has received from his old home inform him that numerous soldiers sent home from the front minus their feet complain that these were not lost as a result of shot or shell, but by being obliged to stand barefooted in wet trenches, causing their feet to literally rot.

He said these letters told that during the Russian army's last stand in front of Warsaw there were numerous instances where there would only be one gun for every ten soldiers. Worse even still numerous shells turned out by the munition factories of Russia were found to be either too small or too large for the Russian guns. German gold was responsible for this, Mr. Feldman said, because when the Germans captured these shells they found that they fitted their guns to a nicety.

John Vroom, of North avenue, has resumed his duties as trolley motorman following an illness of several days.

Verna Tinsman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tinsman, of Front street, has the whooping cough.

The William Jensen house on Levgar street has been rented through the C. E. Tinsman agency to Joseph Jensen, who will take possession Monday.

SPECIAL TRAIN.

A special train to the Jr. O. U. A. M. State Council session in Newark will leave the local station at 6:45 Wednesday evening. C. E. Tinsman, as the delegate of the W. G. Holton Council, said last evening that he thought that at least 50 or 60 local Juniors would attend the session. The affair is to be featured by a large street parade. There are 65,000 Juniors in the State and it is expected that at least 20,000 will be in line.

LOCAL RENTALS.

One of the Bloom houses on Levgar steet has been rented through the C. E. Tinsman agency to M. Novelle, who will take possession Monday. Mr. Novelle is employed by Walter G. Clawson, the mason. Another rental on Levgar street through the Tinsman agency is another one of the Bloom houses, which has been rented to Jose Angele and family, of Scranton, Pa. They took possession today. Mr. Angele has secured employment in the new factory of Gabrielle and Schail at New Market.

Charles Nonemaker, of Front street, the contractor in charge of the mason work of the new Plainfield postoffice, spent today in Philadelphia in connection with the contract.

POSTPONE MEETING.

The suffrage street meeting advertised to be held last evening has been postponed until next Saturday evening, when an automobile parade which starts from Elizabeth will stop here. The meeting will be held in Washington Park and will be addressed by prominent speakers. Quite a number were disappointed by the postponement of the meeting last evening.

WATER MAIN BREAKS.

Sewer work which started on Grove street yesterday was interrupted by the breaking of a water main. The trench quickly filled with water and all hands were obliged to take to the pumps in order to keep it from flooding the streets. Superintendent Kersey said that this is the first main to be broken since the work started.

VILLA IS READY TO GET OUT OF MEXICO

Submits Proposal to Conference in Session at Washington.

Washington, Oct. 9.—When the conference today between Secretary of State Lansnig and the Pan-American diplomats convenes a proposal will be submitted to the members of the conference from General Villa himself, definitely offering the elimination of himself from the Mexican situation. If it is thought that he is a menace to the restoration of peace in the Republic.

OFFICIAL NOTICE GIVEN OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Official notices of the special election to be held October 19 are published today by City Clerk James T. MacMurray. They call the attention of voters to the fact that polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m., but that those who must register before they vote will have to wait until after 1 p. m., for registration booths will not open until that hour. The registration will continue until 9 p. m. Mr. MacMurray is sending copies of the three amendments to be voted on to each Plainfield voter, as provided by law.

EXPERT OPENS VENDING MACHINE COMPANY'S SAFE

After the dial had been broken and the combination disarranged, a safe in the office of the Vending Machine Company, on North avenue, was opened yesterday by H. C. V. Mixner, a former employe of a New York safe company.

The Vending Machine Company's plant has been closed for several months past and about a month ago it was discovered that the building had been entered, apparently by boys bent on mischief, and an attempt made to pry open the safe. The dial had been broken off and the bar operating the combination had been displaced. All attempts to open the safe proved unsuccessful until Mr. Mixner succeeded in working the combination and throwing back the bars without any additional damage to the safe.

BAZAAR COMMITTEE HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

The T. A. B. bazaar committee held an enthusiastic meeting in the club house last night, a large turnout of members of the club attending. The bazaar will be held during the week of January 3 to January 8, inclusive and will hold many surprises for the attendants. Probably the most popular feature of the affair will be the "Baby Contest," which will be run during the bazaar week. A diamond ring contest will also be held in which the Misses Annabel McAfee and Katherin Boyle are the entrants and a gold watch contest for the men in which Thomas Griffin and John Disking will oppose each other.

The affair is in charge of M. D. O'Keefe, who is assisted by a large committee of T. A. B. members as well as the ladies' auxiliary. Miss Katherine McCauley is the chairman of the latter committee. Miss Annabel McAfee and John Force are the secretaries of the committees. On the initial night of the fair the bowling alleys and several additional features will be thrown open to the public.

CAUGHT IN BREAD MIXER.

Caught in a bread mixing machine while at work in G. Hanemann's bakery in Metuchen, this morning, Arthur Shafer, of that place, sustained serious injuries which necessitate his removal to Muhlenberg Hospital. The summary of his hurts consist of a broken arm, broken legs and general shock. He is twenty-three years old and lives with his uncle, Ernest Wiegle, of Metuchen.

JAMES E. WHITE.

James E. White, the thirteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael White, of 153 Mable street, died yesterday noon, at the parental home following a brief illness. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the late home and interment will take place in St. Mary's cemetery. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, will conduct a short service at the grave.

FINED FOR DISORDER.

Charged by Patrolman Joseph Dunlap with disorderly conduct, William Russell was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city police court this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 with the option of spending twenty days in the county jail.

AUGUST KITCHEN.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS WILL HOLD SALE NOVEMBER 20

At the first meeting of the Loyal Daughters' Circle, yesterday, it was decided to have a sale on Saturday, November 20, for which Mrs. E. P. Thomas kindly offered her home on Belvidere avenue. Especial efforts will be made to secure articles which will be attractive for Christmas gifts. Many pretty and useful things have already been pledged, among which are bags, cushions, baskets and dolls.

There will also be a sale of cakes and candy and the dining room will supply hot coffee, tea, sandwiches and cakes. The object of the sale is to pay the pledge to the Day Nursery and to assist in other charities.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The marshmallow toast which was to be held last evening on the Watchung mountains was postponed until next Friday. The weather conditions of the past few days were not favorable for such an event so it was wisely concluded to postpone it.

The pupils who are awaiting the announcement of the Board of Education that Saengerbund Hall will once more be used as a basketball rendezvous will receive definite information shortly. This evening a representative of the Board of Education, and also a delegate of the Saengerbund Society, together with Mr. Aungst and Mr. Earley, will make final arrangements for the rent of the hall.

The members of the Parent Teachers Association are working to insure a successful rummage sale next Thursday. An empty store on Somerset street has been procured. The pupils are urged to contribute any useful articles and make it a financial success.

Mr. Earley has announced to all the suburban pupils who come by rail to take the eight o'clock car, as the Public Service Corporation will not honor any ticket before that time.

Charles Roll and John Dawe, business managers of the A. A. play, have made arrangements for five hundred tickets to be printed for the coming play.

Mr. Earley has given permission to three of the pupils to take a special course in analytical chemistry, which will be taught by Miss Mohring. This subject is not included in the school curriculum and will therefore receive no credits.

Miss Irene Duchesne, the English teacher, will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting of the Somerset County Teachers' Association, which is being held in Somerville today.

Mr. Earley will commence a special class in mathematics to review all the different branches of this subject to those seniors who intend to go to college.

Roy Stewart and Walter Debele, two members of the High School, are planning to give an informal dance to the pupils on November 5th, in Debele's Auditorium.

Now that the books for the play have been received, the rehearsing of the A. A. play will commence the early part of next week, under the instruction of Miss Barnard, the German teacher.

A few of the players who have entered in the tennis tourney are impatient to start their match so they will commence play this afternoon. The majority will get under way Monday afternoon.

To date most of the members of the A. A. have paid their dues. All those who haven't are warned to do so before November 1st, or else they will be excluded from athletics.

Robbers Miss $1,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Chief Postal Inspector Gregory, in charge of this district, who investigated the robbery on the Baltimore and Ohio train at Central Station, W. Va. stated today that the $1,000,000 shipment of Federal reserve notes sent from the Treasury Department for the Dallas Reserve District was intact. The notes were not national bank notes as previously reported.

COLUMBUS DAY EVENT.

Plans have been perfected for the entertainment to be provided in Columbus Club Tuesday night in connection with the annual observance of Columbus Day. An elaborate program has been prepared by the committee in charge, one of the principal features being a program of dancing.

DUNBAR DANCE.

About eighty members and friends of the Dunbar Club, of the West End, enjoyed a social dance in the Washington School building last night. Mrs. J. C. Anderson was the patroness.

Change Seat Sells for $68,500.

New York, Oct. 9.—A sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership has been made at $68,500. This is an advance of $3,500 over the last previous sale.

RECREATION NOTES

The debating society will hold an open discussion on the suffrage question Monday night in the Washington School at 8 o'clock. Anyone interested in debates will be welcome to take part in the discussion. A series of such debates, the subjects to be announced later, will be given each Monday evening.

The needlecraft class will meet in the library of the Washington School Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The Bryant School dancing class will be held in the Bryant School Monday afternoon.

CHRISTIAN FIELD

The Indian League of the Y. M. C. A. has been reorganized into teams for the fall and winter season. The following boys were elected captains of the teams: Iroquois, Chas. Gates; Sioux, Harold Wilson; Omaha, Warren Moyer; Wawayanda, Ellis Enander.

The schedule of athletic events for these teams will begin Monday, October 11. The first event is the fifteen yard dash.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Avenue church will hold its monthly meeting in the church parlors Friday afternoon.

The Rev. Thomas Worrall, chaplain of the Bellevue Hospital will preach at the morning service tomorrow in the Church of the Holy Cross.

Rally Day will be observed in the Monroe Avenue Episcopal church tomorrow. At 10:45 there will be a general home gathering of the congregation and at three o'clock the Sunday-school will have a rally. At 7:15 the Epworth League will hold a revival and at 8 o'clock the pastor will preach on "How the Prodigal Revived, Rallied and Came Home." The choir will render special music for the occasion.

The Rev. C. S. Gillespie, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, will preach on "The Soul's Relationship" tomorrow morning and at night the topic of his sermon will be "New Chivalry." Wednesday night the topic of the prayer meeting will be "The Ministry of Intercession."

Mrs. Henry Thomas will lead the services at the W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read will have charge of the service at the Rescue Mission tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. Edward Lincoln Smith, of Boston, will preach at the Congregational church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Dr. Smith is said to be an able speaker.

Rally Day service of the Sunday-school will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Netherwood Reformed church. The regular session of the school will be held at 9:45 o'clock. At the evening service at 7:45 o'clock, Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor, will preach, his subject being "Wasting and Saving."

The "Billy" Sunday hymn books, it is expected, will be used at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night at a special song service. Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, the pastor, will preach on "Thickening in the East." In the morning his subject will be "Why We Believe." All services are planned in view of the coming of Charlie Taylor, the "boy evangelist," who begins services here on October 17.

"Wisdom" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning. In the afternoon the topic will be "The Organization of Christ's Preaching Force."

The official board of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will take as his topic "The Reasonableness of the Unreasonable in Religion," tomorrow morning and in the evening his subject will be "What Must I Do to be Lost." The latter will be an evangelistic service.

WOMAN IS SENTENCED.

On the complaint of her husband, who alleged that she attempted to stab him, Mamie Halliwell, of West Third street, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 with the option of spending sixty days in the county jail. She is an old offender.

PLANNING FOR THE SEASON.

At a meeting of special committees of the Men's Club of Grace Episcopal church held in the parish house last night, steps were taken that promise to make this season's club activities notable. The first club meeting is to be strictly a social session and will be held the latter part of the month.

EUCHRE COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the euchre committee will be held in the Columbus Club parlors Monday night, at which time final arrangements will be made for the club's coming social event.

CAPTAIN FLYNN BACK.

Captain John J. Flynn, of the local police force, returned to duty yesterday following a two weeks' vacation.

Initiation of several new members and election of officers will be the chief business of the meeting of Craiga Lea Lodge, No. 43, Daughters of Scotia, to be held Monday night.

WAR NEWS

Steamship Co., and the British steamship Scawby, 1,658 tons, owned by R. Ropner & Co., have been sunk by German submarines.

German Transport Sunk.

An official communication issued in Petrograd says a British submarine operating in the Baltic Sea, near the German coast, has destroyed a German transport by gunfire. No details as to the size of the vessel or the loss of life are given.

French at Hievgeli.

Nish, Oct. 9.—French forces landed at Saloniki have reached Serbia, it was officially announced today. Their base has been established at Hievgeli, near the Greek frontier. British forces are following the French and it is expected that by Tuesday the entire Anglo-French expedition will be on Serb soil.

Bulgars After Railway.

Athens, Oct. 9.—Bulgarian cavalry has been massed at Kustendil for the invasion of Serbia. These forces are expected to strike at the Saloniki-Nish Railway, in the vicinity of Kumanove as soon as the order to advance is given. If the Bulgars succeed in cutting the railroad they will prevent the transportation of Anglo-French troops northward to help the Serbian army.

Dardanelles' Attack Fierce.

A great effort to open the Dardanelles before the Turks can secure aid from the Austro-German forces is under way. A terrific cannonade against the Turkish positions on both sides of the Dardanelles has been begun by British and French warships.

Wait On Greek Decision.

Turin, Oct. 9.—A dispatch from Saloniki today to the Stampa states that the landing of Allied troops at Saloniki has been suspended until the attitude of the new Greek Government is clearly known.

Kaiser to Take Charge.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—It is rumored among the German officers at Aix La Chapelle that the Kaiser is going to Serbia.

French Claim Big Gains.

Northern France, Oct. 9.—Severe infantry fighting is proceeding southwest of Thelus where the French are gradually advancing upon the fortified height of Vimy, a portion of which is already in their hands. The heights are now being heavily bombarded on three sides. The Germans continue to suffer tremendous losses in the Champagne region. The French in the last week have advanced more than three miles on the greater part of a ten-mile front.

Paris, Oct. 9.—French war statement:

"Reports on the night's fighting state that German losses in the offensive begun yesterday against Loos and the positions to the north and south of that town actually held by our troops were extremely heavy. The assault was made by three very dense masses, followed by forces in column formation. It was broken up by the combined fire of our infantry, our machine guns and our military. A few elements only succeeded in gaining a foothold in one of the trenches recently captured between Loos and the Lens-Bethune highway. Other engagements, local in their character, were completely repulsed. All our gains of the last few days were maintained. In Champagne a German attack launched in the night to the east of Navarin farm was completely checked by a curtain of fire from our artillery. The enemy has not shown any activity in reply to our progress of yesterday to the southeast of Tahure, except by bombarding violently."

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Plainfield Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kindey trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills is a good remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has acted effectively in many cases in Plainfield. Follow the advice of a Plainfield citizen.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, says: "I confirm all that one of my family said in my favor in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's Drug Store, some years ago. The cure they gave me has lasted."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mattis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

GEORGE M. LAMONTE WILL SPEAK TO SUFFRAGISTS

George M. LaMonte is to be the speaker for tonight's street meeting of the local Equal Suffrage League. Mr. LaMonte will speak at the post office corner, and the hour of the meeting has been moved back to 8:30, because it is believed that a bigger crowd will be on the street at that time. Mr. LaMonte is State commissioner of banking and currency and is chairman of the men's campaign committee for equal suffrage in New Jersey.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

INCREASED WAGE FOR JOURNEYMEN

Bosses Offer Plasterers An Advance of Fifty Cents Beginning in 1916.

NO FEAR OF TIE-UP

Details as to Exact Amount and the Date Upon Which the Advance Pay Becomes Operative Will Be Determined Within a Short Time.

New York, Oct. 9.—The arbitration committee representing the journeymen plasterers of New York and vicinity and the bosses met today at the rooms of the Building Trades Employers' Association, and in lieu of acceding to the demands of the men for the introduction of the steward or minimum labor plan, they promised them an increase in wages of not more than fifty cents a day, beginning next year. The details as to the exact amount and the date upon which the advance in pay becomes operative have still to be determined. The journeymen are bound to abide by the decision of the committee.

This removes all fear of a tie-up of building operations in this city. During the conferences between members of the committee and the bosses and unions the plasterers have been at work following a lock-out by the bosses when the men attempted to forcibly introduce the minimum labor plan. The steward system calls for the hiring of a steward by the bosses on every job requiring more than ten men, whose duty it shall be to prevent any man from working more than a certain pace during his day's work. The men maintained that rush work on buildings being hastened to completion, following delays arising from financing, non-arrival of material and other causes, in time for spring and fall renting seasons, has produced an unfair discrimination among workmen to the advantage of some and the exclusion of others. Union plasterers have been getting $5.50 a day.

Advices from the brick and cement markets indicate a continuation of stiffness in price levels. The attempt to get seven dollars a thousand for Hudson common brick failed, for the most part, but it served to bring the price up from $5.75 a thousand to $6 and over. Rainy weather interfered with demand, and thus helped to keep prices low, but the fact that supplies are not great up the River nor in the Raritan district tended to keep the market from becoming glutted with brick.

Portland cement manufacturers are getting more and more to a uniform price level of $1.52 for immediate business. Cement bought at low prices a month or two ago is now practically all shipped, and when the last of this business moves out of the Valley there is very likely to be a sharp upturn to all quotations. Shipments from the Valley in September were about the same as those for August, and there was a little more reserve on hand, partly due, however, to difficulty in obtaining cars.

The demand for Southern yellow pine is improving. Large corporations which have been out of the market are reported by the Southern Pine Manufacturers' Association to be coming in again. Railroad buying is better. The larger line yards are coming into the market earlier this fall than usual, doubtless in anticipation of continued difficulty in getting shipments as car shortage increases. There has been no change in the value of good, well-manufactured stocks, except in the case of yellow pine, which has moved up $1 a thousand. Short leaf pine prices are held stiff at list, and some quotations at a dollar a thousand above new September cards have been reported. Some grades of long leaf yellow pine flooring have advanced in prices.

Hardwood business is increasing in volume, but prices are still at August and September levels. Stocks are not over plentiful, and a moderate demand is expected to result in sharp advances.

Further shrinkage in the price of copper and the disposition on the part of plate interests in the steel market to get $1.40 reflect the general condition in the steel market. The tonnage, as reported by the United States Steel Corporation today, is higher than that for September, but it reflects little improvement in heavy building construction in any one section of the country. The East has taken more building tonnage than in recent months, but it is not yet abnormal.

Building construction in New York, indicating what the general trend of Eastern building construction is, by reason of easing of the money market, shows a total of 9,403 buildings, with an estimated value of $126,502,490. In the same month last year the estimated value of the 9,163 buildings projected was $86,486,996, showing a gain of $37,015,194. With money obtainable at much lower premiums for building construction, it is the belief of building material interests that a larger percentage of new building plan filings will go ahead during the winter than in a corresponding period in many years.

INSPECTOR ISSUES SEVENTEEN PERMITS

Four Garages and Six Dwellings Are Included in List for Past Week.

Seventeen building permits were issued by Inspector T. O. Doane during the course of September, covering the erection of four garages, six dwellings, one storage shed, the installation of one tank for the storage of volatile liquids, and seven alteration jobs. The documents call for the expenditure of $30,092, as against $126,490 for September of last year.

The greater portion of this difference is due to the fact that the permit for the Evergreen Avenue School was issued last year, at a cost of $84,000.

The tables below show the distribution of expenditures, according to wards, and a comparison with last year.

MANY PERMITS AWAIT ACTION

Outlook for Fall Building is Said to Be Unusually Good at This Time.

IMPROVEMENT PLANNED

Building Inspector Doane Grants Six Permits During the Past Week For Garages, Business and Apartment Buildings.

Six building permits were issued during the course of the past week, calling for the expenditure of $5,220. The documents call for the erection of four garages, one business and apartment building, and one alteration job. A number of permits are awaiting Inspector T. O. Doane's signature at this time.

The outlook for fall work is exceptionally bright at this time, and many of the local building craftsmen will be kept busy for some little time. The permits as issued during the past week are as noted below:

First Ward.

Charles Parker is to erect a 12x12 foot frame garage at 141 Leland avenue, the estimated cost being placed at $150. A. K. Mattis is the contractor for the work.

Albert Pittis is to alter the building at 178-180 East Front street, adding a 10x34 foot extension at a cost of $300.

Second Ward.

The Crescent Realty Company is to erect a hollow terra cotta block garage at 220 East Sixth street, measuring 20x65 feet. The cost is estimated at $1,000. The contracts have been awarded to William H. Dennick, mason, and the W. D. Lewis Company, of New York, carpenters. The structure is to be used by the tenants of the Crescent Court Apartments on East Seventh street.

Third Ward.

The Bloom Construction Company has already started work on a 14x28 foot hollow terra cotta block garage at 408 Plainfield avenue. The cost will be $200.

The largest permit of the week is that granted to Catherine Barteliouí, to erect a two-story brick business and apartment building at the south corner of Prescott place and West Fourth street. The structure will measure 22x47 feet, and will cost $3,445. The first floor is to be occupied by a store, while the second is to be fitted up with an apartment. George H. Fisher, Jr., is the architect; McGalle & Cane, the mason contractors, and Samuel Titus, of Dunellen, the carpenter contractor.

C. D. Manning is to erect a 12x20 foot frame garage at 951 Park avenue at a cost of $125.

RESUME OF BUILDING HERE DURING YEAR

Permits Issued by Inspector Call for a Total of 124 Buildings.

Not until the total are made up, is it possible to judge just the extent of the building activities of this city. During the nine months ending on September 30, permits have been issued for structures accommodating over sixty families. A total of 124 buildings will have been erected when all structures under the permits granted thus far this year will be completed.

The various types of buildings called for by the permits as issued by Inspector Doane from January 1 to September 30, the number of each, and the total cost of each type are as follows:

Type.	No.	Cost
Dwellings	39	$168,916
Business-Apart.	7	62,500
Business	7	57,900
Apartments	1	45,000
Garages	46	13,315
Barns-Stables	5	5,500
Miscellaneous	19	3,835
Alterations	46	73,398
Totals	170	$430,364

The above list does not include the storage house to be erected on East Third street by the Plainfield Storage Company, or the new edifice for the Netherwood Reformed church, as the permits for these structures have not been signed by Inspector Doane as yet, although the plans have been filed with him.

JUST NOTES

An opportunity to secure a site for a city park is offered by the proposed sheriff's sale of the Tier property on East Front street and Bank place. The public affairs committee of the Common Council might do well in looking into this matter at this time.

A new school for the far East End is a necessity, should the number of new dwellings being erected in that section of the city be any criterion.

By the way, what has become of the suggestion made by Mayor Calkins last January that Plainfield have a City Hall. Have the plans been drawn up as yet?

The campaign for funds for the proposed new Y. M. C. A. building is still being held off, for some reason or other, while the need for such a structure still grows on apace.

ANNIVERSARY OF CIVIC ASS'N

improved and many other civic improvements brought about. He said that not once has the governing body of the city turned a deaf ear to any request made by the West End Civic Association. This was largely due to the facts that these requests were always reasonable and when their attention was called to a condition the city councilmen could readily see the necessity for improvement.

The association, which now has more than seventy-five active members, is planning to broaden out and expand its field of endeavors.

President H. C. White, of the Plainfield Recreation Committee spoke in the interest of forming a community center in the West End with the Washington School building as headquarters and the Civic Association as the directing organization. He told of the recreation work which had been accomplished and was being done in Plainfield. The municipal dances during the year had a total attendance of more than 20,000, while the work in general had been so successful that Plainfield was known as the recreation city, far and wide. He wanted the West End Civic Association to take charge of the first "community center" in the city for the reason that this organization had a reputation for doing things once it started out.

The following committee was named to co-operate with the Recreation Committee in starting the new departure: John J. Carroll, R. S. Louis, Joseph Edgar, J. J. Prael, George H. Fisher, Jr., Frank S. Power and R. A. Claybrook. This committee will meet with the members of the Recreation Committee on Wednesday evening of next week in the Public Library at 8 o'clock.

Mayor Leighton Calkins, in a short address, commended the civic association for the work it had accomplished in its part of the town and for the influences it had exerted for public improvement throughout the city. He said that in providing wholesome places of recreation for the young people alone it was doing unlimited good. He had heard it said that the police force of Plainfield should be doubled, but he believed that with more work such as this organization is doing it would be safe to cut the police in two instead of doubling it.

Miss L. M. Lamson told how a debating club, recently formed, had already awakened much interest among the young men of the West End; how the Needlework Craft was attracting the attention of the women; that a Current Events Club and a Woman's Club was in the process of formation, and many other departures in contemplation.

Mrs. Joseph Edgar favored the audience with several vocal selections, while John Endress, accompanied on the piano by his sister, Miss Catherine Endress, delighted the audience with a well-selected violin solo.

Miss Lou Rogers, representing Puck and Judge, amused all and instructed many with cartoons representing various phases of the suffrage question.

Following the program refreshments were served and a social hour was utilized in enabling the members, their families and visitors to become better acquainted.

BIG PRISON CONVENTION.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 9.—The biggest gathering of prison workers, prison reformers and prison officials in the history of the country opened a meeting here today, at which the problems of the prisons will be threshed out at great length. It is the annual convention of the American Prison Association, and will extend until next Thursday evening. Several hundred delegates have come from the eastern States, where just now the prison questions are being agitated. The weighty questions to be talked over are prison discipline, criminal law reform, prevention of crime, probation and parole, the status of the discharged prisoner, improvement of jail conditions, outdoor employment of prisoners, the working of the honor system in prisons, and the crime statistics.

The NEW FURNITURE Is Spread Out In All Its Wholesome Liveableness

Some of it comes from abroad. The greater part was made in the United States, much of it in the particular way specified by us. Charm and durability, fitness and inexpensiveness—these are the things we have sought, and found, and offer to our customers on the threshold of a new indoors season.

Velours Replaced Tapestry

The upholstered pieces are now being finished mostly in velours, exquisitely patterned. Some fine examples of the new treatment are the imported suites for the living-room, in a dark mahogany, with cane inset backs, and a handsome blue and gold velour covering on seats, cushions and bolster of the settee. Other coverings are in soft blues and gold and mulberry.

American Walnut

is rising in favor; not the forbidding dark walnut of the 19th century, but a softer toned walnut, which is admirably suited to the designs in which it appears.

There is a striking daintiness to the new furniture; a refinement which is inviting in its promise of restfulness.

A Well Assorted Stock

The new stocks have been assembled for service in the homes in and about New York. No such appropriate assortment exists anywhere else; suites and separate pieces, for all rooms; fancy furniture, such as work-tables, tea-wagons, muffin-stands, secretaries, house desks—the finest of gifts; all good woods and finishes, and

All Moderately Priced

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 9, 1915.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is C. D. Wardlaw, Principal of John Leal's School for Boys.

Perhaps in no city of the country is the school situation more discussed than in Plainfield, and perhaps in no city is there a better system of public schools or one less open to criticism. Throughout the whole breadth of its personnel—Board of Education, supervisor, principals, and teachers it is ably administered, carefully conducted. Plainfield is a wonderfully public spirited town, a wonderfully clean town and its public schools reflect the vigor and spirit of its people.

But in public schools whether it be here or in other cities there exists a grave fault through which a vital factor in the life of children is still undeveloped. That this fault is recognized, is proved by the fact that many school systems are striving to overcome it, but because the bulk of the people of the nation have not been led to appreciate the play function in education and pay for it, the development has been slow.

The failure to provide properly supervised play for all of its children for the whole school year is the greatest fault of our public educational life. Why do we train the mind of a child and let the body grow as it will? Why do we work to teach children the best in life in the morning and then turn them upon the streets to be a prey to the worst in the afternoon?

It is a fallacy to say that character is developed by throwing a child upon his own resources to mingle with whom he will; go where he will. Character after it is formed may mix with crowds nor lose its virtue, but that of a child must be pretty strong to escape unscathed the unorganized, lax life of the after school day.

True, the play spirit is inherent in every child and he may often use it rightfully, but so is the desire for knowledge. Imagine the condition which would exist, however, if children were sent to school in the morning to pick as from a lunch counter, the scraps of knowledge scattered around. Yet we are sending those same children out of school for the greater part of the afternoon to cull as they may the scraps of play from a street environment not conducive to it.

By a happily supervised play period after study the child can be taught seasonable games and athletic sports, while nurtured in manliness, courtesy and chivalry in the playing of those games; and this instruction continued through a period of years makes his later life richer in health, enjoyment and usefulness than could possibly be the case if the allurement of the streets were his only physical education.

Streets breed gangsters, idleness breeds immorality and public education stands wringing its hands, helplessly by. Helpless, because you, my readers, are not willing to pay the taxes to provide the funds to enable the noblest institution of a republic to undertake what its foremost investigators consider one of its most vital functions. What was good enough for you as a boy is not good enough today. The world is bettered only by the constant striving for higher things and the ways and means to provide them are achieved by education alone.

Public playgrounds, high school gymnasiums, athletic teams endeavor to aid this condition, but the first are mainly open only for a few months in the summer, and the last reach but a meagre few. Welcome the day when our national playground systems, our boards of education, backed up financially by an enthusiastic play-educated public, will tear the padlocks from the playground gates, and provide well directed red-blooded play for all children for the whole year.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY PLAN DEMONSTRATION

County Rally at Elizabeth in Connection With Dean O'Neill Golden Jubilee.

Many Plainfield people will go to Elizabeth tomorrow to attend the Union county Holy Name Society rally in connection with the Dean O'Neill Golden Jubilee, and St. Mary's Society will have a part in the open-air parade that will be a part of the exercises.

The open-air services at the conclusion of the marching will consist of benediction of the blessed sacrament on St. Mary's Convent grounds, South Broad and South streets. The celebrant will be the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles H. Mackel, rector of St. Patrick's church, of Elizabeth; celebrant, Rev. Florian Widman, O. S. B., rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart; sub-deacon, Rev. H. J. Watterson, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Westfield; master of ceremonies, Rev. Henry J. Sheridan, assistant rector of St. Mary's church, Elizabeth. The address will be by the Rev. Thomas Barrett, S. J., of St. Peter's College, Jersey City. The music will be rendered by the United Catholic Choirs, of Elizabeth.

The various societies will assemble in the vicinity of Jefferson Park, Elizabeth, at 2:15 Sunday and will march at 2:45. The following societies will be represented:

Holy Trinity, Westfield; Assumption, Roselle Park; St. Anthony's, Elizabeth; Holy Rosary, Elizabeth; Sacred Heart, Elizabeth; Immaculate Conception, Elizabeth; St. Joseph's, Roselle; St. Mary's, Rahway; St. Elizabeth's, Linden; St. Michael's Cranford; Sts. Peter's and Paul's, Elizabeth; St. Michael's Elizabeth; St. Mary's, Plainfield; St. Adelbert's, Elizabeth; St. Patrick's, Elizabeth; St. Mary's, Elizabeth.

BERNARDS HOTEL MAN IS HELD AS JURY TAMPERER

Somerville, Oct. 9.—Charges involving alleged attempts to influence members of a grand jury were made yesterday before Judge Daniel H. Beekman in the Somerset county court against John W. Hoffman, proprietor of the Claremont Hotel in Bernardsville. Hoffman was indicted Thursday. The grand jurors involved are Edward E. Gardner, David Buist, Albert Gibb and Oscar Wright, all of Bernardsville. Hoffman was held by Judge Beekman in $2,000 bail for trial October 18.

It is charged that in September, 1914, when Charles E. Wyman was up for indictment on charges of receiving stolen automobile parts, Hoffman tried to get the four grand jurors mentioned to prevent indictment of the man. Hoffman denied all of the charges.

Hoffman's liquor license is held up for two weeks because of the charges against him. A temporary license was refused by the court.

His Route Map

He bought a little road map
That told him how to go.
He was an à la mode chap
Who managed things just so.

He read the full directions
Then loaded up his flock—
His family connections—
And hiked for Slippery Rock.

Within ten miles he halted—
A "road closed" barred his way.
That guide-book he assaulted
While thus he stood at bay.

He backed and took a detour
For nineteen miles or less,
Took many a turn and re-tour—
That journey was a mess!

Now when that jasper travels,
He stops and asks the folks.
By bits his road unravels—
These road-map books are jokes.

Health Talks

Music Is A Tonic—Fresh Or Canned

MUSIC is a valuable remedy to keep in the family chest—or to get off the chest at reasonable and proper hours. It is in actual use in many a modern operating-room as a sedative and protective agent in the prophylaxis of shock. A good record is put on just as the ether is started, and the patient's mind is distracted, fear is diminished and hence post-operative shock is prevented.

There are some things perpetrated in the name of music that would make a journey to the hospital a veritable junketing trip, but as a general rule invalids should have a lot more music served them than they ordinarily get. This is by way of a delicate hint to women's clubs. Why not have a Hospital Music Committee to look after the matter? Think of all the long, dreary hours dragged out by inmates of the hospitals, and imagine the tonic, cheering, helpful influence a little concert, vocal or instrumental, would have upon these unfortunates. You can't imagine it unless you have been a patient there yourself and enjoyed such a rare treat.

Martial music, by actual test, has been found to increase endurance, to make soldiers stand a long march better than they can without the music. Delirium has been quieted by soft, distant music. Bad, ill-bred babies—such as our parents and grandparents managed somehow to raise—have been crooned to sleep many a night when said parents or grandparents might better have employed their time doing something necessary.

It ought to be somebody's business to look after the musical needs of our hospitals. Here is a field for good deeds, and one that any artist would be glad to help with. At Christmas time, in some hospitals, the inmates are treated to music, but there are at least fifty other days in the year when the treatment would be quite as welcome and quite as helpful.

Any one who knows the wonderful comfort and peace to be found in a little music after a hard day's work or when troubles lie heavy on the heart, must realize what a genuine tonic this form of entertainment is for the invalid confined in the hospital. Think of the hundreds of phonographs and the thousands of records that have been practically scrapped, and how much pleasure these cast-off musical things would give some poor unfortunate.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What Pimples On The Face Prove

I am about distracted, declares G. E. S. My face is covered with pimples and blackheads. Some people tell me they are evidence of bad habits. Will you please tell me the truth about that?

Answer—Granny notions, nothing more. Pimples are evidence of nothing unless it be excess of youthful health and vitality. Send along your stamped addressed envelope for letter of advice.

Old Joke Comes To Life

An anxious reader, who does not hesitate to sign his letter, incloses one of those "men's specialist" booklets. He desires our opinion upon the truth of the statements in the booklet.

Answer—Careful perusal of the booklet does not disclose any statements one could, by a stretch of the imagination, call truthful—so we cannot give any opinion. We supposed this old-time hold-up was thoroughly extinct.

HOW TO RUN A BANK

SECURE the usual magnificent bank fixtures of marble and onyx and jade and jacinth and stained-glass and French bevel.

This is to impress upon the public that banks are hard up and do not make enough money out of their deposits to keep them from anything except actual starvation, and spend their few earnings modestly.

If a man comes in and asks for money, find out by cross-questioning and investigation whether he needs it. If he does, don't let him have it. The man who needs money is a poor customer to a money-lender.

If the would-be borrower is timid about it, make him feel worse if possible. After you have him scared stiff and shaking all over, ask him, abruptly, to sign his name.

Compare that scared scrawl with the indorsement on the back of the check or the signature to the indorsed note, and prove to him conclusively that he did not sign both these.

This is a fine method, for it is a well-known fact that all forgers and confidence men are timid people and act very embarrassed when they present paper on which to raise money.

However, if a man comes in with a smile that looks like four million, a mint of gold in his mouth and a suit of clothes that adds about three figures to his external rating, fall down and kiss his feet and throw open the vault and go in with a shovel, telling him to holler when there is enough out there to suit his present needs.

This is the method always employed by bank paying tellers and cashiers just prior to a vacancy in their cages, and large headlines in the newspapers.

If all the Sunday schools in town had superintendents before you went into the banking business, move to Throw open the vault and go in with a shovel, telling him to holler when there is enough out there another town or start a Sunday-school of another denomination.

It is so customary as to be almost indispensable that a man who has any intentions of going wrong become an active and leading Sunday-school worker and a prominent pillar of the church. Most pillars have capitals at the top, and most church pillars have capital on the brain.

If all the men who went wrong in banks were really church pillars, every church in the United States would be built on the colonial style.

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

Lost And Found

Q. Where one finds lost property, what rights does the finder have?

A. Such matters are generally controlled by legislative enactments. In some states it is necessary for the finder to advertise the property and, if not claimed within a certain time, it will belong to him. In other states, a part of the property, after a certain length of time, will belong to the finder and a part is to go to a public fund. In still other states, the public fund is alone to be considered and the finder will simply be reimbursed for his expenses.

Between The Lines

Q. I made a written contract with another man. Subsequently, some parts of it were changed by some one, who wrote between the lines. I am convinced that the change was not made by the man with whom I have my agreement. Will the contract be affected in any way?

A. If it was altered without your knowledge or consent, it will stand in its original form, provided the terms of the contract, as originally made, may be ascertained.

The Family Physician

Q. In applications for policies of life insurance, one frequently meets with the term "family physician." How would this be construed in a legal sense?

A. A family physician is a physician who usually attends members of the family and is consulted by him in his professional capacity.

An Auctioneer's Pay

Q. Are the fees of an auctioneer regulated by statute?

A. Sometimes this is the case.

Indorser Is Liable

Q. A note was made payable to bearer and a certain man indorsed it. Is he liable as an indorser?

A. Yes, he is liable.

The Firm Name

Q. I was formerly a member of a firm, my name appearing in the firm style. Later, I withdrew from the partnership and began business for myself. Have I the right to use my own name, notwithstanding that it still appears in the firm name and style?

A. Yes, if your action is in good faith, and with no design to mislead the public, and if you have not made a contract which provides otherwise.

Those Agents!

Q. I employed an agent to look after some property for me. He was to collect rent from several tenants. He has been very careless about it. He doesn't always keep the property rented and he is negligent about collecting rents. Would he be legally liable to me?

A. It is his duty to exercise reasonable diligence. He should make reasonable efforts to keep the property rented and to collect the amounts due from the tenants. Further, if he could let the property to tenants who can and will pay it it is his duty to do so.

Order

The great business of this world is the creating of Order. We are all at it to some extent. And it is upon the proportion of our efforts toward the total Order of the Universe that we are judged as big or little men and women.

The business of each man and woman is to eliminate Dis-order from the earth.

The smallest effort that you put forth to-day is sure to cut down just that much the total existing Dis-order. For every act you perform has its effect on Society as a whole. You may think that your small work in the great day counts for little or nothing, but in the summing up it may mean growth affecting countless numbers.

All great men and women have been earnest workers for Order. Their very life Results blaze the fact forth.

One of the great keys to the Character of people is the place where they work. The Desk in Order, the Office neat and with a place for every article, the home "spick and span," tasteful Clothes—these are revelations into secrets that tell bigger truths than tons of letters of recommendation and testimonials.

Carlyle says that every man is born an enemy to Dis-order. It is a great thing to live up to our Capabilities. Order is one of the most important of them. You have To-day in which to make it real.

To A Mosquito

(As Wordsworth Would Have Worded It)

Delirious minstrel; pilgrim of the gloom,
Is it thy aim to sing me to my rest,
Or dost thou soar in spirals 'round my room
Intent to settle softly on my chest?
My chest, in which thou soon will sink thy bill,
Those quivering wings composed, that music still.

To the last point of patience I endure
Thy tantalizing threat to do me wrong,
And when I fancy I have got thee sure,
My ears misguided by thy grating song,
Just where I land my fierce, vindictive swat
Is always on a place where thou art not.

For hours, though I try to get to sleep,
I cannot do it, for thy rasping strain
Exasperates me and I wildly keep
Attempting thy destruction—all in vain.
Still dost thou jab, and still I fume and fret—
But never mind, base bug, I'll get you yet!

Alexander's Cunning and Game's "Breaks" Gave Him the Verdict

By JACK MARTIN
From Philadelphia Club's Bench

Philadelphia, Saturday morning.—Miss Fate played her little hand in the opening game of the 1915 scrap for the world's baseball title here yesterday afternoon, the peppery Boston Red Sox being forced to sniff defeat only after Dame Fortune had deserted them and turned her attention to Grover Cleveland Alexander. The great Philadelphia hurler was not in the same form that earned for him the distinction of being one of baseball's headiest boxmen and that he secured a 3 to 1 verdict as a starter-off for Pat Moran's team was not his fault. Alexander was at his best only after he got himself into seemingly unsurmountable ruts and his cunning, together with the "breaks" he was getting, gained him some boisterous recognition from the Phillies' share of the 20,000 fans present.

When Shore was going good he was well nigh invincible, but when he once suspected that the Quakers were going to "get to him" he weakened almost to a failing pitch. In the early rounds he twirled as he has never twirled before; his assortment of benders and wabblers standing the Moran outfit on its head. All in all the Boston box artist deserved a lot better than defeat.

During the entire fracas interest pivoted itself around the rival pitchers, there being little brilliancy to call forth recognition from the bleachers on the part of the other sixteen players. A soggy field detracted from what speed the performers were capable of injecting into the fray and the usual sensational fielding stunts of world's series baseball were not on yesterday's program. Barry pulled to cover a red-hot line drive and Paskert bagged a long fly after a hard run, but these included the afternoon's contribution to the sensational column.

The infield work of the Red Sox was noticeably inefficient. Not that the inner line of the Boston defense wavered, but Shore himself was the guilty party. He was so attentive to his pitching duties that he neglected to do his share of the fielding and it was directly due to this failing that the third run came across the pan. The game had been won anyway, so the miscue didn't make so much difference after all. Shore took a good look at the little ball rolling to him in the critical half of the eighth, let it bound off his foot, and watched it as it rolled to the third base line for a hit, the final tally having strolled over the scoring station before he listened from his dose. This was not the kind of baseball that lost the game, but the kind that the Hub-town aggregation will have to avoid in future combats in order to be in on the bigger end of the melon splitting next week.

Yesterday's contest gave the critic little opportunity to pick a sensation for the 1915 series. In the hitting line Lewis, of the Bostons, breezed into the box score with a pair of safties, but the extra sackers, characteristic of all world's series encounters, didn't bob up yesterday. In fact, the crashing, slam-bang stick work of "Home-Run" Baker was sadly missed. Neither team had a Baker at the bat or a Ty Cobb on the cushions.

Today the Phillies have earned the place in the hearts of Sleeptown fans that the Athletics enjoyed this time last year. In a world's series Pat Moran is a far greater hero than Connie Mack ever hoped to be. This is not the wild, rambling statement that some students of baseball may take it to be, but the opinion of sane persons who are intimately acquainted with both pilots. Philadelphia last night was baseball clean through. The Phillies could have anything and everything. On every hand optimism ruled supreme and Philly fans can't just see where Boston has a look in. The betting odds now favor the Phillies for the series, but this is only to be expected after one team has grabbed the edge that the first verdict always carries with it.

On the other hand 500 "Royal rooters," clean-cut and lusty-lunged Bostonians, believe that Carrigan has the best combine of ball artists that every graced a diamond. They are willing to "cover" all the money that Quakertown sportsmen dare to exhibit and are confident that the Red Sox come through and even up the series today.

Personally I believe that Boston will reverse the count this afternoon. The Moran club can't hit twirlers like Carrigan has in reserve and the Philadelphia rooters make no bones of the fact that Moran hasn't another Grover Cleveland Alexander.

MRS. STOCKTON TOOK PRIZE IN TOURNEY

Gross Award Goes to Local Player in One-Day Golf Event.

A one-day golf tournament for women was run off yesterday over the links of the Scarsdale Golf and Country Club, with more than fifty contestants. Ties ruled, and as regards the chief prize, Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, of Brooklawn, former national and metropolitan champion, and Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of Plainfield, each had 92 for gross.

As it happens, each also had a handicap of one stroke, and they also finished on even terms for net. Miss Bishop, playing in the flag competition, planted her standard on the home green and won the event, so it left Mrs. Stockton with a clear field for the gross. Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, of Plainfield, returned a card of 118, 14-105.

SPORTING NOTES

The Phillies have shaken a long-standing hoodoo by taking the National League pennant. Although they finished in the first division 23 times out of 33 seasons, they were unable to win the flag until this year.

A race between an aeroplane and a hydroplane will be pulled off tomorrow at the Mississippi River carnival at St. Louis.

Illinois is picked to repeat for the championship football title of the middle west. Practically all the veterans of last year are back in the line-up.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt, woman champion tennis player of the United States, will meet May Sutton (now Mrs. Thomas Bundy) in the California tournament next month, and a battle royal is expected.

The 100-mile auto race at Columbus, O., tomorrow has brought out a number of fast drivers for the championship of Ohio and a generous purse.

The western amateur championship baseball series will begin at Sacramento next Thursday, the Tacoma Tigers, champions of the Tacoma City League, will compete with the champion amateur teams of Portland, Los Angeles, Sacramento, and the winner of the series will meet the eastern amateur champions at the Exposition, October 21, 22 and 23.

The Grand Circuit goes into its final week next Monday at Lexington, Ky. The stewards report one of the best seasons of the big circuit.

RALPH MULFORD SETS NEW AUTO RECORD IN TRIALS

Bright weather enabled seven more drivers to qualify yesterday for the 350-mile automobile race for the Astor Cup, to be run at the new Sheepshead Bay speedway this afternoon, and the prospects were that the race postponed last Saturday on account of bad weather, would be run under favorable conditions. A total of twenty-one drivers has qualified with a possibility that another would qualify this morning.

In qualifying yesterday Ralph Mulford drove two miles at the rate of 1:09¾ miles an hour. His time was 1:05:35. According to speedway officials this was a world's record in the special type of car driven by Mulford.

COLLIER IS CHOSEN LEAGUE PRESIDENT

Popular Local Man Will Head New Circuit of Plainfield Basketball Teams.

Paul R. Collier, the local sporting goods merchant, was elected president of the Plainfield City Basketball League at a meeting in the editorial rooms of the Daily Press last night, the election of vice president, secretary and treasurer being deferred until the next session, which will be held Monday night. Seven teams were represented last night and adopted a constitution and set of by-laws. The eighth team, the Y. M. C. A., has taken out a franchise and will start the season with the other seven.

Last night's meeting consisted of filling in the by-laws and arranging minor details relative to the opening of the playing schedule, it being planned to send the series on its way about November 1.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE.

Members of Columbus Club who will try for positions on the basketball team to be entered in the City Basketball League practiced for the first time last night on the club's courts. A big turn-out answered the call and the prospects for a banner season are bright.

HOLY CROSS WORKING HARD.

Manager "Doc" Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, has issued a call for practice Monday night. This will be the final workout before Tuesday's opening game and all candidates planning to get into the fray will have to attend the final drill.

LATONIA RACE MEET.

Latonia, Ky., Oct. 9.—The autumn race meet at the Latonia track, consisting of sixteen racing days, will be opened this afternoon by the brilliant Autumn Inaugural Handicap, for three year olds and upwards, over the mile and one-sixteenth course.

WELCOME FOR DIXIE TOURISTS.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—The Dixie Highway tourists, a hundred strong, who started this morning on the first tour over the new national highway from Chicago through the south to Florida, are receiving a royal welcome along the highway. They will reach French Lick Springs this evening, where the party will be entertained by Thomas Taggart. The directors will hold a special meeting, at which it is expected Michigan will be formally admitted to the association. It is also expected that sanction will be given to the Western Florida arm of the highway, to run to Tallahassee and connect with the eastern arm of the highway. The tourists will go through Indianapolis, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Macon and Jacksonville.

SOMERSET Y. M. C. A. WORK IS PLANNED

Plainfield Man to Address Union Church Service, October 17.

Somerville, Oct. 9.—At the regular meeting of the Somerset County Y. M. C. A. committee, held in the M. E. church here last night, routine business was transacted and interesting reports from the various committees were heard.

Judge Nelson Y. Dungan, chairman of the finance committee, reported that a financial campaign would be conducted November 10 and 11, following the county convention, which will be held in Bound Brook, November 9.

Junior group No. 1, of Somerville, reported the election of the following officers: Hugh Brown, leader; Frazee Sutphen, president; Hugh Gaston, vice-president; Foster Stires, secretary; Howard McConnell, treasurer.

The resignations of Committeemen Charles L. Roberts and Chester Lane were received and accepted.

William D. Murray, president of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., is to be the principal speaker at a union service to be held at Harlingen Sunday, October 17. The Belle Meade, Rocky Hill and Griggstown group will join in these services.

FREEHOLDERS CONSIDER MRS. MAYBURY'S SUIT

Somerville, Oct. 9.—During the session of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders yesterday the members considered the Maybury law suit, and while no definite announcement was made, it is understood that efforts are being made to settle the matter. Three and a half years ago Mrs. J. W. Maybury, of Peapack, stepped in a hole on a bridge at that place, sustaining injuries to her foot and leg. A suit for $5,000 damages was started and has been pending ever since.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY ATTENDS GUILD MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Plant, Fruit and Flower Guild was held last night in the Friends' Meeting House. A thirty minute devotional service was led by the Young People's Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church, led by Raymond Manley, the president, and assisted by the Guild orchestra, conducted by Mrs. John C. Evans. Howard Mellick concluded the service with scripture reading and a short address.

Interesting reports of the distribution committee and the boys' auxiliary were read. A committee was appointed with Mrs. L. M. Case as the chairman, to arrange a cake sale for the benefit of the guild.

"CANCER PREVENTION" TO BE SUBJECT OF LECTURE

"Cancer Prevention" will be the subject of a lecture to be given Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the parish house of the Congregational church under the auspices of the civic section of the Monday Afternoon Club. The speaker will be Dr. Howard C. Taylor, a distinguished surgeon of New York City, who represents the American Society for the Control of Cancer. This society was organized in New York in 1913 by a group of laymen and physicians who were deeply impressed with the increasing importance of the problem and the need of an organization in this field, similar to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

In the year 1913 there were about 75,000 deaths from cancer in the United States. Of persons who die at the age of forty or over, one woman in eight and one man in fourteen dies of cancer. Largely because of public ignorance and negligence the disease now proves fatal in over ninety per cent. of the attacks.

The first object of this society is to reduce the death rate from cancer, by disseminating information as to the nature of early recognition and treatment. The lecture is open to the public for a nominal fee.

South Plainfield.

Rally Day will be observed in the Baptist church tomorrow in the following services: Sunday-school rally at 10 o'clock; exercises of speaking and singing by the children. At 11 o'clock the church and Sunday-school will hold a rally in the auditorium. Special singing and speaking. Arthur M. Harris, of Plainfield, will make the address. At 7:45 in the evening a special service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. J. Allen.

Indications point to a successful entertainment and festival at the Baptist church next Tuesday night when Harry C. White, humorist and impersonator, will give the program.

PEACE CONFERENCE AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—The fifth American Peace Congress will meet here tomorrow for a three-day session, during which many of the leading peace workers of America will speak. Subjects to be discussed include the formation of a world league of peace and a world court, the relation of the church, schools and colleges to the peace movement, the question of armament, and the attitude of labor to world peace. Among the announced speakers are Senator Henri La Fontaine, of Belgium; Mrizi Kuli Khan, Persian minister to the United States; Theodore Marburg, former minister to Belgium; Dr. David Starr Jordan, and A. D. Call, executive director of the American Peace Society.

Have You Seen the Wonderful C E-Z Light?

Latest development in the art of illuminating homes with the aid of gas.

A 3-mantle burner which can be fitted on any upright fixture without extra cost and will give three times the light of an ordinary open-flame burner at about one-third the cost.

1 Light Costs $1.40

2 Lights (each) $1.35

3 Lights (each) $1.30

Small partial payments may be made with gas bills.

NEW C E-Z LIGHT

This light has been on the market only a short time and has already won its way into thousands of homes. And the purchasers are satisfied.

We have never introduced a gas light which has met with such ready approval; approval given because the light —is extremely simple to operate and gives plenty of the safest kind of illumination;

—is the easiest of lights to maintain, because the thimble-like mantles are the most durable, as well as the brightest;

—has only one piece of glassware to clean or replace and it is next to impossible for the heat to break this;

—gives a semi-indirect lighting effect; has a self-lighter and will not tarnish fixture.

This is the season of the year to overhaul your house lighting. The C E-Z light is what you need. See them at our showrooms or we will demonstrate them in your home.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Some Red Berries, A Green Door and Two Birch Sticks.

"Knock, knock," said the little red man.

"WHO wants to hear a fairy story?" asked daddy.

The children clapped their hands and cried "I—I!"

"Once upon a time there were two little boys who went to play in the woods. Their names were Hans and Max, and the woods were very deep. Big fir trees hung their branches over the path. Wild animals lived in the bushes, and leaves hung so close together that they made green rooms, so that Hans and Max used to play robbers.

"Were they afraid they might get lost?" asked Jack.

"They had played there so long that they knew no fear. But one day when they strayed a little farther they came upon such strange things that it was many hours before life went simply again."

"What happened?" cried the kiddies.

"Hans and Max went far past the deep woods into a sunny patch of ferns that bore little bright red berries. 'Eat them; eat them!' cried Max.' Both children ate some red berries, when up jumped a funny little man dressed in clothes redder than the berries. 'Come on!' he grinned at the boys, who followed him. Through the deep ferns, over the sunbeams, past the hours, he skipped with the boys till at last they left the sunlight behind and stood before a green door beside a big rock. 'Knock, knock!' said the little red man, grinning. Hans knocked, the green door opened, the little red man vanished, and a night wind blew the boys right into a big cave.

"A little old woman with bent shoulders and a black rag around her head grabbed them by the hand, crying, 'You poor lost babies; I'm glad to find you!' She clicked her heels together, and at once two big bowls of hot porridge, some bread and butter and two little stools appeared. The boys were so hungry that they ate like little pigs, and then they were so sleepy that the little old woman put them to bed in a nest of sweet ferns. There they lay till a bright sunbeam broke through a crack in the cave and woke them.

"'Your mother will be very sad about you,' said the little old woman. 'Sit on these nice birch sticks and ride home.' The boys straddled the birch sticks, the little old woman clicked her heels together, and away the boys dashed. They went so fast they could hardly hang on. When they got right over their own garden the little red man pulled the birch sticks from under them and let them glide to earth. 'You have spent the night in the palace of the good fairy who takes care of lost children,' he said. 'I am her engineer. If ever you need me again just eat a red berry.'"

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. IVA LEONARD

Showing That It Is Not Always Easy to Live Happily on $80 a Month.

"Where has it all gone?"

"All gone? You talk as if I had a fortune. You sit there and glare at me as if I were a criminal, because the pitiful salary you earn is not enough to get what we need." Mrs. Sutner rose from the table with flushed face and snapping eyes.

"What's $80 a month with the cost of living soaring to the skies? Is it my fault that things are so high?" she continued.

"Other people live on $80 a month. You know nothing of managing; you buy flashy, cheap stuff with no wear in it, so you're always complaining that you are in rags, and you're right, too. It would be some comfort if you looked like anything after you'd spent the whole blooming pile," retorted John Sutner angrily.

"Pile, indeed! I'm tired of living on potato skins and chicken necks. I want you to remember that I had $15 a week before I was married, and as my board at home cost me nothing I had something to spend, something to wear. And I was a precious fool to leave it. Here we have to set the table and clothe three people and pay rent on $5 more a week than it took to keep me alone." She looked in angry disdain at her husband, who sat with his elbows on the table, his head in his hands.

"You can't regret your sacrifice more than I do," he retorted. "What about my having something to spend? I had $20 per and no strings to it; a clean, quiet room to rest in after the day's work. Oh, I'd have been able to make a live of it if you had decided to keep your job. People never know when they are well off." John Sutner angrily shoved back his chair and stalked to the door. He paused to send a parting shot, holding the door open the while:

"Speaking of dressing, I haven't had a suit of clothes for two years and the time was when I was well dressed, too."

"I don't see that you did so much better in the saving line than I. You never put anything away out of your enormous salary. As it took all of it to support you, I fail to see why you are so excited when it doesn't support three comfortably," sneered his wife as he turned on his heel and left the house. She heard the door shut with a bang.

Dropping her head on her arms, she burst into a flood of tears. "What shall I do? What shall I ever do? My life is a total wreck. This is no home. I've lost my husband's love; I've lost my faith in God. The world is a great, black, hollow place full of mocking memories and vain regrets.

"And little Jack! Poor little boy! Whatever is to become of him? I could support myself if I were alone, but I can't do it and take care of him. Mother is dead; she would have helped me with him. Mothers are like that, and she loved him so."

She dried her eyes and looked at the clock.

"Nearly eleven. I must get into bed and pretend to be asleep when John comes. I simply can't face him."

She wound the clock, locked the door and removed the key, and taking one dreary look around the shabby, disordered room, blew out the light and went to bed.

(To be continued.)

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

Buying for the home cannot be done wisely and economically unless the "buyer" is a student of the advertisements—no more than a store may be made prosperous without advertising.

Household Hints

VEGETARIAN RECIPES HELP REGULAR DIET

The housewife sometimes finds it a great problem to please everybody in the family. In a month even those who have money for everything the market affords are likely to get around to the point where they started. These recipes might help out with the regular diet.

Cream of Almond Soup—Half a pound almond butter, one pint water, one dozen blanched almonds. Make a cream with one pint water and one-fourth pound almond butter, salt to taste and heat thoroughly in double boiler. Cut one dozen blanched almonds into strips and put them into the tureen. Serve at once with toasted whole wheat wafers.

Protose Roast—Half pound protose, two cups bread crumbs, salt and sage to season. Mix well with one beaten egg; press into a small bread pan and bake one hour in slow oven. Slip out of pan on platter and surround with tomato sauce made of two cups water, three cups tomato juice, one-third cup lemon juice, one bay leaf, boiled down to half.

Nuttolene—Nuttolene can be used instead of chicken for chicken salad and prepared same way.

For nuttolene cottage cheese—Rub nuttolene through a wire strainer, add salt and enough lemon juice to give it the slight tartness of cottage cheese. Use plenty of salt and be careful not to get in too much lemon. Mix well and press through a fine strainer again, shape into balls and roll in chopped parsley. Use with salads.

Frozen Malted Nuts—One cup malted nuts, one cup meltose, one and a quarter pints boiling water, white of three eggs, yolks of two eggs, one and a half teaspoons vanilla and a very small pinch of salt. Boil the malted nuts and water for five minutes and set aside to cool. When cool add the vanilla. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and beat the meltose with an egg beater until light and foaming. Beat (don't stir) the meltose into the whites of the eggs; add to the malted nuts and let freeze. When about half frozen, stir in the yolks of the eggs, which have been beaten until they are quite thick.

Meltose Ice Cream—One pint cream, one pint meltose, three eggs, one teaspoon vanilla. Beat the whites to a stiff froth. Boil the meltose until quite thick. Measure carefully a cup of the boiling meltose and beat stiffly into the whites of the eggs. Add this and the vanilla to the cream, which has been previously whipped with an egg beater until stiff. Pack into the ice. Beat yolks of the egg until quite thick and when the cream is about half frozen add the yolks to it and finish freezing. This will make about a quart. Five eggs will be sufficient for each quart of cream used.

TWO HELPFUL HINTS

For Pickle Bottles—Cutting round pieces of cardboard, putting a round piece of paraffin paper on the bottom side, then wedging them in the top of the bottle and pouring paraffin on the top makes a covering just as good or better than a cork for all large necked bottles.

Substitute for Sour Milk—When sour milk is scarce try using one tablespoon vinegar to one cup cold water and soda the same as for sour milk. This makes fine griddle cakes or biscuits.

THE TABLE

Apple Bread Pudding—Put some custard in pan, then a layer of sliced apples, then a few raisins, sprinkle with sugar, then add remainder of pudding and dot with apples, raisins and butter, and bake. Serve with any good evaporated milk, using part water, and the result is fine.

Devil's Food Cake—One cup sugar and one-half cup butter (creamed together), one-half cup sweet milk, two eggs, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon soda sifted with flour.

Cooked part: One-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup baker's chocolate, one-half cup milk, yolk of one egg beaten in well before cooking. Cook until quite thick and let cool, then add one teaspoon vanilla and stir it into white part.

Bake in three layers and frost with remaining white of egg made into boiled icing (or confectioner's icing if preferred).

Easy and Very Good Soft Frosting—Take two tablespoons powdered sugar and enough evaporated milk to make it as stiff as desired; a pinch of salt and one-fourth teaspoon extract (any kind desired). Spread immediately on either layer of loaf cake.

SURPLICE WAISTS POPULAR AND SMART FOR EVENING GOWNS.

No. 9110.

For evening wear there can be no more winning gown than one made with a surplice waist and circular flounces. The charm of the surplice waist is not one bit lessened by its practicability—the latter being one of its great virtues, perhaps to a greater extent than any other type of waist. It has short kimono sleeves, perforated for trimming, the fronts extending to form a sash at the back and a three-piece gathered skirt to be made with or without four flounces. Length of skirt from the raised waistline at the center front is forty inches. Dress cuts in six sizes, 32 to 44, 36 requiring 6 yards of 36-inch material. The extra material for the skirt and sleeve ruffles will take ⅝ yard 1½-inch belting for foundation girdle, 7¼ yards of 36-inch material.

Patterns can be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Co.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The Tanhauser Kids, the original of the photo-play productions, will positively appear at the Proctor Theatre on Monday afternoon and evening next, at all performances, and entertain the patrons. The Kids have been billed under the heading of Marie Eline and Company, but that is a small detail of the professional end, as long as the patrons of this house secure a first-class and up-to-the-minute entertainment. And bear in mind that the Tanhauser Kids can get off some rich comedy just as well on the vaudeville stage as on the moving picture screen.

But the Tanhauser Kids are not to be the entire show by any means. For instance, there will be Ray Rarrah and Company, the five novelty skaters who cannot be beaten for novelty and originality in this direction. Some act, indeed.

And again, there will be the comedy sketch, "Who's Who," produced by Charles Mason and Company with six people in the cast. This act is scheduled to produce some laughs, including the side splitting variety. The bill will be completed with such vaudeville stars as Tom Mahoney, the comedian; Alice White, violinist de lux, and Wood Brothers, who appear on the flying rings. Pictures which are features indeed are presented each day, changed each day, and appreciated each day by those who patronize this theatre.

SPROULL IS HEAD OF ENDEAVORERS

Foresee Saloonless Nation in 1920 and Urge Support of Local Option Men.

John T. Sproull, of Arlington, was elected president of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union last night for the twelfth consecutive time at the last session of the annual convention which has been in progress for three days in Elizabeth. Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, was again named secretary, and other officers are W. W. Anderson, of Trenton, treasurer, succeeding W. C. Acken, of Metuchen; W. Egbert Thomas, of Milford; J. W. White and Rev. R. L. Barber, of Sterling, vice-presidents.

Two new members were elected to the advisory board and they are Rev. F. M. Deal, of Paterson, and Rev. Wallace Marple, of Hammondtown. The advisors re-elected are: Rev. John W. Van Zanten, of Metuchen; Rev. August W. Sonne, of Flemington; Rev. M. Joseph Twomey, of Newark; Rev. Charles E. Goodall, of Roselle; Rev. Edward Dawson, of Passaic; Rev. Elliot Field, of West Hoboken, and Rev. Samuel D. Price, of Camden.

A resolution was adopted which calls upon every Christian Endeavorer, no matter what his politics might be, to do their part towards electing men to the State Legislature who will support the local option measures. This action was taken because of the organization's slogan which is "A Saloonless Nation by 1920."

Devotional services last night were conducted by the Rev. Philip Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, Plainfield. President Sproull delivered a brief talk on "The Possibilities of Christian Endeavor."

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Mary Pickford will appear for the last time this afternoon and tonight at the U. S. Astor Theatre, in Frances Hodgson Burnett's exquisite tale "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," in which the inimitable Mary is seen at the pinnacle of her dramatic form. Rarely has Miss Pickford been seen in a picture as rich in heart interest as this subject. Monday and Tuesday the comedy subject of the season, "Tillie's Tomato Surprise," with Marie Dressler in the leading role, will be shown at the Astor Theatre. This is a Lubin production in six parts, which affords laughs by the yard. It was written by Acton Davies, former dramatic critic of the New York Evening Sun. In addition there will be other comedies and dramas.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF IDLE FUNDS

Subscribe to our 4% Investment Bond Plan of Systematic Saving—4% interest—monthly payments of from $1.00 to $25.00. 80% of amount paid in may be borrowed at any time, or, if necessity requires it, payments may be discontinued and the amount paid in, withdrawn. At the end of 38 months receive from $40.00 to $1,000.00, according to the amount of the payments made.

OR

Open an account in our Special Department of $5.00 or more, without limit as to amount, subject to 4% compound interest. Deposit when it suits your convenience.

OR

Purchase a participation in one or more of our mortgages on Plainfield property, that will net 5% interest. We will remit the interest promptly on the day due; we will attend to the collection of the interest, to the insurance of the property, and any other incidental details.

If you have funds to invest, call and our Officers will be glad to discuss the matter with you.

OUR RANGES

We sold them so fast last week that we could not keep up with the demand, and as a result, on Saturday night our show room was pretty well depleted. But we have an extra blacker on this week and we will try to keep the empty spaces filled up and we want you all to come in and see them.

Our Enameled Ivy Canopy Range, with Gun metal top, is a winner. No polishing, no dust—hours of labor saved.

No trouble about getting repairs. We have a large stock on hand, or we can get them on short order.

RUTGERS COLLEGE NOTES.

New Brunswick, Oct. 9.—A new and fast developing department has come into Rutgers life, that of graduate work. There are now about twenty men pursuing graduate work. They have organized a Graduate Club to further this interest.

Because of the recent death in one of the Princeton rushes, a request has been made through the editorial column of The Tarqum that the Senior Council take some immediate action either in abolishing the rushes or in regulating the present system of interclass rushes. At a meeting of the Senior Council Thursday evening a committee was appointed to make resolutions that all rushes be regulated in such a way that accidents shall be eliminated. If possible, a physical examination will be given the men. Another committee was appointed to draw up a new honor system, which will be presented to the student assembly.

WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD, MAN HELD

Mrs. Margaret McCaffrey, of This City, Expires Suddenly in New York Hotel.

VICTIM OF POISONING?

Frederick Barker, Also of Plainfield, and the Woman Had Registered as Married Couple—Coroner Riordon Investigating the Case.

Pending the result of a probe being conducted by Coroner Riordon, of New York city, Frederick Barker, of 1333 West Fourth street, this city, is being held a prisoner by the New York city police. Barker, it is alleged, registered at the Hotel Irvington, New York city, Saturday night, with Mrs. Margaret McCaffrey, of 307 Halsey street, this city, who was found dead in bed yesterday morning, supposedly a poison victim. A charge of homicide has been made against Barker by Detectives Bauerschmidt and Tait following a preliminary investigation.

The couple, who went to the hotel early Saturday night, registered as Frederick Barker and wife. About 11 o'clock yesterday morning Barker summoned the clerk and asked for a physician. When Dr. Garrett arrived from Bellevue Hospital Mrs. McCaffrey was dead.

When the police arrived they found a glass which is believed to have contained poison in the room occupied by the couple. In Barker's valise were several small packets of powder. He told the detectives that he had purchased chloride of potassium for the use of his son, who is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and who does much experimental work. He said that following a trivial dispute yesterday morning the woman arose, ostensibly to get a drink of water, and that she opened his valise and took out one of the papers of powder.

The police questioned Barker's version and he was taken to the East Twenty-second street station house. Samples of the chemical will be analyzed to determine its exact nature. Barker has been employed as engineer at the Bosch Magneto Company, in this city, according to the police, and has been boarding with Andrew Wittrop at the West Fourth street address since July.

The body of Mrs. McCaffrey was removed to the morgue, but when a representative from Casey & Sons, local undertakers, went to New York to claim it last night, he was told that it would be kept in New York pending an inquest.

Since Mrs. McCaffrey's separation from her husband about a year ago she has been employed as a cook in McDonald's restaurant on North avenue. Saturday afternoon she asked for time off, saying that she was going to the city to make some arrangements in her divorce proceedings. Sometime ago she caused her husband's arrest on a non-support charge, according to police records. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, of 307 Halsey street, and her two small children are being taken care of by her parents.

Those at the boarding house where Barker lived said this morning that he has a wife and three children living in Yonkers, New York. His mother lives at 320 Sumner avenue, Brooklyn.

Mrs. McCaffrey was well known in this city and the news of her sudden death came as a decided shock to her many acquaintances. She was in the best of health when she left Plainfield and relatives say that they have every reason to believe that her death was due to other than natural causes. Little is known about Barker in this section, his residence in Plainfield having been of short duration. He is of a quiet disposition, rather good looking, and those who know both parties say that they have been in each other's company a good deal during the past year.

COLUMBUS CLUB MEMBERS WILL CELEBRATE EVENT

An elaborate program of entertainment, appropriate to Columbus Day, has been arranged by Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, for presentation in the Columbus Club auditorium, tomorrow night, the observance being the only one in this vicinity in commemoration of the anniversary to be celebrated. A number of prominent speakers, including the Rev. B. M Bogan, of St. Mary's church, will deliver addresses.

Following the program of speech-making and other entertainment a dance will be held. A special program of music has been planned and a large attendance is expected.

RASORES TO MEET.

The Rosores Club will meet at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning with the president, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue.

Y. M. H. A. WORKERS IN STATE-WIDE MEETING

Plainfield Men Take Part in Plans for Year's Work.

Samuel Rothberg and Irving Kunzman attended the meeting yesterday of the newly elected executive council of the Y. M. H. A. and Y. W. H. A. for the State of New Jersey, which was held in Orange. They represent Plainfield on the executive board.

In addition to the installation of officers reports were heard from various committees and work for the coming year was outlined. A feature of the meeting was the address of S. A. Goldsmith, of the national council.

One of the State-wide movements planned for the near future was a public speaking contest. This is to be held in each of the many organizations that are members of the State council on one day. The date has not yet been selected, but will be announced soon.

SOME TALE THIS OF A STRAY SUIT CASE

May Be Causing Some Poor Married Man Much Explaining and Inconvenience.

There's a stray wicker suit case, filled with all sorts of personal things such as would be found in any perfectly respectable woman's suit case in somebody's possession in Plainfield or a nearby town, and thereby hangs a tale. Incidentally Miss Eva Ward, press representative of the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, has had to commit the almost unpardonable embarrassment for a married man who was unfortunate enough to possess a high priced automobile and a jealous wife.

Saturday night there was a street meeting of the "Suffs" at the corner of Madison avenue and Front street. Miss Ward came out from New York to attend the meeting, and while it was in progress she thought she would get rid of the suit case by putting it in Champlain L. Riley's automobile, which stood along the curb. She accordingly carefully deposited the case in a nearby car, and gave no further thought to the matter until after the meeting was over, when she discovered that it was not Mr. Riley's car, but that of some other person, and car and suit case were gone, but not forgotten.

Now Miss Ward has hastened to advertise her loss, and to advise the police. She wants her garments, and incidentally wants to save some unfortunate man the necessity for any further explanations to his probably "bitter half." She says that perhaps some benedict came downtown for his Saturday night cigars or something, and never noticed the suit case until yesterday morning, when his wife might have gotten in the car for a Sunday morning spin. Of course she would inquire what the suit case meant, and the poor man may have had a very busy Sunday as a result.

If the suit case is returned to the Daily Press office, Miss Ward says that she is willing to help any man prove an alibi.

FORESTERS TO RALLY.

There will be a large gathering of members of the Independent Order of Foresters at the rooms of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, in this city, tomorrow night. An important matter to come before the meeting will be a report showing what becomes of the money that is paid into the order. The meeting will be conducted by the High Court of New Jersey.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

In attempting to avoid a trolley car turning into Richmond street from East Fifth street yesterday afternoon, J. S. Irving, of 126 Central avenue, Westfield, drove his automobile into a telephone post, considerably damaging the machine but injuring no one. He also struck the fender of the trolley car and slightly damaged it.

AUTO STRUCK WHEEL.

August Sherman, of 121 Sherman avenue, Summit, reported to the police at 10:30 last night that his bicycle, left standing at a curb at Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, was run over by automobile bearing license No. 3204 N. J. The auto did not stop.

Neumann Grocery Closes Early Tomorrow.

Neumann Brothers Company will close their grocery store at Watchung avenue and Fifth street at 1 o'clock tomorrow, in observance of Columbus Day. Their customers are urged to order early, so that the clerks may have a full half holiday.—Adv. ***

MERCHANTS HEAR OF CITY'S NEEDS

Peter Koehler Offers the Business Men's Ass'n Some Timely Suggestions.

STREETS AND MARKETS

Representative of New Jersey Central in Talk at Weekly Luncheon Emphasizes Advantages to Plainfield's Growth.

Peter Koehler, general agent of the New Jersey Central, was the speaker at today's luncheon of the Business Men's Association of Plainfield, held in the Kensington Hotel. A good crowd attended the luncheon, filling the table assigned to the association. Mr. Koehler said:

"Plainfield has not been inaptly called 'The Queen City.' It is but one of few cities that successfully combine residential and manufacturing features, the former being evidenced by the army of commuters going to the metropolis each day and the many costly and beautiful homes, the latter by the many large manufacturing plants situated throughout the length of the city from which emerge a large army of employes who add to another feature of home life and enhance the mercantile interests.

"These two elements where assimulated, and working together in harmony, as in Plainfield, are advantageous, the residential in promoting the finer qualities of life and in the expenditure of money. The manufacturing interests in producing life, activity and business; the fine school buildings, churches, handsome residences and splendid stores are monu-

PAYS $25 TO GET RID OF WIFE—WORTH IT

North Plainfield Man Tells of Bargain in Recorder's Court.

Despite popular belief that it is hard to lose a wife, records of the borough police court show that it is very easy—at least it was not difficult for Irving Winters, a young resident of that place.

Mrs. Mary Winters was worth $25 At least she charged that amount to agree to a separation from her husband and he figured it was worth the money to get rid of her. Their agreement as to a separation became a matter of court record this morning, when the case against Winters for failing to support his wife was called. The overseer of the poor explained that the wife was a complaining witness against the young man. She had instituted court proceedings and she was not present to prosecute the case. Anyway it developed that the couple had not been living together for some time, and the young husband admitted that they had agreed to a separation. In consideration of the sum of $25 his wife had agreed to leave him and permit him to become a free agent in the matrimonial world. She has not yet left, but will do so at once.

As there was no evidence against the young man and it developed that the case was but a move in the wife's game to secure a separation settlement, Winters was allowed to go free.

NETHERWOOD RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The quarterly meeting of the Netherwood Residents' Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Parish Hall, Woodland avenue, in the Netherwood section. Archibald Cox, president of the Board of Education, will be present and address the meeting on the subject of "Educational Matters and Schools in Plainfield."

Mr. Cox has devoted considerable time to educational affairs in this city and what he will have to say should be of interest to the taxpayers. After the meeting refreshments and cigars will be enjoyed.

FREEHOLDER IMPROVING.

Word received this morning from J. Hervey Doane, who was recently operated on in a New York hospital, states that he is recovering from the effects of the operation, but it will probably be two weeks or more before he will be able to return to his home in Plainfield.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' MEETING.

Brightside Circle of the King's Daughters will hold its first fall meeting at the residence of Mrs. F. W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be election of officers and a full attendance is desired.

JONES AUTO TURNED OVER BY LARGER CAR

Family Badly Shaken Up—Other Driver Escapes.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones and little daughter were badly shaken up Saturday night when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a larger machine and turned completely over. The accident occurred on South avenue, near Westfield.

The large machine that struck Mr. Jones' car knocked it from the road and turned it completely over, after which the driver backed away from the wreck, and hurried away without offering assistance. Mr. Jones was unable to even get the number.

None of the Jones family were badly hurt. The automobile was completely demolished.

TOOK BIG CHANCE TO SAVE WOMAN

Edward Heath, Taxi Driver, Ditched His Car to Avoid Hitting Pedestrian.

Placing his own life in jeopardy in an effort to avoid hitting a woman carrying a small child on the Warrenville road, yesterday afternoon, Edward Heath, a taxi-cab chauffeur employed by Harry Huff, ditched and considerably damaged the machine, but had a lucky escape from serious injury. Heath was driving his car at a slow rate of speed along the road, but did not notice the woman until he had rounded a turn and had come almost upon her.

Heath swerved his car sharply to one side and it over-turned, pinning him underneath. The taxi, which is a Ford model, was easily righted and the driver was practically uninjured, aside from a sprained wrist.

INJURED IN CRASH WITH AUTOMOBILE

Aaron Higgins, Riding a Motorcycle, Collides With Machine at Cranford.

Aaron Higgins, an employe of the Public Service Corporation in the West Second street gas department, was injured in a crash between an automobile, owned by William R. Phelps, of New York city, and a motorcycle on which he was riding near Cranford, Saturday afternoon. The victim was removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital, where it was first thought that he was suffering from concussion of the brain, but his condition became decidedly better yesterday and he is now at his home in this city.

The Phelp's auto was driven by a chauffeur, John Gindle, of New York, and was travelling along Westfield avenue in a westerly direction, Higgins going east. According to the chauffeur he turned out to escape a Ford car on the side of the road and struck young Higgins.

In the Phelp's car were Mrs. Phelps, wife of the owner, and Miss Mae Thomas, who lives at the Majestic Hotel, New York city. Gindle was arrested by Patrolman Leffert and taken to the Elizabeth police headquarters. The auto was slightly damaged but the motorcycle was rendered practically useless.

WANTED TO BE LOCKED UP.

John Reed, who gave his address as Jersey City, walked into police headquarters yesterday afternoon and asked Patrolman Martin Welsh, who was on desk duty, to lock him up. Welsh questioned the man concerning his reasons and Reed described himself as a dangerous character. In police court this morning Judge DeMeza suspended a six months' sentence over his head with the proviso that he get out of town in ten minutes. Reed said he would be in Elizabeth before the allotted period of time had expired.

G. O. P. TO MEET.

A meeting of the Republican Club of the borough of North Plainfield will be held tonight in the Eggerding building for the purpose of getting the organization in shape for campaign work. It is expected that there will be a goodly number of the party leaders present, and new officers are to be elected. The meeting will be called to order at 8 p. m. Plans for furthering the candidacy of Ogden Hammond for assemblyman are to be discussed.

Miss Stella Force is ill at her home on West Front street suffering from an attack of appendicitis.

DECREE NISI GIVEN TO MRS. ROCKFELLOW

Chancery Court Action Reveals Romance of Plainfield Couple.

Trenton, Oct. 11.—Once he married, but when it came to marrying his wife all over again or confessing their clandestine wedding of six months before, the young husband fled and his wife hasn't heard from him since.

Such was the evidence offered before a referee of the Court of Chancery in the suit for divorce of Mrs. Roland C. Rockfellow, of North Plainfield, and which has resulted in the court allowing the young wife a decree of divorce.

Rockfellow's bride was Miss Laura Warnock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of North Plainfield The evidence was that the young couple went to New York on July 23, 1912, and were secretly married in "The Little Church Around the Corner." Then they went straight back to North Plainfield.

The bride went to her home, the bridegroom to his and as far as their friends knew—save the young woman and young man who attended them in "The Little Church Around the Corner," and were sworn to secrecy—it was still a case af courtship between the couple. Young Rockfellow continued calling on his wife in the conventional manner of a suitor.

The bride's parents asked her when she intended to fix the date of the wedding, and she said that they would marry on March 19, 1913.

The dinner party was arranged in the Warnock home for the evening of February 26, with the best man and bridesmaid of the secret wedding as guests. Young Mrs. Rockfellow asked her husband to make public on this occasion their wedding. When he protested she told him if he didn't she would.

And that was the last time sha saw her young husband, according to the evidence before the referee. He has never even written to her.

MISS DE GRAFF TO BE ONE OF SIX BRIDESMAIDS

Miss Eleanor De Graff, of this city, is one of six bridesmaids selected to attend Miss Ruth Purves, the daughter of Mrs. Alexander Purves, of New York, and Hampton, Va., at her wedding to Alfred Van Santvoord Olcott, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eben Erskine Olcott, of New York.

The ceremony will take place at 12 o'clock on Saturday, October 23, in the Memorial church at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., and will be followed by a small wedding breakfast at "The Moorings," the home of Mrs. Purves. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Hollis B. Frissell, the principal of Hampton Institute.

QUAKERS AND BOSTON HAVE ONE RUN EACH WHEN FIFTH IS ENDED

Boston, Oct. 11.—Philadelphia and Boston ended the fifth inning of the third game on even terms, Bancroft's hit bringing in Philadelphia's first run in the second and Speaker scoring after getting a triple for Boston fourth. In the early rounds Leonard twirled unsteady ball, but as the game progressed appeared to be getting better.

Fifty thousand cheering fans gathered for the first game in Boston of the 1915 world's baseball series. The weather was clear and cool, with a light west wind blowing, making overcoats very comfortable for the spectators. The field was never in better condition than when the two teams trotted on the field. An hour before the game, when the two teams first came on the field for practice, there were 30,000 people inside the gates, and the vacant spaces rapidly filled after that time.

Manager "Bill" Carrigan was called to the front of the grand stand at 1:30 and a big silver loving cup was presented to him by the royal rooters who have cheered his team throughout the season. The lineup:

PHILADELPHIA.	BOSTON
Stock, third base.	Hooper, right field.
Bancroft, shortstop.	Scott, shortstop.
Paskert, centre field.	Speaker, centre field.
Cravath, right field.	Hoblitzel, first base.
Luderus, first base.	Lewis, left field.
Niehoff, second base.	Barry, second base.
Burns, catcher.	Carrigan, catcher.
Alexander, pitcher.	Leonard, pitcher.

Pat Moran sent Alexander to the mound while Bill Carrigan named Leonard for mound duty, the selection of these two twirlers being predicted by the big mob long before the official announcement came. Various noisy demonstrations were resorted to by the fans in an efforts to keep their feet warm and the "Royal Rooters'" block of seats was a whirling mass.

Philadelphia also had a big throng of enthusiastic rooters on hand for the first game in Boston and when Speaker lost Stock's ball as a starter-off the Quaker fans went wild. His opening clout was a double and he romped to third on Bancroft's bunt.

FIRST INNING.

Philadelphia—Stock opened the game by hitting to center field for a double. Speaker lost the ball, giving him the second base. Bancroft bunted, sacrificing Stock to third. Paskert hit a foul fly to Gardner and was out. Cravath struck out, retiring the side.

One hit, no runs.

Boston—Hooper flied out to Cravath in right field. Scott fouled two and then missed the third strike. Speaker flied out on the third ball, hitting to Paskert in center field.

No hits, no runs.

SECOND INNING.

Philadelphia—Luderus struck out, after he fouled three and took two balls. Whitted flied out to Hoblitzel. Leonard was working hard. Neihoff flied out to Scott.

No hits, no runs.

Boston—Hoblitzel went out to Alexander, unassisted. Lewis singled to left field. Alexander held Lewis close to first by repeated throws, and when he tried to steal he was out easy, Burns to Bancroft. Gardner flied out to Whitted in left field.

One hit, no runs.

THIRD INNING.

Philadelphia—Burns singled to right field. Alexander bunted to Gardner, who threw high to Hoblitzel, who muffed the ball. Alexander was safe at first on the misplay and Burns went to second. Stock grounded to Gardner and was thrown out at first, Burns and Alexander advancing. Bancroft singled to center field, scoring Burns, and sending Alexander to third. Bancroft went to second on the throw-in to catch Burns at home. Paskert popped out to Barry in short field. Cravath flied out to Lewis.

Two hits, one run.

Boston—Barry flied out to Paskert in center field. Carrigan drew the first free pass issued by Alexander. Leonard hit a long foul, which Whitted in left field, got under after a hard run, but dropped. Leonard finally fanned. Hooper flied out to Stock at third base.

No hits, no runs.

FOURTH INNING.

Philadelphia—Luderus struck out. Whitted flied out to Speaker. Neihoff flied out to Scott at third base.

No hits, no runs.

Boston—Scott flied out to Paskert in centre field. Speaker hit one of Alexander's fast ones into the bleachers for three bases. Hoblitzel went out on a long fly to Paskert, Speaker scoring on the sacrifice fly. Lewis flied out to Paskert.

One hit, one run.

FIFTH INNING.

Philadelphia—Burns received three

ARTHUR SHAFFER'S INJURIES FATAL

Metuchen Man Caught in Bread Mixer Succumbs in Muhlenberg Hospital.

Arthur Shaffer, twenty-three years old, of Metuchen, who was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, Saturday morning, suffering from injuries sustained when he fell into an electric dough mixer in the bakery of G. Haneman, of that place, died in the city institution yesterday. His body was removed to the home of his uncle, Ernest Wiegle, of Metuchen, with whom he lived, and the funeral services will probably be held from his home.

Shaffer, who was occupied with his usual duties, Saturday, was caught in the machine and whirled around in the dough a number of times before his plight was discovered by fellow workmen. The current was shut off and the limp form of Shaffer, covered with dough, was taken from the machinery with difficulty. He was removed to the local hospital, where it was discovered that both arms and legs were fractured and his bodly mutilated.

SEARS HAD WRONG IDEA OF BEST MAN'S DUTIES

Ellsworth Sears, of Somerville, will never act as best man at a wedding again. At least that is what he told Judge DeMeza in the city police court this morning when arraigned on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Ellsworth said that he came to Plainfield Saturday night with a friend and his friend's "intended" who were going to get "spliced" in an East Fourth street house.

According to the defendant, the bridegroom, whose name he did not know, bought two bottles of $2 "honest-to-goodness" champagne and left him (Sears) in the kitchen to watch them while the knot was being tied. Queried by the judge as to why he was drunk, Ellsworth said:

"Say, judge, what would you do if you had been on the water wagon for three years and someone stuck a bottle of champagne under each arm?"

He was let go with a reprimand.

POLISH FALCON DANCE.

A large attendance of young people from this and other cities attended the second dance of the season given in T. A. B. Hall, Saturday night, under the auspices of the local Falcon Society. Naylor's orchestra of four pieces furnished music for the occasion and dancing continued until midnight. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

O. Z. T. FRATERNITY HOLD ELIMINATION TOURNAMENT

The week-end witnessed some unusually interesting tennis in the wind-up of the elimination tournament conducted by the O. Z. T. Fraternity.

In the semi-finals Harry Giddes defeated his brother, William Giddes, by scores of 6-4 and 8-6, the match resulting in some brilliant tennis. In the finals Fred A. Fedderman handicapped by a minus fifteen, defeated H. E. Giddes in a close and exciting set by scores of 1-6, 6-4 and 7/5.

Giddes played an unusually fast and steady game and it was only by accurate driving and his wonderful back-hand control that Fedderman was able to pull out a victory.

By his defeat of Giddes, Fedderman wins the handsome silver cup which has been on display in the window of Marien's drug store. Fedderman played consistently fast tennis throughout the matches and has proven his supremacy beyond any question.

Mrs. Charles S. Day has been stricken with diphtheria. She undoubtedly contracted the disease from her son, Ernest, who just recovered from a slight attack. The quarantine card, which was removed from the house Monday, has been placed back.

Plains & Fanwood.

A successful cake, candy and pie sale was held in Excelsior Hall Saturday afternoon and as a result a considerable amount was realized for the purchase of magazines and books. Those who patronize the Scotch Plains Public Library have read the majority of the present books and periodicals and it was with the idea of replenishing the supply more than is the yearly custom that the sale was held.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights will be the dates of Stony Hill's three-day fair to be held in the parish house at that place. Dancing each night with music furnished by a four-piece orchestra will be a feature, while booths with various articles for sale will be an attraction. The committee in charge has planned to make the affair more successful than those of preceding years and a bus will be run from Plainfield each night. The proceeds will be for the benefit of St. Mary's Hall.

Mrs. W. M. Johnston, of the Plains, has returned from spending the past five months at Asbury Park.

Yesterday was observed as Rally Day at the Baptist church by special services. The Rev. Isaac B. Burgess, of Newark, gave an interesting address at the morning service about the work of the State Sunday-school Association, of which he is secretary. A number of children took part in the dedication services. In place of the Young People's service in the evening the Bible School rendered a program of musical and vocal selections.

The Rev. William Hoppaugh addressed the children of the Methodist church yesterday at their annual Rally Day services on "The Patriotism of Peace." A program of recitations and songs was also rendered by the children. The Rev. Raymond E. Marshal was in charge of the morning service and at the evening service the Rev. William Hoppaugh occupied the pulpit.

The Rev. Oscar S. Michael, pastor of the Episcopal church, has just completed another book, "The Sunday-school in the Developing of the American Church." He has written several other books along these same lines and is regarded as an authority on the subject.

NEW DISINFECTANT POSSESSES QUALITIES

Preparation is Derived From Pine Oil, a By-product of Turpentine.

As a result of experiments conducted at the hygienic laboratory of the United States Public Health Service it is announced that a new disinfectant, possessing qualities superior to ordinary disinfectants, has recently been discovered. The announcement is particularly important at this time, coming as it does in the face of the shortage in coal tar derivatives which has resulted from the European conflict.

The new preparation is derived from pine oil, a by-product in the manufacture of turpentine. It is easily prepared by mixing certain proportions of the oil with rosin and sodium hydroxide solution, the finished product being a reddish-brown liquid, rather thick and oily in appearance, but free from turbidity. With water it makes a perfectly white emulsion, much resembling milk. It has a pleasing odor, no objectionable taste, and attacks neither fabrics nor metals. It possesses over four times the disinfectant properties of carbolic acid, and is altogether nontoxic, so that it may safely be used as a throat spray or mouth wash in solutions of the ordinary strength. The cost of the preparation is remarkably low, as it can be manufactured for less than fifty cents a gallon, solely from products which are produced in this country.

Many of the disinfectants now on the market are neither efficient nor economical, it having been demonstrated that a number of the most expensive and widely advertised are exteremely weak in disinfecting power, so much so that their strength is undeterminable by ordinary methods. The sale of compounds of this nature constitutes a fraud. A second class of proprietary preparations are of guaranteed strength, thus putting a legal responsibility upon the manufacturer, but the cost of these per unit of disinfecting power is frequently excessive. The householder is therefore often at a loss to select a disinfectant which is efficient, economical and of constant strength and it is believed that this new compound, which is to be known as "Hygienic Pine-oil Disinfectant," will become one of the most useful preparations of that character.

BOY THIEF SURRENDERS.

Rutherford, Oct. 11.—"I'm tired dodging the police so I want to give myself up," said William Larkin, 18 years old, when he walked into the station at East Rutherford yesterday. The boy told Chief McClelland that he was wanted in New York. He said he fled from that city last week. Chief McClelland communicated with the New York police and learned that they were looking for Larkin to answer a charge of stealing $120 from the Stein Knitting Company, 135 East Twelfth street. Larkin had been employed in the office of the knitting concern.

TRAIN KILLS TWO BOYS.

Elizabeth, Oct. 11.—Two boys were killed Saturday night at railroad crossings here. George Lloyd, 16 years old, a son of Police Sergeant William Lloyd, died in General Hospital from injuries received when he was struck by a freight train of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. James Dennison, 20 years old, of 433 Felton street, was instantly killed when a Long Branch division train hit him at Elizabeth avenue. There are no gates at either crossing.

NEAR CITY'S NEEDS

...ts to the harmony and enterprise of the inhabitants.

"It is the man who develops business and not the 'standpatter' who sees, knows and understands municipal and business needs if he, through conditions, becomes lethargic, many things and particularly small things, are apt to pass unnoticed, which if brought to public attention might tend toward advancement.

"Plainfield demands and has large and varied mercantile interests. While these interests are advanced by the enterprising merchants themselves in conducting their business in such a way as to keep home trade from drifting away and by drawing outside trade into the city, yet there are sometimes things which can and should be done by municipal or other means which would be beneficial.

"For instance I will mention one or two matters which have occurred to me. One is the condition of the highways leading into the city. I do not mean in the city, but at and near its boundaries. Some of these are in very bad condition, in fact to such an extent that no doubt people residing west of our city using vehicles would prefer driving to New Brunswick or some other convenient place to avoid using the highways in their present condition leading to this city. This should be taken up with the governing body controlling them with the view of having them placed in passable condition.

"Another is the need of an adequate market place where producers could come and have the opportunity of supplying hucksters, storekeepers and others. I have observed that East Second street between Park street and Watchung avenue is used for this purpose to quite an extent. In fact it is often apparently so congested in the morning hours as to practically block traffic and in case of fire would most certainly hamper the fire department in getting out with its apparatus.

"If a known market place existed it would no doubt result in bringing large numbers of producers into the city every week, who would make it a point of trading here and benefit the commercial interests.

"It appeared to me that East Third street, between Watchung avenue and Washington street, could be made a desirable location for this purpose provided that the proper authorities could arrange to widen East Third street from Watchung avenue to Washington street, beginning at a point nearly opposite the southerly line of North avenue, say 30 feet from Watchung avenue, thence straight to a point about ten feet north of East Third street on Washington street.

"There is now located on this portion of East Third street the wholesale meat market and provisions are now under way for additional wholesale merchants.

"One other matter I wish to call your attention to is the fact that we fail to have any public comfort stations, which appears to me to be very essential to our city.

"Plainfield has all the advantages of a great city without its disadvantages, and has the promise of a successful and prosperous future for its mercantile interests.

"While great things are always desirable, yet small things make up the great whole, small things which are often essential to mercantile and industrial development often being overshadowed by the great things and thus escape attention, and so, in closing, I would urge the attention of each individual to the small things as well as to the great, which would tend to the further development of the mercantile interests in this city.

WAR NEWS

Arrangements for publication will be made later. The note is very long and goes into details of some cases on which American protests are founded.

Ghent Shelled From Air.

Amsterdam, Oct. 11.—Ghent was again bombarded by Allied aeroplanes on Sunday, the machines escaping in a thick fog, although they were violently shelled by the Germans.

Bulgarian Envoy Leaves Rome.

Rome, Oct. 11.—Bulgaria's minister and his staff left Rome today, without incident, though a large crowd was at the station.

British Loss 21,000 Per Week.

London, Oct. 11.—British casualties reported since October 1 amount to more than 21,000. The week-end casualty list published today gives 200 officers and 4,300 men. This brings up the total casualties since the first of the month to 981 officers and 20,351 men.

Submarine Sinks British Boat.

The British steamer Thorpwood 3,184 tons, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine Sunday. All the members of her crew were saved.

Dead Pile Battlefield.

Paris, Oct. 11.—The following official communique was issued by the War Office today:

"There was reported during the night an intense bombardment of the enemy's artillery to the north of the Scarpe and Champagne on our secondary front in the region of Sousin. Our batteries replied effectively. Late services confirm earlier reports that the violent counter attacks hurled by the Germans in the course of the last few days against the English and French front before Ypos and to the north thereof ended only in a serious and costly check. The number of bodies left by the enemy on the ground before the Allies' lines is estimated at a total of from 7,000 to 8,000 men."

ARREST OF ITALIAN PREVENTS WEDDING

Write Blackhand Letters to Self to Get Money From Father.

Somerville, Oct. 11.—Because he wrote blackhand letters to himself, demanding $50, and then turned the letters over to the police with a story about an attempt to assassinate him, Samuel Beaumonte is called an undesirable citizen by residents of Rocky Hill. He was locked up in the county jail here today, but was released on a bond of $500.

Beaumonte is a young Italian. He says that he wrote the letters in an attempt to force his father to assist in the support of his mother. He hoped to frighten the man into putting up half of the coin, which he intended to turn over to his mother so that he might get married. Beaumonte was to have been married this week. He secured a marriage license several days ago, but his imprisonment has caused the wedding to be postponed for an indefinite time.

He is charged with disorderly conduct.

LOVE FEAST WAITS WHILE FAMILY FIGHTS

Plainfield Men Mixed up in Trouble at Somerville Home.

Somerville, Oct. 11.—All that prevented those at the home of Mrs. Henry Kiederlin from enjoying an old-fashioned love feast Sunday was the fact that the party broke up in a fight before the feast was ready.

The home was ready, Mrs. Kiederlin was ready, and the dinner was being cooked, but Henry Kiederlin, Jr., and C. A. Skillman, of Plainfield, who were to be guests at the dinner, staged a fight in the kitchen and they were forced to postpone the love feast while they appeared before a justice of the peace.

Just what caused the fight is not known, but Kiederlin had Skillman arrested for assaulting him. He says the other man struck him in the face with his fist. It is believed that trouble started over the will of Henry Kiederlin, Sr., who died a short time ago. Under provisions of the will a sale of property is to be made this week, and neighbors believe that a difference of opinion over this sale caused the trouble.

PUSHED MAN OFF ROCK LEDGE--IS ARRESTED

Somerville, Oct. 11.—John Nazier, who pushed an Italian off the edge of a stone quarry at Rocky Hill ten days ago, was arrested here Saturday on a charge of assault and battery. The Italian is seriously injured and may not recover. Nazier has been missing since the incident.

ROBBERS RAID HOME OF CHARLES A. STAATS

Somerville, Oct. 11.—When Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Staats, of Belle Meade, returned to their home Sunday afternoon after having been absent all day, they found that burglars had visited their residence and completely ransacked the place. Several hundred dollars' worth of silver and clothing were carried off and the intruders committed many acts of vandalism. No clue to their identity has been found.

South Plainfield.

Yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the South Plainfield Baptist church. In the morning a joint service was held with the church and Bible school. The auditorium was decorated with flowers and the flags of all nations. The service consisted of literary and musical exercises by the school. Classes were promoted. A. M. Harris, of Plainfield, spoke to the school on "How the Sunday-school Is Like An Automobile Race." The offering amounted to nearly fifty dollars. At 7:45 in the evening a special service was held and Secretary A. C. Estes, of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., gave an address on "The Measure of a Man."

Harry C. White, humorist, will be the entertainer at the Baraca entertainment and festival to be held tomorrow evening.

POPULATION HERE INCREASES 27,125

Good Showing in Census Figures for Past Five Years.

The number of inhabitants in Union county increased 27,125 between 1910 and 1915, according to a report of the new census covering that period which has just been made public by Secretary of State Martin. The increase in Somerset county for the same period was 3,303, while in Middlesex county it was 30,290.

During the past five years the population of the State of New Jersey has increased 307,145, or 12.2 per cent., which is above what was expected by officials and is considered a remarkably good showing.

Bergen county showed the largest comparative increase of any of the counties, with forty per cent. more population in 1915 than in 1910. Hunterdon county showed an increase for the first time in thirty years and Sussex is the only county showing a decrease.

Figures for Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties are:

	1910	1915	Increase.
Union	140,197	167,322	27,125
Middlesex	114,426	144,716	30,290
Somerset	38,820	44,123	3,303

ROBERT C. TRENBATH DIES IN 64TH YEAR

Father of the Misses Trenbath Passes Away at His Home in Bernardsville.

Robert C. Trenbath, late of Somerville, and father of the Misses Trenbath, of Central avenue, this city, died suddenly of heart trouble at Bernardsville, yesterday morning in his 64th year. He was for many years connected with the importation of fine silks for the A. T. Stewart Company, of New York City.

Mr. Trenbath was born in Manchester, Eng. He married Miss Alice Alva Wright, of Troy, N. Y., whose death occurred a few years ago. He is survived by the Misses Trenbath, of this city; Rev. R. W. Trenbath and Herbert Trenbath, of Trenton, and E. W. Trenbath, of Spokane, Washington, and three brothers and one sister in Manchester, Eng.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at St John's Episcopal church, Somerville where Mr. Trenbath was for many years a member of the choir and vestry. The burial will be in Oakwood cemetery, Troy, N. Y., at the convenience of the family.

NOT TO RECOGNIZE CARRANZA AT ONCE

U. S. Will Wait Until Other Countries Are Heard From.

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Wilson conferred with Secretary of State Lansing today at some length on the Mexican situation. There will be no formal recognition of Carranza, said the secretary of state, or leaving the White House, until the other governments are heard from.

Supreme Court in Session.

Headed by Chief Justice White the members of the United States Supreme Court, except Justice Lamar, who is seriously ill, visited the White House today to pay their respects to President Wilson in accordance with a time honored custom. Tomorrow the real work of the term will begin when arguments will be heard on a special docket of twenty-six cases. The first case to be heard are two involving the constitutionality of the New York Alien Labor Law. The first day for the handing down of decisions will be next Monday.

Parcel Post to South America.

Postmaster General Burleson has announced the conclusion of an agreement with Argentina for a joint parcel post service effective October 15. Of all the nations in Central and South America, Paraguay is now the only one without such a convention with the United States.

Norwegian Bark Sunk.

London, Oct. 11.—The Norwegian bark Seileren, bound for Savannah from Scotland, was sunk in collision with a British steamer off the north coast of Ireland today. The crew was saved.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE.

The offering at the U. S. Astor Theatre today will be Marie Dressler in "Tillie's Tomato Surprise," a scream from start to finish. This is a six reel record breaker of laughs. Tillie has a weird idea of "Ma Toddle's" motto and does some very funny tricks throughout the entire picture.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE MARKS DEDICATION

Beautiful Thank-offering is Unveiled at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

St. Stephen's church was crowded to capacity at yesterday's service, for the dedication of its beautiful new Tiffany window, given by one of its most loyal parishioners, not as a memorial, but as a joyous thank offering for happiness.

At the opening of the service the window was veiled and the rector read from the altar steps the two psalms, "The Lord is my light and my salvation," and "O how amiable are Thy dwellings Thou Lord of Hosts," and at a signal, the curtain rolled back and fell, showing at once the window in the full radiance of the morning sunshine, and above the keynote golden letters above the arch of the word "Rejoice."

After the special prayer of dedication, the choir and congregation sang the hymn, "Rejoice ye pure in heart." The sermon following was from the text in Isaiah, "And I will make thy windows of agates, thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleasant stones," showing how the vision of the prophet was fulfilled by the coming of Christ to give new vision, light and color, to city, to life and to the lake and shores of Galilee. The sunlight through the moving oak leaves of the trees behind the window, made the window, with its colored picture of the sea, pulsate as if with moving waters, and with changing sky.

Shelley's setting of the hymn, "Hark Hark, My Soul," followed as the offertory duet, and service, hymns, and the enthusiasm and delight of the congregation, certainly fulfilled in a very perfect harmony, the single word of inscription and of gift, "Rejoice."

CHORAL SOCIETY BEGIN REHEARSALS FOR CONCERT

The first rehearsals of the Choral Society of the Plainfield Public Recreation Committee will be held tomorrow night at Franklin School. The chorus will begin rehearsals for "The Messiah," which will be rendered at the first concert to be held early in December. S. Frederick Smith is conductor for the society and will direct all rehearsals, which will be held frequently between now and the night of the concert. G. Stewart Simons is chairman of the choral society committee.

J. E. SOCIETY TO GIVE A CHURCH RECEPTION

Again large congregations gathered at the First Baptist church yesterday, morning and evening, perhaps even larger than the week before, when the congregations seemed record ones. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, preached in the morning for Christian culture, and in the evening more of an evangelistic discourse. The Christian Endeavor Society, which is planning a general reception for the church and congregation Friday evening, is contributing not a little to the increased activity in church matters by its own enthusiasm and earnestness. The number of strangers present yesterday at all the services was noticeable, many of them from out-of-town.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wintermuth of Belvidere, have returned after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brokaw, of Watchung avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rapalje and daughter, Winifred, of Carlton avenue, have returned after spending the summer in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. McLoughlin and family have removed from Somerset street to the Endress apartments on Madison avenue.

Frank Briscoe, of West End avenue, who recently suffered another attack of appendicitis, is able to be about the house again. He will undergo an operation at Roosevelt Hospital either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hulsizer and children, of Bound Brook, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs Arthur VanCleef, of West Front street.

Mrs. William Bourgeris, of this city, is spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

The Misses Mabel and Lillian Conover, of Jackson avenue, spent the week-end in Newark.

William R. Cock, of East Fifth street, is stopping at Galen Hall, Atlantic City, for some time.

INJURED HIS FOOT.

Lewis Sastino, of 263 Johnson avenue, a laborer employed by the Union Water Company, while working on a ditch on Netherwood avenue, this morning, drove a pick through his foot. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital.

There will be but one delivery of mail tomorrow, Columbus Day, while the postoffice, according to custom, will close at 10 a. m.

A CRUSH OF WORLDS.

How Our Solar System May End and a New One Be Born.

The whole of the present solar system is ultimately to fall into the sun, causing an explosion that may result in a new solar system. Such is the theory put forward by Professor Philip Fauth, a well known astronomer, whose reputation has rested principally upon his researches into the conditions on the moon.

The novel feature of Dr. Fauth's theory is that it is based upon the supposition that a great part of the known solar system, including especially the planets Jupiter, Uranus and Saturn, are not composed of mineral matter at all, but are tremendous masses of ice or balls of ice surrounding a mineral kernel. Furthermore, he declares, a part of what is now known as the Milky way is not mineral or gaseous, but "a ring of ice dust," masses of particles of ice suspended in space, the other planets receiving a constant addition to their ice mass from this source.

Professor Fauth declares that the world already at some remote periods has had a similar experience, resulting in the death of nearly all animate nature, and that all species of life as we know it have arisen since then. Eventually the planets swinging through their narrow orbits will fall into the sun, causing a new explosion and perhaps the birth of a new solar system, but for thousands of years before that time, all life, either on earth or elsewhere, will have disappeared.—Kansas City Journal.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

Influence of the "Great Circle" on the Journey to Manila.

If you wanted to go from the Panama canal to Yokohama which of these two would be the shorter route? First, across the ocean to Hawaii and from there to Yokohama, or, second, up along the coast to San Francisco and then directly across the Pacific to Asia?

Nearly everybody would answer in favor of the Hawaiian route. But the navigators tell us the journey is 266 miles shorter by way of San Francisco. The "great circle" does it. Its influence on distance sends ships from San Francisco to Manila by way of the Aleutian islands. Actually our vessels would go much farther north than they do but for the discouragement of the United States hydrographic bureau at Washington, which advises a central route, more than 200 miles longer than the great circle, in order to escape the fogs and ice of the far north.

The Hawaiian Islands are frequently described as "the crossroads of the Pacific." Their people are naturally looking forward to wonderful commercial development. They will doubtless enjoy substantial progress as a commercial center because many conditions in ocean currents and in prevailing winds and in fuel costs favor Honolulu as a way station route. But it is well to remember that these islands were planted a little too near the equator to be a crossroads of the north Pacific.—Boston Herald.

Wonderful Names.

The seventeenth century juryman had one disadvantage to contend with from which his successor is happily free. He was frequently burdened with an intolerable name. James Broome in his "Travels Over England, Scotland and Wales," a work published in 1700, gives a copy of "a Jury Return made at Rye, Sussex, in the late Rebellious, Troublesome Times." Here are the names: "Stand fast on high Stringer of Crowhurst, Earth Adams of Warbleton, Killsin Pimple of Witham, Graceful Harding of Lewes, Weep not Billing of the same, Be Faithful Joiner of Britling, Fly Debate Roberts of the same, Fight the good Fight of Faith White of Emes, Return Spelman of Watling, Meek Brewer of Oakham, More Fruit Fowler of East Hodley, Hope for Bending of the same."—London Chronicle.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF THEODORE LAYTON HELD

The funeral of Theodore Layton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Layton, who died on Tuesday, was held at the parental home Saturday afternoon. The service was in charge of the Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, of which the young man was a member. Relatives, friends and former schoolmates of the deceased gathered in large numbers to pay their final respects, while handsome floral offerings came from many out of town friends. The interment took place in East Millstone.

MISS EVA WARD MAKES STRONG SUFFRAGE SPEECH

One of the most successful street meetings of the campaign for votes for women in Plainfield was held Saturday night. Miss Eva Ward, George M. La Monte, and Councilman Richard Claybrook were the speakers. They addressed a large crowd from the rear of an automobile at the post office and made a most favorable impression.

Despite the chilly atmosphere many of the Saturday night shoppers stopped to hear the arguments of the suffrage orators and remained until the meeting was over. The speech of Miss Ward proved to be one of the best of her campaign here and those in charge of the meeting believe that she won many votes to the cause.

BLIND SCOUTS TO LEAD THE PARADE

Will Be Guests of Honor of the Plainfield Organization in Demonstration.

ANNOUNCE THE JUDGES

Mayor Calkins and Prominent Officials Will Review the Procession—Line of March and Other Details of Program.

Led by a troup of blind boy scouts from the New York Institution for the Blind, coming as the guests of honor of the Plainfield boy scouts, there will take place tomorrow afternoon at Parker Field what promises to be a most remarkable exhibition of work done by boy scouts ever attempted in this vicinity, if, indeed, in any part of the State. Examples will be given of the craftsmanship of scouts from various troops, demonstrations of scout work by troops coming to this city as visitors from Staten Island, Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford, Roselle, Garwood, Scotch Plains, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Somerville and New Brunswick.

Admission to the field will be free to any person under sixteen years of age, but an admission fee of ten cents each will be asked of adults, the demonstration beginning immediately upon arrival of the parade, which will start at 12:30 from the First Baptist church. The route of this parade, for which Mayor Calkins has granted a permit, is: West Front and Grove street east through Front street to Park avenue, to North avenue, to Watchung, to Fifth street, to Richmond, to Watchung, to Hillside avenue, to Randolph road, to Parker Field.

The competition for the championship will begin immediately upon the arrival of the column in the field. The judges will be Mayor Leighton Calkins, Walter D. Price, president of the Boy Scout Council of Staten Island; George P. Mellick, president of the Plainfield Playground Commission, and special judges for the Dr. H. D. Corbusier First Aid Pennant, Dr. Corbusier, Dr. N. W. Currie and Dr. R. G. Savoye, of Westfield, will review the procession as it passes the grandstand, countermarches and takes its position by troops on the east side of the field. The patrol having the best marching order and general form, with respect to neatness of uniform, carriage and evenness of step in review to get the first ten points in the competition. Patrols consist of eight scouts.

In the line will be various troop surprises which have been jealously guarded secrets of the scouts for many months. These will bear the name and number of the competing patrol and its troop.

The committee hopes to have as special guests Field Commissioner W. A. Perry, from National Boy Scout Headquarters, and William D. Murray, of the National Editorial Board of the boy scout movement. Mr. Murray is chairman of the Plainfield Court of Honor of the local council.

Troops will take their position in the line of march as follows:

Troop 10, of Trinity church, will lead the line of march with its recently perfected Bicycle Ambulance Corps, possibly with music. Automobiles, New Brunswick Bicycle Patrol, Commissioner Shields, commanding, assisted by Scoutmaster Schenck, of the Highland Park division, Color Bearers, Fife and Drum Corps, Blind Boy Scouts from New York, Scout Benjamin Satterfield, Troop 5, guide; Plainfield scout officials and Councilmen. First Division—Plainfield Scout Troops 5, 8, 15 and 17, in charge of First Deputy Commissioner A. V. Searing, Jr.; Visiting scouts from Staten Island, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Elizabeth, Westfield, New Brunswick, East Orange, Montclair, etc. Second Division—Plainfield Scout Troops 11, 12, 13, in charge of Second Deputy Commissioner E. A. Sprowl; Troop 7 Fife and Drum Corps, and scouts in charge of Scoutmaster Joseph A. Garner. Third Division—Plainfield Scout Troops 9, 10, 14 and 16, in charge of Third Deputy Commissioner F. E. Bach. In order to have scoring count troop surprises will be escorted in troops.

Final plans for the day's events tomorrow will take place tonight when the Plainfield Boy Scout Council meets at the Y. M. C. A. parlors to elect officers for the ensuing year, to accept registration of Councilman, to hear the report of the building committee on the erection of the new scout headquarters in Terrill road which has been completed with a balance unsubscribed of only $81, and to hear applications for promotion from scouts. A full attendance is urged as it is especially desired to have all the members of the council who can so make their arrangements to be in line or in attendance at the championship competition tomorrow.

The Paul R. Collier Efficiency Cup, to be contested for tomorrow, is on display in his window in East Front street. This cup is to be awarded to the scout making the highest individual score for his patrol, one-half to count for advancement in scout rank during the last year.

—If there's a new owner in charge of the little store down the street, the chances are that a "Business Opportunity" advertisement has been "at work."

PLANS PERFECTED FOR EVANGELIST

Rev. Dr. William E. Biederwolf Has Accepted Call to Plainfield.

Plans for the evangelistic campaign which will be started here in April and continue six weeks, are now assuming definite shape. A tabernacle will be erected on a site to be selected and the campaign will assume proportions not before reached in Plainfield.

Word was received last week from Rev. Dr. William E. Biederwolf, who has been conducting a campaign in Lockport, N. Y., stating that he had accepted the Plainfield committee's invitation to come to this city in the spring and looked forward to a successful six weeks of endeavor.

Dr. Biederwolf's organization consists, besides himself, of a male quartet, which is considered among the best, if not the best engaged in religious work, in the United States. A competent chorister will direct the solos, while a woman trained in the work, will have charge and direct the efforts in the women's part of the evangelistic program.

Dr. Biederwolf, who is a graduate of Princeton, has been engaged in evangelical work for the past eighteen years, and enjoys a reputation throughout the country for accomplishing much good in his chosen field of work. He is said to be somewhat of the "Billy" Sunday type, minus the latter's roughness.

Preparations for the campaign will now be pushed to completion and it is expected that there will be no difficulty in getting in shape in time for the commencement of the services six months hence.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BE CONTINUED THIS WEEK

Congregations that crowded the edifice to its capacity greeted Rev. Evarts C. Conover, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, yesterday, indicating the increasing interest in the special services being held there. They will continue during the week, Evangelist "Al" Saunders being in charge every night. There will also be special music.

Those in charge of the revival have set apart Thursday night as "men's night," to which all the men of the city are invited. The music that night will be in charge of a male quartet.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Physical Director R. L. Meermans was pleased over the success of the boys' meeting in the rooms Sunday afternoon. This was the second meeting of the season and the attendance and the interest was far beyond the ordinary. The services were in charge of Mr. Meermans.

The executive committee having in charge the arrangements for the membership campaign, which is to be waged next month, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. Captains for the various teams will be selected and other arrangements made.

RALLY DAY SERVICES AT NETHERWOOD CHURCH

The Rally Day service at the Netherwood Reformed church was attended by an audience that filled the building to its utmost capacity. At the session of the Sunday-school preceding the service the largest number in the history of the school was present. The program was as follows:

Processional "Onward Christian Soldiers;" beginners' department song by Margaret Burkey; song by the department; song by Margaret Mallinson, Ruth Skinner, Junior Rush and Jeanette Rush; song by Harry Hanaford, Robert Moore, Winifred Fike and Annette James.

Primary department, recitation by Lulu Glaser and Muriel Kennedy, junior department, recitation by Mabel Rhodes and Beatrice Porter; intermediate department, song by Mabel Drake, Florence Drake, Elsie Saunders and Myrtle Townley at the piano; address by Rev. Edward S. Ralston. Mrs. S. O. Rush presided at the organ and Miss Mary Cooper at the piano.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

One of the biggest vaudeville acts ever presented in this city will be the headliners at the Plainfield Theatre for the first half of the week, commencing today. It is billed as Joe Wood's Revue and is a combination of musical comedy impersonations of celebrated actors and actresses, clever dancing and chorus work befitting a Broadway production. Special scenery and electrical effects and handsome costumes are much in evidence. The cast numbers twenty three people in all, nearly twice the number ordinarily used in a vaudeville musical act. The principals are all high class people. Plainfield Theatre patrons are certain to agree with the management that Joe Wood's Revue is the "Barnum of them all."

Lots of other good things will be on the bill ushering in the second week of vaudeville at the Second street playhouse and the man, woman or child who does not get more than his money's worth would begrudge five cents to see an earthquake. The latest and best photoplays are shown at every performance and a complete orchestra furnishes music both afternoon and night. While the world's championship baseball series is being played the progress of the games will be detailed by bulletins read from the stage each afternoon. This enterprising feature was introduced last Friday and made a big hit with the hundreds of fans in the audience.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The Thanhauer Kids, the favorites of the motion picture world, are today appearing at the Proctor Theatre, and they will continue until Wednesday night at Plainfield's most popular vaudeville house. You have seen them on the screen in the silent play, and the Proctor bill of the first half of this week permits you to see them in person. They are here with Marie Eline and Company, some six real comedians.

The bill contains the total of twenty-one names, all of them top-notchers. There is Charles Mason and Company, with six talented people, in a sketch entitled "Who's Who," a skit which is unique and entertaining. Then there is Roy Harrah and Company, five novelty skaters; Tom Mahoney, a comedian famed for his ability to make people laugh; Allie White, the violin artist, and Wood Brothers, in a comedy act on bars, making one of the best programs of vaudeville to appear in this city during the current season. Wednesday evening, the "Bazaar Night" will be repeated, while on Friday at all performances, another episode of "Neal of the Navy" will be thrown upon the screen, with all the thrills of an up-to-the-minute drama, and educational features which ought to appeal strongly to every red-blooded American boy to be found in this city. It is an education not found in books and has proved to be of more than passing interest.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"Tillie's Tomato Surprise" will be the chief attraction at the U. S. Astor Theatre today and tomorrow. Marie Dressler, the irrepressible queen of comedy, will be seen in the leading character.

Irrespective of her funmaking ability one is compelled to admire the nerve Miss Dressler showed in acting for this subject. All through the production she jumps and falls about in a manner that would seem impossible for one so large. And in addition to this she is funny, laughably funny, especially in the last thousand feet. There will be also several high grade comedies and dramas in addition today and tomorrow.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 52 degrees; 11 a. m., 58 degrees; 1 p. m., 62 degrees.

METHODIST PASTORS TO HOLD MID-YEAR ASSEMBLY

The Church Efficiency Convention of the New York Methodist Episcopal Conference will meet tomorrow in Grace Methodist Episcopal church, in West 104th street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues. This is the mid-year assembly of the New York Conference, which includes about 300 ministers.

Many laymen have registered to attend the conference. At 9 o'clock tomorrow the delegates will gather at 150 Fifth avenue, where four Fifth avenue buses will take them on a tour of the institutional churches and playgrounds of the city. They will reach Grace church at 11 o'clock, where the Rev W. F. Compton, superintendent of the Poughkeepsie District, will preside. Addresses will be delivered by Bishop Luther B. Wilson and Dr. Worth M. Tippey. After luncheon Dr. Ezra M. Tipple, president of Drew Theological Seminary, will preside at a meeting devoted to the discussion of the question, "What Is Church Efficiency?"

At 2 o'clock Fire Commissioner Adamson will preside. John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers, and William Wirt, who is in New York inaugurating the Gary school system, will deliver addresses. Later in the afternoon pastors from various districts will tell of plans which they hope to inaugurate. At 6:30 o'clock there will be a dinner, at which Commissioner of Public Charities Kingsbury will speak on "Charity and the Church." H. H. Fleming, of Kingston, and Warden Osborne, of Sing Sing, will also speak. Later there will be a private exhibition of motion pictures.

CARNEGIE GIVES $1,000 FOR NORTH BRANCH CHURCH ORGAN

North Branch, Oct. 11.—Andrew Carnegie has contributed $1,000 toward the new pipe organ which has just been installed in the Reformed church at Neshanic.

About a year ago Rev. John Hart, the pastor of the church, solicited the gift. The contribution was made on the condition that the organ should be installed in the church by September 30, 1915. This was accomplished.

The new organ cost about $3,000. It will be formally dedicated with a recital and entertainment Wednesday evening, October 20. J. Warren Andrews, organist of the Church of the Divine Paternity, New York, will preside at the organ, and Miss Katherine Stang, of Jersey City, violinist, and Miss Elizabeth Wetzel, of Philadelphia, reader and impersonator, will make up the remainder of the program.

THANKSGIVING DAY IN CANADA.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 11.—Today is Thanksgiving Day throughout the Dominion of Canada, and the day is being observed by special services in official circles, in the churches and by patriotic societies.

JOURNAL OF NEWARK DIOCESE TO BE DISTRIBUTED THIS WEEK

Clergy of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark will receive within the next few days copies of the Diocesan Journal containing the records of the adjourned meeting of the fortieth annual convention held at Trinity church, January 26 last, and the proceedings of the forty-first convention held at the same place, May 18 last, when Rev. Dr. Wilson R. Stearly was elected suffragan-bishop.

The Journal, prepared by Secretary Rev. John Keller, is replete with data relative to the parishes and other diocesan activities as well as statistical reports concerning the finances and development of the diocese.

From the bishop's address, parochial and missionary reports it is learned that clergyman canonically belonging to the diocese April 30 last number 157, in addition to whom there are thirty-six not residing within the diocese, which comprises 137 parishes and missions. Communicants number 39,128. Sunday-school enrollment totals 19,103 pupils, requiring the services of 2,230 teachers. Current expenses of parishes and missions approximated $399,756.03, the total receipts from all sources being $666,200.13.

During the last canonical year there were ordained in the diocese nine clergymen, including a deacon for the bishop of Los Angeles. Eleven clergymen were received from other dioceses, and thirteen were transferred out of the Newark jurisdiction. Two clergymen, Rev. Napoleon Barrows, sometime rector of Christ church, Short Hills, and Rev. Stephen G. Bennett, rector of Grace church (Van Vorst), Jersey City, died during the period. Eleven candidates were reported.

Baptisms totaled 2,384, of which number 330 were adults. Confirmation was administered to 2,227. About 1,050 marriages were performed in the diocese, and 1,862 burials held.

Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, will on

Wednesday, November 3rd, 1915,

between two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said city, expose for sale and sell the several tracts or parcels of land hereinafter specified, or any part or parts thereof severally sufficient for the purpose, on which taxes for the year nineteen hundred and fourteen remain in arrears, to such person or persons as will purchase the same for the shortest term for which they will pay the tax lien thereon, including interest and costs of sale, or in fee where no one will bid for a shorter term.

This sale is made under the provisions of the act of the Legislature of this state, entitled: "An Act for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved April 2, 1894, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold, as shown on the City records, may be obtained at the office of the subscriber any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following is a list of the several tracts and parcels of land to be sold, which shows the names of the delinquents, the supposed owners thereof as the names of the delinquent owners appear on the books of the taxing district, together with a statement of the wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the street in which each lot is situated, the block and lot number of each lot as they appear on the Official Assessment Maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, and the amount due from each of the said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot and parcel as hereafter designated, there will be added interest from the twentieth day of November, nineteen hundred and fourteen, to the day of sale, and the fees provided by said act of the Legislature, viz.: for preparing and publishing notices of sale twenty-five cents for each parcel of land advertised; and for selling twenty-five cents for each parcel sold; and for each certificate of sale ten cents, besides necessary disbursements for printing, postage, affidavits and acknowledgements, which are hereby estimated at three dollars for each item of advertising, and the City Clerk's fee for recording report, ten cents for each parcel of land sold, and all said fees and expenses shall form part of the tax lien to be sold by the purchaser at the tax sale.

WHEN THE WAR ENDS.

While American manufacturers are working with feverish energy, equipping their plants, increasing their capacity and adding to their facilities to fill orders for foreign war supplies, the question obtrudes as to what will be the results after peace is declared and the war orders cease. What will be done with these enlarged factories, the expensive machinery and elaborate facilities organized solely to produce war supplies for the belligerent nations of Europe? It is certain that American industry will readily adjust itself to conditions of peace as it has adjusted itself to conditions of war; but, what will be the condition of business pending readjustment, and how long will be the period required to restore normal conditions? Will it be a matter of a few weeks, a few months, or an indefinite length of time? Will factories continue in steady operation or will there be a complete stagnation of all lines of enterprise, causing great industrial distress and greater financial losses?

These are questions which shrewd business men and financial leaders are pondering, not entirely without misgivings. Some of the larger banking houses have already sought to apply the brakes to the wild speculation in industrial shares, while cautioning against going beyond the bounds of safety in reaching for the huge profits on war supplies to the exclusion of permanent business which will endure and grow long after war has spent its destructive fury.

Bankers and business men, accustomed to looking ahead are already advising exporters and manufacturing enterprises to reach out after the profitable foreign trade in peace products which can be secured for the asking at this time. Buyers from South America, South Africa and other parts of the world not engaged in war, are flocking to New York to secure needed supplies which they have been accustomed to secure from Europe, but which they can no longer procure from that source while manufactories are paralyzed by war. This trade is now knocking at the doors of American enterprise and can be secured simply by accepting. Once this trade is secured and foreign traders become accustomed to buying here it is believed it will continue and increase, keeping American factories running and American workmen employed.

It is true that war orders are solely responsible for the present industrial activity with large profits and favorable contracts, yet when the future is considered would it not be more conducive to permanent prosperity and continued business welfare to build on a permanent foundation by fostering more intimate relations with the South American countries and other nations at a time when the trade of these countries can be secured on the most favorable basis?

If this is done it would seem that the period of readjustment after the war would have comparatively little effect in the United States. The country would then have all the business its factories would require; we would have a foreign trade undisturbed in peace or war and would have markets for all our surplus products long after the cannon ceased its roar on European battlefields.

TRYING TO SHIFT THE BLAME.

Believers in Peace and in the Prince of Peace have been horrified by the persistent efforts to implicate the Deity in the present fiendish war. A prominent New York clergyman said recently in a Sunday morning sermon: "The world was losing its soul. We needed a cross, and God has laid this cross upon the world." He declared that "this war is the greatest blessing that has fallen upon mankind since the German Reformation."

Such expressions are extremely regrettable. Not God but man is drowning Europe in blood. The war is not God's gift or God's punishment or God's will. God hates war, and Christ has told the world so. There is no need for tangling up the unanswerable problem of pain with the perfectly answerable problem of war.

War takes place because men hate one another, the Christian Herald says. Not even for the sake of punishing sin will God lead men to hate, or sanction that hatred and its fruitage. Men began the war. Men are prolonging it. Men are preventing the dawn of peace. The war would cease at once, if men would lift up their minds to God and remember that he is the King of Love.

NO PROMOTION.

"The saloon is a night school that never gets you a promotion," says The Mixer. It also is authority for the statement that the American Steel and Wire Company, one of the big steel corporations of Pennsylvania, has given notice to its employes that they must withdraw from all clubs and organizations where liquor is sold because such sales have impaired the efficiency of the workmen. This is simply one of the signs pointing to the time in the not distant future when the man who uses intoxicants will be barred from all good paying jobs.

The Commissioner of Fire and Police in Chattanooga, Tenn., a prohibition city, has been arrested by Federal authorities for the illegal shipping of whisky. He is a coffin manufacturer and the charge is that he concealed gallon jugs of the fluid in coffins to be shipped out. If true, the performance was certainly without precedent. It is customary to wrap a man around whisky before putting it in a coffin.

A prize of $500 has been offered for the best design for a "safety first" poster to be put on all roads and streets of the country. The Safety First Society of Greater Detroit is behind the movement, and civic associations in all other cities should forget jealously long enough to aid in the good work, no matter who gets credit for it.

The Southern Labor Congress in session at Chattanooga, Tenn., refused to consider a resolution from the United Brewery Workmen of America seeking the support of the congress in a movement for the repeal of the prohibition laws in Southern states. Perhaps they didn't even know the South was dry.

While we are trying to dope out who will come out victorious in the European war and who will win the world's series, we are confronted with another great national problem. Has Wilson bought the ring?

Says the Elizabeth Times—"The Times' extra was the only special edition on the big baseball series issued in Union county." Since when was Plainfield moved out of Union county?

Maybe it will be just plain Alexander after today.

Wilson will be severely criticized by all who have not seen her picture.

Off Agin, On Agin

STRICKLAND W. GILLILAN

The Main Difficulty

He joined the movement backward to the farm,
And knew that he was fixed forevermore.
Earth's hoarded wealth, by reaching forth his arm,
Was his—it lay in plenty 'round
his door.

In two short years he went to hunt a job
Back in the city where he once had dwelt.
With all his sanguine dreams he had played hob,
And bore upon his spirit many a welt.
And why? Were soil and meisture stingy things
That would not yield when spoken to aright?
Nay, nay! But the unrest the city brings
Had tinctured him with luxury-loving's blight.

He had demanded of the patient soil
That it produce for him the sort of life
That he had known 'mid city treadmill's moil
Ere he surrendered to the world-old strife.

The country yields, to him who holds the key,
A country living—that and nothing more,
And that is why the town-bred oft we see
Backtracking quickly to the city's roar.

Finnigin Filosofy

Whiniver I see a motherly lookin' woman motherin' a dawg, I feel like congratulatin' ivery human child I see bekase it ain't hers.

Letter From The Czar

Behindatreesky, Sept. 20.

Dear Offaginovitch—I am deeply touched by the uneasiness among the Germans over the resignation of Grand Duke Nicholas, at my request, to accept a lesser jobsky. Their anxiety for fear I may have done the wrong thing and endangered the Russian cause, almost moves me to tears, like paprika. If they insist, of course I shall reinstate that G. D. Nicholas instantly. There is still a prospect that my troops will be home in time for Christmas. I could stand to have Nicholas run things, if he hadn't been running the army too much and too often.

Yours pertly,
NICK ROMANOFF.

Quit Kydding!

Dear Offagin—I should like to know why all insane people are physically healthy. I reason that they are, because of the common expression "as sound as a nut."—Alma, Galena, Ill.

Listen, And Quit Growling

Say, you with the endless kick and chronic emotional stomachache.

Stick up your long ears and hearken unto us.

You say you can't find a job: that all the good ones are filled and the waiting list crowded.

There are perhaps a million or more jobs in these to some extent United States, old top.

There aren't a thousand of those jobs so well filled that you, if you had tried, couldn't fill them better and take it away from the present encumbrance—no, we didn't mean incumbent.

Most jobs are held on sufferance, and the employers are saying constantly to themselves:

"For the love o' Mike, why can't we find somebody who can do that work as it ought to be done!"

Jobs are crowded with boneheads, and as long as you stay in the bonehead class, all the jobs you could fill will be crowded with others of the same caliber.

Get us, you mut?

Our Language

While a globe-trotter is one who trots around the globe, the fox-trotter is not one who trots around the fox.

Though a gold mine is a place whence gold is dug, "baby-mine" should convey no such significance.

A horse-car is a car drawn by a horse, but a box-car is not a car drawn by boxes.

A Sad Reflection

It makes me sad, beyond a doubt,
When I'm away on my vacation.
To see I'm got along without,

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Cure Of Consumption

DOCTORS, health departments and social workers all make mistakes. The tuberculosis problem is so wide and deep that it is no wonder we "get in wrong" here and there.

Take, for example, the law which, in some communities, requires disinfection, renovation and general cleaning up of apartments after the removal or death of a person who had tuberculosis while living there. Such a law should never have been placed on the statute books. It not only does not vouchsafe security from infection to members of the household, but it actually focuses popular attention upon an unimportant risk and thus overshadows the actual dangers. For it is a thoroughly established truth that tuberculosis is acquired through intimate and prolonged contact with the living, careless patient, and not from occupying apartments he may have vacated. Ordinary housecleaning, with air and sunlight, offers all the protection necessary to subsequent occupants of such apartments. Furthermore, this vicious law tends to make people unreasonably afraid of the cleanly, conscientious tuberculosis patient; whereas, in fact, such a patient is not a menace to the community.

Another mistake we have made in regard to public education about tuberculosis is this: We have laid too much emphasis upon the value of fresh air, good food and rest in the cure of consumption. While these agents are indispensable, still it may be said without fear of contradiction by any competent physician, that fresh air, good food and rest, without the essential addition of a fourth adjunct of the cure, namely, a good doctor, must inevitably fail in nine cases out of ten.

The first thing the patient needs is a good family doctor, needs him not now and then, or just when things go wrong, but regularly, at least once a week, or, sometimes, every day. Some of the most deplorable calamities are invited by the self-assurance which encourages victims of tuberculosis to "let doctors alone" and try managing the treatment themselves. In tuberculosis, as in all other ailments, he who doctors himself has a fool for a patient. Not even the medical graduate is capable of planning and executing a proper course of treatment for himself.

So we would amend the advice. Have a good doctor, live in the open air, get the right kind of food, and rest. The difference is, very frequently, success instead of failure.

Above all, the tuberculosis patient should not consider migrating to another climate without the advice of a good doctor; nor should he fail to figure in the cost of regular medical attendance while living there, when considering whether he can afford to migrate.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Saving The Juice

Why are vegetables and meats cooked in the steam kettle more nutritious than when cooked in the usual way?

Answer—Because considerable nutriment oozes away into the water when vegetables or meat are boiled, and steam cooking produces a more evenly distributed heat, not burning part of the food.

Mastodynia

What is mastodynia?

Answer—Pain in the breast.

COLLEGE

A COLLEGE is a factory for turning raw material into case-hardened athletes, kid-finished society leaders, and future members of "Who's Who." Its work is marvelous. It can take an eighteen-year-old youth with premature trousers, haystack hair, and an Adam's apple like a plum, and in four years can work him over into a calm-eyed football champion who looks as if he had just stepped out of a ready-made clothing advertisement. It can transform a bashful boy, who turns his toes in so that they will not be too prominent, into a loud noise in a flat hat and a sore throat necktie, who is only happy when he is stealing the wheels from under a trolley car. It makes statesmen out of cowherders, society leaders out of plowboys, half-backs out of mother's darlings, and wise men out of high school seniors. And it accomplishes all of this without taking the material apart or using an axe on it!

Colleges were invented a great many centuries ago, but have only become virulent during the last fifty years. Formerly, a college was only a place in which to learn things in books, and was as dull as a monastery. Now it is a place in which to learn all about Science, Politics, Lawn-tennis, History of Art, Blocking Off With the Elbow, Evidence of Christianity, How to Keep a Dance Program Straight, Histrionics, Frat House Construction, Trigonometry, Sign Stealing, French, Advanced United States, Physiology, Eating In All Its Branches, Baseball, Gymnastics, How To Live On Credit, Matrimony, the Science of Making the Hair Stand Up Straight, Political Economy, Noises—Mechanical and Vocal—Greek, Human Nature, Girls, and Policemen. The college student of to-day learns all there is to learn about all these things in four years, whereas one hundred years ago a graduate was lucky if he could read Latin and Greek at sight, and could dodge hearses on the streets. Inventors boast of the great strides made by science in the last century. But science is a canal boat compared with education.

Colleges are useful because they produce teachers, preachers, writers and statesmen. They are a nuisance because they produce 'Rah 'Rah boys in explosive clothes, who have confined their studies to a thorough education in the conquest of thirst. Happily, these are greatly in the minority.

Statistics show that of all the men

"Who is only happy when he is stealing the wheels from under a trolley car" in America, less than one-fiftieth are college graduates. On the other hand, one-fourth of all the famous men in the country are college men. One-half of the members of Congress are college men. Seventeen out of twenty-six Presidents have been college men. Nine-tenths of the writers of the country, and one-half of the millionaires, are college men—and only one out of a thousand inmates of prisons are college men.

This teaches us that the college boy who minds his teachers, and does not burn down the buildings during his course of study, stands an exceedingly good chance of landing at the top. But it does not teach us that a college boy is destined to receive a free ride to fame. The world is full of college graduates who are still waiting for the band wagon to come along and haul them to the White House; and some of them are having difficulty in paying their board bill while waiting.

Views Of The Press

Degenerative Diseases

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN said, "Nine men in ten are suicides."

The indifference of individuals to their continued personal welfare which inspired this remark one hundred and sixty-nine years ago applies equally to-day. Conditions have changed in many ways and some of them are less beneficial for the individual.

Carefully accumulated statistics show that there has in all probability been a steady increase in Bright's disease and other degenerative diseases incidental to advancing age with the past few years. Certainly the number of deaths from this cause is sufficiently high to warrant the serious consideration of every individual advancing toward the middle life. Of course everyone now-a-days is familiar with the doctrine of fresh air, exercise and simplicity of diet, etc., which make up the creed of the sanatarian. Few are willing to go to the fancied discomfort of denying themselves the pleasures of eating, drinking or indolent ease. They are perfectly aware, to be sure, that indulgence is unwise. They have been warned by other people's experiences and not improbably have been admonished by their medical adviser as to the evil effects of certain favorite indulgences. But the fact that a single gratification of their weakness is not likely to be accompanied by any of the forecasted ill effects seems to lead the majority of people on regardless of the ultimate accounting which Nature is certain to demand. The way of least resistance seems to be the popular path.

Probably every individual will admit to himself that he is running a risk and that the ultimate outcome will probably prove serious. Nevertheless continue he will, and so there is more than a modicum of truth in what Poor Richard said.

Self denial and temperance may seem Spartan virtues to the self indulgent, but they are worth cultivating if one would challenge Father Time and his grim companion.—Sharon Herald.

Fencing About A Fence

Q. One of my neighbors refuses to build his half of the division fence between our property, saying he does not need any fence. Is there any way by which I can compel him to build it or pay for building the same? Can he prevent me from building same at my own expense, placing centre of posts on the line?

A. The duty to build and maintain division fences sometimes rests upon an agreement between the parties, and sometimes it exists by force of long-continued custom. In still other cases, the statutes of the state impose such a duty. Where the statutory law of the state provides for the maintenance of a fence of this kind, the obligation may be insisted upon even against a neighbor who is reluctant or unwilling.

Wording A Deed

Q. Can a deed be made in such a manner to husband and wife that when one dies the property will revert to the other without will or further trouble, the couple having no children? If so, how should it be worded?

A. A trust could be created. It would be advisable to see your lawyer. We regret that space forbids a more detailed reply.

Interest On A Loan

Q. I borrowed thirty dollars on two pieces of jewelry of a loan company, paying three dollars per month on the loan and expecting to pay back the next month. Not being able to do so, the year is almost up since the loan. Will I have to pay interest at the rate of three dollars a month for thirty dollars for the twelve months? A. No, you would not.

'Ware Thieves!

Q. Does a hotelkeeper have the right to limit his liability by posting notices saying that he will not be responsible for money, jewelry and other valuables unless such things are deposited with him to be kept by him in his safe?

A. Laws of this character have been passed in many of the states.

A Fair Exchange

Q. A brother and sister inherited from their father in Pennsylvania a mortgage and real estate, respectively, and each would rather have the other's inheritance. Being of equal value, could the exchange be made, and how? What would a lawyer probably charge? Could the exchange be made at any time, or must they wait until their father has been dead a year?

A. An exchange of this character may be made, so long as the rights of creditors are not put in jeopardy. You had better consult your lawyer. I cannot tell you what his charges would be.

A Minor In Trouble

Q. May a suit for damages be brought against a boy, under age, for assault and battery? A. Yes.

An Unlawful Contract

Q. Two men of my acquaintance made a contract with each other. It was unlawful under the laws of the state, but they did not know it at that time. Will the contract stand?

A. The contract will not stand.

Civic Service

Q. Does the legislature of a state have the constitutional right to provide for the appointment of civil service commissioners? A. Yes.

A Missouri woman, now suing for divorce, looked her husband over for ten days and then married him. The moral is that the minimum distance for matrimonial inspection trips should be increased.

When a man refuses to wear evening clothes, that is an indication that he has no evening clothes.

There is this to say for marriage: Those who have had experience with it are always willing to give it another trial.

After awhile a man loses his ambition to lead the grand march, and is satisfied to appear anywhere in the parade.

There are all kinds of suckers, including the one who puts up the side bet.

Men appear to be superior to women in the respect that they do not dance with each other.

Probably the worst thing that can be said of whiskey is that it encourages those who drink it to talk more.

However, it must be admitted that chin whiskers are more artistic than the average man's cravat.

There are a number of cures for the dissatisfied boy, but permitting him to run away with a circus probably is the most effective and satisfactory all around.

We admire the women as much as anybody, but we never intend to shoot a man on account of one.

Everyday Poetry

Some of these days some worthy writer is going to write a book on the poetry of everyday business—for there is Poetry even in the most obscure tasks. But the thing that makes for Poetry to the largest extent is the love that one puts into his work.

If you and your work are harmonious, Poetry will take the place of what is so often prosaic.

Another thing that makes for Poetry in one's work is interest and enthusiasm. These things take away the harshness from work, smooth its corners and play music to it.

There is everyday Poetry everywhere if you will but look for it.

If you can't find Poetry in your work, or see it in the place or organization where you work, if what you do doesn't measure up to and mesh with what others do about you, then the chances are that you are out of place and that to make your life rhyme with your purpose of existence, you must find your proper place or special niche.

Put Smiles and Cheer and Encouragement and Optimism and Kind Feeling into each of your days and you will be writing Poetry in fact.

HOLDERS RETAIN OFFICERS TROPHY

R. C. Blancke, Jr., and H. E. Blazier Win Match 5 up and 3 to Play.

R. C. Blancke, Jr., and Harold E. Blazier, holders, still retain the Officers' Challenge Medal at the Park Golf Club, defeating Walter Whitehead and A. A. Cannon, challengers, on Saturday by 5 up and 3 to play.

In the weekly play for the President's cup J. V. Beekman won the first honors, while Harold E. Blazier and W. P. Taylor finished second and third respectively. The leading scores were as follows:

J. V. Beekman, 99, 25-74; Harold E. Blazier, 86, 7-79; W. P. Taylor, 87, 8-80; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 94, 13-81; A. A. Cannon, 97, 16-81; Walter Whitehead, 98, 16-82; E. E. Gano, 91, 9-82; Charles B. Morse, 100, 14-86.

The club has arranged for a bogey handicap and an approaching and putting competition to be played tomorrow, Columbus Day.

RAHWAY USES TIGER TACTICS ON WESTFIELD

Westfield, Oct. 11.—Following out the tactics of Princeton against Rutgers, Rahway High School got the jump on the Westfield High School team in the game Saturday and scored eleven points in the first quarter. After that the Red and Black were contented to play on the defensive and stop any offensive work of the Westfield backfield which many times made dangerous attempts to penetrate the Rahway line.

Except for the first quarter, the Westfield team outplayed Rahway in every way, but seemed to lack the necessary punch to carry the ball over for a touchdown and the final score was the same as at the end of the first quarter.

The lineup:

Rahway H. S.	Westfield H. S.
Dunn	Welsh

PASSAIC IS EASY FOR LOCAL TEAM

High School Boys Downed Opponents Saturday by Score of 21 to 6.

GAME NEVER IN DOUBT

Noonan, Hopper, Miller, Whelan, Daniels, Fitch and Davidson All Play Consistent Game — Only Score for Passaic in Last Quarter.

Although both teams were guilty of costly fumbles and poor passing the football encounter between the Passaic and local High School was not, as would seem, totally void of excitement, the locals finally emerging the victor by a 21 to 6 count. The game was originally scheduled to be played at Passaic, but owing to the fact that the out-of-town team could not find suitable grounds the encounter was switched to this city. The trip to this city was made in a Garfield jitney bus and was a long and tedious one.

Much was expected of the visiting combination, which was reported as being one of the best football teams in Northern Jersey. Where this rumor originated is a mystery, but it is now a known fact that the Passaic men were about as unbeatable as an egg, although in individual work, their halfback, Saxer, had it on any of the local players, with the possible exception of Bill Daniels, who played a corresponding position for the home guard.

The first quarter, which was begun late, was marked by very aggressive work on the part of the Red and Blue artists and by loose action and the lack of unity of purpose among the visitors, all of whom had the right spirit, but not one of whom seemed to go about the work in any semblance of unison with the efforts of his neighbor. Herb Peacock had the passing game down to a science and displayed a decided improvement in his work in every department. The local line plunged and dashed through that of the Passaic team and in the first quarter Miller carried the pigskin over the tape for a touchdown, a goal resulting. Touchdowns at other stages of the fray were made by Noonan and Herb Peacock, Roy Apgar kicking the goals.

The beginning of the second half seemed to mark the turning point of the affair inasmuch as the "go forward" of the Red and Blue combine appeared to melt before the rapid plunges of the Passaic line. After a series of daring line smashes the pigskin, then in the hands of the Passaic team, rested within an inch of the coveted territory, in which a touchdown could be registered and a shutout avoided. Peterson, who, by the way, was a master hand at the signal game, called out something that sounded like a well directed shore and the oval-shaped ammunition was shot back to him, Saxer forming the main interference. Peterson rushed onward into what looked like an impregnable mass of humanity. However, aided by the wiry Saxer, he just managed to hurl himself and the ball into the counting region. Saxer tried the kick and many of the Passaic rooters predicted that a goal was in order. Somehow Saxer's trusty right leg refused to work as directed and the pigskin shot fully three feet to the left of the goal post.

One end run by Daniels received so little opposition that the side-line experts were wondering where the Passaic team was. The argument ended with the battle raging even all but with the score 21 to 6 in favor of Coach Patch's charges.

The individual work of Noonan, Hopper, Miller, Wheelan and Daniels, Fitch and Davidson for the locals and of Saxer, Cavanaugh and Peterson for the visitors deserves favorable comment.

HERE'S PRIZE "BONER" OF SEASON, FRIENDS.

An unusual play which caught the White Sox napping cost the locals a double victory over Cleveland in Chicago recently. The play, which cost Chicago a game, occurred in the fourth inning of the second contest. Two men had scored, and Smith was on first base with one out.

Kirke swung at a wild pitch for the third strike and ran to first, while Smith took second. Under the rules Kirke should have been called out, but neither of the umpires or the Chicago players seemed to notice the blunder. Two more wild pitches and an error enabled Smith and Kirke to score. Kirke's double in the eighth, following singles by Roth and Graney and Smith's sacrifice, gave Cleveland the game.

ROBBIE'S PITCHING STAFF.

Brooklyn's Manager Has Developed Fine Array of Twirling Talent.

The present baseball season has furnished many surprises and disappointments in the work of the pitchers. Many of last season's stars have failed to display the form that carried them and their teams to the front last year. There have been two notable cases of stars of years ago coming to their own again—Jack Coombs, formerly of the Athletics and now pitching winning ball for Brooklyn, and Joe Wood of the Boston Americans, who is pitching with the same effectiveness that he did in 1912, after having experienced two poor seasons.

Photos by American Press Association.

MANAGER OF BROOKLYN NATIONALS AND TWO OF HIS STAR PITCHERS. (PFEFFER IN CENTER AND COOMBS IN LOWER CIRCLE.)

Further than this, more youngsters have made good this season than in almost any two previous seasons combined. With the race in the National league so close, the final standing in all probability will be decided on the merits of the various pitching staffs. In this respect Brooklyn has the edge on the other clubs. While the stars of some of the other teams have been endeavoring unsuccessfully to round into their form of a year ago, Robinson has developed a staff of veterans and youngsters that is easily the class of the league at the present time.

Since Robinson took hold the Brooklyn hurlers began to show signs of improvement and have continued to improve until at present they are feared by every team in the league. With the exception of Rucker, Robinson has rebuilt his entire staff and he has shown rare judgment in picking mound men. Last year he developed Pfeffer, while this year he has brought out Smith, Dell and Appleton. If a manager develops one first class hurler during a season he is usually satisfied. Robinson not only has developed three good men, but he also secured Coombs, thereby proving to his followers that he is one of the best judges of pitchers in the game.

RULING WILL SPOIL YARNS.

Secret Practice Always Fertile Field For Gridiron Gossip.

The new rule adopted by the conference colleges of the middle west limiting the secret football practice sessions to two each week will spoil many a good yarn during the coming season. Secret practice has always been a fertile field for gridiron gossip. Few of the weird and amazing plays so fully described and credited to various eastern and western elevens have been seen in actual contests, but they made most interesting reading.

A prominent coach was interviewed last fall regarding a certain play said to have been perfected by his eleven in secret practice. He listened carefully to a description of the gridiron maneuver as outlined by alleged observers, who neglected to state how they became so familiar with the play if it was practiced behind closed gates.

"Yes, that would be a winner," he remarked after it had been explained in detail, "if we could use our second and third teams to hold our opponents while we were pulling it off."

RHEUMATISM AILS MATTY.

Havana Engineer Offers Explanation of Great Pitcher's Slump.

Theories galore have been offered since the baseball season started about the cause of the poor showing of Christy Mathewson, the New York Giants' veteran pitcher, this season, but it remains for Howard Trumbo, a contracting engineer of Havana, Cuba, to come out with a new one.

According to Trumbo, the famous pitcher is suffering from "golf rheumatism."

"It's a fact," says Trumbo. "Nearly every golfer in Cuba has suffered from the peculiar ailment this year, and I haven't a doubt that the stuff got into Matty's shoulder when he was playing on our links last winter. It affects us just like reports say Matty is affected. Several of us have fallen off badly in our golf game because of this muscular stiffness."

McGraw Always In First Four.

If John McGraw should fail to drive his Giant entourage into first division this season 1915 would mark his first New York slump below the great divide in thirteen campaigns.

HOLY CROSS WILL OPEN WITH CUPIDS

Game Tomorrow Will Inaugurate Season's Schedule of Local Eleven.

Holy Cross football warriors will open their season on Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon, with the strong "Cupids," of New York city. The local team will hold its final pigskin practice tonight promptly at 7:30, and it is safe to predict that the tuning up that the local men have been receiving for the past two weeks will show up in tomorrow's contest. The game will start promptly at 3:15 and a large crowd of football rooters is expected to be on hand to celebrate the inauguration of the football season.

The local lineup will contain the following well known players: "Billy" Coyle, Wilson, Tom Ricketts, Jack Ricketts, L. Manning, Jerry Manning, "Shake" Clark, Jack Caulfield, Joe Carty, Nick Stiglitz, Ed. Bremble, Art Bennett, Pete Benson, Art. Barto, Allen Fredericks, Merton Glover, Turk Webster, Al. Widoson, Walter Cumming and Frank Lee. K. Phillips will referee.

The "Cupids" will lineup as follows: L. e., Dutemple; l. g., Lucke; l. t., Lascoe; c., Gilcher; r. g., Arnold-Toyle; r. t., Glatzmanger; r. e., O'Shanghnessy-McKenna; q., Frugone; f. b., Woodworth; r. h. b., Sackman, and l. h. b., Hollman-Lynch.

"Doc" Doyle, who so successfully conducted the schedules of the local eleven for the last three years, is the manager of this year's team and he is assisted by N. Ammerman and J. J. Green. The former expects to make this season a banner one, with the hearty co-operation of the public.

MEN OF BRAINS SUPPORT SUFFRAGE

Tell Why Women Need and Should Have Vote.

WILL FAVOR AMENDMENT.

Thomas A. Edison, Colonel George Harvey, Senator Hughes, Attorney General Wescott, H. Otto Wittpenn and Richard V. Lindabury Among Prominent Citizens Who Refute Senator Martine's Anti-suffrage Arguments—Present Their Reasons In Clear, Logical Form.

Newark, Oct. 7.—At the request of the suffrage organizations of the state of New Jersey a group of the best known men in the state have issued a statement giving their reasons for supporting the woman suffrage amendment, which is to be voted upon Oct. 19, and replying to the anti-suffrage literature which has been franked through the state by United States Senator James E. Martine.

The group who have replied to this pamphlet include Thomas A. Edison, Colonel George Harvey, editor of the North American Review; Senator William Hughes, Attorney General John W. Wescott, Naval Officer Otto H. Wittpenn and Richard V. Lindabury, counselor for the Prudential Life Insurance Company and the United States Steel Corporation and one of the best known lawyers of the country.

Included in the group also are Judge Robert Carey of Jersey City, Seymour Cromwell, president of the State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association; Cornelius J. Ford, well known labor leader; Richard Stevens of Castle Point, Hoboken; Frank H. Sommer, counselor of the Public Utility Commission; Senator Charles O'Connor Hennessey of Bergen county; Fillmore Condit, president of the Union Oil Company of California, and Judge Thomas A. Davis.

It is said that never before has so distinguished a group of publicists, constitutional lawyers, statesmen and politicians signed their names to a statement on woman suffrage. The statement follows:

To the Voters of the State of New Jersey.

On the 19th of October the legally qualified voters of New Jersey will be called upon to vote for or against a proposed amendment to the constitution granting the ballot to women. At the request of the four leading suffrage organizations of the state the undersigned have agreed to set forth what they believe to be the real principles involved in the issue, to recite briefly the controlling factors that lead them to support this change in the organic law and to separate the material from the immaterial evidence that has been presented during the campaign both by those who favor and those who oppose the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment is submitted under the provisions of article 9 of the constitution, which provides that any specific amendment may be proposed in the general assembly and if approved by a majority of both houses of two consecutive legislatures it shall be submitted to the people at a special election.

With these and with all the other constitutional provisions and requirements the legislature has complied.

In 1914 the amendment was adopted in the legislature by a vote of 64 to 8 and in 1915 by a vote of 75 to 4.

The question is therefore now before the people and will appear on the ballot at the special election to be held on the 19th of October in the following form:

"Shall this amendment, extending the right to vote to women citizens, be adopted?"

The Reasons For Support.

In answer to the above question it is the intention of the undersigned to vote "Yes," and in the hope that it may be of some assistance to those who have not as yet been able to reach a conclusion as to the merits of the controversy we set forth our reasons for so doing:

First.—We believe it to be in violation of the principle of democracy that one-half of the citizens of the state should be deprived of a voice in the government under which they live.

There are two underlying principles of democracy—one, that no group of men has a moral right to govern any other group of men without its consent unless the group so governed, because of some infirmity, is unable to comprehend the standards of organized society; another, that all those who have a stake or hazard in the government organized for their own protection shall have a share in the management of its affairs. These principles are either sound or unsound. If sound, and we believe them so to be, they must apply to women as well as to men, because their stake and hazard in the government is as great, deep and vital as that of men and because no infirmity, moral, mental or physical, can be shown to support the assumption that women do not comprehend the standards of organized society.

Second.—We believe it to be unjust that half of the citizens of the state should be deprived of a voice in the government, the burdens of which they are compelled by law to share. We do not refer alone to the injustice of taxing those who have no say as to the method by which the tax shall be imposed, but also to the obvious injustice of a social order that forces women into all the activities of the state in competition with men and then refuses to place them on an equal footing with their competitors.

Supported by Justice.

Third.—We believe that not only justice, but expediency, dictates that the amendment should be adopted. During the past thirty-five or forty years a marked change has taken place in the attitude of the people as to the true functions of government. Formerly it was the general belief that the government was fulfilling its purpose if it protected the life and property of its citizens. Now we expect it to do much more. Without becoming paternalistic or infringing upon our liberties, we expect the government to protect the interests of the people in their personal and domestic affairs as well. It is called upon to supervise the working conditions in factories and the living conditions in tenements. It is called upon to regulate in some measure the cost of living, to guarantee a pure supply of food and by both constructive and preventive methods to guard the health and morals of the young.
